If it is to be a FURNACE
Let it be a BUCK Furnace

It is a fact that there is no name more eagerly sought nor more highly prized than the name "BUCK" on the furnace of the house for rent or for sale. It adds a tangible value to the worth of the property, and presents an added inducement in the eyes of the prospective buyer. To have a Buck Furnace in your home is to insure not only that your home will be uniformly and comfortably warmed at a minimum of fuel expense, but that the sound sanitary principle upon which it is constructed will act as a permanent safeguard of the good health and cheerfulness of the household.

Our furnaces are installed under the supervision of an EXPERT who has made a special study of this work. You are thus assured of a MAXIMUM of comfort and service, at a MINIMUM of labor and expense.

Special Officer Pinchin Not Present to Testify.

As special officer Pinchin of the C.P.R. was absent, the case of the man, who, it is alleged, drew a revolver, and pointed it at the officer, on the C.P.R. property, some time ago, was not proceeded with this morning before His Honor Judge Huycke. The prisoner was remanded to jail till Monday.

SPECIAL TRAIN ARRANGED FOR

Will Carry Exhibition Crowds to Campbellford and Hastings.

The special rate on all railways for the Peterboro Industrial Exhibition, will be in effect this year.

The rate is from all points where the single fare does not exceed $2.50.

The directors have also arranged for a special train to Campbellford and Hastings on Saturday, the last day of the exhibition. This train will leave the Grand Trunk depot at 7.30 p.m.

PRIZES FOR BEST HOME-MADE BREAD

Quaker Oats Company Have Competition for the Exhibition.

Included in the splendid list of special prizes to be competed for, at the Peterboro Industrial exhibition, is a competition arranged by the Quaker Oats Company.

For the best two loaves of bread made from Quaker flour, the first prize is one barrel of Quaker flour; the second is one half barrel, the third prize, one quarter barrel and the fourth, one case of Quaker Oats.

Each competitor must have a receipt from the dealer from whom the flour was purchased.

MANY LOCAL PEOPLE OFF TO WHEAT FIELDS

Westward ho was the slogan at the C.P.R. station this morning, when fifty local people took the several trains to Toronto, where they connect for the Winnipeg trains, to find work in the harvest fields of the West. There are many other trains from surrounding districts. The early trains were crowded and some of the prospective passengers had to await the arrival of the local. The big excursion leaves Peterborough, Wednesday, August 28th, when a special train will leave the depot at 1.30 p.m. This train will make the trip on the new line, via Bethany, and Coldwater.

At the Lakefield station about 150 tickets were sold. Of this number 60 tickets were sold to men from Apsley and Chandos.

The wages reported as being paid to the harvesters are from $2.50 to $4.00 a day with board.

FARM LABORER'S EXCURSIONS $10 TO WINNIPEG VIA CHICAGO

Plus half cent mile from Winnipeg to destination, but not beyond MacLeod, Calgary or Edmonton.

RETURNING half cent mile to Winnipeg, plus $18.00 to destination in Eastern Canada.

GOING DATES.

AUG. 23rd—From all stations north of but not including Main Line, Toronto to Sarnia Tunnel, via Stratford; all stations Toronto and north and east of Toronto to Kingston and Renfrew.

AUG. 28th—From all stations Toronto and east, and east of Orillia and Scotia Junction.

AUG. 30th—From all stations Toronto to North Bay, inclusive, and west thereof in Ontario.

This is an exceptional chance for young men to visit the west, which is truly called the land of "Golden Opportunities," as many prosperous farmers and business men now residing in Western Canada can trace the origin of their good fortune to a "Farm Laborers' Excursion." The route via Chicago is an attractive one, as many large cities and towns are passed en route, which breaks the monotony of the journey, as there is something new to see all the time.

The Grand Trunk Pacific Railway is the shortest and quickest route between Winnipeg-Saskatoon-Edmonton. New Fast Express Service between Winnipeg, Yorkton, Canora and Regina.

INDIAN RIVER NEWS

Special Correspondence.

Indian River, Aug. 22. — A party mainly consisting of ladies made their annual trip to Rice Lake the other day. The day was enjoyed in boating, bathing, picnicking and photographing. The following were photographed while bathing in the lake: Misses Mary and Mabel Elmhirst, Misses Nellie and Phyllis Borland. The day closed with an exciting trip across the lake in a skiff.

The well known Horticulturist, David Kidd, is said to be progressing well in his new line of business. His garden looks the "pink of perfection"

A party consisting of Messrs. Wm. Breckenridge, David Kidd, Andrew Hall, Rev. Mr. Wood and Mr. Macleod, of McMaster University, had a trip to Coon Lake some thirty miles north of here. The object of the party was to pick berries, but after one day and night's wandering all they caught was one mud cat which they managed to cook wholesale before leaving the vicinity of the lake. Another trip is to be enjoyed in a week or two. All anxious to join must book with Mr. David Kidd, president of the Paradise Horticultural Society, Indian River, Ont.

Fish are plentiful in the river this year. Last Monday Mr. James Hall landed a five big 'lunge weighing 10 1-2 lbs. There is quite an excitement among the young sports of the village in consequence. The head of the fish is now decorating the walls of Mr Hall's premises.

A number of citizens of Indian River held a picnic near the burnt bridge on the Indian River Saturday afternoon in honor of Mr. Macleod, of McMaster University. Those who were present were Rev. Mr. Wood; The General Merchant, Mr. J. Hall; The Experimental Agriculturist, Mr. T. Breckenridge; The Landowner of Jermyn Estate, Mr. Andrew Evans. The wives of these prominent men were also present, also Mrs. W. H. Borland, and all report a very enjoyable time.

Miss C. Jones, of Stony Lake, called at the home of Mr. J. Hall on Saturday morning.

Mrs. James Moore, of Hastings, has been visiting her sister, Mrs. John Elmhirst during the past few weeks.

Mr. Harry Carter got off the train here a few weeks ago with two large crates of oranges and lemons. As he stepped off the train one of the lemons escaped from the crate and Mr Carter accidentally stepped on the same and as a result he fell and quite severely sprained his ankle. He is recovering.

Mr. James Hall is building up a fine bay window in the front part of his establishment.

Civic Holiday was quietly observed here on Monday. The most exciting feature of the day was a foot race between Mr. Walter Kidd, dry goods merchant, and Mr. W. H. Borland, President of the local Agricultural Society. Mr. Borland received a silver cup as winner of the same.

Miss Ada Elmhirst is going west to teach.

Miss Phyllis Borland will attend the Normal School in Peterborough this year.

Mr. Kidd's ice cream parlors draw the usual crowd on Satudray evenings.

VICTORIA COLONIST SIZES UP OUR FEDERAL MEMBER

Mr. Burnham is a very peculiar combination of a Conservative and a Radical. In some things he is most conservative; in others he is radical. He is Conservative because he believes that Canada should do all in her power to aid the empire in the matter of defence; he is Radical because he is anxious to extend to Canada the system of old age pensions which has been adopted by Great Britain in imitation of New Zealand.

HAS GOT MUCH DATA.

And in the latter connection he had the honor of moving in the House of Commons last year a resolution in favor of the adoption by Canada of the principle of old age pensions. At first he met with opposition, and strong opposition from even the minister of finance, who seemed to be appalled at the financial burden involved in the suggestion that every person over 60 years of age in Canada should be entitled to a pension from the state; but so cogent were his arguments that he managed to secure the appointment of a special committee to investigate the conditions in Canada which would be applicable to such a system. That committee only held three or four meetings last session, but its clerk has been able to secure during the recess a mass of material which will prove startling to the people of Canada as to the number of people in Canada who would come under the operation of an old age pension fund.

Mr Burnham will see Sir Richard McBride while in Victoria, and will ask his co-operation in the matter of securing information from this province as regards the number of people who might come under the operation of an old age pension system. He is already fortified with a mass of information which the clerk of the special committee of the Commons has secured, and he can put up a strong case for provincial action in aid of his humanitarian campaign.

A NATIONAL DEVELOPER.

Mr. Burnham is greatly impressed with the development of the West; but he is more impressed with the fact that the present members of the Dominion Government are men who do things rather than promise them. All along the line from Winnipeg westward he has found that the present ministers are acting, while their predecessors only talked, and the crowning proof of his experience was the announcement of the development of the harbor of Victoria.

The M.P. for Peterborough is big enough to realise that there are many sides to this dominion, and he will go back imbued with the idea that the future prosperity of Canada depends as much upon the development of its Pacific ports as it does upon the development of its lake routes and its Atlantic water carriage. He is, in fact, a big Canadian, without limit to his national grasp of our opportunities, and those who will hear him speak at the Conservative picnic at Goldstream on Saturday next will have the pleasure of listening to one of the best orators from the Province of Ontario, who can talk good Conservative and good Canadian doctrine.

ELECTRICITY ON THE FARM

Hydro-Electric Will Demonstrate at the C. N. E.

Just how electricity can be utilized on the farm will be fully shown at the Canadian National Exhibition. The Hydro-Electric Commission have taken large space in the Process building, where all kinds of farm machinery will be run by the white juice from Niagara. It will be a demonstration no up-to-date farmer can afford to miss.

TOO YOUNG TO MARRY

Margaret Cox Home Authorities Looking After Former Ward.

Orillia, Aug. 22—At the request of the authorities of the Barnado Home Peterborough, Chief Reid interfered on Tuesday to prevent the marriage of a girl named Ethel Hulburt, who has been living at Richard Maudsley's Leigh's Corners. The man in the case, named Huffman, worked at Mr. Maudley's last summer. He was brought before Police Magistrate Clark on Tuesday, charged with perjury, in swearing before the issuer of marriage licenses that the girl is over eighteen, and remanded till to-morrow. The Home people say she is only a little over fourteen, though she looks older. Crown Attorney Cotter will be here to-morrow to prosecute, and Miss Kennedy, Superintendent of the Home at Peterborough also will be here.

BOUNDARIES OF GAME DISTRICTS

Open Season for Duck Shooting on Rice and Scugog Lakes From Sept. 1st to Dec. 15th

Mr. John Watt, the local game and fishery overseer, has received a letter from Supt. Tinsley, who says that in his opinion the line between the Northern and Southern districts is the present line from Montreal to the town of Perth in Lanark county. From there it branches south through Parkham, Enterprise, Shannonville, and on to Belleville. From Belleville runs between the Grand Trunk and the Canadian Northern Railways to Toronto, from which point to the west it is well defined in the act. Rice and Scugog Lakes are in the Northern district.

In the Northern district, as above defined, the open season for duck is from the first of September to the fifteenth of December, both days inclusive.

In the Southern district the open season is from September 15th to December 15th inclusive. No Sunday shooting is permitted in any case.

BITTEN BY A VICIOUS DOG

Little Margaret Dunoon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Dunoon, of Lindsay, was the victim of a painful accident. She was with her parents at Rosedale when a vicious dog bit her on the left cheek, just below the eye. The cheek is badly lacerated and it is feared it will be marked.

HE TRAVELS IN EUROPE

Many friends in the city, of Rev. Dr. Young, will learn with interest of his enjoyment of a European trip which he and Mrs. Young and son, are making during July and August. He writes to Mr. Ben Stoutly, and says: "Italy is a revelation to a Canadian, and one could spend weeks studying that old land. I think Venice appealed most strongly to me. I was tired, and the peaceful, quiet rest of a gondola, was most enjoyable. There are many things about the old St. Mark's church to arrest one's attention, while that old Doge's palace is a museum full of splendid reminders of a great past. I am thankful however, I live in brighter days. We go to-morrow down the far famed Rhine."

INCREASING THE POWER

Following the temporary shutting down of the Hydraulic Co's Power Station at London street, where the switchboard was disabled during the severe storms of two weeks ago, advantage has been taken to add to the power efficiency of the plant. The big turbines that drive the generators, have been overhauled, after some years of constant service, day and night. In order to add to the power developed, the water has been shut out of the tail race underneath the station and the draft tubes on the turbines are being lengthened several feet each. This will increase the available head of water from 13 to 17 feet, giving very considerable more power.

It was found that in times of low water that the vacuum below the wheels was not well maintained, and that in consequence, the wheels were not at their best. This will now be remedied and will make for a considerably greater output of energy.

The work will be finished during next week and the station will go into service.

WAY TO SAVE DOCTOR BILLS

It's a matter of general interest just now, how one's physical condition can be got into shape to best receive the benefits of the summer season. Especially is this true of the children. They have become run down by a winter of unnatural manner of living because of ill-considered food and much time spent indoors. Spring comes with its sunshine, its fresh vegetables and all else invigorating, but the children are in no condition to receive nature's remedies.

Many parents call in the family physician. Many other parents take advantage of what the physician told them, when he was first called in consultation. All good family physicians say: "Give the children Castoria." Healthy parents know this remedy of old, for they took it themselves as children. It was more than thirty years ago that Castoria made a place for itself in the household. It bore the signature of Charles H. Fletcher then as it does to-day. The signature is its guarantee, which is accepted in thousands of homes where there are children.

Charles H. Fletcher has received hundreds of letters from prominent physicians, who have the same esteem for Castoria that Dr. McCrann has. Not only do these physicians say they use Castoria in their own families, but they prescribe it for their patients. First of all, it is a vegetable preparation which assimilates the food and regulates the stomach and bowels. After eating comes sleeping, and Castoria looks out for that too. It allays feverishness and prevents loss of sleep, and this absolutely without the use of opium morphine or other baneful narcotic.

THOUSANDS FILE PAST THE CASKET OF THE LATE CHIEF

Touching Scene This Morning When an Officer and Her Family Sang a Consecration Hymn Beside General Booth's Remains.

Special to the Review

London, Aug. 2—No fewer than twenty-seven thousand workmen filed past the bier of the late General Booth, of the Salvation Army. Before nine o'clock this morning there was a moving scene when Mrs. Booth Hellberg, Chief of Army in Denmark, with her family, took places beside the catafalque and sang a consecration hymn.

ROOSEVELT NOW POSES AS A MARTYR IN COURSE OF RIGHT

In a Hot Reply to the Senators Who Attacked Him, Progressive Leader Denies Having Received Money From Standard Oil Co. — He Charges Assailants With Falsehood —May Testify.

Oyster Bay, N.Y., Aug. 24.—Col. Roosevelt sat on the porch at Sagamore Hill yesterday for an hour and a half, and last night dictated a statement in reply to the testimony of John D. Archbold yesterday before the Senate investigating committee.

He reiterated his declaration that he knew nothing of a contribution by Mr. Archbold or the Standard Oil Co. to the Republican campaign of 1904, declared that he did not "for one moment believe Mr. Archbold's testimony is truthful," charged Mr. Archbold with a "wicked assault on a dead man," added that during many calls which Mr. Archbold made upon him while he was President, to urge him not to prosecute the Standard Oil Co., Mr. Archbold never referred to any contribution to his campaign fund, and concluded with the suggestion that the Senate committee should make both Mr. Archbold and Senator Penrose testify at once concerning their relations while Mr. Penrose was a member of the industrial committee.

In his last word, Col. Roosevelt thanked both Messrs. Archbold and Penrose for "making it clear beyond possibility of doubt, that I am the man Penroses and Archbolds of the country most dread in public life."

"This is a wicked assault on a dead man whose high standing and probity was such that no human being who was himself honest, would ever impute evil motives to him.

"Moreover, Mr. Archbold shows perfectly clearly, as published reports say, that his corporation has contributed in order to get value for its gift and that the gift was made with the expectation of receiving the improper consideration.

"I do not for one moment believe that Mr. Bliss made any such remarks to Mr. Archbold as Mr. Archbold says. For example Mr. Archbold states that he and the late H. H. Rogers visited me at the White House and that I then remarked to them that there had been some criticisms about campaign contributions. This is a falsehood. Neither on that occasion nor on any other occasion was one word said either by me to Mr. Archbold or by Mr. Archbold to me about campaign contributions.

"Mr. Archbold and Mr. Rogers called on that occasion to protest against any Government action being taken against the Standard Oil Co. This was one of a number of calls which Mr. Archbold made to me to try to prevent action against the Standard Oil Co. by the bureau of corporations in the department of the interior and by the department of justice.

"If Mr. Archbold had really believed that Mr. Bliss had told him that I knew of any contribution by Standard Oil or had felt that he was jeopardised by having refused to make a contribution or was entitled to immunity for having made one, he would certainly in one of those calls have said as much. He never broached the subject.

"He merely said over and over again, that Mr. Garfield and Mr. H. K. Smith were treating him unfairly and he denied, again and again, that the Standard Oil ever got any rebates or ever did anything that was not absolutely proper. And he would keep on with these denials, even when I would tell him that I had in my possession reports from the bureau of corporations and the secretary of the interior which conclusively showed that the Standard Oil had been taking rebates on the largest possible scale."

It is believed here that Col. Roosevelt will take the stand within a few days before the Senate sub-committee investigating campaign expenditures, to answer the charges made yesterday by John D. Archbold that Mr. Roosevelt had knowledge of the use of the Standard Oil Co. in his campaign of 1904.

The committee was divided last night over its future course of action. Upon the arrival to-day of Senator Luke Lea, one of the absent Democratic members of the committee, a meeting will be held to determine whom to call, and where the next meeting is to be held. Several members of the sub-committee favor transferring the hearings at once to New York, where Col. Roosevelt, Geo. W. Perkins, Geo. B. Cortelyou, and members of the Standard Oil Co.'s board of directors might testify.

WESTERN CROP THE BEST THAT EVER WAS HARVESTED

DR. J. D. REID, M. P.
New Acting Minister of Railways and Canals, who is expected to join the party now inspecting the Trent Canal.

It Is Impossible Yet, Says Expert, to Estimate the Number of Bushels But Yield Will Be Exceptionally Heavy—Farmers Are Hoping That a Blockade on Railways Will Be Averted.

Winnipeg, Aug. 24.—With 15,000,000 bushels of last year's crop still waiting to be moved, and the largest crop on record expected this year, the railways in the west are up against one of the hardest propositions which they have ever been called upon to face. The crop this year, at the very lowest estimate, will be 250,000,000 bushels, and it is doubtful whether half of it can be moved before winter sets in.

One of the remarkable features of this year's crop is the fact that thousands of bushels of wheat, oats and barley will be harvested from lands which four or five years ago were known as "bad lands," and if anyone suggested at that time that crops would grow on that land, he would have been laughed at. This year, however, "dry farming" has been tried, with the result that the yield in many cases will be as high as 28 and 30 bushels of wheat and 100 bushels of oats to the acre.

Reports received here show that in the district between Maple Creek and Swift Current more than 30,000 acres are under cultivation where five years ago people were laughed at for suggesting that settlers be located there. There are being produced in this district this year as fine crops of wheat, oats, flax and barley as are to be seen in the west. In the dry belt between Maple Creek and Brooks the cultivation never was better and the crops are excellent.

One expert went from Calgary to High River by motor car and reports that he never saw better crops. His companion, who was on horseback, rode into a field of oats and the grain was higher than the horse's back. In one field of 1,500 acres, where the grain is being cut, the yield will be between 28 and 30 bushels to the acre, which is an enormous yield. In another field of 500 acres of oats the yield will be more than a hundred bushels to the acre.

From Moosejaw and Regina to Winnipeg the harvesting now is general. Passing through that district on the train, travelers can see the finest wheat to be found, and north and south of the railway tracks the crops are equally as good, if not better. Good crops are general in the whole district.

This year the west will reap the finest crop ever known, and no one can give a proper estimate of the total yield. It will exceed all of the most sanguine expectations.

The railways have a bigger contract on their hands than ever, and the crop cannot be moved by 1913 by any means. What will happen?—At the present time there are 15,000,000 bushels of last year's crop unmoved, and more than 250,000,000 bushels will be piled on top of that inside of a few weeks. Hopes are being expressed all through the west that some means will be found by which the difficulty may be overcome and the crop moved by the railways.

Harvesting is being commenced earlier this year, and many of the farmers, profiting by last year's experience are shipping as quickly as possible. The railways will have their hands full from now on.

TWO CHILDREN DIED IN AGONY

Toronto, Aug. 24.—Giving stolen green apples, which they themselves did not eat, to little children playing about the street, a group of boys have caused, probably innocently, sad desolation in the home of George MacPherson of 11 Frizzell avenue.

Two of his children are dead and another is dangerously ill.

About two weeks ago four-year-old Gladys MacPherson ate several unripe apples "swiped" by the boys from trees in the rear of houses on the street. At one time the whole neighborhood around Pape avenue was a vast orchard and these trees are the diseased remainder. The little child was taken ill with the usual pains in the stomach, but her mother at first thought the little girl's condition not serious. But in a short time the cramps were replaced by dysentry, caused by the apples, and on Thursday night she died.

The child's brother Wesley, two years old, died yesterday morning. It is thought he also ate of the fatal fruit. Dysentery was also the direct cause of death. And now the youngest of the family, a baby girl, is very low from the same ailment. Dysentery is highly contagious, and it is believed that the baby caught it from the older children, although she was not taken seriously ill until last night.

There are two other children in the family of Mr. and Mrs. MacPherson and late last night they were not reported as having caught the disease as yet.

All the mothers in the district are distraught with fear that their children will follow the sad way of the two MacPherson babies, who were great pets in the neighborhood. Green apples are plentiful and have often been eaten in the last few days by the children when playing around the streets.

LIEUT MORRIS IN THE LEAD

Toronto, Aug. 24.—Lieut. F. H. Morris, 46th Regiment, Bowmanville, proved to be about the best shot at the O.R.A., whose five days' meeting wound up last night. Morris won the militia aggregate by a score of 282 points out of a possible 295, meaning that he attained the highest aggregate of six matches. In getting first place he captured the N.R.A. silver medal and badge and $15. There are nine others in the money class in the militia aggregate, but their names will not be announced until to-day. Morris shot splendidly in every match, being always among the first dozen. He won the City of Toronto Gold Medal in shooting off a tie with Sergt. J. Freeborn of Hamilton. He was tied with 34 others in the Coronation, making a possible, and was high up in the Osler. In every other event he stood prominent. Lieut. T. Morrison of the 13th Regiment, Hamilton, was three points ahead of him on Thursday in the aggregate, but Morris gained on the Hamiltonian yesterday. The best regiment was the 13th, Hamilton, which did considerable cleaning up.

Yesterday was a heavy day at the ranges, there being several important matches. The Gzowski skirmishing event was very spectacular and was captured by the Queen's Own Rifles, 1st team, Toronto, with a score of 372. The others in the money were: 13th Regiment, Hamilton, 1st team, 354; 13th Regiment, Hamilton, 2nd team, 346; Queen's Own Rofles, 2nd team, 342; Royal Grenadiers, Toronto, 2nd team, 333. The winning quintette gets the Gzowski Challenge Cup, valued at $200, and $40. Among the others $90 is divided.

Staff-Sergt. P. Armstrong, 13th Regiment, Hamilton, won the much-coveted Tait-Brassey match, shot off at 500 and 600 yards, earning $20, with a score of 104 out of a possible 105. Capt. H. Smith, 24th Regiment, Chatham, also got 104, but second money, $15. Staff-Sergt. G. A. Hawley of Winnipeg Rifles was third, with 103.

The regimental team prize of $48 and the Tait Challenge Cup, valued at $250, went to the 13th Regiment, Hamilton, with a score of 594.

The company team prize was won by B. Company, G.G.F.G., Ottawa, with a score of 398. They got the Brassey Cup, valued at $125, and $20.

Col.-Sergt. Robinson, 91st Highlanders, Hamilton, won the Tyro aggregate by a score of 399, and got a silver medal, presented by Sir John Gibson. Pte. J. Buick, 48th Highlanders, Toronto, got second place, with 397, and won a bronze medal.

MAY CAUSE A GRAIN BLOCKADE

Ottawa, Aug. 24.—If the strike of the dock laborers and freight handlers at Port Arthur and Fort William is not settled at once, the Government is determined to interfere and bring the dispute to an end. So far, no board of conciliation has been asked for by either side, and it is realized that every day of the strike only adds to the possibility of a recurrence of last year's western grain blockade by tying up shipping and consequently traffic and removal of congestion on the lakes. A member of the labor department will likely go to Port Arthur to-day to investigate the trouble.

Street Car Jumps Track.

Toronto, Aug. 24.—A Bathurst street car jumped the track at the corner of Front and John streets yesterday morning where the G. T. R. crosses the street. The truck swerved off the track and the car ran into the G.T.R. signal cabin. The cars going west were tied up for 30 minutes.

NO ACTION HAS BEEN TAKEN ON THE BANK MERGER CASE

Another Meeting of the Cabinet Will Be Held on Monday — C.P.R.'s Application For an Increase in Capitalization Will Probably Be Left to Parliament in Order That It May Have a Full Discussion.

Ottawa, Aug. 24.—That no action was taken by the Treasury Board yesterday in regard to the application of the Royal-Traders' Bank for amalgamation is regarded as extremely significant here.

It was stated after the Cabinet Council yesterday that the matter was still under consideration and that no decision had been reached.

The members of the Government now in the capital are fully cognizant of the importance of the question, and no action will be taken or any decision reached until the whole thing has been fully gone into.

Another meeting will be held on Monday, and it was stated at the close of yesterday's conference that a statement as to the Government's policy might be forthcoming then.

Protest against the Government acting favorably upon the application of the Canadian Pacific for an order-in-council approving the proposed $60,000,000 stock increase, have taken such form that it is believed here in the most authoritative and best-informed circles that the increase is to be indefinitely held up, and the Cabinet will decline to act directly on the application, but will, instead, refer the whole question to Parliament at the coming session, when it will be fully discussed.

It is felt that the representatives of the people should be allowed every opportunity to fully discuss the proposed increase. The stand is taken here and it is understood that the majority of the members of the Government take the same view, that at least nothing should be done until the western freights inquiry, which comes up in October, is heard.

Visit Postponed?

London, Aug. 25.—It is rumored that the proposed visit of Winston Spencer Churchill, First Lord of the Admiralty, to Canada has been postponed, according to The Weekly Nation, pending a settlement of the naval question between the Imperial Government and Canada.

France Sends Troops.

Tangier, Morocco, Aug. 24.—A French army has been ordered to march to raise the siege of the headquarters of El Glawi, which is now beleaguered by the Moors. The troops will march under the command of Col. Mangin. It is expected that it will take four days to reach the neighborhood of Marakesh, which is now in the hands of El Hiba, who has proclaimed himself sultan.

It is feared, however, that they will have some fierce fighting on the way.

Several Frenchmen are with El Glawi, who is friendly to France. Grave fears are felt as to their fate.

These Frenchmen are Vice-Consul Jacques R. Maigret and the three French officers who were engaged in organizing the local police at Marakesh.

The four men left that city after its abandonment by the French troops and tried to make their way to the coast. It is known that they found the road infested by hostile Moors, who compelled them to return to Marakesh, which had in the meantime been occupied by El Hiba.

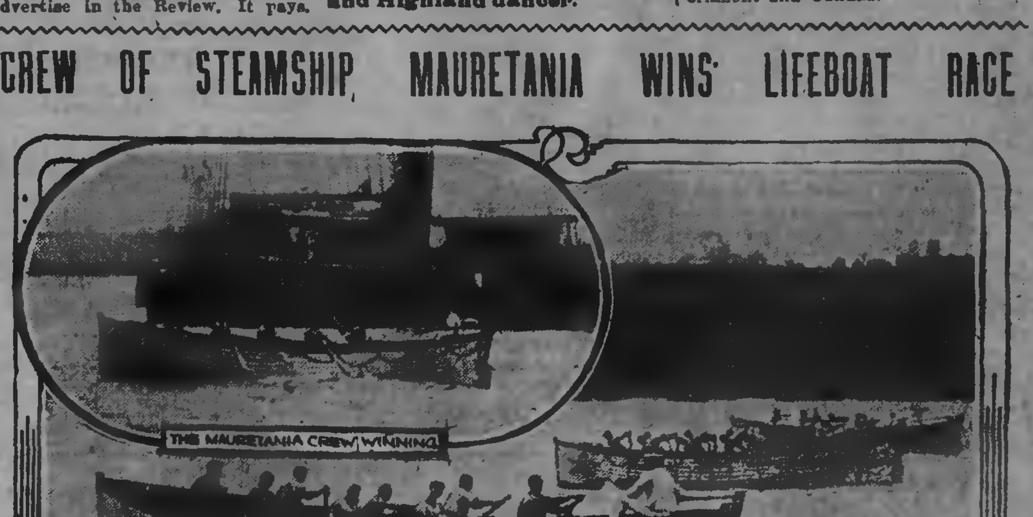
To Get After Boats.

Toronto, Aug. 24.—Provincial License Inspector George E. Morrison is getting after the steamboats for selling liquor in Ontario waters. He was at the Parliament Buildings yesterday and reported two convictions of captains of boats running out of Prescott. He has instructions to give similar attention to boats complained of from other Ontario points.

A petition has been received at the Parliament Buildings for cancellation of the fine of a local preacher in a local option municipality, who was convicted for selling native port wine, containing a greater percentage of alcohol than is allowed in dry districts. It is claimed that he supposed he was handling a purely temperance beverage.

Postponed garden party will be held on Mrs. A. L. Davis' lawn, Belmont avenue, on Monday afternoon and evening. 57th band in attendance and Highland dancer.

CREW OF STEAMSHIP MAURETANIA WINS LIFEBOAT RACE



START OF THE RACE.

With a stroke that was almost as clean cut as that of a varsity crew, a lifeboat manned by the sailors of the steamship Mauretania won a two and a half mile race on the Hudson River, New York, from the representatives of the Orotava and the Invernia. The boats were the ordinary big life craft, with two men rowing abreast in four seats, with a coxswain. Quite a crowd along the shore watched the race with keen interest.

Dr. Hamilton's Pills Cured

"I think it should be the duty of the schools to teach children how to keep well," writes Miss Nannie E. [illegible], a well-known and highly esteemed resident of Bristol. "Ignorance of the laws of health and the use of improper remedies destroyed my vigor, and led me to the verge of invalidism. I was as a girl ruddy and strong. Nothing seemed to affect me until I was about thirty. Then gas began to form in the stomach. I suffered with bloating and a general failure in strength set in. If I went upstairs my breath hurt. My system was very irregular, and until I grew pretty bad I didn't pay much heed to my condition. Then I got blue, worried all the time, wakened in the night, and couldn't get to sleep again. None of the medicine I took helped me. One day I was reading of a very interesting case like mine cured by Dr. Hamilton's Pills. I took the same treatment. It was just right—didn't physic me to death, but took hold of the weak, sick parts of my system, and set things right. It seems as if Dr. Hamilton's Pills have made me young again, and all my color, spirits, vigor, and health of former days have returned to stay."

Every girl and woman should use Dr. Hamilton's Pills regularly. They help a woman in many ways. Beware of the dealer who asks you to take an inferior pill on which his profit is larger than on Dr. Hamilton's. Sold in yellow boxes, 25c per box, all dealers, or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

IDLE SPECULATION

Tennyson's assertion that we know not anything, applies with particular force at this time to the naval question. For the past two or three weeks the Liberal press has been wasting valuable space in idle speculation and in assuming knowledge of a subject of which in the very nature of things they must be in perfect and dense ignorance. No one knows outside of the parties directly interested what course has been decided upon by Premier Borden and the Imperial authorities. What is more, no one will know until Mr. Borden returns and discusses the matter with the members of his Cabinet. Even then no definite statement is likely to be made until the meeting of Parliament and until that time the Liberal press should be content to possess itself in patience. On all questions of so much public moment this is the course that has been adopted in the past by whatever party happened to be in power at the time.

The Globe the other day preached a very academic sermon upon the folly of betting upon a horse race, but the Globe is diverting itself these days by taking a shot at something as uncertain as the usual race track event. The victim of the betting mania is generally giving free reign to his love of excitement and speculation and perhaps the Globe, dabbling in the navy question, jumping at one conclusion and rejecting a proposition of its own invention, making a man of straw, and building a house of cards for the puerile pleasure of demolishing what its own hand has created, is but giving way to the weakness of the man who ventures a bet on the ponies.

The political shoe is pinching the enemy. Mr. Borden's reception in England has been a bitter potion to the Liberal press and they are tormented by the fear that when he returns and discloses the full text of his naval policy the disclosure will be in the nature of a further eclipse of the hopes and aspirations of the Opposition.

Wait in patience. Mr. Borden is returning and we will soon know the terms upon which he has proposed to enter into a scheme of naval defence. Mr Borden's political supporters—and for that matter his opponents who are disposed to be rational—have no fear that anything has been decided upon that will in any way compromise the standing of Canada as a nation.

MORE AID TO SETTLERS

The Provincial Government has made another move to aid the settlers in New Ontario by establishing stock raising industries in the north, so that farmers may purchase well bred animals at the least possible expense. This is but the extension of a system that has been satisfactorily tried in other parts of the province. Thus, another shaft is taken from Mr. Rowell's quiver, none too replete at any time, and his wail concerning the pig of the farmer who had one expressed to himself from North Bay, loses all force.

The Government will establish stock farms throughout the north, and none but the best breed of animals will be raised. These will be sold at a price just sufficient to cover the cost of raising and in a few years, the result will be noticeable throughout the new section of Ontario. There are in that country, tracts of land, suitable for the purposes of the stock-raiser and the dairyman, and the difficulty heretofore experienced by the settler in getting a start in either business will now be overcome.

It is to be expected that Mr. Rowell, when next heard from will inflate himself with the idea that, the building of pulp mills and paper factories, and the establishing of stock farms, have been forced upon the Government by his agitation in favor of the north, following his recent tour through the country, but it is to be remembered that these innovations were decided upon by the administration, long before Mr. Rowell seized upon that country as a mine of political capital. It will be noticed, too, that all of his impracticable suggestions and theories are ignored by the Government. No more serious consideration is given to them than was accorded his unstatesmanlike and ignoble contention that because an American firm is to build school houses in New Ontario that firm will dictate the educational system, and debauch the national spirit of the settler's children, who attend the schools.

NOTE AND COMMENT

The main difference between wood and grain alcohol, seems to be that the former is swifter in effecting fatal results.

Woodrow Wilson says he will carry all but ten states. Our own optimistic, George B. Graham, must have done the figuring for the presidential candidate.

The good people of Prescott are still mixing up in strenuous conflicts with aggressive snakes. The license inspector should really get busy and see to it that Prescott topers are getting a square deal over the bars.

Bad as it is with its police scandal, New York is not past redemption seeing that the two big pugilistic "smokes" have been barred from fighting in that city or state.

The chief regret of the Detroit aldermen, who sold themselves for $100, seems to be that the members of the gang, who held out for a higher figure, incline to regard them as cheap skates.

If the lacrosse players insist upon turning every exhibition into a scrap, why don't they throw away their sticks and fight fair?

Mayor Geary of Toronto, while at Ottawa the other day, was mistaken for a reporter on one of the papers in that city, and his blushes over the implied compliment have scarcely yet subsided.

A Welland pastor, locked out of church by his flock, climbed in through a rear window, and preached in spite of the discouraging conditions. Here's a fervent and faithful shepherd for you even if his entrance to the fold was unconventional.

A Canadian sculler beat an American at his own game, a Canadian yacht wrested a cup from the sailing pride of the United States, a Canadian baseball team deadlocked with the famous New York Giants, and a Canadian horse is cleaning up everything on the American circuit. How's that for a record, for one brief summer?

Montreal Grain and Produce.

MONTREAL, Aug. 22.—The foreign demand for Manitoba spring wheat was much better and more general. Cables were strong at an advance of 3d and a fair amount of business was worked in both old and new crop wheat. Owing to the heavy demand from foreign buyers for oats for both prompt and future shipment at an advance in prices of 3d to 6d there was some little excitement in the local market and prices scored a further rise of ½c per bushel. The volume of business done for export was small, notwithstanding the fact that some of the bids received would have brought back over 49c afloat for extra No. 1 feed, but holders were at this figure not anxious sellers, as they have confidence in still higher prices, as none can be bought in Winnipeg and late advices report the English crop a failure. A fair local trade is passing in flour, but the foreign demand is quiet. Millfeed fairly active and firm.

Butter continues quiet and easy. Cheese fairly active and strong. Eggs steady. Provisions unchanged.

Reduced to an Absurdity

A Lady's Part In an Affair of Honor

By ISABEL MORTON

One afternoon toward the close of the seventeenth century a young lady was sitting in the garden in the rear of her home in New Orleans when a negro came from the house bearing a silver salver on which lay a sealed note.

"Mlle. Therese, can you tell me where I can find Marse George?" asked the boy.

Instead of replying, the girl took the missive from the salver and looked it over, especially examining the handwriting in which the address was written.

"Who brought it?" she asked.

"A cull'd boy."

"Whose boy?"

"I spec' he belongs to Mars' Winston."

Mars' Winston was the intimate friend of Clarence Warfield, and Clarence Warfield had been attentive to the young lady who was inspecting the note. George Carnoux, her twin brother, was so wrapped up in his sister that the idea of her marrying any one was abhorrent to him. He said that he would be perfectly willing she should marry provided the man of her choice was good enough for her, but that man had not yet appeared. Mlle. Carnoux, from the opposition her brother had shown to the attentions Warfield had paid her, suspected that her brother had insulted the latter, and this was a challenge. But she could not understand, if such it were, why Louis Winston should not have brought so important a communication himself instead of sending it by a slave.

"I will go and see if I can find him," she said to the servant. "Let the boy wait."

She went into the house and up to her room, taking the note with her. Her brother was not at home, and she had little fear of interruption in what she was about to do. Slitting the paper about the seal—envelopes were not then used—she read the note. It was, as she suspected, a challenge Warfield had sent through Winston, who explained his sending it by a slave because if he called himself Mlle. Carnoux might suspect the object of his visit. Winston said Warfield hoped that Carnoux would withdrew the language he had used that morning, for he considered the affair very unfortunate, and it should be amicably settled.

Mlle. Carnoux knew her brother too well to believe that he would withdraw anything he had said in the face of a challenge. She sat with the letter in her hand for a long while revolving plans in her head for preventing the meeting. She loved Warfield, and her affection for her brother was of that strength that is natural between twins. At last she came to a conclusion. Taking from a cabinet a bundle of her brother's letters, she replied to the note in his name, imitating his handwriting, appointing for the meeting the next morning at 5 o'clock in the wood near the city, where most duels were fought. Then, sealing her note with wax, she called a servant and told him to give it to the boy.

When George Carnoux came in an hour later he found his sister waiting for him expectantly. She told him that word had come from a plantation owned by the Carnoux family that the levee on its border showed signs of breaking and his presence was needed there at once.

Now, Carneux was not well pleased at this news since he expected a visit from some friend of Warfield's, whom he had insulted that morning. But on asking if any gentleman had called to see him and being assured that there had not he reluctantly mounted a horse and rode away, leaving orders that any one calling was to receive an explanation of his absence and be told that he would return just as soon as he could secure the safety of the plantation.

Mlle. Therese, who had sent her brother away on a fool's errand, knew that he could not go to the plantation and return before the next day was half spent. As soon as he had gone, having eliminated him temporarily from the problem, she gave herself up to thought as to what she should do further. While George was of an excitable disposition and a fiery temper, Therese had the advantage of him in coolness, and she possessed more physical strength. Indeed, though George was by no means effeminate, every one said that Therese should have been the boy instead of her brother. She was a trifle heavier in build and was half an inch taller.

Evening came and she had formed no plan, but at the hour when the cafes were crowded an idea got into her head that accorded rather with the nature of a man than that of a woman. Going to her brother's room, she selected a suit of his clothes and put it on, concealing her feminine figure by donning a large overcoat with a long cape that covered her hips. It was not needed for warmth, but was very efficient as a disguise. Having thus arrayed herself, she watched for an opportunity to escape from the house unobserved, but stumbled on Uncle Jake, an old darky, who started when he saw her.

"Fo' de Lo'd, Mars' George, I thought yo'd gone to de plantation! Yo' haint yo' own ghost nohow, are yo'?"

Mars' George pushed by the old man saying that he was in a hurry, leaving him gaping, and, entering upon the street, strolled toward the gayest part of the city.

When morning dawned Clarence Warfield, accompanied by his second, Winston, drove into the wood where the meeting was to take place. No one was there. Winston pulled his watch from his fob and remarked that it was still five minutes of the hour appointed. The two men paced back and forth together, for the morning was chilly. While thus engaged they heard the sound of carriage wheels, and Winston remarked, "Here they come; they're on the minute."

What was their surprise to see three gentlemen alight from the carriage whom they did not know, one with a pair of rapiers in the hollow of his arm, another having a wooden case. The three on seeing Warfield and his second looked equally astonished.

"Gentlemen," said the man with the foils, "I presume we have both come for a similar purpose, but fortunately there is plenty of room for all."

"We presumed that your carriage contained the other half of our party," said Warfield, looking at his timepiece. "It is a few minutes past our appointed time. We were to meet at 5 o'clock."

"That was our hour."

"Indeed. Strange that two affairs should have been arranged for the same hour at the same place."

The last words were scarcely spoken when another carriage drove up and out stepped a third party, unknown to the other two. All three of the different sets looked at one another in amazement.

"There is something singular about all this," said Winston. Then, turning to one of the party who were second on the ground, he asked:

"Would you mind informing me, sir, of the name of the man you are to meet?"

The other handed the inquirer a card bearing the name of George Carnoux. Winston and his principal looked at it in added astonishment.

"And you?" said Winston, turning to the third party, who produced a card bearing the same name as the other.

As soon as Warfield could regain his tongue he asked both parties if they had long known Mr. Carnoux and received a reply that they had met him only the evening before, where both principals admitted that they had been grossly insulted by him.

Warfield and his second looked at each other puzzled. What could it mean? Carnoux was a fiery fellow, but a gentleman who would not be likely to insult any one. Could it be that his courage had failed him and in order to prevent one duel he had taken upon himself two more?

"What kind of a looking person was the man who insulted you?" asked Winston of the others. They described Carnoux. "It must be so," said Warfield to his second. Then to the others: "Gentlemen, you may as well return to the city. The man who insulted you did so, doubtless, to escape a meeting with me. I sent him a challenge yesterday afternoon and received a reply directly from him appointing the meeting with me here this morning."

At that juncture more wheels were heard, and another carriage rolled into the wood. All eyes were turned toward it, eager to see who would alight, all suspecting that a new person who had been insulted the night before was coming to receive satisfaction. To the astonishment of all three parties, out stepped a lady—a lady whom Warfield and his second recognized at once as Therese Carnoux.

"What does this mean, you coward?" thundered one of the principals. "Do you come here to shield yourself under a woman's skirts?"

"Please explain, sir," said Therese haughtily.

"George Carnoux is my brother," replied Therese, "and he could not have insulted you, because he went yesterday afternoon to our plantation, fifty miles away."

"There is some trick here!" cried the other furiously. Warfield interrupted him.

"You came here to meet this lady's brother. One disrespectful word to her and you will have an opportunity to settle the matter with me."

The three parties glared at one another for a few moments; then both the second and third parties to arrive bolted for their carriages and drove away. They had scarcely gone when a fourth carriage came hurrying on, then stopped, and out jumped George Carnoux. Seeing his sister, he exclaimed reproachfully:

"Therese, what have you done? You have sought to disgrace me."

"Brother, you must make the best of all this. I am engaged to Clarence Warfield and command you to make it all up with him."

"I beg of you to do so," said Warfield, advancing, with outstretched hand. Carnoux hesitated, then took the proffered hand.

"But what does it all mean?" he asked of his sister.

"I received the challenge intended for you, replied to it in your name, sent you off to get you out of the way, went out dressed in your apparel, complicated matters by insulting persons in your name and came here to exonerate you."

"What a mad freak!"

"You returned sooner than I expected."

"I met a man from the plantation who told me that there was no danger from the levee."

"And now, gentlemen," said Therese, "since this affair has been brought to the reductio ad absurdum come home with me and we will have some breakfast."

AFTER LONG SUFFERING

These Two Women's Health Restored by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—Read Their Own Statements.

Cheneyville, La.—"Some time ago when in poor health, suffering from feminine ills, I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills. I soon felt better and gained in strength and flesh. A gradual improvement continued as I took the Compound, and from 120 pounds I now weigh 155, and feel that my life has been prolonged.

"I deeply regret that I did not know of your medicine long before I did. Friends often speak of the wonderful change in my health, and I tell them that your medicine did it."—Mrs. J. W. STANLEY, Cheneyville, La.

Distressing Case of Mrs. M. Gary.

Chicago, Ill.—"I have used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for backache and it has certainly made a new woman of me. After my first baby was born I was left a perfect wreck. I was so weak I could hardly do my household duties and suffered with an awful backache. But since I have used your Compound the pains in my back have left me and I am strong again.

"My mother used it also through Change of Life and speaks very highly of it. You can use this letter any way you wish. I think it is only fair for one who has suffered as much as I, to let others know of your great remedy."—Mrs. M. GARY, 2958 N. Ridgeway Ave., Chicago, Ill.

are made beautiful by long, silky lashes and well defined, lustrous brows. Eyes, like diamonds, depend on their setting. The beauties of the face are lost is the eye brows are thin and scanty, and the lashes are thing and scanty. Parisian Lash Lustre grows beautiful, soft, silky lashes. It has done so for society women throughout Europe, and it comes here well recommended to do the same for you. Parisian Lash Lustre is not a dye or colorator, but a scientific preparation for beautifying the eye lashes and brows. Our guarantee goes with every box of Parisian Lash Lustre. A two weeks' treatment will bring beauty to your eyes that you have never before possessed. By mail, prepaid, in opal boxes on receipt of price, fifty cents. B. V. BABY'S GREAT DANGER DRUING HOT WEATHER

More little ones die during the hot weather than at any other time of the year. Diarrhoea, dysentery, cholera infantum and stomach disorders come without warning, and when a medicine is not at hand to give promptly the short delay too frequently means that the child has passed beyond aid. Baby's Own Tablets should always be kept in the home where there are young children. An occasional dose of the Tablets will prevent stomach and bowel troubles, or if the trouble comes suddenly, the prompt use of the Tablets will cure the baby. Mrs. Adelore Ouilette, St. Bruno, Que., writes—"My baby was troubled with his bowels, but Baby's Own Tablets soon set him right again." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

BEWARE OF THE OFFICIAL PATROL

The Government Boat is Coming This Way With Provincial Magistrate on Board.

Look out for the Government fishery patrol boat "Naiad." It called at Lindsay yesterday, in charge of Captain Carson, and is coming this way. Capt. Hunter, of Belleville, Fish and Game Magistrate, for the province, is also on board and is conferring with the local game and fishery overseers, wherever the "Naiad" ties up.

MR. ALLAN ARRIVES

The New Organist of St. Paul's Church Has Located on Downie Street.

Mr. John Allan, Professor of Music late organist and choirmaster of Crescent street Presbyterian church, Montreal, Mrs. Allan, and Miss Dorothy Allan, have arrived in the city and have located at 639, Downie st.

Mr. Allan is the new organist and choirmaster of St. Paul's Presbyterian church. He has had the honor on several occasions of playing before most of the members of the Royal Family, at Balmoral Castle, Mar Lodge, etc.

Mr. Allan will not take up his duties here until Sunday, September 1st.

TOOK CAR FOR JOY RIDE

Machine of Dr. Robinson Norwood, Now Rests for Repairs

An Overland Motor Car, Valued at $1,375, the property of Dr. Robinson of Norwood is in the hands of the Peterboro Machine Co. awaiting repairs, which Mr. Rollie Wilson states will cost in the neighborhood of $50, further examination may increase this figure.

A young man named Webb was charged in Police Court this morning with the theft of the machine. It was further charged that Webb brought about the damages.

Webb claims $6 from Dr. Robinson. His story is that he took the car from the garage without permission and met with an accident. He was willing to pay the costs of repairs to the machine.

Mr. G. N. Gordon, on behalf of the young man, stated to his Worship that his client had not been in court before. He was but 18 years of age and his mother an invalid. The young man was willing to make restitution and on these grounds Mr. Gordon ask for leniency.

His Worship was willing and the case was enlarged till next Saturday.

THE BRIGADE HAD SHORT RUN

Fire in the Bonner-Worth Factory Did Little Damage.

The fire brigade had a call yesterday to a blaze in the north of the city. The Bonner-Worth factory on the corner of McDonnel and Cambridge-sts., was the scene of the conflagration which started in an accumulation of soot between the boiler and the ceiling. The employees detected it early, however, and had it almost under control when the brigade arrived, and as a result the damage to the building was slight.

Keeps on Winning

Another prize of $4.00 was won by Lieut C. H. Ackerman, at Long Branch Rifle Ranges, yesterday, with a score of 97.

Cooking and Baking Problems are Easy to Solve With a "PANDORA" Range

The Oven is the heart of a range. Its efficiency depends largely on construction of Fire-box and Flues, but—certain scientific principles must be carried out in making the Oven to insure success.

Illustration No. 1.

Illustration No. 1 shows the exact course followed by the drafts in "PANDORA" range—you see the heat passes directly under every pothole and around the Oven twice before reaching smoke pipe.

The Flues are deep and wide—corners are rounded—they are easily cleaned and there is nothing to impede the draft. A glance at McClary Flue construction will convince you that the "PANDORA" range is a perfect baker and cooker at the same time. The heat envelops the Oven uniformly—bread is evenly baked in the "PANDORA."

Illustration No. 2 shows the McClary system of Oven Ventilation very plainly. As you know, air close to the body of a range is fresh and comparatively warm. This fresh, warm air is drawn into Oven through small holes—the intense warmth super-heating and diffusing it throughout the Oven. Then it escapes with cooking fumes through vent holes shown in back of Oven.

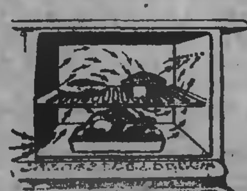

Illustration No. 2.

The ventilation of "PANDORA" Oven is simple, yet scientific, and —the results are apparent. A roast can be cooked just the way you like it—cooked so that it retains all its generous and nourishing juices and—bread, puddings, etc., are baked light, crisp, and fresh in the "PANDORA" Oven. The linings of the "PANDORA" Oven are of nickelled steel one-eighth of an inch thick and as smooth as glass —so the Oven is easily kept clean—easier heated and more durable.

N. B.—You can have the complete story of "Pandora" efficiency by simply asking for our Free Book, "Reasons for 'Pandora' Popularity."

DAIRY COMPETITION FOR PETETBORO' INDUSTRIAL

What promises to be a lively competition at the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition next month, is the Dairy Test, with Mr. G. A. Gillespie in charge.

The rules of the competition and the prizes are as follows:

At the time of making entry, the number of days in milk must be given.

25 points for each pound of butter fat

4 points for each pound of solids not fat

1 point for each 10 days in milk after the first 90 days. Limited to 5 points.

The Milking Competition shall extend over 24 hours. Rations of cows will not be considered. Cows may be milked three times per day.

They shall be milked dry in the presence of the judges at 6 p.m., on the evening of the first day, and the test concluded at 6 p.m. on the evening of the second day of the Fair. The percentage of fat to be determined by the Babcock Tester, and the solids by ascertaining the specific gravity of the milk, then estimating the amount of solids by the use of authorized formulae for that purpose.

All cows entering this contest must be on the grounds the afternoon of the first day of the fair.

The following prizes will be given:

A—PURE BRED CATTLE.

1st Prize	$12 00
2nd Prize	8 00
3rd Prize	5 00

B—GRADE CATTLE.

1st Prize	$12 00
2nd Prize	8 00
3rd Prize	5 00

SPECIAL PRIZE.

Special Prize of a cup, value twenty dollars, ($20.00), donated by Mr. R. W. Warde, dairy instructor, for the highest scoring cheese—not less than 50 lbs—first half of August make.

The cup to become the property of the exhibitor who succeeds in winning it three times.

Only factories in Mr. Warde's syndicate are eligible to compete for this prize.

The maker of the cheese is asked to fyle a declaration that the cheese is made according to conditions.

REV. C. E. CRAGG PREACHED ON TEMPTATION

Before Large Congregation in Lethbridge Church.

Rev. C. E. Cragg, B. D., of Peterboro, preached a very effective sermon on "Temptation," in Wesley church last evening, in presence of a large congregation, says the Lethbridge Herald. Dealing with the question of the young man's safety in the city to-day, Mr. Cragg thought the churches were not doing what they ought to do in this connection. The speaker expressed the opinion that the churches should find some means of wholesome entertainment in the evenings, whereby young people could be catered to in the guidance of their social welfare. The greatest inheritance which any man could leave behind him was the legacy of a good, clean life.

Fruit Was Scattered

An accident to a load of fruit, occurred yesterday morning on Charlotte street, when a street car, which had been but a few seconds under way from George street, bumped into a Dominion Express rig, and canted it over, so that its load of fruit was sent in all directions. The driver and horses were unhurt, and but slight damage was done to the waggon. What fruit remainded unspoiled was collected and delivered to the people to whom it was consigned.

POETRY IS IN LITERATURE WHAT MUSIC IS IN DAILY LIFE

Many of the Works of the Best Poets, Living and Dead are to be Found on the Shelves of the Public Library —Carlyle's Awkward Attempts at Poetic Flights.

There are many mortals who are not fond of poetry. In fact, it would not be hard to discover in any circle of acquaintance, some who treat the subject with indifference, others with contempt, and others again with positive loathing. Its music, its wide effectiveness of utterance, its vast potentialities for good are as utterly undreamed of by them as are the wonderful resources of modern Science by the Australian bushmen.

Now, in saying this, it is not necessary to add that no offence is offered to those who do not appreciate its many beauties. All mortals have their peculiar limitations and because a person here and a person there does not see eye to eye on certain subjects with another, it does not necessary betoken a measure of mental deficiency in that person. It is very easy indeed, to understand why people who have no ear for music should have no taste for poetry. They stand exactly on the same plane as those whose liking for flowers, is handicapped owing to their inability to smell, and who cannot understand why people should bury their noses in a bunch of roses or violets, and go into ecstasies of delight at their fragrance. But, notwithstanding the disadvantages under which these individuals labour, the great and abiding truth stands forth that poetry, in its higher flights, attains, sometimes, to the very acme of literary excellence,

Carlyle, who attempted to indite poetry, but with indifferent results, once biliously exclaimed, "If one has anything to say, why sing it?" but against this may be placed the dictum of Voltaire, who called it "the music of the soul, and above all, of great and feeling souls," and the testimony of scores upon scores of writers of the most exalted genius might also be cited as witnessing in its favor.

There are gradations in all spheres of human activity and in none are such so clearly defined, perhaps, as in the realm of poetry. It is easy enough to make a rhyme, but it is one thing to put commonplace thought into more or less mellifluous verse and another to endue it with that indefinable something that renders it inspiring and stamps it with the stamp of nobility.

Coleridge, who was noted as a sayer of wise things, as well as a writer of them once said "I wish our clever young poets would remember my homely definitions of prose and poetry; that is-prose-words in their best order; poetry-the best words in the best order."

But Coleridge in his anxiety to be epigrammatic seems hardly to have hit the mark. Both prose and poetry require the best words in the best order, the difference lying in the method of treatment of the words. This entails in the case of poetry, the necessity of keeping within certain fixed limits for the setting forth of one's ideas and the further necessity of presenting those ideas metrically and yet intelligibly to one's readers.

And here one is brought face to face with a fact lost sight of entirely by the vast majority of casual readers and only thoroughly recognised by true lovers of poetry, and that is that one does not necessarily have to look for the noblest philosophy or the most majestic diction in poems where polysyllabic words abound. Some of the grandest truths some of the sweetest and daintiest bits of verse are found in poems made up for the most part of monosyllables. Take for instance, the following by Herrick, in his poem entitled, "To Daffodils."—

We have short time to stay as you,
We have as short a spring;
As quick a growth to meet decay,
As you or anything. We die
As your hours do, and dry away,
Like to the summer's rain;
Or as the pearls of morning dew,
Ne'er to be found again.

Many are deterred from the perusal of poetry under the belief that too great an effort is required to gain an intelligent grasp of what one is reading. There may be a certain amount of truth in this, but it all depends upon whose works one is thinking of reading. For, instance, a beginner in the study of poetry would do wisely not to start on the longer poems of Robert Browning. There are passages in his works that have been the despair of many scholars, and even of the man who wrote them. It is said that Browning on one occasion was approached by an admirer with a request for the elucidation of a certain passage in one of his poems. After severe mental straining he had to give it up, and turning to the lady, said: "Madam, I cannot call to mind what I meant when I wrote those words, but I know that they had a meaning when I wrote them. The best advice I can give you is to ask some member of the Browning Society; he will be sure to tell you."

Among Browning's shorter poems there are, however, many beautiful things which will repay the seeking. Not the least beautiful is the one entitled Home Thoughts from Abroad, of which the first verse runs:

"Oh to be in England,
Now that April's there,
And whoever wakes in England
Sees, some morning, unaware,
That the lowest bow and the brushwood sheaf
Round the elm-tree bole, are in tiny leaf,
While the chaffinch sings on the orchard bough
In England now!"

And the companion poem entitled Home Thoughts from the Sea, which would seem just now to be particularly applicable to all England's sons from over the seas:

"Nobly, nobly Cape St. Vincent to the North-west died away;
Sunset ran, one glorious blood-red, reeking into Cadiz Bay;
Bluish 'mid the burning water full in face Trafalgar lay;
In the dimmest North-east distance dawned Gibraltar grand and gray;
"Here and here did England help me; how can I help England?" say,
Whoso turns as I, this evening, turn to God to praise and pray,
While Jove's planet rises yonder, silent over Africa."

Some may be tempted to ask what has this article to do with the setting forth of the usefulness of our Library? The answer is very simple. An attempt had been made to show that the study of poetry is well worth the time that can be expended on it; that it is the form of literature best calculated to fire the soul with an enthusiasm for all that is ennobling in man's nature, and that the Peterborough Library, although its range is small, still possesses many poetical works that will provide the highest pleasure and profit to any who are desirous of perusing them.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The Review does not hold itself responsible for opinions expressed by its correspondents

To the Editor of the Review.

Dear Sir,—I see in your paper a few nights ago an article about ladies removing their hats from their heads when they go into the theatres. The young ladies do not follow this rule much. Last night I went into a picture show. All went well for a while, when who comes into the seat before me but a young lady with a small sized wash tub on her head, with a few flowers thrown here and there on it, and decorated with black velvet. To see the pictures on the screen from behind one of those merry widows you would require a neck as long as a giraffe, and one that would twist any way at all.

I don't mind paying money to see the pictures, but I am blessed if I will pay to sit for an hour or so and look at a big mass of velvet, flowery and an unearthly shaped hat. You can see any amount of them on the street for nothing. If the ladies had any regard for our feelings they would remove them and save us young fellows from wrenching our necks out of shape to see the pictures.

Yours truly,
CITIZEN.

DAYLIGHT SPOOK IN JACKSON PARK

Some ladies who visited Jackson Park without escorts the other day, complain that they were pestered by a fellow who followed them from place to place. The ladies desire call the matter to the attention of the police.

The daylight spook was apparently about twenty-five or thirty years of age, dark as to his complexion and short as regards his height. He wore a brownish grey suit and a Derby hat.

CHILD KILLED IN AN ACCIDENT NEAR WINNIPEG

Mr. George Elder, of Bobcaygeon, has received word that the young son of his daughter, Stella McKay, was killed in an accident, when a car in which they were travelling from Sparling to Winnipeg, jumped the rails. The child, who was but two years of age, was killed, but the father and mother escaped serious injury.

Mr Elder's daughter, Edith, who is Mrs. Arnold Probin, of Winnipeg, is also seriously ill. Both Mrs. McKay and Mrs. Probin have many friends in Peterborough, who will regret to learn of their misfortune.

BASEBALL

St. Thomas Times:—Big Rube Hanson was roundly scored by his team mates on the Peterborough nine at Pinafore Park Tuesday. In the last half of the ninth, before the Saints had started scoring Hanson noticed that the ball in play was flat on one side, and he had it exchanged for another. "You big mutt," one of his colleagues is reported to have said after the fireworks were all over, "don't you know that they couldn't have batted the flat-sided ball outside of the diamond, and you'd never have been scored on."

SUFFERED THREE YEARS

Till Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills cured his Kidney Trouble

There are few diseases that cause more acute suffering than Kidney Trouble, and Mr. F. A. Thomas, of Sudbury Ont., is one of them who knew it. He writes: "For over three years I suffered from kidney disease. First I thought I had sprained my back, for suddenly the pain would catch the small of my back and it would be impossible for me to straighten myself up for several minutes. A dull ache across the kidneys was always present, my urine was thick and cloudy, and passing it caused a burning, scalding pain. Tried medicines, but they failed. I was advised to try Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills, as they had cured my wife years before. A few boxes effected a complete cure. I now enjoy the blessings of good health, which is due to this remedy."

Don't neglect kidney trouble—it's too dangerous as well as too painful. That old, reliable family remedy, Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills, has cured thousands and will cure you. It is equally effective in curing constipation and its attendant evils, biliousness, indigestion and sick headaches, and in purifying the blood. 25c a box at your druggist's. 10

THE C. P. R. IN EUROPE

Hungary Wants the Great Canadian Company's Austrian Observation Car System

The highly successful inauguration of the C. P. R.'s magnificent observation cars on the State Railways of Austria, is leading the neighboring country to look with longing eye on its inovation. The Hungarian press is pointing out the many advantages of the C. P. R. service, and the great benefit it would prove to the country, if introduced there, in promoting tourist traffic. One paper has pointedly questioned the Government whether it had considered the advisability of following Austria's enterprise and the Minister of Commerce replied "that in his opinion it is a very good idea, which would certainly give highly satisfactory results and be an excellent means for calling the attention of foreign countries to the natural beauties of Hungary." He had therefore, immediately given the necessary instructions to the Government Railways, who will study this matter very carefully and communicate with the C. P. R. authorities, so as to give him, as soon as possible, the results of the negotiations.

The Under Secretary of State replied that the introduction of C. P. R. observation cars into Hungary's railway service, would be very useful. It was a question of great importance, and he has already instructed the management of the Government Railways, to carefully study the question. A representative was sent to Vienna on the inaugural trip of the cars in Austria.

The "Pesti Hirlap" one of the leading papers of Hungary expresses the hope that the the promise of the Gvoernment may be kept, and the highly necessary promotion of the influx of foreign visitors may not remain merely a vain desire.

Adjacent to the dairy.

No curse is on her useful art;
By her no homes are broken;
She fills with hate no human heart;
Disgrace is not her token.

Unto her charms tonight I bow.
Long may she keep her station!
I toast the dairy maid and cow,
God's greatest combination!

"Fruit-a-tives" Cured Him

HUGH McKENNA, ESQ.

ST. STEPHEN, N.B. Jan. 17th. 1911.

"I wish to tell you of the great good "Fruit-a-tives" have done for me. For years I was a martyr to Chronic Constipation and Stomach Trouble. I was greatly run down and my friends feared I had Consumption. I tried numerous doctors and all kinds of medicines, but received no relief until advised to try "Fruit-a-tives" by Mr. McCready of St. Stephen, and am pleased to say that I now enjoy excellent health. "Fruit-a-tives" are the best medicine made, and I strongly advise my friends to use them".

HUGH McKENNA.

"Fruit-a-tives" is the only medicine that will positively and completely cure Constipation. This wonderful compound of fruit juices acts directly on the liver, causing this organ to extract more bile from the blood, and to give up more bile to move the bowels regularly and naturally.

CROP OUTLOOK IN ONTARIO

The following statement regarding crop conditions in the Province, based upon returns of correspondents under date of August 12th, has been issued by the Ontario Department of Agriculture:

FALL WHEAT.

This crop received a serious setback in April from alternate thawing and freezing, which killed out an area estimated to be one-third of the crop, leaving many fields very patchy. Thus handicapped fall wheat has not come up to the standard of recent years in the matter of general yield. The crop, also, has been very uneven in ripening, which has delayed harvesting, making it about two weeks later than the very early cut of last year. Some were caught by showery weather at the time of cutting, and several reports were made of some of the crop sprouting in the shock. But the bulk of the grain is reported to be of fair quality. The straw is of medium length, and there are more complaints of rust than usual. Yields range from 10 to 45 bushels per acre. The Lake Erie counties are the poorest of the fall wheat districts, so far as yield and general conditions are concerned.

SPRING WHEAT.

Comparatively little spring wheat is now raised in this province, but where grown the Wild Goose variety is the favorite. The crop was ripening slowly for lack of sunshine when correspondents reported. The straw was short owing to dry weather in the summer, but the heads were well filled and a good average yield was anticipated.

BARLEY.

There will be a fair yield of plump barley in nearly every county in the Province, although individual reports show considerable variance. Notwithstanding much wet weather at harvesting, there are not many complaints of discoloration of the grain. The straw, however, is short, owing to drouth in the period of mid-growth. As in the case of the other cereals, harvesting is comparatively late, running from July 25th to the 15th of August.

OATS.

Notwithstanding what was considered as a poor start from too much rain in the spring, oats developed into a first-class crop; for although the crop is hardly up to the standard in length, it is unusually clean and presentable, while the heads are well filled and give a good yield. There has been some "lodging" from heavy rains, but so far cutting has not been unduly difficult. Harvesting began in some places on the 5th of August, but the bulk of it was not under way until a week later, and and owing to late ripening some will not be through cutting until the end of the month.

RYE.

Winter rye has now only a very limited area. It suffered somewhat from trying weather in the spring, but the yield and quality will be good, taking the Province as a whole.

PEAS.

Peas are doing better this year on the average than for several seasons, although the yields reported vary from 5 to 30 bushels an acre, some of the crop having been affected by the wet spring weather, followed by the intense heat of early summer. A portion of the crop is yet green, and pulling is expected to continue from the 12th of August into the first week of September. In recent years, while there has been an increase in the acreage raised for canning purposes, there has been a considerable falling off in the growing of peas for the barn, but some correspondents claim that this year's improvement in the crop will likely encourage the sowing of a larger area. The newer districts of Northern Ontario have excellent reports concerning the yield and general prospects of peas.

BEANS.

This crop is also a late one this season, being only in the blossoming and early podding stage when correspondents reported. The comparatively cool and wet midsummer was not considered favorable to beans; nevertheless it is estimated that the crop will be about an average.

HAY.

Adverse conditions of the weather in April gave a poor start to the growth of timothy and clover this year, but the fields soon rallied, and taking the Province over there has been a fair crop of hay of good quality, notwithstanding the wide range of yield. Timothy is said to have been relatively better than clover. The cutting ranged from June 22nd to the end of July. Some correspondents aver that harvesting was delayed owing to lack of farm labor. New seeding in this year's grain is said to be very promising. Alfalfa has also done well this season as a hay crop.

CORN.

The corn crop will likely be the poorest for years, for while some favorable reports have been made most of the fields are rather thin and unpromising. The weather at the time of planting was too wet and cold for the best results, and much of the seed rotted or otherwise failed to germinate, necessitating considerable replanting. A period of drouth early in the growing season, and prolonged dull and cool weather following, have combined to check the growth of the plant, and and the crop at present is backward in appearance. In some of the western counties the white grub also did some injury to corn.

TOBACCO.

This is likely to be a poor crop, especially on low land. The planting season was too wet and cold for the best results, and growth at present is regarded as being very backward. Grubs and wire worms are also reported as doing injury to the plants.

POTATOES.

When correspondents reported, prospects of a good yield of potatoes were most promising, more especially in the western half of the Province. Several reports point out that the Colorado potato bug has not been as plentiful this summer as usual. Casual mention only is made of blight or rot.

ROOTS.

Opinions regarding the condition of field roots are far from being unanimous, but there are more favorable than unfavorable reports. The chief drawbacks were wet weather at the time of sowing, followed by a period of drouth, which rendered some fields rather patchy. Mangolds and sugar beets appear to be doing relatively better than turnips. Favorable weather for roots as correspondents reported was causing an improvement in the outlook.

FRUIT.

Fruit trees, with the exception of peaches, seem to have escaped serious injury from the severe winter. Several correspondents point out that more attention is now being given to spraying and other modern features of orcharding, and with good results. There will be a fairly full yield of fall apples, but the better class of winter varieties will be rather scarce. San Jose scale and caterpillars are still complained of, but very little mention is made of scab. Pears will range from poor to fair in yield, and the same may be said of peaches, one correspondent suggestively saying of the latter, "good where cared for." Plums will be a fair crop, and the yield of cherries upon the whole has been a good one. Grapes, as usual, give promise of a large yield, although considered a little late in growth this season. Small fruits, with the exception of strawberries, which suffered from drouth, have done well.

PASTURES AND LIVE STOCK

Pastures were very dry in July, but August rains have greatly revived them, and at present they are green and inviting. Live stock are in a good healthy condition, although perhaps, on the lean side. Cattle are at present, in brisk demand, and at good prices. Fodder supplies will not be abundant, but careful feeders will have a sufficiency in most localities. Much will depend upon how the corn crop turns out, as the silo is more and more getting to be regarded as the key to the feeding situation. Straw is on the short side, although more plentiful than last year. The supply of dairy produce is about normal.

FARM LABOR

Farm labor is reported to be as scarce or scarcer than ever, and the quality of much that is offering is most unsatisfactory. Farmers are trying to meet the shortage of help by using larger implements and other improved machinery, interchanging labor with neighbors, and doing more grazing. Wages range from $1.25 to $1.50 per day, and from $20 to $40 per month, with board.

Strike at Halifax.

Halifax, Aug. 24.—Work is to-day almost totally hung up at the big new Intercolonial Railway yard as a result of the strike now in progress among the unskilled labor. The men refused point blank to go to work again yesterday. Some ninety men are on strike and are subjects of much sympathy. They term the money paid them by the I.C.R. a "starvation wage."

Railway officials say that they must go to work or vacate the boarding cars. About half of the men are French of Moncton and Petit Roches.

Wreckers Are Foiled.

Winnipeg, Aug. 24.—The discovery of a deliberate attempt to wreck a Canadian Pacific passenger train two miles south of Komano, was made by a sectionman early yesterday. The train is due in Winnipeg at 8 a.m., and between 6 and 7 o'clock it was discovered that spikes had been extracted and angle bars removed from both lines of steel, the front ends of the rails being pulled out until they stretched outside the ties.

Marks indicated that men had been working on the wrecking job some hours, probably yesterday morning, and the displaced material had all been carried away. The wrecking crew has been unable to discover either spikes or bars. The sectionman went north to the nearest wire point and stopped the southbound train. If this line had not been regularly patrolled as usual early in the morning before trains go over it, a disastrous accident would have resulted. Chief Bell of the Canadian Pacific police is working on the ground with a body of men, and it is hoped that the wreckers will be rounded up.

Don't Grow Bald, Young Man!

Take Care of Your Hair While You Have Hair to Take Care Of.

It's a safe ten to one bet that the young man who uses PARISIAN Sage as an occasional hair dressing will never grow bald.

There's a reason, of course, and it's a very good and sufficient one.

Dandruff germs cause falling hair and falling hair means thinner hair and in due time baldness.

If you have dandruff or itching scalp it means that dandruff germs are sapping the vitality from the roots of your hair. Get rid of all hair troubles by using PARISIAN Sage.

It is not a dye, mind you, neither does it contain poisonous sugar of lead or even sulphur. It is a scientific preparation that abolishes dandruff, stops falling hair and scalp itch, and makes hair grow lustrous and luxuriant.

Many young women as well as men are growing bald and for the same reason.

Use delightful, refreshing PARISIAN Sage; it nourishes the hair roots, if the roots are not dead, and brings to every user a head of glorious hair—radiant and fascinating. Large bottle for 50 cents at drug stores and toilet counters. See that you get PARISIAN Sage.

Wm. Madill guarantees it.

EVENTS FOR EACH DAY AT THE PETERBOROUGH FALL FAIR

The Exhibition Will be by Far the Best Ever Held by the Society and Every Form of Amusement Will be Provided for Those Who Attend—Single Fare on Trains and Boats.

The program for each day's events at the Fall Fair has just been issued and the following attractions for each of the three days are here given:

FIRST DAY—THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 12th.

The grounds and buildings open for receiving exhibits. All exhibits, except live stock and poultry, must be on the grounds by noon of the first day.

2 p.m.—Judging of dairy products, bread, grain, roots, fruit, flowers, vegetables, fine art, ladies' work and domestic manufactures.

Entries in all classes close Thursday at noon. Poultry exhibitors especially should not this rule, as books must be closed and handed to judges for [illegible] at 10 a.m. Friday.

7 p.m.—Grand illumination, all buildings open. Band concert. Complete vaudeville performance of three big attractions, closing with a magnificent display of fireworks.

SECOND DAY—FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 13th.

8 a.m.—Grounds and buildings open to the public.

9 a.m.—Poultry will be judged in the Poultry Tent. All poultry must be on the grounds and properly arranged in coops in time for judging promptly at 10 o'clock.

An interesting feature will be the "Rural School Exhibit," which illustrates the Government's new plan of agricultural education. A large tent contains this exhibit which is open to all.

A first class meal can be procured on the grounds in the big dining tent. Lunches given at two lunch counters.

1 p.m.—Judging of halter horses in classes Nos. 1 to 6 in small ring.

IN FRONT OF GRAND STAND.

2 p.m.—The first heat of the 2.30 trot or pace race (purse $150.00) will be run off. The judging of the harness horses will take place between the heats of the races in front of the grand stand throughout the afternoon.

The harness classes that will be judged on Friday afternoon will be section 1, 2, 4, 5, 6 and 7 of class 6.

3.30 p.m.—First heat of the 2.18 pace or trot race; purse, $200.00.

During the afternoon there will be six grand open air free performances, by the famous Youngblood Sextette, a high class fancy musical organization in three acts. The four Mayos, England's funniest comedy skating troupe, in two acts, and a splendid physical culture specialty by Miss Delora, a talented exponent of the art.

4 p.m.—Dog race (dog to be driven by a boy) for a prize of $5.00 offered by Wm. Yelland, Esq.

The full band of the 57th Regiment will be in attendance and furnish a continuous program of music.

No waits. Something doing all the time. Not a dull moment all the afternoon.

EVENING.

7 p.m.—Everything in full swing. A big and attractive midway including merry-go-round, and numerous high class attractions.

Grounds brilliantly illuminated.

Six splendid vaudeville open air acts which are free to all by The Youngblood Sextette Musicians, The Four Mayos, in their funny skating act, and Miss Delora, the physical culture girl.

The evening's program will be enlivened by the 57th Regimental Band and will come to a grand finish by a second magnificent display of fireworks.

THIRD DAY, SATURDAY, SEPT. 14.

8 a.m.—Grounds and buildings open to the public for general inspection of all live stock, poultry, special exhibits and inside exhibits.

1 p.m.—The judging of the harness horses in Classes 1, 2 and 3; also Nos. 1 and 2 in Class 7, special class for farmers, and the Bank of Commerce special in the small ring.

2 p.m.—The first heat of the 2.22 Class (trot or pace) Race; purse $150.00.

2.30 p.m.—The first heat of the Free-for-All; purse $200.00.

Between the heats of the races the judging of harness horse classes will continue throughout the afternoon. The classes to be judged will be 5, 6, 7, 8, and 9 of Class 5, and No. 2 of Class 6, and 3 of Class 7, and the special prizes for the best pony turnouts.

Handsome rosettes will be given instead of prize tickets in all the horse classes.

3 p.m.—An Association football match for the R. R. Hall championship challenge cup, which represents the championship of the County of Peterborough.

Full 57th Regimental Band giving a continuous program all afternoon.

Ample car service will be available both for day and evening from all parts of the city direct to the Fair Grounds.

A special train will leave Peterborough for Campbellford at 7.30 p.m. Saturday, and single fare will be given on all railroads and steamboats during the Fair.

The pyrotechnic display will be under the direction of Prof. Hand, innovator of all that is newest in fireworks and will include a varied and up to date program.

DIABETES

Sanol's Antidiabetes, the great discovery of a German Specialist, is the only practical and thoroughly tested Remedy for Diabetes-mellitus. It has a specific action against the poisons of the disease, and by its use the secretion of sugar almost immediately abates and disappears altogether after a short time. So long as the disease has not reached its last stages, a cure can be affected with "Sanol's Antidiabetes."

Sanol's Antidiabetes is used with an alternate diet regimen based on long experience in the study of this disease.

All sufferers from this terrible and hitherto considered incurable disease should not hesitate to give "Sanol's Antidiabetes" a trial, we feel absolutely certain that it will justify all the claims we make for it.

This remedy is perfectly harmless to the organic system, being composed only of herbs and extracts, and containing no poisonous or injurious matter whatever.

"HECK" ELLIS AT PAINTING

Lindsay, Aug. 24.—"Heck" Ellis, the self-confessed murderer of Lew Porter, will be tried on the charge of murder at the Fall Assises, commencing on Oct. 21st.

The accused is in splendid health at the county jail and is this week engaged with the paint brush in brightening up things at the local Bastile. He is reported to be a model prisoner and a good worker, and gives no trouble whatever to the officials of the jail.

"Heck" is very optimistic regarding the outcome of his trial [illegible] gaged the services of T. C. Robinette, of Toronto. It is not known yet who the Crown prosecutor will be. Several well known lawyers have been mentioned, but no selection has been made.

ANOTHER RURAL MAIL ROUTE

Every farmer in Peterboro county will soon have a miniature post office at his gate, to judge from the rate at which the free delivery system is being extended in the local field. Another rural mail route, to be known as No. 9, will soon be installed, and farmers in the southern part of Douro and in the northern part of Otonabee townships will be benifitted as will be seen from the following route which is to be followed by the courier, whose return trip will be along the road which forms the boundaries between the two townships.

The courier is to leave Peterboro Post Office as soon as possible after arrival of mails on Montreal, Smith Falls and Toronto trains, due at Peterborough from Toronto at 11 a.m., proceed north along the east side of the Otonabee River, (River Road) 2 1-4 miles to road between lots 5 and 6; thence east on said road 5 1-2 miles to road between lots 4 and 6, passing Douro P.O., en route; thence south on said road 1 7-8 miles to boundary between Douro and Otonabee townships, thence west on said road 7 1-2 miles to Peterborough.

Contractors on R. M. D. routes must carry a stock of stamps sufficient to meet the demands of purchasers. They must also, when serving their route, take applications and accept money for money orders and postal notes from boxholders, desiring to purchase the same and give receipts for funds so received.

MORE HELP FOR NEW ONTARIO

Plans for the building up of a big live stock and dairying industry in Northern Ontario are now being perfected by the Department of Agriculture. This fall live stock improvement associations will be started in all the great northern districts—Timiskaming, Manitoulin, Sudbury and the Fort William section. Any group of twelve settlers may form an association and each one will be given a choice of a high-grade bull, two boars or five rams. These animals will be purchased by the Ontario Government from well-known cattle, sheep and hog breeders in older Ontario, the accounts being met by the $5,000 set aside out of the Federal grant to agriculture.

In their visit to Northern Ontario in June last Hon. James Duff, Minister of Agriculture, and his deputy Ministers, Mr. Roadhouse and Mr. Bailey, went into the scheme thoroughly with representative settlers, and they received an assurance that the farmers of the North will heartily co-operate.

"The object of the department," said Mr. Bailey yesterday, "is to secure community breeding. We will send to each district the type of cattle best adapted to conditions there. To one district we must send Ayrshires, to another Holsteins. Each district could thus become noted as producing a certain kind of cattle. One of the weaknesses of cattle breeding in older Ontario has been the fact that generally all kinds of cattle are mixed up."

The department has already placed a number of registered Shorthorns on the Experimental Farm at Monteith, and next spring a high-grade bull will be purchased in the Old Country. The intention is to raise a fine grade of milkers on the farm and dispose of them to settlers at low prices. This fall a number of hogs will be sent to the farm and later a start will be made with sheep.

DROPPED DEAD ON HIS FARM

Sudden Call to Richard Dundas of Springville

Richard Dundas, a well known farmer of Springville, died suddenly this morning. He left the house to bring in the cows, and his wife, becoming alarmed, when he did not return, went to the fields, and found him dead.

He had complained, for some time, of heart trouble.

YOUNG LAD HAD COSTLY RIDE

He Took a Bicycle and Mother Paid $12.20.

Northey Phillips, a young lad, when asked in police court this morning why he took a bicycle belonging to an Italian, said he was given permission by the owner.

He was riding near the Mattress Co. on Hunter street, and said that when he met a rig he either had to collide with the vehicle or run into the ditch.

He chose the ditch, where he hit a post, damaging the bicycle, the Italian stated in court, the damages to be $2.50

To this amount the magistrate added $9.60 as the costs, and after giving the lad some advice, allowed him to go on suspended sentence.

The mother paid the amount. The lad said he did not mean to steal the bicycle, but his worship pointed out that the [illegible]

If it is to be a FURNACE
Let it be a BUCK Furnace

It is a fact that there is no name more eagerly sought nor more highly prized than the name "BUCK" on the furnace of the house for rent or for sale. It adds a tangible value to the worth of the property, and presents an added inducement in the eyes of the prospective buyer. To have a Buck Furnace in your home is to insure not only that your home will be uniformly and comfortably warmed at a minimum of fuel expense, but that the sound sanitary principle upon which it is constructed will act as a permanent safeguard of the good health and cheerfulness, of the household.

Our furnaces are installed under the supervision of an EXPERT who has made a special study of this work. You are thus assured of a MAXIMUM of comfort and service, at a MINIMUM of labor and expense.

St. Bartholomew's Day

This is St. Bartholomew's Day, so named for the Apostle who was martyred in the year 71. A festival in honor of his memory was instituted Aug. 24, 1130. The notorious Massacre of St. Bartholomew was commenced in Paris on the evening of the festival in 1572, by the secret orders of Charles IX, who, it is claimed was instigated by his mother, the queen dowager Catherine de Medicis. It is estimated that 70,000 Hugenots, or French Protestants, were put to death.

The day was observed at St. John's Anglican Church by the celebration of Holy Communion at 10 o'clock this morning.

WATCH FOR THE HODOO MAN

The Roller Rink on Brock street has made good. The country has gone mad over the sport and Peterborough is now in the front rank of the devotees to the late revival of this old fad.

The remarkable feature of the innovations is the way the smart set have taken to this old form of healthful exercise. All disrespectful characters are dismissed from the rink and hundreds of refined ladies and gentlemen are to be seen nightly gliding over the smooth surface of the rink.

No expense has been spared in equipping the rink, and every convenience has been installed. Beginners are given special attention at all times.

The attraction for Tuesday, Aug. 27th, is a novel little game called the Hoodoo skate, in which every skater can participate. From ten to twenty prizes will be given out that night, and it will be worth your while to come and try for a prize. This will surely please all, as it has never been seen in this locality before.

The admission is free, except on special attraction nights, and we invite your careful inspection at all times. If you would be popular go to the rink

Don't miss the Hoodoo skate.

ENGLISH PULPIT SPEAKERS EXTOLLED GENERAL BOOTH

Thousands Gather to Pay Their Last Respects—All the Churches in England Praised His Work—Arrangements for the Funeral.

London, Aug. 26.—Great crowds gathered outside Congress Hall all day, hoping to view the body of the late Salvationist leader, Gen. William Booth, which for the past two days has been lying in state. The body, however, had been removed over night to the general's private room and the hall was used for the regular Salvation services.

The hall was filled to its capacity of 2,000 persons at each of the three services. Of the floral tributes on the platform, those of Queen Mother Alexandra and Emperor William were the most notable. The British and foreign flags and the decorations on the walls of the hall had not been removed.

Commissioners Whitmore, Railton and Lawley conducted the services, and the famous silver band from the staff college played the hymns. All the preaching dealt with the life of the late general, and was composed largely of reminiscences by the commissioners.

Tributes were paid to the dead evangelist in all the non-conformist pulpits and in most of the pulpits of the established church yesterday. Eulogies also were read in the Catholic churches.

Brigadier Wood and Pastor Lake officiate at the funeral ceremony in Olympia Hall, which will be of a remarkable character. Representatives are expected to attend the funeral from all parts of the world. The delegates from the United States and Canada will probably arrive in time. No fewer than 6,000 representatives of provincial corps in the United Kingdom have been selected to attend. The hall is too large for speakers to be heard, and the service will consist mainly of hymns, while prayers, scripture selections and quotations from the utterances of the late commander-in-chief will be thrown upon screens by lanterns.

Forty bands will play Handel's "Dead March in Saul," and to this accompaniment the body will be brought into the hall by a procession of Salvationists of all ranks and of both sexes, bearing the flags of the nations they represent. The flag unfurled by General Booth on Mount Calvary also will be displayed during the funeral service.

One hundred and fifty thousand persons visited Congress Hall on Friday and Saturday, the two days in which the body was lying in state.

SUN YET SEN IS NOW IN PEKIN

Will Try to Make Peace Between the Factions in Opposition.

Pekin, Aug. 26.—Dr. Sun Yat Sen, the ex-president of China, who left Shanghai August 19 with the avowed intention of endeavoring to conciliate the rival political factions, arrived here yesterday morning. He was given a magnificent reception, rivaling that of the return to the capital of President Yuan Shi Kai.

The National Assembly did not conduct any business on Saturday owing to the small attendance of the members and consequently the impeachment of President Yuan Shi Kai in regard to the execution of Gen. Chang Chen Wu and several other southern generals has collapsed for the time being.

The Mongolians who recently attacked the city Tao-Nan, Manchuria, have retreated but they maintain an aggressive attitude.

At a meeting of the Cabinet late Friday night the question of despatching an expedition to Inner Mongolia was discussed, but it was decided to restrict military measures for the present to preventing raids and looting, for which purpose the Manchurian forces were considered ample.

MORE MEN ARE NEEDED IN THE WEST

Moose Jaw, Aug. 26.—This city is suffering acutely from a shortage of labor. Builders cannot get laborers; the street railway construction is held up for men, and now the Caron scheme to bring water 22 miles from the west is practically at a standstill and is menaced with complete stoppage for 1912.

The farmers are syping over the city and taking men away from their ordinary work so great is the harvest demand, but the best illustration of the situation happened Friday when a farmer drove up to the Caron workers and hired five men out of the trench and drove them off triumphantly in his auto.

CONTRACTOR FOUND ASLEEP IN BARN

Fredericton, N.B., Aug. 26.—After a squadron of dragoons and a company of militia had been turned out to scour the country in search of Wm. E. Trites of the firm of A. E. Trites & Son, railway contractors, who has been missing since Thursday, he was found Saturday night asleep in a barn.

His firm is constructing the Gibson-Minto section of the road being built by Sir Thomas Tait, to be known as the Fredericton and Grand Lake Railway, and his friends account for his strange disappearance by stating that he was worried and nervous over the slow progress being made by some of the sub contractors.

STORM WROUGHT HEAVY DAMAGE

Ottawa Valley Suffers From Severe Electric Disturbance.

Ottawa, Aug. 26.—The worst electrical storm in years swept over the city and Ottawa Valley early yesterday morning, but while it did considerable injury to the standing crops of the district, but little damage was done in the city. At Blackburn, about eight miles from the city, Adam Kempt, a well-known farmer, lost a well-filled barn, which was struck by lightning and destroyed. Five pigs were burned in the barn with about a hundred tons of hay.

The storm lasted about two hours, and during its course the sky was lit up with flashes of lightning, while great roars of thunder rolled continuously. Over 500 telephones were put out of commission in the city. A remarkable occurrence was wrought in a departmental store window on Bank street, the lightning melting several wax figures into an unrecognizable mass. The official rainfall was 1.64 inches.

Serious Lightning Losses.

Cornwall, Aug. 26.—The worst electrical storm that has passed over this section of the province occurred in the early hours of Sunday morning. At least four fires, caused by lightning, have been reported. Archie Chisholm, of St. Andrew's, lost his barns, several head of cattle and the season's crop of hay. Mrs. Wm. McLeod of Summerstown met with the loss of her barns, the hay crop and three or four head of cattle. The barns and crop of an Indian on Pelow Island were also consumed and the reflection of a big fire on the American side of the river could be plainly seen here, although particulars as to the extent of the fire have not been received yet.

Postponed garden party will be held on Mrs. A. L. Davis' lawn, Belmont avenue, on Monday afternoon and evening. 57th band in attendance and Highland dancer.

"GYP" NOT CAUGHT

The Rumor That the Gambler Was in the Toils Was Unfounded.

New York, Aug. 26.—The belief of Sheriff Ouddlebeck of Pike County, Penna., that he had won the $2,500 reward offered for the capture of "Gyp the Blood" and the hope of the authorities here that the fugitive really had been caught, were simultaneously blasted by detectives of the district attorney's office who visited Milford, Penna., yesterday and failed to identify the prisoner as the man wanted. The man was released and the ripple of interest which the report caused had subsided last night, leaving the whereabout of "Gyp" and "Lefty Louis," both of whom are indicted as gunmen in the Rosenthal murder, as much of a mystery as ever.

MRS. BRUCE MAY DIE

Officers Have Taken Her Anti-Mortem Statement in Poisoning Case.

Hamilton, Aug. 26.—A new phase was put on the Zeipe poisoning case last night when the hospital authorities found it necessary to perform an operation on Mrs. James Bruce, wife of the man who was arrested on a vagrancy charge on Aug. 11, a few hours after Miss Zeipe died in Mrs. Bruce's room at the hospital, after having eaten candies which are thought to have contained poison, and which were given to Mrs. Bruce by her husband. Mrs. Bruce's condition last night, was considered so critical that the police deemed it advisable to secure from her a sworn statement in regard to her knowledge of the circumstances surrounding Miss Zeipe's death, before she was put on the operating table.

LONDON WAS CUT OFF FROM OUTSIDE WORLD FOR A TIME

Fire Broke Out Where Telegraph and Cable Lines Are Concentrated—Great Excitement in the City, But no Lives Were Lost and Structure Was Very Little Damaged.

London, Aug. 26.—London on Saturday night was entirely cut off from telegraphic communication with the rest of the country and with the continent, and for a time connection with America was severed, as the result of a fierce fire which broke out in the General Postoffice, in which building the Central Telegraph office is situated and where all the wires of the service are concentrated.

While the fire was extremely fierce no lives were lost and the damage was confined to the inside of the building.

A thousand employes, a majority of them being women, got out of the structure promptly and without panic. The telegraph service to and from the capital will be crippled for several days.

The fire started at seven o'clock in the evening and was caused by the fusing of a wire in a test box on the fourth floor. The gallery, affected soon, was filled with volumes of thick smoke. The building sustained no structural damage, but the losses to cables and instruments and furnitaure were very heavy, the furniture suffering from the tons of water which the fire engines poured in and which streamed through the whole building.

The entire fire brigade of the east end of London, covering a radius of several miles, soon was on the scene with a big salvage corps, and by eight o'clock the fire was over and the engines had ceased to pump water into the building. The lighting apparatus was out of commission, however, and a strange scene was presented as the salvage men groped about the huge structure with lanterns and with candles flickering dimly.

Thousands of wires underneath the floors had fused and the firemen were forced to tear up part of the floors to get at the flames, the work being exceedingly dangerous.

Getting the employes out without a panic was an achievement on which the officials congratulated themselves. On Saturday night the telegraph staff is considerably smaller than that on any other night, the volume of business handled being less. As soon as the fire was discovered all the women were ordered to quit the building immediately. They were thoroughly familiar with the fire drill and they marched out into the street without the slightest disorder.

Found Their Child Drowned.

Kingston, Aug. 26.—James, the ten-year-old son of George Matthewson, was found drowned near Swift's wharf, late Saturday afternoon. It is supposed he was playing on a log at the end of the wharf and fell in. He was missed by his parents Friday afternoon at five o'clock, and a continual search was kept up for him until he was found Saturday afternoon.

SWINDLER FREED

Interest Revived in a Case That Once Attracted General Interest.

Paris, Aug. 26.—The release from jail Saturday of Jean Gallay, the romantic swindler of the Comptoir D'Escompte, has re-awakened interest in what was at the time a world-wide sensation.

Gallay's flight on the yacht Catarina in 1905 with Madamoiselle Merelli and the sum of $160,000 put the police of many countries on the alert. Three weeks after their disappearance from France the two were arrested under the names of Baron and Baroness De Graval at Habia, Brazil, and money and jewelry to the value of $120,000 were recovered on board the yacht.

When brought back to France Gallay was tried and sentenced to seven years' imprisonment, part of which he spent in the Galleys of French Guiana. The woman was acquitted.

THREE DROWNED

The Detroit River Claimed Three Victims Yesterday.

Windsor, Ont., Aug. 26.—The Detroit River claimed three more victims when a canoe, in which were a party of four young men, all residents of Detroit, overturned in the Canadian channel, shortly before midnight Saturday night. The dead are: Geo. Robinson, Edward Jolly and Louis Loose. Each was 19 years of age.

A stiff wind was blowing up the river at the time and, according to the story told by Henry Steinberg, the surviving member of the party, the frail craft, became unmanageable and fell into the trough of the waves immediately capsizing. The bodies have not been recovered yet.

ROOSEVELT WILL NOT BE HEARD BY SENATE COMMITTEE

He Expressed a Desire to Testify in His Own Behalf Regarding Corruption Charges, But the Board Disbands Without Hearing Him.

Washington, Aug. 26.—Col. Roosevelt will not have an opportunity to answer John D. Archbold's statements before the Senate committee investigating campaign expenditures until late in September.

Senator Clapp, chairman of the sub-committee, of which Mr. Archbold told his story of having contributed $100,000 to the Roosevelt fund in 1904, telegraphed Col. Roosevelt at 4 o'clock yesterday morning that the committee would not be able to hear him to-day as the colonel desired.

Late yesterday Senator Clapp received a telegram from Senator Dillingham of Vermont, chairman of the committee on privileges and elections, announcing that Senator Pomerene of Iowa would be appointed to take the place of Senator Luke Lea of Tennessee, who has resigned on account of the illness of his wife, who is in Colorado. Senator Pomerene is now in Ohio, however, and Senator Clapp said it appeared impossible to bring the sub-committee of five together before the end of September.

Was Eager To Go.

Oyster Bay, Aug. 26.—Col. Roosevelt announced last night that he wanted to appear to-day in Washington before the Senate committee investigating campaign contributions, to refute the testimony of John D. Archbold on Friday morning concerning his knowledge of an alleged contribution of $100,000 by Mr. Archbold to the Republican campaign fund of 1904.

"I have wired Senator Clapp, chairman of the committee," Col. Roosevelt said, "that I would like to appear before the committee on Monday."

At the time Col. Roosevelt made this announcement, he had not received a reply from Senator Clapp to his telegram, but had arranged to leave Oyster Bay for Washington in time to appear before the committee to-day. The colonel's telegram read:

"Senator M. E. Clapp, Washington: As I am unwilling that Mr. Archbold's statement about myself should pass without immediate official contradiction, I request the privilege of appearing before your committee on Monday. My engagements are such that it will be the greatest inconvenience to me and to many others if the hearing is deferred to a later date.

(Signed) "Theodore Roosevelt."

Col. Roosevelt carried the dust of a day in the open when the correspondents found him at the accustomed hour at Sagamore Hill last night. He had spent the day rowing on the bay and picnicking with his family, and had returned but a short time before.

"It is a most unheard of thing," he said in commenting on Mr. Archbold's testimony and his departure for Europe, "that Mr. Archbold should depart without testifying about the $25,000 he gave Senator Penrose. It is a most peculiar thing that the committee should allow him to depart without so testifying. There are no dead men concerned in that transaction. He could be sure of what he was testifying to in that.

"I do not want a day more than necessary to elapse without placing on the record my testimony."

A report that Mr. Archbold had intimated before sailing from New York last night that he might sue Col. Roosevelt for libel was mentioned to the Progressive party nominee.

"All right," said Col. Roosevelt, "he won't have a chance after I have testified."

Col. Roosevelt is especially desirous of refuting that portion of Mr. Archbold's testimony in which Mr. Archbold said that the late Cornelius N. Bliss had told him that Col. Roosevelt knew of a contribution of $100,000 by Mr. Archbold and appreciated it. The colonel declares that Mr. Bliss told him of no such contribution. Moreover he (Col. Roosevelt) made public written instructions which he had given Chairman Cortelyou of the National Republican committee at the time of the reported contribution by the Standard Oil, that if the report was true the money be returned at once.

PRESIDENT TAFT STILL DEFIANT

He Signs the Panama Canal Bill in Spite of Britain's Protest.

Washington, Aug. 26.—President Taft signed the Panama Canal bill at 7.10 o'clock last night. Following this he sent to Congress a memorandum suggesting the advisability of the passage of a resolution which would declare that this measure was not considered a violation of the treaty provisions regarding the canal.

In discussing the British protest against the exemption of American shipping from the payment of tolls for the use of the canal, Mr. Taft says the irresistible conclusion to be drawn from it is that "although the United States owns, controls and has paid for the canal, it is restricted by treaty from aiding its own commerce in the way that all the other nations of the world may freely do."

In view of the fact, Mr. Taft, continues, that the Panama Canal is being constructed by the United States wholly at its own cost, upon territory ceded to it by the Republic of Panama for that purpose, and that unless it has restricted itself, the United States enjoys absolute rights of ownership and control, including the right to allow its own commerce the use of the canal upon such terms as it sees fit, the sole question is: "Has the United States, by the terms of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty, deprived itself of the exercise of the right to pass its own commerce free or to remit tolls collected for the use of the canal?"

The President argues that if there is nothing in the Hay-Pauncefote treaty preventing Great Britain and the other nations from extending favors to their shipping using the canal, and if there is nothing that gives the United States any supervision over or right to complain of such action, "then the British protest leads to the absurd conclusion that this Government in constructing the canal, maintaining the canal and defending the canal, finds itself shorn of its rights to deal with its own commerce in its own way, while all other nations using the canal in competition with American commerce enjoy that right and power unimpaired.

"The British protest, therefore, is a proposal to read into the treaty a surrender by the United States of its right to regulate its own commerce in its own way and by its own method, a right which neither Great Britain herself, nor any other nation that may use the canal, has surrendered or proposes to surrender."

TORONTO BABY WAS LEFT IN A HALLWAY

Toronto, Aug. 26.—The police are looking for the parents of a four-months-old baby girl found in a hallway at 940 1-2 West Queen street yesterday afternoon about 4.40. Gladys and Olive Rose, two sisters who live upstairs at the address, were surprised to find a carriage, with the infant resting in it, in their hall, and promptly notified the police. An investigation was made but the parents have not been located. The baby has been placed in the Infants' Home.

BRITISH TARS FOR CANADIAN NAVY

English Blue Jackets Coming to This Country to Man the Rainbow.

Ottawa, Aug. 26.—It is understood that a contingent of English bluejackets are coming to Canada in a week or two to join the Canadian cruiser Rainbow, now lying practically idle on the Pacific coast. The service term of the present crew, which is largely English, will soon be up and most of the men are going back to England. With the Niobe away the prospect was being faced of a navy without a crew.

Admiral Kingsmill and Deputy Minister of Naval Affairs Desbarats, who are now on their way from England, saved the situation by arranging for the service of a new crew of English tars. These are expected to arrive in a few weeks.

Vain Attempt to Save Sister.

Port Colborne, Ont., Aug. 26.—Chonnie Guillou, a little French girl, aged 10 years, was drowned in the canal here yesterday afternoon. She was playing on a raft with other children. Her brother, aged nine years, bravely jumped in to try to save his sister. The boy was saved, but the body of the little girl was not recovered until a few hours afterwards.

DO YOU USE PILLS?

If In Doubt About the Right Pills to Use Read the Following Letter Carefully:

"I am one of those persons whose system requires aid," writes Mr. Young Gledhill, from Picton, "but it is so easily affected by reason of the great sensitiveness of the bowels that ordinary drastic pills inflict great injury to the delicate coating, and excite such persistent activity as to be, with difficulty checked.

"I wish in the highest terms to express the great value of Dr. Hamilton's Pills in cases like mine, and I am sure also for elderly people and the very weak there is no pill like them.

"Speaking of my own experience with Dr. Hamilton's Pills, I can say they have proved the most stimulating pills for the liver I have found. I have proved their tonic action upon digestion, and the same results have been secured by friends upon whom I have urged their use. The manufacturers are to be congratulated upon possessing so valuable a prescription, and the public should know that so valuable a remedy has been placed at their command."

No other pill for constipation, for liver, kidney, or stomach trouble, compares with Dr. Hamilton's Pills: they are mild and sure always to restore health. Refuse substitutes. Sold by all dealers, 25c per box, or The Catarrhozone Co, Kingston Ont.

TRIBUTE TO GENERAL BOOTH

The religious world is becoming more Catholic in spirit as the years pass and the churches are more given to recognize any good work carried on outside of their own denomination. This was shown yesterday, when in nearly every church in the city the pastor paid tribute to the work of the late General Booth, and exalted to the highest the work he carried on during his long life in the interests of humanity. Even the church which is regarded as the most exclusive of them all, most zealous of its prerogative in the work of evangelization and most insistent upon conventional forms of worship, was not behind in its praise of the dead evangelist, who carried the message to and labored among the other half, the world's submerged population.

HYDRO-ELECTRIC AT KINGSTON

The Kingston Daily Standard has an editorial in which it sets out to explain why the aldermen in that city have decided to ignore the wishes of the people and instead of adopting the Hydro-Electric system in accordance with the popular vote, spend $35,000, without consulting the citizens in making additions and improvements to the present steam plant. The Standard, among other things, says:

"The people of Kingston are not fools. They realise, as the people of Ontario generally realise, that cheap power spells for the success and development of a city; and they certainly do not intend to tie themselves for all time to the present plant. Hydro-Electric has done much for the development of Western Ontario. It has been, in short, almost a national blessing, and free wholly from political bias or influence, a fact that must ever stand to the credit of the Whitney Government. What it has done for Western Ontario, it can do also for Eastern Ontario, and we believe that it will be a matter of but a few months when this fact is strikingly borne out.

"Kingston not only has not turned down hydro-electric power, but when the proper time comes will be found both willing and ready to take advantage of it.

"All, in fact, that the city has done or contemplates doing at this juncture is to put its present plant in good working order to the end that, pending further development, the entire lighting system of the city may not be jeopardized and to the further end that we may always have an auxiliary plant to fall back upon, in the event of accidents and contingencies whatever the event and whatever power we may ultimately decide upon."

No one ever intimated that the people of the Limestone City are fools and the fact that they voted by so large a majority for the Hydro-Electric is ample proof that they are alive to their own business interests. It may be true, as the Standard says, that the Council will finally install the Hydro-Electric but the question is why are they apparently postponing the matter indefinitely. The plea that they are fitting up an auxiliary plant to be used in case of accident is only a makeshift argument, seeing that the record of the Hydro-Electric wherever it is in use shows that such plants are not necessary.

FARMERS NOT NEGLECTED

The Dominion and the Provincial Governments seem to vie with each other in the matter of providing for the wants of and advancing the interests of the farmers. The Whitney administration provides him with free instruction as to the best methods of carrying on every branch of his business from the raising of stock to the draining of his farm. Here in Peterborough County alone the Federal authorities have taken the preliminary steps for the installation of nine free rural mail routes and the good work will be continued just as fast as the farmers who desire to secure the benefits of the system write in a request for another mail route. All these routes are installed too, without any expense to the farmer, except that of purchasing a mail box and erecting it in a convenient place at his gate.

The politician who would strive to make the farmers believe that they are being neglected or ignored by either the Federal or the Provincial Governments, would do well to change his tactics and seek some other field of endeaver. Mr. Rowell as well as others of less prominence might pause and consider.

NOTE AND COMMENT

That pastor who advises ladies to throw red pepper into the eyes of the masher, has evidently forgotten some of the precepts taught in the Sermon on the Mount, the true model for all discourses.

Col. Brown, candidate for Governor in Ohio, says he has not taken a drink for forty-seven years. Now if he can only hold out through the campaign ahead of him, no one can question his right to a seat on the water waggon.

Ottawa announces with a flourish of trumpets, that its drinking water is as good as that of any other city, and that those who imbibe it need not fear typhoid fever.

"Big Smoke" Johnson says for what he asserts is the last time that he will never fight again. He never will, so long as every state takes the same course as New York, and bars him out.

Liverpool and Chicago Wheat Futures Close Higher—Live Stock—Latest Quotations.

CHICAGO, Aug. 24.—Outlook for larger arrivals of northwest wheat dulled the edge of today's market, which at the start showed a fair advance. The close was steady at ⅛c from the bottom, altho still a gain of ⅛c to ½c over final prices yesterday. Corn varied at the close from ⅛c lower to ⅜c higher. Oats finished a shade down to ⅛c up, and provisions at the last were unchanged to 4c higher.

The Liverpool market closed to-day on wheat ⅛d to ¼d higher than yesterday, and ⅛d to ¼d higher on corn.

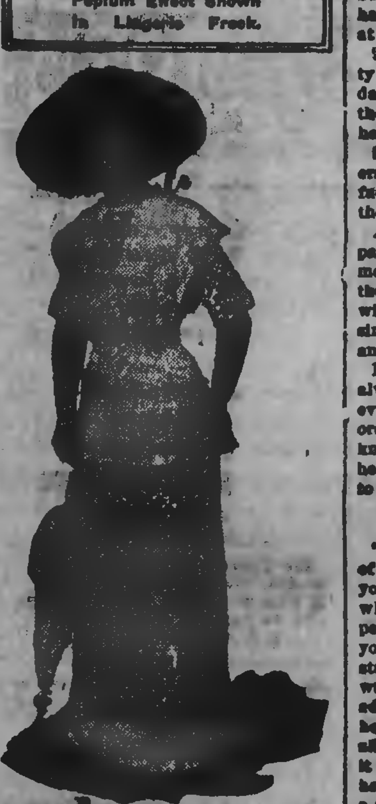
THE BASQUE IDEA.

Peplum Effect Shown in Lingerie Frock.



CREAM BATISTE AND BULGARIAN WORK.

The frock illustrated is of cream batiste and Bulgarian embroidery, the embroidered sections being set between insertions of cream fillet lace. The arrangement of the embroidered bands, finished at the edge with ball fringe on the bodice, is exceedingly graceful. With these white frocks will be worn dark hats, but the boots are invariably white, high buttoned affairs of white buckskin being the favored style.

Girls Shunned by Men.

There are many such, and for the most part the fault lies with themselves.

The girl who never even exerts herself to be agreeable unless she can have everything her own way is one of them, for there is not a man alive who will give way in everything to a girl.

The girl who scolds is another type. She may be perfectly good tempered, but she has contracted the scolding habit, and so she is left alone to scold at her pleasure.

Then there is the girl with the haughty manner and cold stare. No man dares to make love to her, because there is nothing whatever to love in her.

So the girl scowls at what she considers his bad taste, utterly ignoring the fact that her own foolish conduct is the sole cause of his neglect.

Another girl without a lover is the painfully shy maiden. She likes to see men at a distance, but the moment they draw near she drives them back with her embarrassment. They retire simply out of pity, seeing her distress and awkward bashfulness.

Last on the list comes the girl who always has something to say about every one she sees, ridiculing people in order to be considered clever, little knowing how men intensely dislike to hear her pulling everybody's character to pieces for their amusement.

Small Pill. Small Dose. Small Price.

The All Day Bag.

"Even though you never would dream of carrying a hand bag in America, you must take one with you to Europe, where they are considerably more expensive to buy than at home and where you will need one every time that you start for a single day's excursion," warned an experienced tourist while advising a friend about to depart for her first trip across the Atlantic. "This all day bag need not be weighty, but it must be sufficiently capacious to hold extra gloves and a handkerchief, a very slender folding comb and toothbrush, a tiny cake of soap, hand towel, self feeding powder puff, rubber sandals, hand mirror, chiffon veil of good size, fountain pen, notebook, needle case and a tiny flask of brandy. With that sort of equipment a woman can keep herself looking tidy for a number of hours, and she is prepared for almost any emergency likely to arise."

The Fly as a Health Inspector.

You can't hide dirt from a fly. He is a literal eye of the Lord, in every place beholding the evil and the good, particularly the evil. He has as keen a nose for the odor of filth as a bird dog has for quails and will follow a scent a quarter of a mile up the wind if necessary to find it; then when he has found it he gorges himself full of it, smears himself with it, like a small boy eating pie, clear up to the backs of his ears, and proceeds to tell the female of his species about it that she may go there and deposit her 150 eggs. No race suicide for him.

Denmark's Prime Minister.

The prime minister of Denmark, Klara Bernstein, was principal speaker at a banquet given in celebration of the fortieth anniversary of the Danish Woman Suffrage society at Helsingfors last month, and in the course of his remarks said that "no amendment to the constitution shall be given without including the political suffrage of Danish women."

Public Spirited.

"Why doesn't Jabez Jones go to work and get prosperous?"

"Because," replied the loyal friend, "he's a patriot who never neglects his duty as a citizen. He has been a member of the petty jury three times, a member of the grand jury twice, a delegate to four conventions and has gone unresisting to the legislature frequently. What time has he had to himself?"
—Washington Star.

Criticising the Critic.

"Crittick read your essay," said De Riter's friend, "and he insists that you're beyond your depth."

"Ah," replied De Riter, "I thought he would."

"You did? Then you know what he means?"

"Yes. He means simply that I am beyond his depth."

Brozo Is Committed.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 24.—Ald. Louis Brozo of the Thirteenth Ward was yesterday afternoon bound over to stand trial in recorders' court on the charge of having accepted a bribe of $100 in return for alleged municipal favors to be granted the Wabash Railroad. His bond was reduced from $5,000 to $1,000, as in the case of Ald. Glinnan, bound over on the same charge several days ago. Brozo furnished bail.

When the case was disposed of court adjourned until Monday when it is expected the cases against Ald. Tossy, Ostrowski and Walsh will be taken up.

Detective Walter J. Brennan, who claims to have bribed Brozo and seventeen other aldermen, was the principal witness for the prosecution again yesterday. On his cross-examination he denied that Mayor Thompson asked him to attempt to bribe any of the aldermen, but, he added that the mayor did request him to test the integrity of various members of council.

To Crawl Through Pipe.

Ottawa, Aug. 24.—To crawl through 1,000 feet of the narrow, dark interior of the intake pipe at the bottom of the new aqueduct will be the work which Messrs. Haycock and Stuart will undertake as soon as the aqueduct is dried out sufficiently to permit it. The interior is only three feet six inches in diameter and the task will be an exhausting one. They are acting for the city solicitor, who is conducting an investigation into the waterworks department.

They will use electric lanterns and make a thorough examination of the concrete work. Admittance to the intake will be gained through a manhole at one end, egress at the other by similar means. Once they get well started on their toilsome journey, crawling on their hands and knees, there is no turning back nd there is no half-way house where they can rest or get out of their cramped position.

Rich Finds of Apatite.

Ottawa, Aug. 24.—Discoveries of apatite around Ottawa, Hull and the Ottawa Valley are being investigated by Prof. Wilhelm Palmaer of the Royal Institute of Technology, Stockholm, Sweden, and these may lead to the establishment of a new industry here. Hitherto apatite has been regarded as of no value, but Prof. Palmaer has developed a new process by which it may be turned into a useful fertilizer.

Prof. Palmaer will be here for a few days, interviewing the Government in regard to his discoveries. He is on this continent as the official delegate of the Swedish Government to the 8th international congress of applied chemistry, to be held in Washington from Sept. 4 to Sept. 13.

Report on Road Work.

Toronto, Aug. 24.—Hon. W. H. Hearst is in receipt of another report from J. G. Whitson, the commissioner appointed by the Ontario Government to report regarding the expenditure of $5,000,000 voted by the Legislature for the development of the northern district. The present report is a detailed statement respecting the road work at present in progress.

Duchess Will Visit West.

Algonquin Hotel, St. Andrews, N.B., Aug. 24.—The report that the Duchess of Connaught was once more indisposed and would be unable to go on the western trip is officially denied.

Diplomats May End War.

Paris, Aug. 24.—The discovery of a formula for the suspension of the Turco-Italian War is confidently expected in diplomatic circles to result from the unofficial peace "conversation" now proceeding between Turkish and Italian representatives in Switzerland. Should this occur, diplomatic negotiations will be opened up through the regular diplomatic channels.

Land U. S. Marines at Corinto.

Washington, Aug. 24.—The big armored cruiser California speeding for Panama, has been ordered to put in at Corinto and land 340 bluejackets and her full detachment of sixty marines. After this the vessel will steam immediately for Panama to take on marines. The California probably will arrive at Corinto Wednesday.

Another Stolen Bill.

London, Ont., Aug. 24.—Another one of the Bank of Montreal bills stolen in the $350,000 haul made by yeggmen at the New Westminster branch last September turned up in the city on Thursday, but just where it came from the bank authorities and the police have been unable to discover.

Typhoid Epidemic Over.

Ottawa, Aug. 24.—Dr. W. T. Shirreff, medical health officer, last night issued a most reassuring message to the citizens of the capital, informing them that the typhoid epidemic had run its course and that the city water was now fit for drinking. Bacteriological tests of the water supply for the past five weeks show conclusively that it is now free from all contamination and fit for consumption without boiling or otherwise treating it.

Missing Artist Found.

Montreal, Aug. 24.—John Barnsly, the artist, who has been missing from his home for several days, was found Thursday night with every appearance of having undergone hardships since he wandered from home. He had slept in barns, and was in a weak condition, having had little to eat. He is supposed to be mentally unbalanced.

Morris Linovitch, of Berlin, was found unconscious in the bathtub by his wife yesterday, and was almost suffocated by gas fumes from an instantaneous water heater. He will recover.

Paul Jones of Hespeler, aged 73, who was run down by a motor in charge of a man named Humphreys of Guelph, is dead. Humphreys is a tea pedlar and two weeks ago was fined $35 for speeding.

Service Must Speak

A STORE is almost human. It is full of temperament. It affects each customer with the composite personality of its management and staff.

There are stores and stores. There are "grouchy" stores and "smiling" stores. There are flippant stores and dignified stores. And the peculiar thing about each is that the goods or the prices have little to do with the store's temperament. It is the personality of the store that colors and defines the character of the goods from the customer's view-point and wins or repels approval.

The temperament or personality of a store is vividly expressed in its face. The face of a store is its advertising. You can judge a store by its advertising the same as you can judge a man by his facial expression.

Stores that honestly try to serve their customers best simply can't help advertising. It is the way of human nature that when we have spent the best of our brain power and physical and financial resources in building up something worth while, our enthusiasm bursts forth into publicity. We simply cannot restrain the desire to tell others about it.

In the long run, service is what you pay for, always. The goods, as goods alone, are incidental. Service implies quality, fair prices, safe treatment, and honesty in every detail of every transaction.

The service store is the "serving" store. It is also the honest-advertising store. By this, you may know it always—anywhere.

Advice regarding your advertising problems is available through any recognized Canadian advertising agency, or through the Secretary of the Canadian Press Association, Room 503 Lumsden Bldg., Toronto. Enquiry involves no obligation on your part—so write, if interested.

LEFT HIS TRAIN TOO SOON AND IS NOW IN HOSPITAL

Victim of Railway Mishap at C.O. Junction Brought Here.

An elderly man, whose name is at present unknown, lies in St. Joseph's Hospital, suffering from injuries, the extent of which, are not known. He is at least very badly bruised.

He was the victim of an accident, at the Central Ontario Junction last night, as he left his train. He wished to leave the train at the Junction, and the accident happened after the conductor had advised him not to leave as he purposed doing, as the train just slowed down for the diamond.

He was picked up beside the tracks in an unconscious condition and taken to Tweed.

There being no hospital there he was brought to Peterborough this morning and taken to the Nicholls Hospital, wherre Dr. Carmichael is attending him. He was still unconscious this morning.

The man had been visiting at Cartier, Que.

GENEROUS GIFTS TO NOBLE WORK

The current issue of the Presbyterian Review, the representative paper of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, makes comment on the substantial assistance given the schemes of the Church by Mr. R. M. Waddell and Mrs. H. Waddell, as follows:

"The missionary and educational work of the Church had a loyal and generous friend in the late Hugh Waddell, of Peterborough. Most fittingly is his name to be linked with the work he loved by two memorials, established Mrs. Waddell and their son. A memorial hospital for work among the Ruthenians, probably at Canora, Sask., is the gift of Mrs. Waddell to the Home Mission work of the Church. Mr. R. M. Waddell is marking the long and deep interest of his father in Queen's University by founding a Travelling Scholarship of the annual value of $350 to be competed for by members of the graduating class in theology. Such generous gifts should stimulate Church and College to noble work.

LINDSAY WAS DISAPPOINTED

Did Not Have a Chance to Entertain the Canal Tourists According to Schedule.

Lindsay did not have a chance to entertain the party of federal members who are now making a tour of the Trent Canal. Owing to the trouble at the Lift Lock when the party started from this city it was found necessary to change the program, and Lindsay was not visited, and Sturgeon Point was the first place visited after the lock was passed.

TORONTO EXHIBITION SIDE TRIP EXCURSIONS, NIAGARA FALLS, BUFFALO AND OLCOTT

During Toronto Exhibition, Aug. 24th to Sept. 9th, low side trip excursion rates will be in effect from Toronto to Niagara Falls and Buffalo also to Olcott Beach. The steamers of this line are the largest and fastest steamers crossing the lake and no doubt many visitors to the fair will take advantage of these popular outings. THEATRICAL Large audiences witnessed the presentation of "The Arrival of Kitty" at the Grand Opera House, on Saturday, when this laughable farce comedy, again won popular favor.

Hal Johnston, as Billy Brown and Kitty, No. 2, renewed acquaintances with Grand Opera House patrons, and was as big a favorite as when seen here before. Much of the merriment of the piece centres around the work of Fred R. Wren, who essayed the role of Colonel Bell and the "gay old boy" had the audience with him at all times.

WHITE CAPS SAW ARRIVAL OF KITTY

The management of the Grand Opera House, had as guests for the night performance of "The Arrival of Kitty" on Saturday, the members of the Peterboro Baseball Club. This kindness on the part of the theatre management was very much appreciated by the boys.

Card of Thanks

The family of the late Roger Devlin, wish to express their heartfelt thanks to their many friends, especially to the good rector and priests of St. Peter's Cathedral, the good sisters of St. Joseph's community, the T.A.S. and C.M.B.A. for the kindness and sympathy shown them during their recent bereavement.

MR. BURNHAM ADDRESSES VICTORIA CONSERVATIVES

Sir Richard McBride. Who Was One of the Speakers, Referred in Terms of Eulogy to Peterborough's Federal Representatives.

Mr. J.H. Burnham, M.P., attended the Conservative picnic at Victoria recently, at which the British Columbia Premier, Sir Richard McBride, was the leading speaker. According to a report in the Victoria Colonial, Sir Richard, referred to Peterborough's federal member in the following terms—

"Mr. Burnham, the member for West Peterborough, is one of whom we have heard much since he entered the federal arena, and we are all glad to hear from him to-day. I have heard him referred to as the modern John Hampden and because of the strong views he holds on some franchise questions, it would seem that the mantle of John Hampden has fallen on good shoulders. Woman suffrage is by no means a live issue. The women of British Columbia, are quite content to allow the men of the country to settle the various public policies that arise from time to time, and to busy themselves with the domestic duties which appertain to their sex. But I must admit, having said so much, that a great part has been played by the women of British Columbia in the useful works associated with the provincial charities — hospitals and various other channels of usefulness —and that to-day they are in a position which gives them an excellent standing the empire over. And let me add that this is mainly due to the patience, application and self-sacrifice of the women of the country.

"Mr Burnham has struck the right note when he tells you to-day that in the halls of Ottawa the most prominent questions are those from the west, and that time is spent in discussing and solving western problems."

The Colonist gives the following resume of the speech delivered by Mr. Burnham, who was the first speaker to address the gathering—

"Mr J. H. Burnham, M.P., said it was a source of gratification to him, as a believer in woman suffrage, to see so many women present and taking an interest in the success of the Conservative party. The reason he had come West, was because if a member of parliament did not know something about the West nowadays, he did not know anything. As a French-Canadian member one remarked to him: "All de, tam spik de wes'." All who came west found their ideas enlarged, found the country beautiful and great, with tremendous possibility. The east and west would always be one, and the east would endeavor in every way to further the prosperity of this province and that of the middle west." I am proud to see you keep the old flag unfurled," continued Mr. Burnham, "to know that the Imperial sentiment is so strong. The question of the day is not wheat or money, but the preservation of the Empire." Mr. Burnham referred to Mr. G.H. Barnard as a clear-headed and a determined member, determined to get all he could do for his constituency and succeeding as no other member had done, by getting five million dollars for the betterment of the Larbor at Victoria. He knew as a fact that the ministers had become impressed with Mr. Barnard's persistence, clear-headedness and sound common sense, and were ready to back him up with appropriations."

MEMORIAL SERVICES FOR THE LATE GENERAL BOOTH

Pastors of the City to be Invited to Attend a Meeting Wednesday Evening — Special Local Service at the Hour of the Funeral Thursday.

Brigadier Taylor, principal of the Salvation college in Toronto, conducted the services in the local Salvation hall Saturday night and yesterday, and made brief but touching reference on each occasion to the life and death of the revered leader, General Booth.

The concert to be given by the Salvation Army band in Victoria Park to-morrow night will be memorial in its nature and appropriate selections will be rendered.

The local officers of the Army have planned a special memorial service in the hall for Wednesday evening, in which every pastor in the city will be asked to take part and deliver an address. It is expected that these invitations will be generally accepted, although the arrangement is likely to conflict with the mid-week services that are held in the majority of the city churches.

Word has been received from the Army headquarters in Toronto that on Thursday at 12 noon a season of prayer will be observed throughout every part of the world in which a branch of the Army is established. This is the hour which in Canada will correspond with the time when the remains of the late general are to be lowered into the grave, following a funeral procession, which will be attended with all the pomp and circumstance attending the obsequies of an emperor.

On Sunday evening next the official memorial service will be held in accordance with orders issued by Bramwell Booth, the new leader of the Army.

To-morrow night the S.A. band will give their final concert in Victoria Park. These concerts have been well attended during the season. It is worthy of note that in spite of so much rain, the weather never interfered with one of these popular events.

To-morrow night the program will be a memorial one in token of respect fr the late General Booth, and is as follows:

March—"Dead March in Saul"—Band
Selection—"The Beautiful Stream"—Band—introducing "That we Meet Beyond the River.
March—"Promoted to Glory"—Band
Vocal Selection—"My Jesus I Love Thee"—Band.
Selection—"Jerusalem, My Happy Home"—Band.
Trombone Solo—"The Cross is not Greater than His Grace"—Bandsman A. R. Sandford.
Selection—"Thoughts from Great Masters"—Band.
Selection—"Songs of Comfort"—Band
The General's favorite song will be played as a euphonium solo, "Cleansing for Me"—Bandsman F. Robsinson.
Final Selection—"Songs about Heaven"—Band.
God Save the King.

DRUNK AGAIN; THIS TIME HE LOSES HIS WATCH

Apparently he did not pay heed, for he made a second appearance this morning. He was arrested this morning about three o'clock in an intoxicated condition. Since his first arrest and dismissal, Armstrong lost his watch.

He had another time piece which he offered as security, till he raised $2, the fine imposed, but His Worship turned a deaf ear.

A friend, however, came forward later.

POOL ROOM RACKET,

Wm. Lavery Jr., who caused trouble in a pool room, Saturday night, and as the proprietor alleged, damaged a table when he hurled a cuspidor in that vicinity, was fined $2 and costs.

"The way of the transgressor is hard," remarked His Worship as the crowd filed out of the court room.

Within the last ten days telegraphic communications have been established for the first time between the town of Fort George, situated on the section of the Grand Trunk Pacific's main line west of the Rockies, which is still under construction, and the outside world. It is difficult for those who have never known the lack of these facilities to realize just how an important event this is in the life of a new town.

IN THE CHURCHES

Touching Mark of Respect Paid the Late General Booth at St. John's.

Rev. W. A. French, of Fenelon Falls took both services in St. John's church yesterday, Rev. Canon Davidson being still absent on his vacation. In the evening sermon Mr. French referred to the late General Booth as one of the greatest religious teachers of the time, a man who descended into the slums to seek and save the outcasts of society. Mr. French called attention to the fact that the Archbishop of Canterbury had commended the work of the dead Salvationist, and no higher endorsation could be given by the Anglican church. Every member of the church was advised to respect the memory and to profit by the life of the late General Booth, who by Divine Providence had been raised up as a leader, like Moses and Elijah, in a crisis of the world's history.

The choir sang "Crossing the Bar," as a tribute to the dead leader, the congregation standing during the rendition as a mark of respect. Alliken's solo, "The Lord is My Light," was most exquisitely sung by Miss Dawson during the offertory.

At All Saints' church the choir rendered the same selection at the evening service.

Rev J. H. Keith during his morning discourse in Knox church, made an extended reference to the life of General Booth.

In St. Luke's church, Rev. P. J. Sawers made the late general the subject of his morning sermon.

THE FOUNDATION OF FRIENDSHIPS

Services at All Saints' Taken by Rev. Mr. Gowan.

Taking for his evening subject, the friendship of Jonathan and David Rev. Mr. Gowan, of Toronto, who took the services at All Saints' church yesterday, brought before the congregation, many thoughts, which if practised in the daily life of today would be of great helpfulness. The preacher pointed out that as David and Jonathan had Jesus Christ as their friend, so was it absolutely necessary for us to have Him as our friend, if earthly friendships were to be true and lasting.

It was announced that the Sunday School would resume the three o'clock session, next Sunday, and that on Sunday, September 9, Mr. A. A. Hainsworth, General Secretary of the Y.M.C.A., would address the scholars. Rally Day will be observed.

TO IMPROVE ALL ELECTRIC WIRING

A very important feature of house and residence building, is that the electric wiring shall be put in properly and thoroughly insulated. The Canadian Fire Underwriters' Association are particularly insistent that all wiring shall conform to approved standard and have appointed Mr. G. A. Fife, of 289 George street, as their electrical inspector for the city.

Mr. Fife is extremely well qualified for the work and thoroughly in touch with conditions of safe wiring and installation.

Applications for inspections should be made to Mr. Fife and forms, rules, etc., can also be had, and builders and users of electric energy are asked to co-operate, all in the general intent of the public safety.

The fees are moderate, and such as may be paid by any householder or occupant, and the inspection and tests may be relied on when made by Mr. Fife.

SEVEN MONTHS TERM IN CENTRAL FOR YOUNG AUSTRIAN

Special Officer Pinchin Had Trouble With Him, East of the C.P.R. Bridge and Arrested Him After a Struggle in Which Revolvers Played a Prominent Part.

Convicted of attempting grievous bodily harm, pointing a revolver, and evading arrest, Frank Prasovitch, an Austrian, was sentenced by Judge Huycke this morning to the Central Prison for a term of seven months.

The complainant was Special Officer Pinchin, of the C.P.R., and the affair took place east of the C.P.R. bridge, on the afternoon of Tuesday, July 23.

The officer, in the performance of his duty, was walking along the tracks when he noticed the man asleep, not far from the rails. He awoke and questioned him, and then advised the man to walk to some trees, not on the C.P.R. property, if he wished to continue his sleep. Mr. Pinchin testified that the answer he received sounded very much like a request to go to a warmer clime.

The officer then began to feel for concealed weapons, and as the man still refused to leave the property, opened his coat to display his badge. While in this act one of the man's hands went to his pocket, and out came a revolver. The officer struck at the arm and no damage was done. After a struggle he succeeded in handcuffing the prisoner.

As they marched across the bridge en route to the police station the prisoner acted in anything but a docile manner, and his captor had to pull his own revolver and threaten to blow out his brains if he did not proceed. a search revealed a bag containing 56 bullets of 38 calibre and four coppers. The revolver was a six chamber, double action weapon.

A. Schwartz was called as interpreter when the case proceeded this morning, but finally the prisoner chose the English language.

Asked for his story, he said he was 24 years of age and came from Austria. He bought the revolver and ammunition in Montreal for $5, but was in Belleville before coming to Peterborough. Four years had been spent in the United States. Asked why he possessed the revolver, he stated he liked to have one, although he did not mean to shoot any person.

Regarding the pointing of the firearm at the officer, his explanation was that he was only answering the request of the officer that he gave it up.

It was during his examination that an incident occurred which brought smiles to the faces of those in court. The prisoner was facing the revolver and unconsciously replaced it in his hip pocket. There was silence for a moment when the County Crown Attorney looked in vain for the revolver a few moments later. Then it was found that the Austrian had taken it.

Mr. G. N. Gordon conducted the case for the prisoner, and His Honor in reviewing the case, gave the prisoner the benefit of the doubt as to whether he really meant to shoot the officer, and imposed a comparatively light sentence.

HEALTH OFFICER CLINTON PAYS FIRST OFFICIAL VISIT

Conferred With the Local Health Officers and Investigated the City's Water Supply—Will Report to Provincial Officers.

Dr. Clinton, the district medical health officer, paid his first official visit to this city on Saturday, when he had a conference with Health Officer McPherson, and Sanitary Inspector Spence at the Oriental Hotel.

The doctor came here to investigate a complaint that the water supply of the city was being contaminated by the reservoirs on the upper lakes, and the doctor made a visit to that district Saturday afternoon. He will submit a report of his investigation to Provincial Health Officer McCullough, of Toronto, to which city Dr. Clinton has gone. The district health officers are meeting in Toronto today and will receive special instructions in their work.

While he was in Peterborough Dr. Clinton complimented Sanitary Inspector Spence on the work he was doing, and told him to insist upon a strict observance of every provision of the new Health Act, and to see that the owners of horses in the city provided covered receptacles for the refuse of their stables.

Dr. Clinton is disposed to be satisfied with the attitude of the City Council on the question of the draining of the city sewage into the river, seeing that the aldermen have agreed to take steps to preventing the contamination of the water by proper sanitary precautions. There have been complaints that private individuals and corporations have been dumping refuse into the Otonabee, and although this does not effect the city water supply, Dr. Clinton says the practice must be stopped. He will hold Sanitary Inspector Spence responsible for the enforcement of this provision in the interests of public health.

A short time ago Health Officer McPherson advised the citizens of Peterborough to boil their drinking water, as he believed the supply was being polluted by the resorters on the upper lakes. This warning was what brought about the district officer's visit to this city. Dr. McPherson said to-day that while he did not know anthing about the result of Dr. Clinton's investigations at the summer resorts, he has no doubt he found some things wrong if he looked for them.

DON'T GET EXCITED WHEN SENDING FIRE ALARMS

It is remarkable, but nevertheless a fact, that in spite of numerous explanations as to the proper manner of sending in an alarm of fire at the different boxes, mistakes still continue to be made.

No doubt, excitement is the cause in some cases. One case is reported where the alarm was supposedly rung in, but on each of two occasions, the Fire Hall was not aware of the fire.

The mistake made, was, that when the door of the alarm box was opened a bell jingled. This, the man sending in the alarm took to mean that his work was done.

But the action of that bell, only meant that the mechanism was in working order and the alarm in commission.

WHAT TO DO

The instructions are very simple. All that is necessary for the purpose of sending in an alarm of fire, is for the person to break the glass, through which the key may be seen. The key is inserted in the door in readiness. On its being turned the door of the box will open, and the alarm is sounded by simply pulling the lever in a downward direction, once.

It's all very easy if you don't get excited.

A new box, No. 34, has been placed at the corner of Gilmour and St. Joseph street.

CANADA WILL MAKE PROTEST

Ottawa, Aug. 26 — Now that the Panama Canal Bill has been signed by President Taft and the discriminatory provision held to be within the treaty rights of the United States, the question of a Canadian protest is likely to come before the Government here for decision. The Canadian Government has not so far, it is understood, dealt with the question finally, although at no stage have the interests of Canada been lost sight of. The position has been that until the bridge was reached, it need not be crossed. That a protest from Canada will be forthcoming is regarded as highly probable, despite official reticence on the subject.

WHITE CAPS AT OTTAWA; HOME AGAIN ON WEDNESDAY

The White Caps do not play in London to-day as scheduled, but are in Ottawa for a two game series, after which they return with the Senators, when four games will be played at Riverside Park, each fixture starting at 4.00 o'clock, unless otherwise announced.

Jup. Pluvius butted in, to the disappointment of players and fans on Saturday, and, while it was hoped that one game of the double header would be pulled off, the rain came down again, with the result that there was nothing doing.

In going to Ottawa the White Caps take the scheduled games of Berlin, while the Busy Bees take the Petes double bill at London.

Local fans will await the Ottawa series with interest, and there is bound to be a big crowd on hand, as the Rowanites can be relied upon to make a pretty exhibition each day.

Something happened at Hamilton on Saturday, and Louie Cook's boys had the big share of the joke. The Senators were roasted for their fourleague, the day previous, when the pitching staff was all to the bad. The Kolts had an easy time winning the fray, which witnessed Cosy Dolan in the role of a twirler. Big Herbert came back on Saturday, and besides shutting out the Kolts in the first game by 7—0, took the mound for battle number two, and rubbed it in to the tune of 5—0. And Indian Bill Garlow was one of the victims. Good night Bill.

GOLF AND BOWLING CLUBS ARE TIED

They Will Play for the Tennis Championship Early In September.

The series of tennis matches to decide the club championship of the city for 1912 have been completed, and the Peterborough Golf and Country Club is tied for first place with the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club. The standing of the competing Clubs is as follows:

	Won.	Lost
Golf Club	9	3
Bowling Club	9	3
Y.M.C.A.	4	8
St. John's Club	0	10

On account of the unusual amount of wet weather during May and June, the commencement of the tennis season was delayed fully a month later than usual. In spite of this handicap the grade of tennis played has been very good. The teams were very evenly matched and it is unfortunate that circumstances prevented fixed dates from being assigned for the various matches, thus giving a better opportunity for public attendance.

Throughout the season the St. John's Tennis Club played a much better game than the team standing would indicate. The members of the team showed that they had the true sporting spirit by playing the series through, and fighting hard right up to the finish. The Y. M. C. A., who have held the championship for the past two years, felt keenly the loss of Mr. W. A. Landry, last year's singles champion. Last year the combination of Landry and Sandy Hall in the doubles, proved almost invincible, and brought many victories home to the "Y."

The play off for the championship will take place during the early part of September and promises to be easily one of the best tennis events of the season. Both Clubs will be represented by strong, well balanced teams. The Golf Club quartet will consist of Messrs. F. C. Burnett, R. S. M. Henderson, G. R. Langley and C. S. Whitby. The Bowling Club will pin their faith on Messrs. E. Meyers, A. W. MacPherson, W. Pratt and a fourth member still to be selected.

AUTOS MUST NOT PASS STREET CARS

When Cars are Stationary and Passengers Alighting.

The attention of automobile drivers and owners is called by Chief Thompson to the amendment which was made to the Ontario statutes and refers to the movement of automobiles when travelling near street cars:

"When a motor vehicle meets or overtakes a street car which is stationary for the purpose of taking on or discharging passengers, the motor vehicle shall not pass the car on the side of the street on which passengers get off, or continue until the car has started, and all passengers who have alighted shall have gotten safely to the side of the street."

JAMMED ON AN ICEBERG.

"This is the most remarkable escape from imminent danger in the whole annals of arctic adventure," said Sir Clements Markham, the explorer, in describing a thrilling incident to illustrate a lecture on icebergs before the Royal Societies club.

"It concerned," he said, "their steam tender, the Intrepid, commanded by Lieutenant J. E. Caton. A vast floe drove her against a berg with a frightful crash. Destruction seemed certain when the little vessel was seen to rise to the pressure. She was forced forty feet up the side of the iceberg, masses of ice from the floating floe running ten feet above the bulwark, then the piled up mass from the floe sank down, leaving the ship suspended on the side of the berg, her only supports to keep her stationary in this dangerous position being two small wedge pieces, one at the stern post and the other at the bow. She was in imminent danger of falling over on her broadside from that height.

"The boats had been got out, but they were smashed to pieces by the ice. Three times the ice floes pressed against the berg, and, with the boats gone, the loss of the ship would have entailed that of all on board. Suddenly the pressure eased off, and the Intrepid was launched into the sea from her lofty position without injury. Lieutenant Caton and others had walked under her keel while she was thus suspended on the side of the iceberg."—London Chronicle.

Governess Murdered.

New York, Aug. 26.—Miss Julia M. Curran, a highly educated governess, whose body was found in a room at the Hotel Boulevard, Broadway, near Sixty-Seventh street, was murdered. An autopsy performed yesterday disclosed that she had been beaten, bruised and strangled to death. From a superficial examination made at the time her body was discovered, the police believed she died from natural causes. Dr. Otto Schultz, a coroner's physician, declares she was slain.

Miss Curran arrived here from her home in Kilkenny, Ireland, in July. On her voyage she was engaged as a companion by Mrs. A. Smith of 116 East Fifty-Eighth street, who was attracted by her charming manners. Miss Curran took up her residence with Mrs. Smith and remained with her until last Sunday when the latter started on an automobile trip to Toronto. Since that time her movements are unknown. Mrs. Kinnears, the dead woman's sister, said Saturday night that she believed Miss Curran had started for Canada with Mrs. Smith, but because of illness decided to return to New York.

Congestion Is Serious.

Ottawa, Aug. 24.—Two hundred carloads of freight are being held up now in the C.P.R. freight yards here and in view of the approaching exhibition the situation is becoming serious. The Dominion Transport Co., which does the C.P.R. transport work, is making great efforts to break the strike with the aid of the men brought from Montreal and Toronto, but these men have great difficulty in delivering the goods owing to their ignorance of the city. Twenty men were brought here Friday night from Toronto and Montreal, but it is expected that the strikers will persuade them to quit by to-day.

Will Camp In Rockies.

Ottawa, Aug. 26.—It is understood the Duke and Duchess of Connaught and Princess Patricia will, following their visit to the west in October, spend a month camping in the Rockies. Instructions have been sent from the northwest mounted police headquarters here to Commissioner Perry at Regina to get a contingent of 18 of the choicest men and horses in readiness to act as an escort for and to prepare a suitable camping spot for the royal party.

Did Car Go Over the Falls?

Niagara Falls, N.Y., Aug. 26.—That the motor-car driven into the Ontario Power Co.'s forebay several days ago, when it caught fire, has been carried through the power tunnel and dumped into the river below the falls is the belief expressed yesterday.

After two days' work in the forebay divers have failed to locate the car. A door from the machine was picked up at the Maid of the Mist landing.

Congress to Adjourn.

Washington, Aug. 26.—With both Houses of Congress marking time awaiting agreement on a single appropriation bill, the adjournment of the second session of the sixty-second Congress was assured Saturday.

Early on Saturday both House and Senate sent the general deficiency appropriation bill to a conference over minor disputes, and both settled down to clear decks for adjournment.

Plans were arranged to have President Taft go to the capitol about mid-afternoon and take up the task of signing the bills passed in the final moments of the Senate.

ELUSIVE.

Contentment—pray where will you find it,
In mansion, in hovel or cot,
In quarters both small and restricted
Or on the big, wide corner lot?
In city, in town or in country, [illegible]
Far out on the wide western range,
Wherever you happened to wander,
You still would be longing for change.

Does one who has millions of dollars
And houses and servants galore
Discover each morning contentment
There waiting for him at his door?
Not so that a person could notice
He'd find there were several things lacking
That showed in the picture quite plain.

The lawyer, the doctor, the preacher,
The soldier, the sailor, the squire,
The man who cuts coupons or leather,
Each finds many things to desire.
The woman whose beautiful garments
Are made by the masters of skill,
The same as her poorly clad sister,
Is often dissatisfied still.

But still for one brief, little season
Contentment perhaps may hold sway,
A time when without reservation
It has the world coming its way.
The edge of a moment that's fleeting
And doomed in a moment to fall;
But, oh, while the magic is working
The fellow in love has the ball!

KEEP A PET SNAKE.

Then You Won't Need a Cat or a Dog For the Rats or Mice.

It has been suggested by a French professor that every household should have its snake instead of its cat or dog for the purpose of keeping rats or mice away.

It is not new, for in the days of the Romans many snakes were kept by the housekeepers for precisely this purpose. Since those early times, however, the household reptile has been supplanted by the cat or dog, and the modern housewife, as a rule, has nothing but revulsion of feeling for every species of snake, harmful and harmless. The hostile attitude toward snakes, however, is largely due to ignorance. Thus it is commonly supposed that snakes are "slimy." As a matter of fact, they are not. Their skin is cold to the touch, but absolutely dry. It feels as if it were made of china or porcelain.

Then again the sharp, wormlike tongue of the snake, which darts in and out at lightning speed, is harmless, although it is commonly believed to be the medium by means of which the snake ejects its venom.

Snakes which have venom communicate it by means of special teeth called fangs. Harmless snakes do not have these fangs.

The principal disadvantage about a cat and dog is that these animals are apt to carry the same disease spreading vermin as the rats and mice they are supposed to destroy.

Both the dog and the cat frequently kill rats and mice without eating them, leaving them to decompose in invisible places. The snake never does. Every rat killed by a snake is at once swallowed. The snake, too, is much cleaner than either of the other household pets.—Farm and Fireside.

"Mirandy," said the meddlesome mother, "I can't understand what you see attractive about that simple young fool that hangs around here so much."

"Why, mamma," exclaimed the indignant daughter, "how can you speak of my splendid Reginald like that? He's a perfect oak."

"An oak! I'd like to know what there is about that little shrimp that resembles an oak."

Hampered Romance.

She sits all day across the way
And hammers at the keys.
Her face is fair and in her hair
A rose one often sees.

Her dainty fingers, slim and white,
Go swiftly to and fro,
To watch her is a pure delight.
I seldom do it, though.

I'm thinking still, and always will,
That beauty is sublime,
But just across from me her boss
Keeps watching all the time.

TOOK DIZZY'S ADVICE

M'KENNA FOLLOWED HIS RULE FOR POLITICAL SUCCESS.

The New Home Secretary In the British Cabinet Has Attended Strictly to Business and Is Now One of the Strongest Men in the Liberal Administration Says T. P. O'Connor—His Career.

Personal values are always appreciating or going down in the House of Commons. There have been two remarkable examples of this fact in its life during the last few weeks, says T. P. O'Connor in his special letter in Toronto Star Weekly. The first was the sudden burst into great debating eminence of Sir Rufus Isaacs, and the recognition of his powers in this respect and of his great public service in other ways by the unprecedented honor for an Attorney-General of entrance into the Cabinet. The second is the triumph of Mr. McKenna, and his acceptance now as one of the great Home Secretaries of his time. I don't know whether Mr. McKenna had any heart-burnings when he left the Admiralty; he ought not to have had, for fortune was kind enough to place him in the post in the Government for which, more than for any other, his special gifts fitted him. I expected that he would be an excellent Home Secretary, but I did not expect that he would be an ideal one, and he is.

His career in the House of Commons before his party came into power revealed the same qualities. "What should a young member of Parliament do to attain success?" asked Sir John Pope Hennessy, a brilliant Irishman of another epoch, of Disraeli, of whom he was a devoted admirer. "A young member," replied Disraeli, "should always be in his place in the House, unless when he is in the library reading Hansard's Parliamentary Debates." And this was the principle on which Mr. McKenna acted. He was always in his place, asking questions, raising points of order, making speeches, usually brief, criticising when needs be, even small items in the gigantic estimate of the year, so that in a short time he had become one of the personalities of the House, called whenever he rose to speak, for it is one of the laws of the House of Commons life that the more frequently a member speaks the more frequently he is called. And thus, when his party came into power, he was predestined for office, and he got the very high and responsible position of Secretary to the Treasury, a position for which his hereditary instinct for business and for figures made him especially suitable. It was also characteristic of that unity and concentration of purpose which is one of his characteristics, and one of the secrets of his successful career, that though a barrister, with an excellent practice for a young man, he threw it all up the moment he entered political life. He even took his name down from the door of his chambers in the Temple, and shook the dust of the law courts forever from his feet. It was a bold and decisive step, which only a man of bold and decisive character could have dared to take.

HON. REGINALD M'KENNA.

Then came promotion to different offices until at last he found himself in the place for which he was above all fitted, his present office. For the Home Secretary he was trained by even his brief legal career, for a Home Secretary has to tread his difficulty through many legal and tortuous paths, and it is therefore a very considerable addition to a Home Secretary's equipment for his great and difficult office that he should know all the law books have to give of rules, precedents, and decisions on intricate legal questions. But, after all, it was not because he had had the training of a lawyer that Mr. McKenna has been such a success at the Home Office, his qualities of character supply the real reason. Great courage, quiet self-confidence, a clear and practical judgment, these are the qualities that he has, and these are the qualties that make the successful Home Secretary. He came into no easy task. From the first hour of his taking office he had to confront innumerable, even affrighting, difficulties — the fanaticism of the suffragettes, a national coal strike, and now the strike at the port of London. Through them all he has come, not without criticism, sometimes malignant and unjust, and even insane, but he has come through successfully. The strike at the port of London might well have tried the nerve of any man and especially a man who has the popular sympathies and the political affiliations of a Liberal Home Secretary.

Enoch Arden Explains.

Enoch Arden and Rip Van Winkle had just emerged from the canebrake and were making toward the nearest tavern.

"What excuse are you going to give your wife?" asked Enoch of Rip.

"I'm going to tell her the truth. I'm going to tell her I've been over in the mountains sleeping off a little toot."

"Twenty years is a pretty long time. Reckon you can get by with it?"

"What are you going to tell your wife?"

"I'm going to tell her the truth too. I've been over in the next county sitting on one of these change of venue murder juries."—St. Louis Republic.

He Was Very Economical.

James Tyson, the richest man Australia ever produced, although lord of £5,000,000, remained a simple bushman to his last day. A shabby suit of cheap ready made clothes was his only wear, and a boot lace formed the guard of a silver watch which, as a young man, he had bought for a sovereign. He ate the same fare as his own laborers, and it was his boast that he had never entered a theater or tasted intoxicants of any kind; that he had never used soap—he preferred sand—nor worn a white shirt or a glove.

Antiquity of Chairs.

Chairs were in use in Egypt so long ago as 3399 B. C. The Chinese employed them from about 1300 B. C. In India they were used and are mentioned as dating from 1100 B. C. House chairs with backs were in use in India A. D. 800. They are known to have been employed in Rome so early as A. D. 70, being mentioned by Pliny at that date. Chairs with foot rests were used in Rome A. D. 150.

A Paragon of Patience.

"He's the most patient man I ever knew."

"That so?"

"Yes; he can even herd a bunch of people together to have a group picture taken without losing his temper."—Detroit Free Press.

YOU CAN BE ABSOLUTELY SURE OF VALUES

If you carefully read the store advertisements and follow them in your buying.

Merchants advertise certain lines because they know these lines will advertise their stores. Because there is something about certain goods, they are put in conspicuous places and the people are told about them. It may be the exclusiveness or newness of design, it may be an unusual quality, it may be an attractive price.

But there is at least one definite, sure reason why a merchant advertises an article and is willing to stake the reputation of his store upon it.

Therefore, when you see an article advertised in THE REVIEW, depend upon it, that article is good value, as good value as can be obtained in that particular store.

OTTAWA'S DRINKING WATER IS NOW AS GOOD AS THE BEST

Health Officer Shirreff Stakes His Reputation on That Assertion—Typhoid Epidemic is Dying Out and No New Cases Are Reported.

Any one who has been thinking of visiting the Ottawa Fair, or going to the Capital City on business, need not be deterred through fear of typhoid fever, and on reaching the city need not hesitate about drinking the water there. Dr. W. T. Shirreff, Medical Health Officer, at Ottawa, stakes his professional reputation on the assertion that the city's supply of drinking water is now pure.

His manifesto just published is as follows—

In the minds of some, there still may be some anxiety as to the actual conditions of the health of this city, owing to the recent outbreak of typhoid fever. I wish to assure the public, and I am perfectly aware of the responsibility I am assuming in doing so, that the typhoid fever epidemic is over. Of the actual cases that have occurred, many are better and most of the others are well on their way to convalescence.

"The causitive factor of that epidemic was undoubtedly from some defect in our intake pipe, which we were using at the time. This source of water supply has been entirely discontinued, and we are now receiving our water, and have been for almost a month, through the all steel pipe, and extra precautions are being taken in safe-guarding the supply, so much so that I am free to say that I believe the Ottawa water, as supplied through the taps, can now safely be used for drinking purposes but if anyone wishes to take an extra precaution, the best alternative is to boil the water.

"Bacteriological tests of our water have shown absolutely no contamination for five weeks, and only an occasional case of typhoid fever is being reported, and then only from those who have been nursing an actual case.

"In fact, apart from the above disease, the health of the city is remarkably good, so much so that our total mortality for the present year will, I believe, notwithstanding the above, be lower than the average for previous years, and lower than most other Canadians cities.

W. T. SHIRREFF,
City Medical Health Officer.

SECRETARY HANNA RETURNS FROM HIS WESTERN TRIP

Does Not Think the Vancouver Tax Law is Universally Approved—Employing Prisoners to Clear Land is, He Says, the Ideal Method of Handling Them.

Toronto, Aug. 26.—Secretary W. J. Hanna has returned from a month's tour of the western provinces and has given out the following concerning his trip:

"I have never seen crops approaching those of this year," said Mr. Hanna. "From Winnipeg to Calgary there was hardly a bad field of grain to be seen. All that is needed is warm weather to mature a crop that will make Canada proud. Cutting is now general from Saskatoon to Winnipeg."

Of all the cities visited the Minister was most impressed with Saskatoon and Vancouver. The former has experienced a marvelous growth recently, while Vancouver has met with no set back in its rapid progress.

STUDIED LAND TAXATION.

At the latter place, which claims to be the "home of Single Tax," on this continent. Mr. Hanna, who is chairman of the special Assessment Committee appointed at the last session of the Legislature, made a special inquiry into the system of land taxation in force. While he was not prepared to go into the merits of the question, the Minister intimated that his investigation had not shown that the working of the Vancouver law had brought the people into any agreement as to the value of the system.

The new prison farm at Fort William, the pioneer of its kind, occupied the Minister for a full day. He saw the prisoners at work in the woods, and came away convinced that the use of jail men in clearing farms in the North is the ideal method of handling them.

"I found fifty men at work," he said, "and I have no hesitation in saying that their work was quite as efficient as that of the same number of free men could be. That is a broad statement, but it is so. They are clearing at times up to five acres a day, and they will go into the winter with upwards of 200 acres cleared, housing accommodation for the men, buildings for a few horses and cows, and with considerable root crops—and they got on the land only last June."

TO SELL THE LANDS.

Chopping will continue through the winter, and by next summer it is expected a great inroad will have been made upon the 800 acres on the farm. With a view of continuing the work the Department of Crown Lands has withdrawn from settlement another 400 acres adjoining, and this will give the Government in the course of a few years a thousand acres of land cleared and ready for settlement. This land will be sold to farmers as improved property, and Mr. Hanna is satisfied that at least $100 an acre will be realized for it.

This means that the Fort William property will not be made a farm, although it is officially designated as one. The department intends to move the prisoners about as they get the land cleared and turn the improved property over to farmers

PRAISED THE CHOIR

Rev. W. A. French Complimented the Choristers at St. John's

The Rev. W. H. French, of Fenelon Falls, an old friend of, and singer with, the Sheffield Choir, who officiated at St. John's yesterday, in addressing the choristers in the vestry at the close of Evensong, stated that their heart-felt and expressive work had been an inspiration to him. The choir was well represented and their offertory number, Barnby's "Sing to the Lord," with Mr. G. E. Chandler as tenor soloist, was splendidly sung. The Choral Evensong, with Responses, Psalms and Hymns, was faultlessly rendered, and as a tribute to the memory of the late General Booth, at the close of the sermon, Bridge's setting of Tennyson's "Crossing the Bar," and "The Lord is My Light," Soloist Miss Dawson, were delightfully rendered. After service the choir, for thirty minutes, rehearsed Haydn's "The Marvellous Work" and Bennett's "Praise the Lord," for the Harvest Festival on Sept. 12.

OBITUARY

The Late Wm Traviss

A well-known resident of Ennismore, in the person of Mr. William Traviss, passed away yesterday morning, about three o'clock. He had been ailing for some time. Born in Ennismore, he had always followed farm life and he made many friends He was 35 years of age.

Besides his parents, he leaves a wife and two young sons to mourn his loss. Three brothers are Joseph, of Ennismore, Charles, of Winnipeg and Nathaniel, of Oregon. His sisters are Mrs. O'Donnel of Winnipeg, and Mrs. John Henessey of Ennismore.

The funeral will take place Tuesday morning, at nine o'clock, from the homestead, to St. Martin's church, thence to St. Martin's cemetery.

ARM CRUSHED WHILE AT WORK

James O'Toole May Have to Suffer Amputation.

Mr. Jas. O'Toole, of Perry street, had his arm so severely crushed while working at the C.G.E. this morning, that in all probability he will lose it. Dr. Young was called and he was removed to the Nicholls Hospital.

REGATTA FOR THE CHILDREN

To be Held at Chemong on Thursday Afternoon.

The Chemong Regatta, Thursday last, evidently took such a hold on those who witnessed it, that the regatta committee are preparing a list of aquatic events to be run off on the coming half holiday. The weather, which was rainy at intervals, and threatening throughout the afternoon disappointed some who left before the end, as also causing many to abandon the idea of taking it in. The children of the Park, have been clamoring for a special day of their own and it is with an eye to this that the second regatta will be held.

The majority of the events will be open only for 16 year old and under, with a few extra open events for adults. There will be the usual popular dance also in the evening, and everything indicates that the affair will be as thoroughly successful as that held last week.

The events will commence at 1.30 sharp. The list includes, running races, sack races, jumping, canoe races, swimming races, etc. There is no admission.

STORIES OF STORM'S HAVOC FROM ALL PARTS OF ONTARIO

Buildings Destroyed, Crops Ruined, Stock Killed and Other Damage Done by Wind and Lightning—Many Farmers Have Been Practically Ruined.

Toronto, Aug. 27.—A series of electrical storms swept across Ontario from east to west, starting early yesterday morning and continuing until late late night. It was one of these storms that struck Toronto late yesterday afternoon, tying up the car lines and the Toronto electric light service, and doing great damage to standing crops and cut grain in the fields in adjacent counties.

From nearly every point in old Ontario came stories that recorded the havoc wrought by one of the fiercest electrical disturbances known in the province and one that for destructiveness surpassed those remembered by oldest residents. With the rain and lightning, in many parts, was a high wind, almost a hurricane, and this added to the desolation. Many farmers have been set back years.

Galt District Suffers.

Galt, Aug. 27.—Sunday night's electric storm was most severe in a great many years and although no heavy losses have been reported in town, the surrounding country suffered considerably.

Several barns were struck by lightning and a couple burned to the ground. The oldest residents cannot recall such a severe storm nor so vivid and long continued lightning. Among losses reported are Burford Station, canning factory, Peter Humphrey, well known farmer of Troy, had several cattle killed by lightning. The barns on the farm of John Reid, Branchton, were destroyed by fire with the season's crop. The barn of J. Hammill, Sheffield was damaged by thunderbolt, and the barn of John White, Wrigley's Corners, was struck and completely destroyed with contents. The losses run into thousands, partly covered by insurance.

Power Lines Damaged.

Belleville, Aug. 27.—This section of the community was on Sunday visited by a severe electrical storm, causing considerable damage to the lines of the Toronto Electric & Water Power Co. in Thurlow Township. A horse owned by George Bodyley was being driven along the road when it was struck by lightning and killed.

Serious Farm Losses.

Brantford, Aug. 27.—Three electrical storms from different directions converged into one here last Sunday night and put this district in a blaze of electric light for over an hour. The box factory of James Elliott at Scotland was totally destroyed and several residences were threatened in the village. Five large barns belonging to George L. Telfer, a well-known sheep expert, and Robert Peart, near Paris, were totally destroyed with entire season's crops.

Record Storm at Ridgetown.

Ridgetown, Aug. 27.—Ridgetown was the centre of the worst electrical storm in years Sunday night. Wm. Thorold's two large barns, just west of the town, were struck and burned with all the contents. Trinity Schoolhouse on Talbot street was struck and damaged, also the schoolhouse at McKay's Corners. Mr. Pickering's barn, near Blenheim, and Wm. Knight's, in Howard, were struck and burned, besides several in Harwich.

Barns Lost Near Paris.

Paris, Aug. 27.—Paris was visited Sunday night by one of the worst thunder and lightning storms in its history. The lightning was very vivid, and the rain came down in torrents, lasting from about 11 o'clock until after three. No damage is reported in town, although the country around suffered. Mr. Joseph Peart, who lives in Brantford Township, a few miles from Paris, lost his barn and nearly all his crops through the barn being struck by lightning.

Mr. White, who lives on the Galt road, also lost his barn and crops. A couple of other barns are also reported to have been struck.

Zorra Buildings Gone.

Woodstock, Aug. 27.—During the severe electrical storm which passed over Zorra early yesterday morning, lightning struck the barn of John Todd's farm and the structure was entirely destroyed by fire, together with the season's crop and some of the live stock. Some of the pigs and sheep were saved. The loss is partly covered by insurance.

Sarnia Shop Destroyed.

Sarnia, Aug. 27.—One of the most severe electrical storms of the season passed over this section Sunday night about 12 o'clock. The large cooper shops owned by the Port Huron Salt Co. were struck by lightning about 2 a.m. and by 5 o'clock the entire plant was destroyed.

A large barn near Courtright was also destroyed by fire during the big electrical storm, which passed over this section Sunday evening.

Barns Burned at Chatham.

Chatham, Aug. 27.—The severe electrical storm early yesterday morning did great damage to farm property in this section of the country. The large barn located on the Williamson farm, in Chatham Township, and owned by Thomas Slater of this city, was struck by lightning and burned to the ground. There were over 1,000 bushels of wheat, as well as a large quantity of hay, oats and other farm products, and all was consumed by the fire. The storm appears to have been general, and in more remote parts of the country quite a number of buildings were destroyed. A farmer by the name of Pickering, living near Blenheim, suffered the loss of his barn with this year's crop, and another large fire occurred in the early morning at Mitchell's Bay.

Three People Killed.

Cleveland, O., Aug. 27.—Three people lost their lives during a terrific wind and rain storm that swept over the city yesterday. Trees were blown down and much property loss suffered.

CANAL TRAFFIC IS INCREASING

That Through the Soo Alone Shows Gain of 2,793,682

Ottawa, Aug. 27.—The Canadian canal statistics just issued from the Department of Railways and Canals for the period from the opening of navigation to July 31 show an increase in the volume of traffic over the corresponding period last year of 2,968,007 tons.

The greatest increase is through the Soo Canal. The increased volume of traffic through this waterway is almost equal to the total increase through all the canals, the gain being 2,793,682 tons.

Through the proportion of American and Canadian tonnage is not given, it is understood that the American traffic still exceeds the Canadian by 60 per cent.

CANADIAN TOOK HIS OWN LIFE

Galena, Ill., Aug. 27.—Charles Edress, sixty-two years of age, shot and killed himself late Sunday near here after he had been cornered by a posse. Edress recently came from Canada and is said to have been prowling around at night armed with a shotgun. He was run from a corn field Sunday and after firing several shots at the posse, killed himself. He had two revolvers, a double-barrelled shotgun, $500, and two return railroad tickets to Canada.

NEW GENERAL SENDS MESSAGE TO SALVATIONIST IN CANADA

Toronto, Aug. 27.—General Bramwell Booth, the new leader of the Salvation Army, yesterday cabled his acknowledgements of expressions of sympathy sent him by Canadians.

The message was addressed to Commissioner Rees, executive head of the Canadian forces, and read as follows:

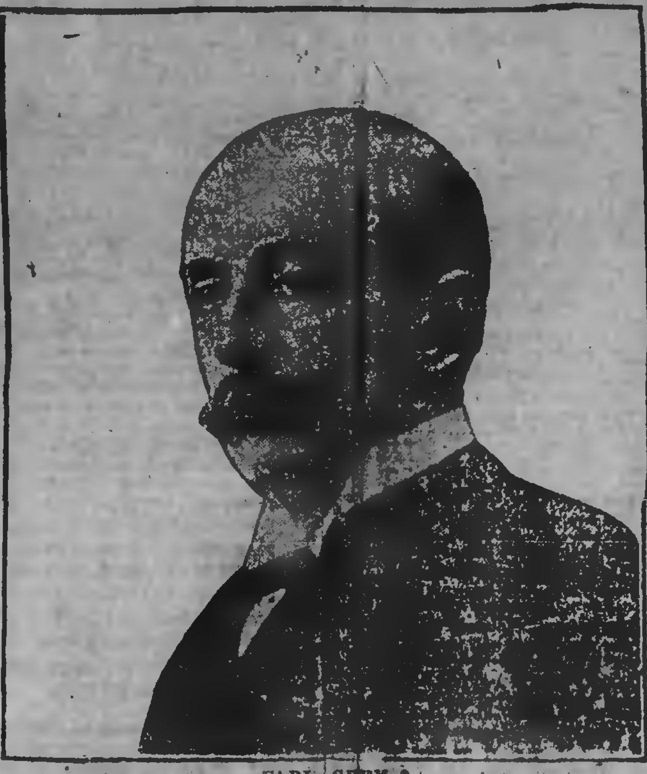
"My Dear Commissioner—The greeting you have sent me on behalf of yourself and the staff and field officers and soldiers of the Dominion and Newfoundland, strengthens my heart in the presence of the mighty task which in the providence of God and by the appointment of our beloved general is now devolved upon me. My confidence is in God, and I know I may rely also upon you. My dear father loved Canada, and had high hopes for the progress of God amongst you. To-day it is my joy to believe that you will respond to His highest ambitions for you in spreading the honor of Christ and the power of His salvation throughout the world. The army is marching on and the future shall be Christ's. Let us fight for Him and never flinch. Pray for me and Mrs. Booth.

"Bramwell Booth."

Thousands View Body.

London, Aug. 27.—Despite the fact that it was raining hard all day, there was no abatement in the number of persons who went to Congress Hall, Clapton, yesterday to view the body of the late commander-in-chief of the Salvation Army, General William Booth.

Thousands of mourners were waiting to get in when the hall was closed last night, and it has been decided to continue the lying in state till Tuesday. King George and Queen Mary yesterday sent a beautiful wreath inscribed with the words, "As a mark of regard and high esteem from the king and queen."



EARL GREY.

Ex-Governor of the Dominion who still shows a deep interest in Canadian affairs, and in his public addresses never loses an opportunity to speak a good word for the country in which he was so popular. At the opening of the Toronto Exhibition yesterday a cablegram was read from the Earl, who is now in Rhodesia, South Africa, expressing the hope that this year's fair will be the best ever held.

HUNDRED MILLION DOLLAR LOSS IN ENGLAND'S CROPS

Continued Rainfall Threatens the Farmers With Utter Ruin—In Some Places Rain Has Fallen Continuously for Forty eight Hours—Loss May be Trebled.

SPECIAL TO THE REVIEW

London, Aug. 27.—The deluge of rain was renewed in most parts of England yesterday with increased severity. More than half an inch fell in a London downpour, lasting nine hours. In some parts of England rain fell continuously for forty-eight hours. The damage to crops already is close upon one, hundred million dollars. This will be trebled unless the weather changes for the better immediately.

CITY AND COUNTY AT LOGGERHEADS

Trouble in London Over Repairing the Court House.

London Aug. 27.—There is promise of a lively row between the city and county councils over repairs to the courthouse here. Early last winter both councils met and agreed to spend $27,000 on repairs to the courthouse, each to pay for 50 per cent. of the work. The county council, according to Mayor Graham, has already spent more than $40,000 on the repairs and is talking of putting tile floors all through the buildings. A meeting to which none of the city fathers were invited, was held Saturday, but, hearing of it, Mayor Graham hied himself there, and on behalf of the city refused to sanction the letting of any more contracts until after Sept. 3rd. It is likely that a joint meeting of both councils will be held shortly.

BURNED TO DEATH

Coal Oil Lamp Claims Another Victim.

Montreal, Aug. 27.—Mrs. Edward McCarr was burned to death in her home on Plessis street last night through the explosion of a coal oil lamp.

THREE PRISONERS BREAK FROM JAIL

Windsor, Aug. 27.—The three men arrested at Amherstburg early on Saturday morning for looting two drill scows, which were tied up there, made their escape from the town jail between midnight and 5 a.m. yesterday.

The building in which the lock-up is situated is moss grown and ancient, and there is no one on duty there after noon. The robbers, who are all from the American side of the river, had no difficulty in gaining their freedom. They simply removed the bricks one by one, plied them neatly to one side, and when a hole of sufficient size had been made in the wall, walked out.

ESCAPED FROM THE REFORMATORY

Winnipeg, Aug. 27.—After escaping from the Reformatory at Portage la Prairie late Sunday night, Arthur McCullachy and Alex. Wilson, two Winnipeg lads, sent up there for stealing motors, took an axe and broke open four garages in succession.

In the garage of Crown Prosecutor Taylor they found a machine to suit them. They were caught at Deer Lodge on the outskirts of the city early yesterday afternoon.

THE AGONY IS OVER

American Congress Adjourns Until December Next.

Washington, Aug. 27.—Sobered by the embarrassments of Saturday's all-night session of filibusters and disagreements, Congress adjusted its differences yesterday, invited President Taft up to the capitol once more, and at 4.30 o'clock yesterday afternoon wrote "Finis" after the proceedings of the second session of the 62nd Congress.

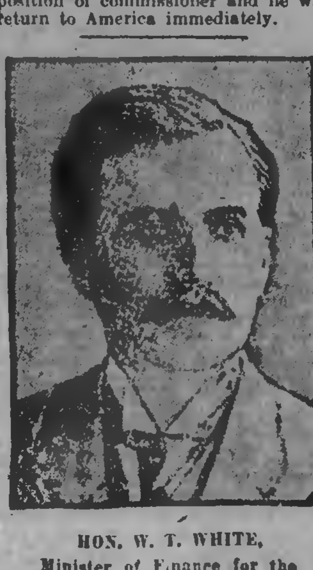
The session "just fizzled out," in the Senate. A comparative handful of members occupied their seats and a call for a quorum in either the House or Senate would have forced a return of the embarrasing situation of last week.

WILL HAVE AGENCY IN CANADIAN WEST

Government of New South Wales Decides on Important Step.

Sydney, N.S.W., Aug. 27.—The Government of New South Wales has decided to establish a commercial agency on the west coast of America, being satisfied that trade relations of a valuable nature can be opened up with Canada and the United States. The commercial commissioner will also act as the immigration agent of this Government.

H. R. W. Nelson, formerly Minister for Lands, who represented the New South Wales Government at the Chicago Irrigation Congress and afterwards conducted an investigation into the immigration methods of the United States, has been appointed to the position of commissioner and he will return to America immediately.



HON. W. T. WHITE,
Minister of Finance for the Dominion.

He is Acting Minister of Militia, during the absence of Col., the Hon. Sam Hughes, in England.

CANAL QUESTION CANNOT BE TESTED IN COURT FOR MONTHS

President Taft is Willing to Try the Issue at Once, But Other Officials Say This Cannot be Done Until the Canal is Opened for Traffic.

Washington, Aug. 27.—Although Mr. Innes, the British charge and counsellor of the embassy, who was recalled from his vacation on the Maine coast to carry out certain directions of his Government regarding the Panama Canal legislation, remains in Washington, he has made no sign of a purpose to present any fresh representations to the State Department on this subject.

The original British protest having been ineffective in preventing the enactment of the objectionable legislation, and there being now a year and a half to elapse before the question of the actual payment of tolls in the canal can become a practical one, there does not seem to be special reason for urgency in negotiations.

Although President Taft was not himself convinced of the soundness of the assertion that foreign ship owners already have at hand the means of testing legally their right to use the Panama Canal on even terms with American shipping, it is believed that he is perfectly willing to allow this issue to be made up and tried out. The possibility of the adoption of this method of securing a judicial determination of the British right may prevent the negotiations between the two Governments from being carried to the point of an ultimatum, for several years at least. The test case could not be made up until the canal is in operation. Then when a British vessel protests against the imposition of tolls, her owners, if represented by any agency in this country, might apply to a United States circuit court for a determination of their rights and from that court an appeal might be taken by either party to the United States Supreme Court.

BIG DEAL IN LAND

Montreal, Aug. 27.—One million, six hundred and fifty thousand dollars is the price paid by the Belgo-Canadian Realty Co. for the property situated at the southwest corner of St. Catharine and Bleury street, extending to and including the southeast corner of St. Catharine and Alexander streets.

The total area is about 38,105 square feet, and the purchase price per square foot constitutes a new record in that district.

The purchasers will erect on the property a ten-storey building which will cost $950,000.

The total cost of the building and the land will reach $2,600,000, all of its new capital coming into Montreal from foreign countries.

BANK MERGER WAS RATIFIED

Treasury Board Authorizes Fusion of the Traders and Royal Banks.

Ottawa, Aug. 27.—The Government has approved the purchase of the stock, assets, etc., of the Traders' Bank by the Royal Bank. At a meeting of the Treasury Board the matter was discussed, and the application sanctioned by council. A subsequent meeting of council ratified the action of the Treasury Board.

Three Drowned Near Chatham.

Englehart, Aug. 27.—A triple drowning occurred at Mud Lake, near Charlton, when three farmers, Grossman, Phillips and Levy, were capsized from a canoe. The bodies were recovered. The men were fishing and a heavy breeze struck the bow of the canoe, overturning it.

HON. BONAR LAW IN AUTO COLLISION

Special to the Review.

Margate, Eng., Aug. 27.—Andrew Bonar Law, Leader of the Unionist party in England, suffered a violent shock in a motor car collision near this seaside resort late last night. He was returning from playing golf. Both cars were demolished, but none of the occupants were seriously injured.

TORONTO FAIR FORMALLY OPENED

Earl Grey Sent Greeting From Far Away Rhodesia.

Toronto, Aug. 27.—It was a great gathering in the amphitheatre of the Dairy Building at half-past two o'clock yesterday afternoon, when the Duke of Connaught, accompanied by the Duchess of Connaught and Princess Patricia, performed the opening ceremony. The interior of the building was tastefully decorated with festoons of green, white and yellow muslin, contrasting strikingly with other draperies of white and purple.

As the royal party entered the building the Scots Guards Band, which had pleasantly whiled away the period of waiting with the charm of their music, struck up the National Anthem. This was followed by an eloquent prayer by Rev. Dr. Briggs.

Rhodesia, South Africa.

"May this year's Exhibition far eclipse all former records and be worthy of the presence of the Duke of Connaught and cadets of the Empire."

After the duke's reply to the President's address, the band played "God Save the King," and the Canadian National Exhibition for 1912 was formally set in motion.

Three ringing cheers were raised for the Duke and Duchess as they left the building, and another was added for the princess, who gracefully bowed her acknowledgements.

LIVE WIRE KILLS

Edward Day Lost His Life at St. Catherines.

St. Catharines, Aug. 27.—Lightly putting out his foot to kick from the path a wire that might trip up passers-by, Edward Day fell dead on the sidewalk. The wire carried 2,500 volts. It had dropped at his feet as he was hurrying home in the furious electrical storm that swept this city Sunday evening.

Mr. Day was 52 years of age and was most favorably known here. He was president of the St. Catharines Trades and Labor Council and local correspondent of The Labor Gazette. Some few years ago he served as an alderman.

Some men are like roosters—they crow pretty well, but when it comes to work they let their wives do it.

"LEFTY" AND "GYP" SAID TO BE IN THE TOILS AT LAST

Detective Burns Thinks He has the Gangsters in Custody at Fronda, N.Y.—Prisoners Stoutly Deny That They Are the Men Wanted.

New York, Aug. 27.—William J. Burns announced shortly after midnight that two of his operatives had arrested two men earlier in the evening in Fonda, N.Y. and that they believed they had at last run to earth "Lefty" Louie Rosenzweig and "Gyp the Blood," or Harry Horowitz, the missing gunmen, wanted in this city for their share in the murder of Herman Rosenthal.

The Burns detectives who sent the word into their chief were J. H. Kennedy and T. S. Dorsey, whom he assigned to the trailing of clues in the neighborhood of Albany. They had half a dozen shadowy reasons for believing that the long-sought gunmen were or had been in that part of the state, and last night at nine o'clock they telephoned Mr. Burns that they had made two arrests at Fonda.

The men, whom they had been watching for several days, left Albany yesterday afternoon and headed for Fonda, which is a small town near Johnsown, N.Y., in the southern part of Fulton Country. The Burns men kept on their trail and finally came face to face with the men in a Fonda hotel, where they had registered as traveling men. Then they placed them under arrest, and the first move was to make a search of their belongings. One of the detectives reported to his chief that the inspection of the suitcases the men carried had yielded nothing more fruitful than outfits of old clothing, which furnished no clues as to the identity of the men themselves. Both were extremely indignant at the move made by the Burns operatives, and stoutly declared that they were not the men for whom the district attorney had offered a $5,000 reward.

The deputy sheriff of Fulton county, stationed at Fonda, speaking early this morning over the telephone, said that he had made no arrests in the Rosenthal case, and that he knew of no such arrests having been made. He added, however, that he did not know anything about the business of the Burns operatives or of their presence in Fonda. Kennedy and Dorsey reported to Mr. Burns that the men they had been trailing answered in many respects to the descriptions of "Gyp the Blood" and "Lefty Louis."

Priests Submit to Rome.

Montreal, Aug. 27.—Archbishop Bruchesi announced yesterday that he has received the formal and absolute submission of the priests of Ste. Marie Monnoir College at St. Johns.

THESE OLD PEOPLE OWE THEIR HEALTH

To The Wonderful Powers Of "Fruit-a-tives"

Mr. N. Joubert of Grande Ligne, P.Q., says: "For more than 10 years, I suffered with Constipation and Piles. I tried many remedies, but none did me good. After taking four boxes of "Fruit-a-tives", I am well. I am now over 80 years of age".

Mr. Wm. Pitt, general store-keeper at Shanly, Ont., writes:—"I am 67 years of age and long suffered tortures from Headaches, due to Stomach Trouble. I was advised to try "Fruit-a-tives". I did so and they completely cured me."

Mr. Wm. Parsons of Otterville, Ont., says:—"I am 79 years old and a great believer in "Fruit-a-tives".

SANITARY INSPECTOR

District Health Officer Clinton, of Belleville, paid his first official visit to Peterboro the other day, and, after a conference with the local health officials, gave it as his opinion that Sanitary Inspector Spence is doing his duty in striving to enforce all the provisions of the new Health Act, especially with reference to the keepers of livery stables and other owners of horses. This approval has been challenged in certain quarters and the contention is set up that the city is not in a sanitary condition.

No one is disposed to take exception to this claim, but the inspector is not to be held entirely responsible. He is doing all that one man can be expected to do, to enforce the law, but he is meeting with opposition on all sides. Citizens have been warned through the press and by the officials personally to provide proper receptacles for their garbage, but the response to these warnings are slow. Livery stable men have denounced the law as unjust, so far as it applies to themselves. The enforcement of every new measure is always attended with difficulty and dissatisfaction on the part of those most directly affected. Prompt and drastic action on the part of the legal machinery of the city, will do more than anything else to facility the work of the inspector in the discharge of his onerous duties.

THE BIG THREE

The outstanding figures in the American political world to-day are the three candidates for president, Taft, the Republican; Roosevelt, the Progressive, so called, and Wilson, the Democrat. The fierce light which beats about a throne, burns with no less brilliancy about the man who aspires to high office and in the case of the first two of the above trio, every blot in their make up or in their record is being painted as black as the shades of a moonless midnight.

Mr. Taft, once considered a man of probity both by his own people and by those of foreign countries, has shown himself of late in perhaps what are after all his true colors, a political mountebank an opportunist, a mere quibbler of phrases, and one, not above violating national faith, that he may win to himself the support of a certain faction that he may continue in power. Mr Taft ranks high as a lawyer and is famed for his knowledge of international law. He had a hand in the making of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty and no man is in a better position to understand the terms of that agreement with England. Fearing further loss of prestige, by risking another conflict with Congress, he has signed the Panama Canal Bill which clearly violates the most important points of the treaty.

To sign the bill is bad enough in all conscience. To back up his position, to excuse himself for his action by submitting a shyster-like argument which he has the hardihood to ask Congress to endorse, is infinitely worse. No such specious pleading was ever heard from the lips of a statesman. They are the works of the street corner politician whose cause is desperate and whose conscience is elastic. He pleads in the words of every other jingo that the canal was built by the United States and that that country has absolute control in the matter of tolls. No one ever heard the United States insist upon this as a condition when the country's sole immediate object was to have England waive the Clay-Bulmer Treaty and accede to the American Republic her rights in the canal isthmus. Mr Taft speaks of the concessions made to the United States by the Panama Republic. By this allusion he uncovers another page of his nation's history blotted with dishonor, seeing that the United States interfered in a revolution in Panama and aided the insurrectionists, the price exacted for the timely assistance being the canal concessions referred to.

Roosevelt is busy denying that he has in the past accepted aid from the Standard Oil Company. No man need pose as a purist in politics. Every election campaign calls for the legitimate expenditure of money in the United States or any other country, the only question of moment being the source of the subscriptions. Mr Archibald says the Standard Oil people did put up $150,000 to help elect Roosevelt in 1904. Roosevelt says they didn't but because the aggressive leader of the new party says, not only in his heart but by word of mouth, that all who oppose him are liars, it does not follow that he alone is capable of speaking the truth. If he is sincere in his avowals of enmity to the trusts, why did he eight years ago accept aid from the father of all powerful commercial combinations, and why did he permit his present meteoric campaign to be financed to the extent of $3,000,000 by another organization just as mighty?

But what of Governor Wilson? Through all this din and clamour he is silent as a spiked gun. His party has applied the gag and he cannot utter a word. The academic sage of New Jersey, he who before he secured the nomination, was heard from on all public questions, although at times given to the exploitation of Utopian theories, and the dreaming of videscent dreams, is now like so much putty in the hands of his managers. He has nothing to say now as to the source of campaign contributions. The world has listened in vain for his views on the Panama Canal question. Now we are told that he is not to be permitted to take the stump during the campaign. His managers have so decreed and he must hold his peace until after the election. In his speech of acceptance he so tangled himself in the tariff question that his friends are afraid to risk from him another public utterance.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Canada need men, not only in the wheat field of the West, but to help save what the wet weather will leave of the harvest of Ontario.

What does Col. Roosevelt want anyway? Only the other day he was complaining of the lack of newspaper publicity, and now that he is getting it in wholesale lots he is not satisfied.

Nine hundred thousand pounds of binder twine left North Bay recently for the western farmers, the consignment coming originally from the States being rushed through by express to meet the needs of the prairie country. Shipping such a commodity by express comes high, but the farmers must have the twine at any price. We may now expect to hear from a certain brand of political worker a diatribe on freight rates and railway imposition upon the consumer, the politician not going to the trouble to distinguish between the cost of sending goods by freight and express. Mr. Rowell was recently not above this style of warfare as witness the case of the now famous pig that was crated and expressed to an enterprising settler in New Ontario over the Provincial Government's railway.

The people of the United States will carefully strain a gnat out of their potation, but will swallow a camel without a struggle. They can regard with tolerable equanimity an odorous case of police graft, a presidential scandal, or the violation of international faith by the public men, but let the people but behold even from a distance a figure in a bathing suit, an undraped statue, no matter how fine a work of art it may be, or a symmetrical figure in a hobble skirt, and up go the hands of the populace in pharasaical horror. A young woman in Bellefonte, Pa., who appeared in the streets in one of these tabooed garments, was ordered home by a hypercritical policeman upon pain of arrest if she remained on public view. In a country where the police are permitted to regulate feminine taste in dress any rigmarole concerning life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness becomes a joke.

THE MARKET

Latest Quotations in Grain Dairy Products, Live Stock Etc

CHICAGO, Aug. 26.—Promise of larger shipments from the harvest fields in the Dakotas and Minnesota gave the wheat market to-day an easy tone. The close was 1-8c to 1-4c lower than 48 hours before. Corn finished irregular, a shade off to 1-4c and 3-8c up; oats down a sixteenth to 1-4c and 3-8c, and provisions varying from 5c decline to 7 1-2c advance.

The Liverpool market closed to-day ⅛d to ¼d higher than Saturday on wheat, and ⅛d higher on corn.

Montreal Grain and Produce.

MONTREAL, Aug. 26.—The demand from foreign buyers for Manitoba new and old crop low grades was fair, at an advance in prices of 1½d in some cases, but the volume of business done was small. Business in oats was quiet, and the tone of the market is easier. Local demand for flour continues good for small lots, but export trade is dull. Millfeed fairly active and firm. Butter in better demand and firmer. Cheese strong and fairly active. Exports for the week were 53,343 boxes, against 74,685 a year ago. Eggs firm.

Corn—American No. 3 yellow, 83c to 84c.

Oats—Canadian western, No. 2, 49c; do., No. 3, 47c to 48c.

CATTLE MARKETS.

Union Stock Yards.

TORONTO, Aug. 26.—Receipts of live stock at the Union Stock Yards were 78 cars—1499 cattle, 377 hogs, 564 sheep and lambs, 98 calves and 31 horses.

Exporters.

Swift & Co. bought 223 export steers at $6.75 to $7 per cwt., but we only heard of one load at the latter figure. The next highest was $6.95.

Butchers.

Choice butchers, export weights, sold at $6.25 to $6.75; loads of good butchers, $5.80 to $6; medium, $5 to $5.25; common, $4.50 to $4.75; choice, heavy cows, $5.25 to $5.50; good cows, $4.50 to $5; medium cows, $3.75 to $4.25; common cows, $2.75 to $3.50; canners, $1.50 to $2.50; light bulls, $3.75 to $4.75; heavy bulls, $5 to $5.50.

Stockers and Feeders

Feeders, 900 to 1000 lbs., sold at $5.25 to $5.50; steers, 800 to 900 lbs., at $4.75 to $5; stockers, $4 to $4.50.

Milkers and Springers

There was a moderate delivery of milkers and springers, that sold at from $40 to $80 each, and one at $87.

Veal Calves.

There was a wide range in quality and prices of veal calves, selling at from $3 to $9 per cwt.; those selling at $9 were choice, new, milk-fed veals.

Sheep and Lambs.

Sheep, ewes, of light weight, sold at $4 to $5 per cwt.; heavy ewes, $3 to $4; lambs, $7.25 to $7.85.

Hogs.

The buyers reported the hog market lower, at $8.50 for selects, fed and watered, but a few selects were reported sold at $8.65 to $8.75, fed and watered.

Montreal Live Stock.

MONTREAL, Aug. 26.—At the Montreal Stock Yards west end market the receipts of live stock for the week ending Aug. 24 were 500 cattle, 2000 sheep and lambs, 2000 hogs and 650 calves. The supply on the market this morning consisted of 800 cattle, 1000 sheep and lambs, 1000 hogs and 250 calves.

There was no actual change in the condition of the market for cattle as compared with this day week. The supply was ample to fill all requirements, and in consequence the tone was steady. The quality of the stock coming forward is steadily improved, and especially the northwest ranch cattle, of which there were about 400 head on the market.

The gathering of buyers was fairly large, and, as they all wanted some beef, the demand was good and a fairly active trade was done. Sales of full loads of northwest ranch cattle, averaging 1100 pounds each, were sold at $6.25 to $6.50, and picked lots at $6.75 per 100 pounds, while the top price paid for picked lots of choice Ontario steers was $7.25 per 100 pounds. There was a good demand from packers for supplies, and considerable business was also done by canners in bulls at $2.50 to $3 per 100 pounds.

The supply of hogs was only fair, and some of the packers were short of stock. The demand was keener than usual, and an active trade was done, but there was no change in prices as compared with a week ago, they being firm, with sales of selected lots at $8.50 to $9 per 100 pounds, weighed off cars.

The trade in sheep and lambs was active, there being a good demand from both packers and butchers for supplies, and prices ruled steady, with sales of Ontario lambs at $6 to $6.25, and Quebec stock at $5.50 to $5.75 per 100 pounds. The offering of calves was small, for which the demand was good at firm prices.

Butchers' cattle, choice, $7 to $7.25; do., medium, $5 to $6.25; do., common, $4 to $4.50; canners, $2.50 to $3; butchers' cattle, choice cows, $5 to $5.25; do., medium, $4 to $4.75; do., bulls, $4 to $5; milkers, choice, each, $60 to $70; do., common and medium, each, $40 to $50; springers, $30 to $65.

Sheep, ewes, $3.75 to $4; bucks and culls, $3.25 to $3.50. Lambs, $5.00 to $6.25.

Hogs, f.o.b., $8.50 to $9.

Calves, $3 to $10.

A Historical Story of Italian Unity

By F. A. MITCHEL

Half a century ago the principal actors on the European diplomatic stage were the Emperor Napoleon III. of France, the emperor of Austria, the czar of Russia and Victor Emmanuel. These were the crowned heads in the play then going on; but, as in the play of "Hamlet," in which the king takes an inferior part, these royal personages were second to the star, Count Cavour, prime minister of Italy. It was he who held the diplomatic strings that worked the puppet kings and who worked them to effect the unity of Italy.

One morning when the prime minister was hard at work in his cabinet a card bearing the name of the Countess Lita Riccioli was handed him. Suspending the matter on which he was at work, he directed that the lady be admitted. She entered. Cavour rose deferentially and handed her a chair. She was an Italian about twenty-eight years of age and of rare beauty, having the jet black hair and eyes of the Italian people, a complexion of mingled dark and red and, unlike many women of that country, a melodious voice. The count, following a habit that had become a part of his nature, cast glances all over the room to assure himself that they were alone, then said:

"I have received your offer, countess, to work for united Italy in the field of secret service. Do I understand that you propose to do this for pay or for patriotism?"

"For patriotism alone."

"You speak French?"

"As well as my native tongue."

"I have examined your credentials and have found them satisfactory. I shall therefore trust you, and if you succeed in a work I have for you to do all Italy will bless you. Your field will be the imperial court at Paris. Of all the sovereigns in Europe the emperor of France is the most important to me in my efforts to establish Italian unity. With him I may win; without him I shall surely fail. I stand alone before the powers without even an admission to their conferences. There is to be one of these conferences at Paris within a short time to take action on certain matters involving the interests of Europe and involving Italian unity. It is a matter of success or failure with us that I become a representative of Italy in that conference. My only chance is with Napoleon. Our arch enemy of Austria will endeavor to keep me out. If he succeeds I see no hope for us."

"Go to Paris and watch for an opportunity to possess some diplomatic secret that I can hold over the Emperor Napoleon to force him to use his influence or if possible to compel him to secure my admission as representative of the king of Sardinia at the coming conference of the powers."

"I will do my best."

"I am told that no man to whose heart you lay siege can stand against you."

"That is flattery."

"I will detain you no longer. Though I have placed my most important move in your hands, I can say no more. Go, and heaven help you."

A few weeks after this brief interview the Emperor Napoleon in the palace of the Tuileries was dictating to his confidential secretary, Jules Noailles. The emperor was making notes, through his secretary, in a little blank book in which he was accustomed to jot down memoranda of those things which pertained to the events occurring in the diplomatic game played by the European powers. After a pause, during which he was lost in deep thought his majesty proceeded:

Russia, as in the time of my uncle, must today remain the enemy of France. I shall thwart him if possible, though I shall in comparatively unimportant matters accede to his wishes. In my plans of coalition I shall ally myself with other powers, hoping for an opportunity to strike him. I am obliged to favor Sardinia since the Italian cause is popular and I came into power by the votes of the French people. But as the eldest son of the church I must stand by the temporal power of the pope. Austria, too, remains my enemy, as he was the enemy of France in my uncle's time, and I hope to strike him for joining the allies against France in 1814.

There were many other notes jotted down during the sitting, but they are unimportant to the story. Indeed, what has been given was not continuous, but mingled with matter the gist of the whole having been extracted. When the emperor had finished he said:

"By the bye, Noailles, who is this Countess Riccioli, who has recently come to Paris and whom I saw hanging on your arm last evening at the state ball?"

"She brought credentials from the king of Naples, whose views she is supposed to represent."

Napoleon thought for a moment, then said:

"In that case her presence may be serviceable as a blind to our real leanings. It may be well to have it appear that a representative of a Bourbon sovereign is not unwelcome at our court. Favor her socially, but in nowise commit me."

"I shall endeavor to carry out your majesty's wishes. I have invited the countess to my chateau as my mother's guest. She is there now."

The next scene in this drama so important to the cause of united Italy took place at Noailles' chateau. He had not returned his master's confidence by telling him that in a few short weeks the Italian countess had completely subjugated him. He had fallen under the thrall of a woman of a very dangerous age, too young to be old, yet old enough to be mistress of herself. Noailles was sufficiently prudent not to give away state secrets, but the countess seemed to love to talk about the emperor, and at one of their conversations Noailles told about the notebook and the secrets it contained. One slip he made in the matter, and only one. She wormed out of him the fact that he trusted to his own person rather than to lock as a safe place for the depository of the emperor's recorded precious thoughts. "A lock may be picked," he said. "With me, my property cannot be taken without my consent."

The morning after receiving this information the countess asked her host if he would ride with her on horseback. He consented, and they were soon cantering over the well paved roads leading from Paris.

"I prefer cross country roads," said the countess, and to Noailles' astonishment she jumped her horse over a fence and alighted on the other side. Turning, she saw her escort gaping at her.

"If you love me, follow me!"

Noailles took the fence and gathered himself for a contest that was by no means to his taste, which was intellectual, not athletic. The countess, who seemed to him a female centaur, gave her horse a cut with her whip that sent him plunging over a plowed field. Noailles followed, now looking up at the Diana figure before him, now down at the clods, expecting every moment that one or the other of the horses would fall and maim or kill his rider.

From the field the countess entered a wood, now and again looking back to see if Noailles was following. Madly in love, he realized that a woman is not likely to return the love of a man she can outdo in a man's field. Fences, logs, ditches, none of them seemed too high for her. Spurred on by his passion, Noailles kept the pace. Finally he encountered a ditch at which his horse balked. The countess had gone over it safely and, reining, turned to watch him. Riding back a short distance, he turned his horse's head toward it.

"Take it and I am yours!" cried the countess.

Plunging his spurs into his horse's flanks and giving him the whip at the same time, he dashed at the ditch. His horse balked again, and the rider, turning a somersault in the air, came down in a heap on the other side, where he lay motionless.

In a second his companion was off her horse and kneeling at his side, but not to succor him. Pity may have been there, but it was suppressed by a greater sympathy for her oppressed countrymen. She felt in Noailles' coat pockets. The notebook was not there. Throwing open his waistcoat, she found it in an inside pocket.

In one way, and one way only, she showed the woman and that she was not insensible to her devotion. She kissed the white lips. Then, rising, she mounted her horse and dashed away.

The fourth and last scene in the play is in Turin-Cavour's cabinet. The Countess Riccioli enters. Cavour looks up anxiously and in his emissary's face reads triumph. She hands him Napoleon's notebook. Motioning her to a seat, he lays the book on his desk and begins to read, his eyes opening wider as he proceeds, soon glistening with the possession of such a power. For an hour he reads without noticing his visitor, then suddenly closes the book and turns to her.

"To you," he said, "Italy is indebted for what she covets. If I can only muzzle the republican fanatic Mazzini and hold that thunderbolt Garibaldi till the time comes for them to strike we will be a united people."

The morning after Noailles' fall he staggered, pale as a ghost, into his master's presence and confessed the loss of the notebook. The emperor, thunderstruck, took time to recover from the shock, then said:

"We shall know soon who possesses the power over me the book gives him. Whoever he is, I must do his bidding."

The emperor was right that he should soon know what would be required of him. Noailles received a communication from the countess stating that the book was in her possession and the secrets it contained would be kept on condition that he would secure from his master full recognition of the representative of the king of Sardinia, with the right to enter upon discussion of subjects concerning the interests of the powers at the coming conference.

Noailles went at once to the emperor with the communication and secured his agreement to the conditions which he returned by the messenger.

How Cavour was permitted to work for Italian interests in the conference and the events that followed by which Italian unity was secured are matters of history. As to the Countess Riccioli, she returned to Paris with the notebook, which she gave to Noailles, bestowing upon him her hand at the same time. Her influence was sufficient to have her husband ennobled instead of punished. He became prominent in the republic after the collapse of the second empire and, owing to his wife's nationality and interest in Italian unity, became a convert to the cause himself and helped to bring about some of the later advances by which that unity was secured.

YOU CAN BE ABSOLUTELY SURE OF VALUES

If you carefully read the store advertisements and follow them in your buying.

Merchants advertise certain lines because they know these lines will advertise their stores. Because there is something about certain goods, they are put in conspicuous places and the people are told about them. It may be the exclusiveness or newness of design, it may be an unusual quality, it may be an attractive price.

But there is at least one definite, sure reason why a merchant advertises an article and is willing to stake the reputation of his store upon it.

Therefore, when you see an article advertised in THE REVIEW, depend upon it, that article is good value, as good value as can be obtained in that particular store.

WATER STREET RESIDENTS COMPLAIN AGAINST THE CITY GARBAGE COLLECTION

They Charged Him With Dumping Deleterious Matter at Goose Pond Bank, But Mr. Downer Says he is Abiding by His Agreement—Magistrate Suspends Judgment

"Are you guilty or not guilty?" queried Magistrate Dumble this morning in Police Court.

James Stubbs, the first witness called, said he lived opposite Goose Pond, and the defendant dumped garbage, consisting of a rug mat, an old quilt, potatoes, apples, corn cobs, bananas, sunflower heads and old paper, in front of his premises.

NOT A NEW ONE

"This thing has been going on for three weeks," said witness.

"Defendant has treated me alright but the others were impudent."

Witness submitted a petition of 65 names, which had been sent to the City Council, asking that the nuisance be stopped.

"When did you see them dumping the stuff there," asked Mr. Downer, of his accuser?

"Last Friday," was the answer.

"Where were you?"

"Right beside the waggon. I ordered him to move on before he dumped anything."

"I ordered your other men to move on, and they told me to go to the devil."

"Everybody's doing it," remarked the Magistrate, when Mr. Downer and the witness were sparring as to certain apples dumped at the disputed point.

"I saw a carter dumping there yesterday," said Downer.

Mr. Spence was called, and told of a visit to his office by Mr. Stubbs, who complained of garbage being dumped opposite his house.

"Was it a proper place to dump that kind of material," asked His Worship.

"Not that kind," replied witness.

"Was the matter offensive?"

"Yes."

"Would a large deposit affect the health of the people?"

"Yes."

"Has the council provided a proper place for this filth?"

"It has not."

"Under his contract is he to provide a place?"

"I don't know."

Chas. Gonsolus testified that there had been a disagreeable odor about the place. He had stopped one man from dumping refuse there. He had protested in other cases, at one time being told, "to go ahead and haul them up."

TRY THE ALDERMEN.

"Couldn't you get some of the councillors to go and look there," asked His Worship, to which witness replied he had spoken to several of them, but it didn't seem to do any good.

CARTERS DUMPING THERE

"Did you see any other team besides mine dumping there?" asked Mr. Downer.

Witness admitted carters had used the dump.

Witness told of a case, where garbage placed in a bag to keep the flies away, had not been taken away by Mr. Downer, who said that unless the garbage was placed on the front of the lawn, it would not be removed. Since then the garbage has been burned.

Jas. Middleton gave evidence along the general lines of complaint. The refuse that had lately been dumped had not been shoved over the bank.

One lady who was called, told of the offensive nature of the refuse, and of protests being made in vain. Witness said that new cards prohibiting the dumping of refuse other than clean material, had been placed at the dump this year.

Mr. Spence recalled said, he had caused the notices to be placed, as stated.

"Was the matter placed along the bank such as was forbidden by the card?"

"Yes."

Mr. Downer asked witness if he had seen his men dump material contrary to the by-law, to which he replied, no.

"Did you see other teams dump material contrary to the law?"

"Yes."

William Johnson, an employe, was called by Mr. Downer, and said he took all garbage that was not mixed. Mixed garbage, he explained, as being a combination of ashes and potatoes. He took broken crockery, etc., while another man collected the offensive material.

Mr. Stubbs had made one complaint to him. This was on Saturday.

Witness said on that occasion his load consisted only of cans, paper and ashes. There were no corn cobs or other material. He dumped twice a week on Water street, and the remainder at the foot of Charlotte st.

"Well, I don't know who is responsible, but there is an offensive smell," remarked His Worship, as Mr. Dower sought to prove that he was not the guilty party in the case.

Mr. Spence said he had seen men dump deleterious material on Water street and had turned some away.

"I'll suspend judgment in this case," was the final word of the Magistrate.

"I saw a lady on that street go right across and dump potato peelings" said Mr. Downer, as the next case was called.

MR. PAUL GILMORE IN "THE HAVOC"

Mr. Paul Gilmore, America's foremost actor-manager, producer and stage director will appear at the Grand Opera House in H.S. Sheldon's powerful drama, "The Havoc," Saturday, Aug. 31st.

"The Havoc," according to the Independent Magazine touches the high water mark on American drama. It is, said Munsey's Magazine, last year, an exceptionally fine play, superbly acted by Mr. Gilmore. It is a real work of art, said the New York Times. Mr. Gilmore has done nothing more powerful or artistic in his whole career than this portrait of an intense, almost saturnine man, who is plunged into the depths, but has the intelligence to await the time for a vengeance more powerful than one of his own immediate execution.

The production is made with Mr. Gilmore's well known genius for details and is such an exact reproduction from life that an audience feels as though it were peering into the living rooms of a genuine house.

DIED AT TORONTO

Herbert C. Smythe of Lindsay who went to Toronto on Saturday to attend a re-union of the Smythe family at the home of his brother, 205 Albany avenue, was found dead in his bedroom early Sunday morning. Heart trouble was the cause of death.

The family re-union of Saturday was attended by brothers from all parts of Canada, one coming from Halifax. It was about 8.30 yesterday morning, when one of the others in the house went to wake Mr. Smythe and found him dead in his room. Dr. W. T. Williams, of Bathurst street, was called, and notified the chief coroner, who decided that no inquest was necessary.

The remains were taken back to Lindsay, where the funeral was held to-day.

The eternal misfitness of things is fairly well represented by a $3 frame on a 30 cent picture.

FEDERAL PARTY HAS DISBANDED

Tour of Inspection of the Trent Canal Concluded

The party of federal representatives who made a tour of the Trent canal, reached Barrie, the scheduled end of the trip in due course, and there disbanded, several members of the party returning to their homes by train. The Bessie Butler will reach the city this evening with Supt. McClellan and several others on board.

The accident at the Life Lock when the part started from the city interfered with the schedule, as it had been arranged to call at Lindsay, where the excursionists were to be entertained by the residents of that town. It had also been decided to spend Sunday at Jackson Point, but this arrangement, too, had been given up. However, the original object of the trip was attained—the representatives saw for themselves the work that is being done on the canal and the improvements that have been made during the past year.

BUSINESS BEFORE CHARITY BOARD

At the regular meeting of the Charity Board last night, the motion passed at a previous meeting giving no further relief to Mrs. Webb, was rescinded, the Board deciding to give the same aid as formerly.

It was also decided that Thomas Hoyland should for the present, remain at the Protestant Home, and further that no more relief be given Mr. and Mrs. Valoise, until another report be received from the relief officer.

The amount of orders given since last meeting was reported at $281.25. A number of accounts were passed.

PASSED CRITICAL STAGE BUT IS STILL UNCONSCIOUS

D. Ferguson, the victim of an accident at the Central Ontario Junction, is still unconscious at Nicholls hospital. It was feared that he would not survive the night, but he took a turn for the better this morning. The C.P.R. authorities have failed to locate his relatives.

LIVERYMEN'S CASE IS CONCLUDED

The periodical visits to the police court by several local liverymen have ceased, as they have complied with the sanitary regulations, as requested by the Inspector.

HE HAD A MEDAL

Local Chinaman Mistook the Mission of the Sanitary Inspector.

The Chinaman could not understand English, except so far as it relates to the price of washing, and the Sanitary Inspector was equally at sea with regard to the linguistic marvels of the new Celestial Republic. The laundryman had a pile of ashes in the rear of his premises and Mr. Spence was heroically showing to make him understand, that he was contravening the by-law in such cases made and provided. Finally, in desperation, he flashed his official badge upon the Chinaman, and a light seemed to break upon that worthy at once. Diving into the recesses of his premises, he emerged after a brief absence, bearing in his hand a small medal embellished with the mystic characters of the tea chest. He exhibited his piece and not only shook hands with the baffled official, but made other fraternal overtures.

The badge was practically some token of reward issued for service rendered the revolutionary party, before the laundryman left his native shores, and he evidently mistook the inspector for an apostle of civil and religious liberty. The tangle was not straightened out, until an interpreter was called in, and the hero of the medal promised to obey the law.

MAYOR BRADBURN TO ATTEND THE MEMORIAL SERVICES

Other City Officials and Business Men Will be at Salvation Hall To-morrow Night—Army Will March From Victoria Park to the Strains of Funeral Music

The Salvation Army Hall, on Simcoe street has been artistically draped, inside and out, as a token of respect for the memory of the late General Booth. The only colors shown are white and purple, the one the mourning emblem of the Army which looks on the bright side of death, a transfer to a better land; the other used to signify that the dead chieftain has passed into the realms of eternal royalty.

Every officer and member of the Army in Peterborough, is requested to report at Victoria park to-morrow evening about 7 o'clock. A procession will be formed and headed by the band, playing appropriate airs, the Salvationists will march slowly through the streets to the hall where memorial service will be held.

Capt. Watkinson, who is arranging the services, is well pleased with the sympathy he has met with among the residents of Peterborough.

Mayor Bradburn has consented to attend the meeting and other prominent business men and civic officials will be present, as well as some of the leading clergymen.

As announced yesterday, the concert given by the Salvation Army band in Victoria Park, to-night, the last of the season, will be of a memorial nature, and some of the favorite hymn tunes of the dead leader will be rendered, as well as funeral strains.

At noon on Thursday, special prayer service will be held in the hall, the hour corresponding with the hour when the remains of General Booth will be lowered into the grave in England.

NO ONE INJURED

Air Compression Burst and Alarmed C.G.E. Employes.

At 10.45 this morning, an accident happened at the Canadian General Electric works, that might have resulted more seriously, as it was, no one was hurt.

A pipe leading from the air compressor in the sub station, blew out with a loud report that caused consternation for a few minutes. Every window in the sub-stations was shattered, the roof was lifted a foot, and a hole the size of a door was blown in the wall.

The noise of the explosion could be heard quite a distance from the shop, and wives and mothers were in an exceedingly distressed state of mind, until they learned the true facts of the affair.

Fortunately, the workman who looks after the compressor was not in the sub-station. The machine requires but little attention. It is used for supplying air by which small machinery and castings are moved about, and also for the operation of drills and chisels.

FIERCE STORM BUT VERY LITTLE DAMAGE DONE

Coal Oil Lamp Called to do Duty Caused Trouble.

There was a large number of very much frightened people, yesterday afternoon, during the course of the wild storm which, although of comparatively short duration, was too much for many citizens.

Very little local damage is reported. Power lines suffered somewhat and limbs of trees came down. Two trees at the corner of Aylmer and Dublin streets, were among the victims.

The power was turned off and the oil lamp was brought back to service. In one of the apartments opposite the Grand Opera House, trouble was experienced from the oil lamp, it being hurriedly thrown to the back yard, and a lady passing at the time narrowly escaped being struck by the blazing mass.

PRIZE MONEY FOR DOG RACE AT THE BIG FAIR

The dog must be driven by a boy and the winner takes $3, while second place wins $2.

TORONTO EXHIBITION NOTICES

Independent Order of Foresters in Evidence.

Once again the Independent Order of Foresters hold a position in Society Row, where the tent is in charge of Mr. G. A. Mitchell, Superintendent of Field Work, ably assisted by Messrs. James Glendenning and John T. Thompson, Deputy Supreme Chief Rangers.

A hearty welcome is extended to all Foresters and friends to accept of the hospitality of this great Order, in availing themselves of the opportunity of a rest after viewing the many sights and exhibits on the grounds. The tent is beautifully furnished, and a warm welcome awaits the many Foresters. Every Forester will receive a souvenir flag with the emblem of the Order.

Thursday of the second week, which is Americans' Day, the Supreme Secretary-Treasurer, Mr. R. Matheson, will render an informal reception. All members are especially requested to make it convenient to take part in this reception. The genial Supreme Secretary-Treasurer will be glad to meet the many members and their friends.

PETES TIED UP WITH OTTAWA IN FIRST GAME

Ottawa, Aug. 26—The Ottawa and Peterborough teams played a tie in the Canadian Baseball League at Lansdowne Park this afternoon. Renfer held the visitors to four hits, but the Ottawas could only get six off Hanson. Each team scored one run in the fourth, and after they had been blanked in the following five Umpire Blake called the game on account of darkness. Catcher Hopper was again injured, and Manager Cook finished out the game behind the bat, keeping the visitors hugging the bases after he had caught a man at second by 15 feet. Score:—

"DEACON" PEARSON THROUGH WITH UMPIRING THIS SEASON

Special to the Review.

Toronto, Aug. 27.—Following his failure to catch a train in time to officiate at St. Thomas yesterday, Umpire Pearson, of the Canadian League, tendered his resignation to President J. P. Fitzgerald. He gives ill-health as the reason and says he will not be in condition to handle the indicator any more this season.

Peterborough fans will regret to learn of Pearson's failure to return to good health. He suffered a sunstroke some time ago, and has officiated this season under a big handicap. When at Peterborough earlier in the season, during a hot spell, he complained of indisposition. His work was altogether impartial, but like all umpires, he gave decisions which were not fancied by the fans.

BREEZES FROM THE DIAMOND

Secretary Robinson of the Hamilton baseball club has lodged a protest with President Fitzgerald against the manner in which Ottawa acted in going into Friday's game short handed. There is no excuse for Cook not having more men for Pitcher Bert Molyneaux, who played with Hamilton and St. Thomas this season, was on the grounds and wanted Cook to sign him up. President Fitzgerald has ordered the Ottawa management to strengthen up and unless the Senators continue to finish the season as they ought to, there will be something doing. It is purely a case of having the pennant won and letting players go to cut down expenses.

◆

The league authorities are also going to investigate the manner in which Ottawa is getting around the national agreement in the matter of taking "farmed" players from Fort Wayne. The men who were most most prominent in the league race for the Senators have all been "sold" back again to Fort Wayne, the club which Shaugnessy, one of the owners of the Ottawa Club, manages.

◆

Bill Phyle, umpired in the International League yesterday at Rochester.

◆

To-day the Toronto Maple Leafs are leading Rochester in the pennant race, through their double win against Baltimore. It was the twelfth straight win.

◆

An error on the bulletin gave Ottawa credit for winning yesterday's game, with a score of 7—1, while the correct score was 1—1.

Department of Railways & Canals, Canada

HUDSON BAY RAILWAY

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for construction of The Hudson Bay Railway" will be received at this office until 16 o'clock, Thursday, the 12th day of September, 1912, for the section from Split Lake Junction to the Hudson Bay terminus.

Plans and profiles showing the character and extent of the work to be done, the specifications and form of contract to be entered into, and other information can be seen on and after Thursday, the 15th of August, at the office of the Chief Engineer of the Department of Railways and Canals, Ottawa, and at the office of the Chief Engineer of the Hudson Bay Railway, Winnipeg, at which places forms of tender may be obtained.

Separate tenders will be required covering the work enumerated in the schedule on the section from Split Lake Junction to Port Nelson, a distance of approximately 165 miles, and on the section from Split Lake Junction to Port Churchill, a distance of approximately 245 miles.

The successful tenderer will be required to sign a contract covering the work from Split Lake Junction to the terminus selected and which will be announced by the Hon. Minister of Railways and Canals on his return from Hudson Bay.

Parties tendering will be required to accept the fair wages schedule prepared or to be prepared by the Department of Labor, which schedule will form part of the contract.

Contractors are requested to bear in mind that tenders will not be considered unless made strictly in accordance with the printed forms, and in the case of firms, unless there are attached the actual signature, the nature of the occupation, and place of residence of each member of the firm.

An accepted bank cheque for the sum of $150,000.00 made payable to the order of the Minister of Railways and Canals, must accompany each tender, which sum will be forfeited if the party tendering declines entering into contract for the work, at the rates stated in the offer submitted.

The cheque thus sent in will be returned to the respective contractors whose tenders are not accepted.

The cheque of the successful tenderer will be held as security, or part security, for the due fulfilment of the contract to be entered into.

The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

By order,

L. K. JONES,
Asst. Deputy Minister and Secretary,
Department of Railways and Canals,

Floods in England.

London, Aug. 27—The flood situation in England is becoming increasingly serious. Six inches of rain fell yesterday.

The city of Norwich on the Wensum, 98 miles southeast of London, is almost isolated. The whole train service between London and Norwich and Cromer has been suspended, and many local services are affected. The entire county of Norfolk is a swamp and Lincolnshire, Suffolk and the other eastern counties are in an alarming condition. Everywhere crops are being destroyed by the swollen rivers, and there is no sign of a cessation of the rains.

The condition of the military camps at Aldershot, Salisbury Plain and Swaffham is so serious that many regiments had to be moved. There is a probability of all the summer manoeuvres being abandoned.

OPENING OF A NEW AGENCY FOR SOCIETY BRAND CLOTHES
September 7th will mark the beginning of sale of these celebrated Clothes in this store. Society Brand Clothes are the famous American make, the rights to make which were recently granted a leading clothes-making firm of Montreal.
Young men who want to dress in the height of fashion are now able to buy genuine American clothes, without paying the prohibitive duty.
The makers of Society Brand Clothes sought to have us present their product to our clientele, and we have the distinction of being one of the first firms in Canada to sell them.

Must Help Ships In Distress.

London, Aug. 27.—Failure to go to the relief of vessels in distress is a misdemeanor punishable by two years' imprisonment, according to a notice sent to ship's captains yesterday by the British Board of Trade.

In the circular, which was issued as a sequel to the recommendation of Lord Mersey after the Titanic inquiry, the Board of Trade expresses its confidence that such services will be rendered in the future as in the past in accordance with the best traditions of the Merchant marine.

Dynamite Clearing Track.

Revelstoke, B.C., Aug. 27—Good progress is being made in clearing the slide and washout two miles east of Rogers Pass and traffic may be resumed to-day. Six passenger trains are stalled between Bear Creek and Golden, westbound, and seven eastbound at Roger's Pass.

This was the first serious slide in August, being caused by a cloudburst Friday night, and three hundred men with steam shovels and dynamite have been working day and night to clear the road.

Dr. Morrison Married.

London, Aug. 27.—Dr. George Ernest Morrison, hitherto correspondent of The Times in Pekin, was married yesterday to Miss Jeanne Robin, a native of New Zealand who formerly lived in China. Dr. Morrison returns immediately to Pekin to take up his duties as political advised to the Chinese President of the Republic to which office he was appointed on August 1.

PROGRAM FOR SECOND REGATTA AT CHEMONG

Attractive List of Events Give Promise of Fine Sport.

The Chemong Park Cottagers will hold their farewell outing on Thursday, Aug. 29. The long period of cold, rainy weather has kept amusement on the lakes down pretty much to a minimum, but now that we are having a "come-back" touch of summer temperature, the Chemongites intend making good use of it before locking up their boathouses for the season. While the regatta on Thursday last was as thoroughly successful as could be expected, still there was a slight feeling of discontent among a certain element of the spectators. These were the little tots from 7 to 15 and 16, who, on account of the high wind and rough state of the water were somewhat timid about entering the events. Indeed the lake was so choppy on Thursday last that there was more or less difficulty experienced in starting some of the events for adults. Such being the case the Regatta Committee have resolved to have their juvenile day on the coming Thursday holiday afternoon. A list of the usual aquatic events has been prepared in addition to which, in order to secure a full afternoon's bill of amusement, there will be a number of land events which will be just as keenly contested. In the evening there will be dancing in the pavilion and as this will be the last of the year a large attendance is expected. A special event, around which much interest has been centred of late, will be pulled off when the "Y" war canoe huskies will pull against the Bridgenorth-Chemong crew for a magnificent cup donated by Mr. W. E. Davis, who offers it for ownership to any crew holding it for three successive seasons. A special prize is also given for the 12th event which is a canoe race open to Peterborough county. In the evening the war canoe cup will be presented by the Reeve of Smith Township. Mr. Peck, M.P.P., Mr. Alex. Elliott and a number of other prominent gentlemen will be in attendance. Enjoyable music will be furnished throughout the evening.

The following is the list of the afternoon events:

1. Boys' single Canoe, 16 years and under.
2. Girls' single canoe, 17 years and under.
3. Boys' tandem canoe, 18 years and under.
4. Girls' tandem canoe, 17 years and under.

"INTERNATIONAL WHITAKER"

The name Whitaker has become world-famous, ever since Joseph Whitaker, F.S.A., published his first Almanack in 1868, and the name is now known wherever English is spoken. The work sells in this country and in every part of the civilized globe. Let a discussion arise between disputants, and as a matter of course the final arbitrament will be left to "Whitaker."

Like numerous other English concerns, the Whitakers have only recently realised the importance of accommodating their wares to the needs of the market outside the British Isles. Their Almanack has sold here for years, but it was a purely British edition with a quantity of detail possessing little interest to anyone outside the United Kingdom.

This year witnesses a revolution.

The Whitakers have now prepared an absolutely world-wide edition of their famous work, which they have called "The International Whitaker." The plan upon which it is constructed has been submitted to us, and its claim to be universal is based upon very sure foundations. It opens with the Universe and proceeds with the Earth, which is treated in all its quarters. Each Nation is dealt with on uniform lines, and a mass of information, with exhaustive details, is now provided in an extraordinarily handy and convenient form. It is the book for Canada. It is the book for every country.

The "International Whitaker" will be ready for distribution in London, by the end of November, and the retail cash price of a copy, bound in cloth, is two shillings, or 60 cents in Canadian money. A paper covered copy can be had at a cheaper rate.

Bishops May Be Cardinals.

Montreal, Aug. 27.—There is a report, apparently well founded, in ecclesiastical circles here, that Major Joseph Medard Emard, Bishop of Valleyfield, will be called to Rome, and at the consistory of February, created a Cardinal de Curia, residing in the Eternal City. At the following consistory, the report continues, Archbishop Neil McNeil of Toronto, will be created a cardinal, thus giving Canada, a resident cardinal in the country.

Korean Plotters.

Seoul, Korea, Aug. 27—Japanese and Korean lawyers yesterday pleaded for leniency towards the prisoners charged with conspiring against the life of Count Terauchi, Governor-General of Korea. The trial, in which 123 Koreans are accused, was resumed yesterday morning, when speeches for the defence were made.

The addresses for the prosecution were concluded on Saturday, when the crown prosecutor called on the court to sentence Baron Yunchiho and five other alleged leaders of the Sinminhoi secret society to ten years' imprisonment. He also demanded sentences of from five to eight years for the other 117 accused.

Glad to Meet Him.

King Humbert once visited Florence and at a reception of the aristocracy inquired of each noble presented what his occupation was. "Nothing, majesty," was the uniform reply until it came the turn of the Marquis Ginori, who had lost caste somewhat because of his manufacture of pottery. "I am a potter, maesta—a maker of majolica," said the marquis in response to the king's question. "Thank heaven!" cried the king, "there is one noble in Florence who does something."

Napoleon Before the Convention.

When Barras introduced Napoleon to the convention as a fit man to be intrusted with the command the president asked:

"Are you willing to undertake the defence of the convention?"

"Yes," was the reply.

After a time the president continued, "Are you aware of the magnitude of the undertaking?"

"Perfectly," replied Napoleon, fixing his eyes upon his questioner, "and I am in the habit of accomplishing that which I undertake."

THAT FAMOUS SEVENTEENTH WHEN CANNON PLAYED A PART

Mr. Patrick Conroy, of Indian River Gives an Reminiscent Account of the Stirring Days in Peterborough When Orangemen and Catholics Fought Each Other—The Celebrated "Cavan Blazers"

The Review recently published reminiscences of the celebrated Cavan Blazers, the pioneers of that township, who gloried in nothing so much as physical strife, and would desert their meals or their regular business pursuits any day to take part in a scrap. It was Mr. Edward Sutton of the Fallas Line, Cavan, who furnished the memoirs. He told an interesting story of how away back in the 60's, the Orangemen brought a cannon from Mount Pleasant to Peterborough to add an air of militarism to the procession held by the Catholics on St. Patrick's day. Mr. Sutton added that when the Orangemen were given to understand that there was a priest sheltered in what is now the Montgomery Hotel, they trained their weapon upon the building and threatened to open fire and demolish the structure unless the priest was delivered into their hands. They were permitted to search the hotel, but found no priest.

Mr. Patrick Conroy, of Indian River, recalls the occasion, but has another version of the story. He says that it was in 1861, and that in March 16th of that year he came from the lumber woods at Balsam Lake to help celebrate the natal day of his patron saint. There was an immense crowd in Peterborough on the Seventeenth, Orangemen and Catholics all filled with their different brands of religious fervor, which some had diluted with other inspiring fluids.

P. McAullife, a teacher from Ennismore, was there with his fiancee, who was also a teacher. McAullife was famed as a scrapper, the arduous duties of the instructor of the unruly offspring of the pioneer having developed many members of the profession into rough-and-tumble fighters. The teacher and his friend were walking along Simcoe street when some one, Mr. Conroy says an Orangeman, jolted the lady from the sidewalk, and her escort at once started in to avenge the rudeness. Mr. Conroy and a party of friends witnessed the subsequent mix-up. The Ennismore teacher fought valiantly, but the odds against him were heavy, and finally he was obliged to flee with due precipitation, seeking shelter in what was then the Phelan Hotel.

It was at this juncture that the cannon was wheeled in front of the building and the redoubtable Cavan Blazers demanded that the teacher be delivered to them, threatening to blow the place to pieces unless this was done. Finally they were allowed to search the hotel, but their intended victim had effected his escape by the rear, and was seen no more that day.

Mr. Conroy says Mr. Sutton's account of the alleged animosity between Catholics and Orangemen is exaggerated. Such little unpleasantnesses as the one in question Mr. Conroy is disposed to consider as part of the game. Both sides had their opinions and in those days it was considered the part of a man to fight for principle.

In the 60's Mr. Conroy's father, who lived on a farm in Douro, was in Peterborough one day. A young lady was anxious to get to the house of some friends in Cavan, but could find no one willing to drive her out, as it was mid-winter and the roads were blocked with snowdrifts. The elder Conroy, although warned by his friends that if he ventured into Cavan the Orangemen would have his life, undertook to drive the young lady to her destination. On the journey his horse gave out on account of the heavy roads, and the driver lost his way after he had reached the township where lived the terrible "blazers.". Seeing a light near the road he made for it, and found an Orange Lodge in session. The brethren knew the benighted traveller but in this case religious belief cut no figure. He was in distress and they took him in, fed his jaded horse, sheltered and refreshed the wayfarers and set them on the right road, when they were able to continue their journey.

This incident, Mr. Conroy holds, is one example of the fraternity which should prevail among all men, regardless of creed. He says he has found Orangemen the best friends he has ever known, and he has lived among them all his life. He is a believer in fair play, and furthermore, is not ashamed to own that he has been a Conservative ever since he reached the voting age.

CEMENT COMPANY IS RE-ORGANIZED

Lindsay Corporation Increases its Capital Stock and adds "Limited" to its Name.

The National Concrete Manufacturing Company has been reorganized with increased capital stock and will henceforth be known by the above name, with the word "Limited" added. The incorporaters are Howard Victor, dentist; Wm. McElroy Flavelle, gentleman; Albert Edward Maybee, electrician; John Carew, lumberman, and Thomas Hubert Stinson, barrister-at-law, all of Lindsay.

The reorganized firm will carry on the same line of business as at present, the manufacture of cement, drain tile, roofing tile, concrete sewer pipes, building blocks, chimney blocks, window sills and all lines of cement and concrete articles. The capital stock is $75,000 divided into shares of $100 each, the headquarters are at Lindsay and the provisional directors are Messrs. Pogue, Maybee and Carew, above mentioned.

Has New Cottage

Capt. Vivian Lancaster has finished a 20x30 cottage on the entrance to Ball Lake, known as Allen's Landing. It is a very pretty building with lots of verandah, and the site is most picturesque. Mr. Lancaster and his family have been living in the place for the last two weeks, and they return to Peterborough this week.—Bobcaygeon Independent.

TEN CENTS PER WEEK.

TWO THOUSAND PICKED LADS WERE REVIEWED BY ROYALTY

Boy Scouts and Cadets From all Over the Empire Parade Before the Governor-General at Toronto Exhibition—61,000 Persons Attended Yesterday.

Toronto, Aug. 28.—With every appearance of old soldiers, their lines as straight as arrows and every man in step, over 2,000 cadets from Canada and the overseas dominions marched past the Duke of Connaught yesterday. It was the royal review and probably one of the most unique attractions of its kind that ever before happened in Canada, or even the British Empire. Before several thousand people in the grand stand, these boy representatives from England, Ireland, Scotland, New Zealand, Australia, Newfoundland and Canada, were linked together in a small-sized army and in company form walked by Canada's royal Governor-General. And His Royal Highness was exceedingly pleased with the spectacle. After the review the juvenile soldiers, divided into two battalions, were lined in the front of the flying royal standard, near which the duke stood, and there they were addressed.

"It is a unique occasion, probably the first that has ever occurred, on which cadets from every portion of the Empire have been on parade together," said His Royal Highness. Judging by every word spoken by him the boys could not have hardly presented a better appearance.

After being inspected by the duke the cadets marched by in company form. Possibly the feature of the review was the appearance of the Mounted Saskatchewan Cadets, a fine body of boys, who know how to ride. They led the procession on their 18 horses, all fine specimens of horseflesh. The mounted cadets were just what one would picture of the true type of westerners. They were all husky, appearing more like men than boys, were dressed in neat khaki uniforms and wore the wide rough riders' hats. Generous applause greeted them.

Sixty-one thousand people passed through the turnstiles at the Exhibition, and it looks like smooth sailing to the much desired "million mark." This is, of course, if the rain holds off. The increase over the second day of last year was 11,000.

To-day is school children's annual frolic at the fair. Yesterday was "Society and Pioneers' Day."

Royalty spent the greater portion of the day in the grounds.

Cathedral Cornerstone Laid.

Toronto, Aug. 28.—With a large assemblage of the loyal workers of the church and many other spectators looking on, His Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught yesterday morning laid the foundation-stone of the south wing of the St. Alban's Cathedral. His Highness motored from Benvenuto, the residence of Sir William Mackenzie, accompanied by Princess Patricia and staff.

The foundation-stone, which was laid by the duke, weighed seven tons, being five and a half feet square and two feet eight inches deep.

His Royal Highness used the same trowel with which the late Bishop Sweatman laid the corner-stone of the chancel many years ago.

Burned to Death.

New York, Aug. 28.—A hour after a fire had burned out the upper floor of a narrow flat house at 65 Mott street early yesterday, a policeman, going through the ruined rooms, came upon the charred body of John Rich, tenant of the burned out apartment. Rich was an actor, and Monday spent a strenuous day posing as the hero of an apartment house fire. Reaching home late at night, he slept so soundly that he was not awakened by the flames in his room until it was too late.

COOL WEATHER IS GOOD FOR WHEAT

Winnipeg, Aug. 28.—There was no frost on the Canadian prairies west Monday night. For the most part temperatures were well above forty. The freezing point was just touched at Swan River and a few other northern Manitoba points. Weather continues cool and where heavy rain fell during the week-end sun is needed before harvesting can be resumed.

The slow, cool ripening weather is undoubtedly making towards very high grades, and the crop should be exceedingly profitable to western farmers, providing the three dangers threatening its successful making can be overcome. These are early frosts, shortage of binder twine and shortage of labor. Of the three the latter just now presents the most serious aspect.

There appears to be a total absence of loss from frost up to date and very little from hail, rust or other causes.

In all districts heard from cutting has commenced under the most auspicious conditions, the percentage cut ranging from five per cent. in the east to twenty per cent. in the north and as high as fifty in the south.

The east and north are from six to twelve days behind the south in the commencement of cutting, but even at that the crops this year appear to be from fifteen to twenty days ahead of last year.

The Lake of the Woods Milling Co. received the first car of new spring wheat yesterday, shipped from Altona, Man. This is just four days later than the date of shipment of the first car last season. The wheat was grown by M. Friezen, and is a very fine sample of No. 1 Northern.

HELD FOR TRIAL.

H. G. Arthur, Accused Kingston Bank Clerk, Has a Hearing.

Kingston, Aug. 28.—H. G. Arthur, accused of embezzling funds of the Merchants' Bank to the amount of $3,507, was given a preliminary hearing before Magistrate Farrell yesterday and committed for trial. He was defended by W. F. Nickle, M.P.P. Francis King appeared for the bank.

THE TIONESTA IS AGROUND

Mackinac Island, Mich. Aug. 28.—The tug Ward and ferry Algoma, of this city, arrived alongside the steamer Tionesta, of the Anchor Line, aground on the shoal off Blois Blanc Island, early yesterday, and it is believed they will soon succeed in releasing the stranded vessel. The boat went on the shoal Monday in the dense fog, and according to reports, is in no danger.

There was no panic among the passengers. The boat was upbound from Buffalo to Duluth, and over two hundred passengers are aboard.

SIR WILFRID WILL NOT TOUR THE WEST DURING HARVEST

Proposed Trip Cancelled Until the Close of the Busy Season in the Wheat Fields.

Ottawa, Aug. 28.—"You may say that we have changed our plans. I have postponed my western tour, and have decided to start at the eastern end first. I will make a tour of Quebec and afterward proceed through Ontario. When that is concluded, if the session is not fixed at too early a date I will go west. The extent of the western tour will of course depend upon when the session will commence."

This was the statement given out by Sir Wilfrid Laurier upon leaving his office at the House of Commons after an informal conference with several of his colleagues at noon yesterday. Among those present were Hon. J. H. Calder of Saskatchewan and Senator James H. Ross of London, Ont.

The chief reason for the reversal of Sir Wilfrid's tour was the fact that September is the busiest month of the year in the west, and that the season was considered a most inopportune one for such a tour.

In addition to this many communications were received from points in northern Ontario, when news of Sir Wilfrid's intention to go west was received, expressing the fear that if his northern Ontario trip was postponed until after his return from the west the weather might be so severe in the north as to preclude the possibility of a trip thither.

Sir Wilfrid will start on his Quebec tour about the middle of next month, and will then proceed through Ontario. The dates of his itinerary have not yet, however, been arranged.

EMPEROR WILLIAM OF GERMANY.

Who is so seriously ill that his physicians insist upon his taking a long rest. The Kaiser's condition is causing grave anxiety in Europe as it is feared that in case of his death, and the accession of the Crown Prince, the latter would plunge Germany into war with some other power.

PREMIER BORDEN DID NOT FALTER WHEN THE TEST CAME

Told the British Suffragettes Plainly That He has no intention of espousing Their Cause in the Dominion Parliament—His Visitors Make Dire Threats of Starting Militant Agitation in Canada

SPECIAL TO THE REVIEW

London, Aug. 28.—Hon. R. L. Borden, Canadian Premier, took a firm stand when he faced the suffragettes for the first time to-day telling them emphatically that he had no power to introduce a general measure of suffrage for women in the Dominion Parliament, and that the threat of the employment of militant methods would have no influence on him.

Miss Baratt, who on behalf of the Women's Social and Political union, introduced the delegation to the Premier, stated that on his answer as to whether he proposed introducing women's suffrage legislation on his return to Canada, would depend whether they would use their influence to divert emigration away from Canada to Australia. She also implied that militant agitation might be started in Canada.

MERCHANTS MEET

Retail Merchants of Ontario Hold Convention in Toronto.

Toronto, Aug. 28.—The first annual meeting of the Ontario dry goods section of the Retail Merchants Association of Canada held here yesterday, passed resolutions on what they claimed as serious grievances as follows:

Opposing the duty of 15 per cent. that is charged on British packing and wrapping cases.

A complaint against the shortage in measure in imported dry goods shipped to them.

Opposing the act which makes it compulsory to not engage female help after the hour of 6 p.m.

Asking that Wednesday afternoon in each week of the year be made a compulsory half-holiday.

The formation of a credit reporting system of "bad pays" throughout the province.

All the above resolutions were referred to special committees, which will report on them for final decision at the next meeting of the provincial dry goods men, to be held in Toronto in October.

WATERS RISING IN ENGLAND

Special to the Review.

London, Aug. 28—News from Norwich this morning confirms earlier reports that the inhabitants in many instances are forced to forsake their dwellings and seek refuge in higher parts of the city. Seven thousand are homeless and the water has risen in some places to a depth of thirteen feet. Queen Mother Alexandra and Princess Victoria, on board the Royal Yacht, are stormbound in Southwold Bay, and Winston Spencer Churchill, is similarly weatherbound on the Admiralty yacht at Grimsby, en route to Tyne River.

NEW BOOST FOR HYDRO-ELECTRIC

Berlin's Rubber Tire Factory Asks for Figures on $2,280 Horse Power.

Berlin, Aug. 28.—Hydro-Electric power got another boost yesterday when the Canadian Consolidated Rubber Co. sent in a request to the Berlin Light Commission to estimate in supplying them with 2,280 h.p. for their new rubber tire factory. The request for power is no doubt the largest ever received by any municipality since Hydro power came into use, and the light commission will consult with the power commission before giving an estimate.

The amount required by the new tire industry is more than twice as much as is now used by the entire City of Berlin. In order to provide this additional demand it will not only be necessary to provide additional space at the local power plant, but also at the Hydro sub-station, which is only equipped to provide about 1,500 h.p.

When this additional power is added to Berlin's load it will mean a great reduction in cost to consumers here.

BURNING YACHT WAS BEACHED

Brockville, Aug. 28.—The yacht Cheemaun, with its owner, J. Norris Olyphant of New York City, Mrs. Olyphant and a party of 12 on board, took fire near St. Lawrence Park. To save her the boat was beached on the rocks opposite the resort. None of the passengers were injured, although some of the women were badly frightened. The engine-room was badly scorched by the blaze and the keel damaged in making the landing.

CANADIAN CIVIC OFFICIALS IN CONVENTION AT WINDSOR

Revision of Assessment Laws is Chief Topic of Discussion—East and West Hold Opposite Views on the Subject of Taxation.

Windsor, Aug. 28.—The mayor of Halifax, N.S., shook hands with the mayor of Vancouver, B.C., in Windsor yesterday afternoon, and greetings were exchanged by scores of mayors and prominent civic officials from other cities between the two extreme points of the Dominion, who are gathered in Windsor, for the twelfth annual convention of the Union of Canadian Municipalities.

The question of revision in assessment laws was brought before the convention at the evening session by papers on municipal taxation by Ald. Joseph Clark, of Edmonton, Alta., and Ald. W. Heppburn of Vancouver. In both cities the system of exempting improvements from taxation has been adopted.

The papers and the discussion which followed indicated that the system of assessing land values is favored by representatives of western cities, while those of the older cities in eastern Canada, in many cases are opposed to it.

"The triumph of land tax in Edmonton is shown by the fact that in 1906 we had building permits to the value of $1,563,000, while in 1912, the first year all taxes other than land taxes, are taken off, they were $15,500,000," said Ald. Clarke. "If the previous ration had been continued, it would have required 80,000 population to justify this expenditure, while our population is approximately 53,000.

MONTREAL HAS A COAL FAMINE

Shortage in the Fuel Supply Supply Causes Some Alarm

Montreal, Aug. 28.—While ordinarily there are stored in Montreal at this time of the year about 250,000 tons of stove coal local dealers to-day state that there are not 500 tons of this class of coal in the city.

The supplies of egg coal are fairly heavy and there is apparently a sufficient amount of chestnut coal.

The dealers also announce that prices are likely to take another jump within the next two weeks. Stove coal, loose, is selling at $7.75 a ton and in a week or two will likely go to $8.25; egg coal, loose is quoted at $7.75 and will likely go to $8.00, and chestnut coal, now bringing $8.00 will be put to $8.25.

One of the causes responsible for the shortage was the strike of the British coal miners recently, when a considerable quantity of coal was taken from this country to supply the requirements of places usually supplied by Great Britain. Then followed the strike of the Pennsylvania miners, which has resulted in the anthracite operators being 7,000,000 tons behind to-day in their orders.

Buffalo Strike Off.

Buffalo, N.Y., Aug. 28.—The strike of 1,500 freight handlers and freight house men at the docks of the Lackawanna, Erie, Lehigh Valley railroads, the Mutual Transit Co., and the Western Transit Co., which has been in progress for ten days, was declared off last night. They claim to have won concessions in the way of improved working conditions.

BECKER'S LAWYERS PLEAD FOR TIME

Proceedings Against Indicted Officer Delayed to Arrange Defence.

New York, Aug. 28.—John F. McIntyre, counsel for Police Lieut. Chas. Becker, indicted for the murder of Herman Rosenthal yesterday, obtained a delay in the case until Sept. 3, by serving a writ staying the proceedings. The writ was served yesterday morning on Assistant District Attorney Rubin and Judge Mulqueen of the Court of General Sessions, before whom Becker was to have arraigned yesterday for pleading. Supreme Court Justice Amend issued the writ.

Becker was arraigned last Tuesday for pleading, but his counsel obtained an adjournment until yesterday. Yesterday, still professing to be not ready to go on, Mr. McIntyre obtained the writ on the ground that he needed more time to make any motions he might deem necessary.

Unable to Identify Suspect.

Fonda, N.Y., Aug. 28.—Wm. H. Dorsey of the Burns Detective Agency of New York, after examining the man suspected of being "Lefty Louie," wanted in connection with the Rosenthal murder case, says that he is unable to positively identify him. However, the measurements of the prisoner tally with those of "Lefty Louis," and the detective is awaiting additional information from Washington.

Widow Wants Damages.

New York, Aug. 28.—Mrs. Lillian Rosenthal, widow of the murdered gambler, is preparing to bring suit against Police Lieut. Charles Becker for $100,000 damages for the death of her husband. Her lawyer bases his hopes of success in this suit on a technicality which he believes will make it possible for him to win even if Becker escapes conviction in the criminal prosecution.

The point is requirement in a criminal case that the testimony of accomplices must be corroborated. It is this point which Lieut. Becker hopes may enable him to win freedom despite the confessions of Rose, Webber, and Vallon.

In a civil suit, however, only a preponderance of evidence is necessary to win a verdict, and the fact that the testimony is that of accomplices would not invalidate it.

THE KAISER IS SERIOUSLY ILL

Physicians Have Ordered Him to Take a Complete Rest.

Berlin, Aug. 28.—Anxiety lest Chief Marshal Count Eulenberg, of the Imperial household, was preparing the public mind for graver news when he announced that the Kaiser "must take a complete rest for some time," was expressed yesterday. His Majesty's symptoms, as described by his physicians and by Count Eulenberg, suggest quinsy, but nobody can understand why the announcements do not say so plainly, as the complaint does not ordinarily result fatally.

Inasmuch as the Kaiser's father died of cancer of the throat, any indication of a throat complaint in his Majesty's own case, gives rise to serious anxiety. If the ruler has been stricken by a malignant disorder it is probable that his attendants will conceal the fact as long as possible.

LORD STRATHCONA THINKS AMERICANS WILL RELENT

Canada's Commissioner Thinks That the Panama Canal Injustice Will be Set Right by the United States Depreciates the Amount of Public Discussion Over the Bill.

London, Aug. 28.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—Lord Strathcona, interviewed on the question of the signing of the Panama Canal bill by President Taft, deprecated too much public discussion, pending further development. "If the treaty," he said, "had been passed as originally intended, so every nation should have free unrestricted use of the canal, it would be of great benefit to every country. It would have facilitated and cheapened the transport of passengers and of light goods which form so large a proportion of the traffic of railways.

"If these discriminating provisions, however, in favor of the States should come into operation, they should seriously hamper other nations which carry so much of the oversea trade. We look upon it as an absolute wrong, especially Great Britain, that this interpretation should have been put upon the treaty.

"The Foreign Office, doubtless, will put the matter before the American people in the proper light, and we have assurance that a very large body of American opinion is not satisfied that it should be left as it now stands."

SUFFERED FROM VIOLENT CATHARTICS

The Warning of Mr. Geo. C. Fox Is One That Should Be Heeded by All.

Few men on the road are better known than genial George Fox, whose friends throughout the West are legion. In the following letter he expresses gratitude for signal services rendered by Dr. Hamilton's Pills. He goes on to say: "Until I used Dr. Hamilton's Pills and experienced their wonderful mildness and curative power, I estimated the value of every pill by its activity. Talking about this to a well-known physician I met on the train the other day, he explained there are different kinds of drugs that act upon the bowels, the most active being known as drastic. Except in extreme cases where the life of the patient depends upon speedy evacuation of the bowels, pills should never be drastic. Purgatives cause catarrh of the bowels and inflammation; their dose must be increased, causing even more harm. With such a clear explanation I could see why Dr. Hamilton's Pills are curative and not irritating, why they are mild, yet most searching.

"From my experience I recommend everyone that takes pills to give up the old-fashioned harsh, purging pill, and, instead, to use Dr. Hamilton's. They cure headache, biliousness, constipation, bad stomach, and keep the system in perfect condition."

WORK CUT OUT FOR SIR JAMES.

The Liberal press now proposes that Sir James Whitney shall go into the ditching business on an extensive scale. Reading between the lines it becomes apparent that the real motive is not the public welfare, not to secure the greatest good for the greatest number of people, but to embarrass the premier, and infect the public with the idea that he is letting golden opportunities for feats of statesmanship, pass from his grasp. A deputation from the Grand River Valley waited upon Sir James recently and with cool assurance sought to interest the provincial government in a monster scheme, involving the expenditure of millions, according to the figures of experts. The deputation asked that the streams tributary to the Grand River be damned, so as to prevent spring freshets, by holding back the surplus water, which would also tend to conserve the supply to be used in case of a shortage, caused by a summer drought. The premier did not consider himself responsible for the drainage conditions of the province and so told the deputation.

Everyone knows that last spring's freshets were the most disastrous to property, of any within the memory of the living. The severe winter produced in the streams an abnormal quantity of ice, the snowfall was above the average and the early rains produced a wash of water which was denied a natural outlet, owing to the fact that the rivers and streams were still blocked with ice.

The Grand River district suffered no more than other communities similarly situated. In the Credit River valley, the loss of property in the spring was enormous and yet the sufferers in the latter case have not swooped down upon the premier and asked him to expend millions of the public funds to carry out a work which would benefit only a limited section of the community and which would safeguard them from a danger not likely to threaten them again in a life time.

It is idle to talk of so conserving the surplus water produced by the spring thaws so as to turn what is practically little more than a creek, into a navigable stream throughout the summer months, and the scheme is too visionary to claim the serious consideration of practically men like Sir James Whitney and his colleagues.

SIR WILFRID'S TRIP

It seems impossible for the Globe to learn anything from the experiences of the past, or to profit by a lesson read to it to-day. In heralding the proposed tour of Sir Wilfrid Laurier of the West and of New Ontario it gratuitously insults the intelligence of the majority of the voting population of the Dominion when it brazenly asserts that in any addresses which he may deliver on his trip it will be found that the ex-Premier still stands to the guns upon which he relied before the house cleaning last September. He is, we are told, to repeat in effect his speech at Montreal in which he justified the policy of his party and the naval question and the Reciprocity Pact.

The Globe assumes that the naval policy of Sir Wilfrid, so called by courtesy of his supporters, is vastly superior to the one to be formulated by the present administration while as yet it knows nothing of what the latter policy will be. But will Sir Wilfrid Laurier go, for instance, to British Columbia and there plead for his apology for naval defence, his makeshift, his bluff, by which he sought to hold together the factions of a party even at that time torn up by dissension?

But worst of all is the avowal that Sir Wilfrid is to continue to preach Reciprocity with the United States and to insist that on that issue the minority was right and the majority was wrong. The time is singularly inauspicious for the promulgation of such a doctrine, when the other party to the proposed pact has so lately shown what little reliance is to be placed upon its signed acceptance of a treaty, let alone its word of honor. With the Hay-Pauncefote treaty torn into rags by the Americans, what assurance would Canada have that a trade agreement would be observed by the Republic if a violation of any or all of its terms would result in financial benefit to the American nation.

Canadians of every political shade of opinion will rejoice with the Globe over the fact that Sir Wilfrid's trip enables him to undertake an extended trip The only regret is that he should insure the unusual mental and physical vigor of one of his advanced years in a misguided effort to lead the people into a political quagmire.

NOTE AND COMMENT

With the price of real estate in Montreal almost beyond the range of vision, that city has a valuable asset in the mud which, during the rainy season, lies thick on her principal streets.

The Globe quotes the old Conservative slogan, "No truck or trade with the Yankees," as a reproach to those who used it. The broken Panama Canal treaty tends to show that the precept embodied in the motto is a safe one to follow.

The plan of labelling shade trees in some of the public parks in Toronto is an excellent move in the interests of education. Some of the journalistic timber experts in that city will now have an opportunity of learning the difference between a "stunted poplar" and a sugar maple.

Whenever they do get the Duke of Connaught into Toronto they hurry him from function to function and every time he smiles or gives utterance to a gracious expression they flatter themselves that he is enjoying himself. But he isn't if he is human. For no mortal can continue to be happy in a ceaseless whirlwind of alleged gaiety.

To overturn his garden
He had a little spade.
He lent it to a lady,
And then he was afraid
She would return to him the token
Without a sign of being broken.

Liverpool Wheat Futures Close Lower, Chicago Higher—Live Stock —Latest Quotations

CHICAGO, Aug. 27.—Belief that United States wheat exports this season would be larger than ever before helped the market today to rally. The close was strong, 1-2 to 7-8 above last night. Latest trading left corn at an advance of 1-2 to 1 1-8, oats up to 3-8 to 1-2 and provisions less expensive by 6 to 12 1-2.

The Liverpool market closed to-day ⅛d to ¼d lower than yesterday on wheat, and ⅛d to ¼d lower on corn. Antwerp wheat closed unchanged.

Montreal Grain and Produce.

MONTREAL, Aug. 27.—Cables on Manitoba spring wheat were weaker, and the prices bid showed a decline of 3d, consequently business over the cable was very quiet. The foreign demand for oats continues good, and sales of 100,000 bushels were made for prompt and nearby shipment. The demand on spot was also good, and sales of No. 3 Canadian western were made for export at 47½c afloat, and for local at 49c. The flour market remains steady, with a fair volume of business doing. The demand for millfeed is good. Butter is more active at steady prices. Cheese firm under a good demand. Eggs fairly active. Potatoes easier on increased supplies. Provisions in fair demand.

Corn—American No. 3 yellow, 83c to 84c.

are not a new and untried remedy—our grandfathers used them. Half a century ago, before Confederation, they were on sale in nearly every drug or general store in the Canada of that day, and were the recognized cure in thousands of homes for Constipation, Indigestion, Biliousness, Rheumatism and Kidney and Liver Troubles. To-day they are just as effective, just as reliable as ever, and nothing better has yet been devised to

BACKACHE NOT A DISEASE

But a Symptom, a Danger Signal Which Every Woman Should Heed.

Backache is a symptom of organic weakness or derangement. If you have backache don't neglect it. To get permanent relief you must reach the root of the trouble. Read about Mrs. Woodall's experience.

Morton's Gap, Kentucky.—"I suffered two years with female disorders, my health was very bad and I had a continual backache which was simply awful. I could not stand on my feet long enough to cook a meal's victuals without my back nearly killing me, and I would have such dragging sensations I could hardly bear it. I had soreness in each side, could not stand tight clothing, and was irregular. I was completely run down. On advice I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and am enjoying good health. It is now more than two years and I have not had an ache or pain since. I do all my own work, washing and everything, and never have backache any more. I think your medicine is grand and I praise it to all my neighbors. If you think my testimony will help others you may publish it."—Mrs. OLLIE WOODALL, Morton's Gap, Kentucky.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

Robbed and Beaten.

Chicago, Aug. 28.—Ald. J. A. Richert, chairman of the City Council finance committee, was robbed and beaten by unidentified assailants in the downtown district Monday night. The city official is said to have been robbed of a diamond ring valued at $750, a watch worth $150, and $30 in money. His face had been bruised and cut by the thieves, but his injuries are not considered serious.

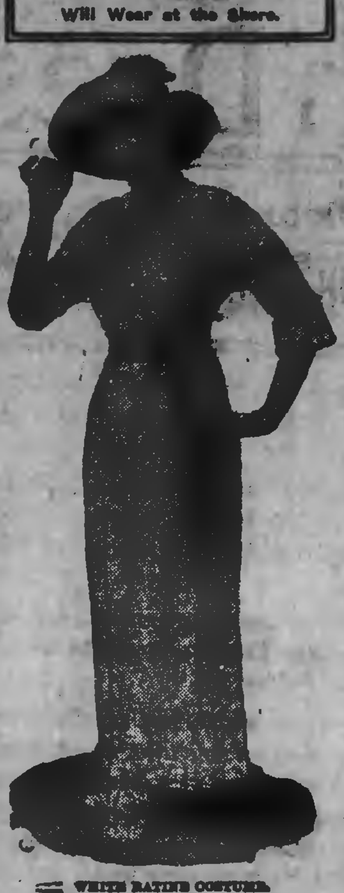
THE BEACH FROCK.

What the Summer Girl Will Wear at the Shore.



WHITE RATINE COSTUME.

The white ratine frock pictured is just the costume for mornings at the seashore or in the mountains. The model has the low armhole, now so fashionable for all outing costumes, and the new sash, which has two short ends, simply folded or lapped over the belt portion, is very good style. White buckskin boots make the frock very smart.

The Cult of Gathers.

In many of the little lingerie dresses a slight fullness is distributed in gathers about a waist line that has again shifted to about its normal position. These gathers, however, are only possible for slim figures. They are flattened into tucks for more portly forms. An attractive yoke is made by shirring this fullness over cords, but let the one with the least tendency to plumpness beware of this effect if any tidiness of figure is prized. The horizontal lines of these cords about the hips have a directly opposite effect from the long, vertical lines on which everything has been planned for some seasons past, so there is a discount on one's height. Naturally any fabric intended for shirring over cord must be of a decidedly diaphanous nature. Where a second material is used for trimming chiffon cloth is found very successful, because this season it can be used with almost every sheer textile that is used for summer frocks. Then, too, it comes in almost every possible shade in all colors. As another qualification in its favor it has just sufficient resiliency of texture to keep it from getting a flattened out, crushed look after being worn a few times.

Summer Hair Etiquette.

The girl who would have wavy hair finds hot irons the quickest tools at her command. If these are once used they are not so harmful as imagined, but woe betide her hair after a few months of overhot irons!

Safer and more natural is the water wave. This lasts well on some hair, even on straight hair, while with other girls it is not successful. Failure is usually due to oil in the hair.

The hair is wet and brushed back flat to the head. It is then pushed out from the forehead with a comb for about an inch and held in place with small hairpins. This is repeated until the entire face is circled. Then another section of the hair is combed up and again pinned in place, the process being repeated until the entire head is covered with a series of little ridges.

ANY WOMAN CAN HAVE BEAUTIFUL HAIR

Dandruff Disappears, Falling Hair Ceases, When You Use Parisian Sage.

No preparation has done so much to stop falling hair; eradicate dandruff and make women's hair beautiful as PARISIAN Sage.

It is the only certain destroyer of the dandruff microbe, the cause of most hair troubles.

PARISIAN Sage is most daintily perfumed. It is an ideal preparation not sticky or greasy. It does not contain poisonous sugar of lead or sulphur or any dye.

It is a magnificent dressing for women who desire luxuriant lustrous hair that compels admiration and for men and children nothing can compare with it.

It does away with terrible scalp itch over night and causes the hair to grow in abundance.

And a large bottle of PARISIAN Sage costs only 50 cents at all drug and toilet goods counters.

Wm. Madill guarantees it.

Japanese Teapots.

In Japan teapots may be had in any shape, in any design, at any price. One model is a huge caldron-like affair that will hold three gallons, while others are so small that a thimbleful may be said almost to make them overflow.

The Japanese have teapots in the shape of birds, beasts and fowls. Fishes and frogs have lent their forms to others. A beetle design is very popular, as is one depicting a fat, squirming eel. Buddha himself has been pressed into service as a model. Swans, correct to the last curl of neck and feathers, form teapots so small that they can be hidden in the palm of the hand. There are lotus bud pots and pots in the shape of tea houses.

All manner of materials are included in the composition. Inlaid silver, hammered copper, iron exquisitely wrought and all the different kinds of Japanese pottery have been used in the manufacture of teapots. Several favorite designs bring $100 apiece, but so cheap is artistic handwork in the far east that many others may be bought for a few cents.

A Charity Box.

Take an old trunk or large box and call it your charity box. Into it put all the articles with which you have finished—pictures, magazines, books to read and old ones for scrap books, pretty cards, clothing and all sorts of wearing apparel, pieces of silk, cloth and lace for dolls' clothing, envelopes with foreign stamps, all the little things you have finished with. Every once in awhile go through it and dispose of its articles to orphan asylums, hospitals, etc. Then when you are called on for contributions to rummage sales all you have to do is go to the box and not have to "rummage" around.

New Bridge Accessories.

The woman or man who does not play bridge nowadays stands out as an almost unique personality, so universal has it become as a popular form of entertainment, and so there have appeared upon the market many new ideas pertaining to the game. A machine has been invented to deal the cards, thus saving the dealer any extra exertion. A pack of cards is placed in the machine, the dealer turns a crank, and the cards are distributed.

Lumber Lines the Beach.

San Francisco, Aug. 28.—There is no hope of saving the stranded freighter Pleiades, which went ashore near Cape Lazaro ten days ago en route to New York with a cargo of general merchandise. She lies broadside deeply embedded in the sand. Her deck load of 800,000 feet of lumber has been jettisoned and is scattered along the beach.

Transport Sinks.

Shanghai, Aug. 28.—The United States transport Liscum sank here yesterday alongside the wharf where she was lying in forty feet of water. The cause of the accident has not yet been ascertained.

RURAL SCHOOL EXHIBITS AT THE PETERBORO FAIR

Provincial Government Will Supervise an Exhibition of the Work Done in Public Schools Where the New System of Agriculture Education Has Been Given a Trial—Demonstration in Bee Farming.

The directors of the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition have decided to reduce the price of admission to the grounds for autos and double seated seated rigs from 50 cents to 25 cents. Every occupant of such rigs will be charged 25 cents as in former years.

A new feature this year, will be on exhibition, by the Provincial Government, to be given in a large tent, the object of which is to show the public what the government is doing in the interests of agricultural education.

The work conducted by the Ontario Department of Agriculture this year in the rural schools of the province, makes a new era in the development of agricultural education. Many attempts have been made to introduce agriculture into the rural schools, to prevent the exodus from the farms, but hitherto all these have been largely unsuccessful. The new plan is based on the idea of vocational education whereby those pupils who intend to be farmers, will be trained directly in their life work.

This work has been started in eight schools in the county of Peterborough, four in each riding. Seed of various varieties of crops and flowers has been distributed to the boys and girls of these schools, and these pupils will exhibit at the Fair their best samples, in competition for prizes, which will be announced later. These exhibits will be placed in a large tent to be erected on the grounds, and every person who attends the Fair is invited to examine them. No admission fee will be charged.

As the Government plans to extend this work next year, every school teacher and every school trustee in the county is specially invited to examine the exhibits, and to consult with those in charge of the display. E. S. Hopkins, B.S.A., governmental representative and J. P. Sackville, assistant representative, both of Norwood, will be in charge of the tent and will be pleased to welcome all visitors and explain the details of the work.

Another feature, planned for the benefit of the beekeepers of the district, has just been announced. An expert from the Provincial Department of Agriculture will be at the Fair and will give daily demonstrations of the best methods to be employed in apiculture and the care of bees generally.

FIFTY YEARS OF MARRIED LIFE

Mr. and Mrs. J. I. Davidson Celebrate Golden Wedding Anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Irvin Davidson celebrated their golden wedding on Tuesday, at their residence, 815 George street. They were married by the late J. W. R. Beck, M. A., Rector of St. John's Church, in 1862.

They were the recipients of many congratulatory letters and valuable presents on the celebration of the happy event.

WEDDING BELLS

STEINBURG—GREENAN

An event which occasioned more than usual interest took place yesterday morning at eight o'clock at St. Mary's church, Lindsay, when Miss Mary Greenan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Greenan, was united in marriage with Mr. Frederick Steinburg, Saskatoon, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Steinburg, of Tweed, Ont., The ceremony was performed by Venerable Archdeacon Casey in the presence of a large number of friends of the young couple. The bride entered the church on the arm of her father, while a wedding march was beautifully rendered by Miss Mary Flurey. The bride wore a blue tailored suit and blue velvet hat with willow mount. The bridesmaid, Miss Hannah Greenan, sister of the bride, wore cream Marquisette over pink tafetta, with pink picture hat. The groom was supported by his friend, Dr. Driscoll, of Trenton. During the ceremony, solos were rendered by Miss Ella Erady and Miss Nettie O'Boyle, and during the signing of the register, Miss Mary Flurey sang "Because." The ushers were Messrs. Patrick J., and Joseph Greenan, brothers of the bride. After the ceremony the bridal party drove to the home of the bride's parents, where a reception was held.

The bride's gift to the groom was a pearl cluster tie pin, and to the soloists dainty pearl pins. The groom presented the bride with a necklace set in pearls, and the bridesmaid with a pendant. The number of beautiful and costly presents, testified to the popularity of the young people.

Mr. and Mrs. Steinburg left on the 4.26 C. P. R. train for an extended tour of the West and on their return will reside in Peterboro.

JEFFRIES — WILKINSON

A quiet wedding was solemnized in Knox church manse on Monday evening at 8.30, when Mr. George Ambrose Jeffries was united in marriage to Miss Elizabeth Marie Wilkinson, both of Peterboro, in the presence of witnesses.

Mr. and Mrs Jeffries will reside in Peterboro.

FORMER DOURO RESIDENT DIES IN N. DAKOTA

The Lawton Republican, of Lawton, North Dakota, gives particulars of the death of James Kerr, who at one time resided in Douro.

The Republican says—

At his son's home near Lawton, on August 18th, at 7.40 a.m., occurred the death of James Kerr, after an illness of over two months.

Mr. Kerr was born near Banbridge County Down, Ireland, May 15, 1828 He came to New York about 1846 and from there to Wisconsin, Galena, Ill., and Memphis, Tenn., returning north later and settling on a farm among friends in Douro, Peterborough County, Ontario, where he married Mary McManus, who died in 1884. To them were born 11 children four of whom survive, Hugh Kerr, of Rolette, N.D., Mrs. Dan Crowley, of Conway, Mrs. Bernard Kennedy, of Newbre township, and Michael Kerr, of Lawton, besides seven grandchildren.

He was well and favorably known in Ontario and also here, where he has resided for the past seven years.

The funeral took place from St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Brocket. A Requiem High Mass was sung, also two beautiful hymns by the choir. Rev. Father McDonald was celebrant and preached an impressive and touching sermon. The casket was covered with beautiful flowers sent by friends. The remains were followed to their last resting place in Brocket cemetery by many friends Father McDonald conducted the service at the grave.

LOCAL MARKSMEN CARRY OFF PRIZES

Peterboro' Rifle Shots Win Money at Ottawa.

Capt. R. P. Watt, Lieutenant C. H. Ackerman, Sergt. W. L. Mitchell, Bandsman G. Grange, and Privates G. Fitzgerald and W. H. Moore, all of the 57th Regiment, are attending the annual shoot of the Dominion Rifle Association at Ottawa.

Lieut. Ackerman has already won two prizes of $4 each and Captain Watt and Mr. Moore, one each of the same amount.

A WONDERFUL SHOT

Mr. E. J. Love, of Charlettown, P. E. I. is one of the most interesting figures at the ranges. Mr. Love shot in many of the matches yesterday and proved himself to be above the average marksman. His scores were 69, 31 and 32 out of possibles of 70, and 35 respectively.

Considering that this marksman is 65 years of age; that he is blind in one eye, and that for over a quarter of a century he has not fired a shot this performance is truly wonderful. And what is more, Mr. Love was some years ago, refused a place on a Canadian artillery team because of weak lungs!

Wash Dresses

Sharp, Quick Clearance High Grade Dresses, Thursday and Friday $2.95 Worth Double

Our dress sale of two weeks ago of more moderate priced dresses cleared every garment in the lot—the first hour's selling left very few to choose from.

It was not our intention to put these higher priced dresses on sale, but owing to weather conditions we have decided to make as complete a clearance of this lot as we did of the former.

Thursday should see every dress move out, but in case any remain after Thursday's selling we will continue this clearing price on Friday.

63 high class Dresses—some white, but mostly colored, very suitable for present use or for morning house wear during the fall and winter. Nearly all are NEW YORK MADE. The lot includes Muslins, Ginghams, Repps, Swiss Spots, etc, ; some sailor suits for misses ; the former prices were more than double our clearing price. Most of these dresses have been in the store only a few weeks, being bought for late summer trade.

Thursday morning sharp at 8.15 they go on sale, See the large centre window display this evening and Thursday. No telephone orders accepted—no reserve—first choice is best - sale lasts for two days, or until sold. To clear completely at the unusual price of only..... .. $2.95

CANAL INSPECTION TOUR WAS HIGHLY SATISFACTORY

The Federal Party Concluded Their Investigation and the "Bessie Butler" Has Returned to This City—The Trip Will be Productive of Results.

The Government steamer Bessie Butler returned to Peterborough this morning, making the trip from the last stopping place at Lakefield during the night. The most of the members of the party left the boat at Lindsay yesterday and returned to their homes by train.

It was expected that Dr. Reid, acting minister of Railways and Canals, would have joined the party at some of the points visited, but he sent word that he was unable to go on account of a press of business. Those on board were Mr. Northrup, M.P., and wife, of Belleville; Mr. C. Munson, M.P., of Cobourg; Major Sam Sharpe, M.P., and wife, of Uxbridge; Mr. J. Kendry, ex-M.P., and wife, of Peterborough; Mr. G. Wainwright, manager of the Bank of Ottawa, Peterborough; Mr. W. Bennett, M.P., Midland; Mr. Sexsmith, M.P., of Peterborough; Supt. J. A. McClellan, of the Trent Valley Canal, and Mrs. McClellan and son, of Peterborough; Mr. G. A. Mothersill, of Ottawa, and the Misses Wainwright, of Peterborough.

The members of parliament were on a tour of inspection, having left Peterborough Friday morning last. Friday evening was spent at South Beach and Saturday afternoon at Sturgeon Point. On the same evening the party remained over night at Beaverton. Sunday was spent at Orillia, the party remaining at Barrie for the night. The journey back again was then commenced, Monday being spent at the palatial summer home of Sir William and Lady McKenzie, on Balsam Lake. Here the members were entertained in a delightful manner, Lady McKenzie and family making the party feel perfectly at home and giving them the freedom of the house.

It was the intention of the party to visit Lindsay on Friday last, when preparations were made for their welcome. However, the trip up the Scugog had to be cancelled owing to the delay caused at the Peterborough Lift Lock Friday morning. On their arrival Monday evening the visiting parliamentarians were met by Mayor Wood, Mr. John Carew, Dr. Vrooman, M.P.P.; J. H. Sootheran, H. A. Holmes and others, who entertained the visitors.

While in town Supt. McClellan visited and inspected the government work being done in Lindsay, the dredge and drill scow.

While the party was at Bobcaygeon Mr. Northrup went fishing, and after a hard tissle succeeded in landing an 18 pound 'lunge.

MUST STAND HIS TRIAL.

Cordova Young Man Accused by Fifteen Year Old Girl

Charged with attempting to commit rape, Harry Johnson, through his counsel, Mr. G. N. Gordon, did not plead or elect when the case opened for preliminary hearing before Magistrate Edmison yesterday afternoon.

The complainant was Ethel Nicholson, who will reach her sixteenth birthday next month. Both parties come from Cordova, the girl residing a short distance from the village.

After the girl and her uncle had told their story, His Worship held that the evidence was sufficient to send the prisoner up for trial, and accordingly committed him.

The trial will be heard before Judge Huycke within a short time. Meanwhile the defendant is out on bail.

The story told by the girl is that after she had refused Johnson the privilege asked by him of accompanying her home after Church, he came to her home, she being spoken to by him from the gate, as she went to the door to look for the arrival of her uncle and young sister, who went out driving, Johnson made his way into the house without her consent. They talked together in the kitchen, and later Johnson caught her by the waist, and they walked to the hall. Both doors of entrance to it were closed and there was no light.

It was here the girl said Johnson took liberties with her, which she resented. She said she tried to free herself, and also slapped and scratched his face.

Cross-examined by Mr. Gordon, who named several young men, the witness swore that not one of them had ever taken the liberties as had Johnson.

BAND CONCERT IN VICTORIA PARK

Salvation Army Band Rendered a Memorial Program.

The weather was chilly but the attendance was large at the last concert of the season, held by the Salvation Army Band last night, in Victoria Park, when a memorial program was rendered. During the rendition of the first selection, "The Dead March in Saul," the drum was muffled in white.

The band sang "My Jesus I Love Thee," and Bandmaster Robinson played as a euphonium solo, General Booth's favorite air, "Cleansing For Me."

The members and officers of the Army will meet in Victoria Park, at 7 o'clock this evening, and headed by the band, will march to the Hall, where a special memorial service will be held at eight o'clock.

The program in full, as rendered last night, was as follows—

March—"Dead March in Saul"—Band.

Selection—"The Beautiful Stream"—Band, introducing, "That We Meet Beyond the River."

March—"Promoted to Glory"—Band

Vocal Selection—"My Jesus I Love Thee"—Band.

Selection—"Jerusalem, My Happy Home"—Band.

Selection—"Thoughts from Great Masters"—Band.

Selection—"Songs of Comfort"—Band.

Final Selection—"Songs about Heaven"—Band.

VEN. ARCHDEACON WARREN READ AN ADDRESS TO DUKE

Former Peterborough Rector at Church Ceremony in Toronto

Venerable Archdeacon Warren, for several years incumbent of St. John's church, Lakefield, and afterward rector of St. Luke's church in this city, but now of Toronto, where he holds the position of travelling secretary of the Mission Board of the Church of England, read the address yesterday to His Royal Highness, the Duke of Connaught, when the latter laid the corner stone of the new wing of St. Alban's Cathedral in Toronto. The Duke used the same trowel that was used by the late Archbishop Sweetman, in the laying of the corner stone of the main building in 1887.

The corner stone, which weighs seven and a half tons, is of Bedford Indiana Limestone, of which the new building is to be constructed. The address, read by Venerable Archdeacon Warren was as follows—

To His Royal Highness Arthur, Duke of Connaught and of Strathearn K.G., Governor-General of Canada.

"May it please your Royal Highness, we, the Dean and Chapter of the Cathedral of St. Alban the Martyr, Toronto, feel that we cannot let this occasion pass without expressing our deep sense of the honor conferred upon us by your Royal Highness in graciously consenting to take the chief part in this ceremony of laying the foundation stone for an extension of the Cathedral building.

"Ground was broken for the erection of the existing portion of the building on the 29th of August, 1885, and the corner stone was laid on the 16th of June, 1887, services having already been carried on in a small part of the building which had been fitted sufficiently for the purpose, since Sunday, the 14th November, 1886, on which day the first service was held. From that time through many long years we have looked forward to a day when another step might be taken in the great work of erecting a cathedral worthy of this city and diocese, and we esteem it as the happiest of auguries for our future that this work is set forward by your Royal Highness.

"Permit us to take this opportunity of offering to your Royal Highness and to her Royal Highness, the Duchess of Connaught, a loyal expression of respect and esteem."

The Duke made a fitting reply, in which he expressed the hope that St. Alban's Cathedral would long continue in its good work, and that its officers would be spared to many years of service.

After he had laid the corner stone, His Royal Highness was presented with a copy of the address and a replica to the trowel which he had used.

2. Sack race (contestants must bring their own sacks.)
3. Running high jump.
4. Young ladies' race.

3.00 p.m.

Football match, Havelock vs. C.G.E.

5. First heat 100 yards, city championship.
6. Second heat 100 yards, city championship.
7. Third heat 100 yards, city championship.
8. 100 yards, married union men.
9. Final heat, city championship.
10. School boys' relay, three boys to each team.
11. 440 yard run.
12. 100 yards, union men.
13. Factory relay race—three contestants from the one establishment.
14. Boot race.
15. Five mile run.

The referee will be Dr. A. W. McPherson, and J. J. Thompson, Physical Director of the Y.M.C.A., will be the starter. The timers and judges will be appointed at a meeting to be held this evening.

During the program music will be furnished by the 57th Regimental band.

OTTAWA BEATEN TWICE BY PETES; BARTHOLD'S SINGLE CAME ON TIME

Ottawa, Aug. 27.—Peterborough won two games from Ottawa in the Canadian Baseball League at Lansdowne Park to-day. In the first game the White Cap shammered Herbert hard in the opening inning, and made it 2-0. They added another in the third, and made it 4 to 0 in the eighth. Ottawa rallied in the ninth and drove two runs across, but could not tie it up. In the second game Osborne held the Ottawas to five scattered hits and fanned seven. The Ottawas had it 2 to 0 until the sixth, when Peterborough tied it, winning out in the ninth on Barthold's single. Scores:

First game—

		R.	H.	E.
Peterborough	201000010	4	8	0
Ottawa	000000002	2	6	3

Batteries—Tracey and Trout; Herbert and Cook.

Second game—

		R.	H.	E.
Peterborough	000101001	3	8	1
Ottawa	001010000	2	6	3

Batteries—Osborne and Trout; Draper and Cook. Umpire Blake.

BREEZES FROM THE DIAMOND

Leafes, formerly of the Guelph Maple Leafs, figured in the second game of the Toronto-Baltimore double header yesterday, playing third base in the ninth innings. He accepted two chances.

Lindsay Warder.—Mr. R. J. Menzies has received a letter from his son, Mr. B. D. Menzies, of Port Arthur, which contains a short item of particular interest to Lindsay citizens, especially the baseball fans.

Mr. Menzies Jr., states that the people of Port Arthur are this season backing the fastest baseball team in the western league, and one of the fastest, if not the best in the province. Mr. Tim Burke, formerly of Lindsay, is bench manager, and is handling the team well. In fact much of the success of the team is attributed to his manner of handling the players from the bench. Mr. Bert Menzies holds the position of shortstop, and judging from the press reports is improving with every year.

Mr. Bert Menzies was one of the best players on the Lindsay diamond and was a member of the championship team in 1904, when Lindsay won the championship of the Midland league.

The Port Arthur team head the league with 7 wins and 2 defeats, the nearest competitor having five wins. Besides winning the honors that go with the winning of the league, the leading team has been promised a trip to Winnipeg.

To tie one and win two, right in the back yard of the champions, is going some.

Look out for a series of warm arguments for the remainder of the week.

Herbert, who handed that dose to Hamilton Kolts, was beaten by our own Tracey.

HELP RAILROAD HANDLE THE CROP

A striking circular on the subject of the prevention of a car shortage which is equally applicable to conditions in Canada has recently been issued by Mr. W. A. Green, chairman of the Association of Western Railways, who writes in part as follows:

"Conditions that are likely to cause a heavy demand for, and a rapid reduction in the supply of, cars exist. The crop prospects in the West this year are unusually good. The railway managements are doing and will do everything that they can to provide for the satisfactory handling of the traffic. The managers, however, cannot do everything. They must have the hearty support and co-operation of the shippers and consignees of the country who can give such support and co-operation in at least two ways:

1. By moving all the lumber, coal, cement and other freight that they can within the next few weeks, instead of delaying and throwing it all on the railways when they are staggering under the crop movement. Mr. Frank T. Bentley, Traffic Manager of the Illinois Steel Co., and the Indiana Steel Co., anticipating a car shortage this fall, recently issued an appeal and warning to all patrons of these companies to place their orders for cement and other commodities early. Much might be gained if the traffic managers of all the large industrial concerns of the company would follow Mr. Bentley's example and their patrons would act on the advice given. The commercial organizations of the cities and towns can help greatly by urging their members to move all goods as early as possible.

2. Shippers and consignees can greatly help themselves, the railways, and all other shippers and consignees by loading and unloading all cars delivered to them as expeditiously as practicable. Every time the unloading of a car is needlessly delayed the available supply of cars is needlessly reduced; and no shipper has a right to complain that he is not furnished enough cars if he is by his own acts needlessly and wrongfully reducing the available supply of cars. Commercial organizations cannot render a better service to their members than by urging on them the need for prompt loading and unloading. Cars are furnished for transportation not for storage and every one used for storage reduces the number available for transportation.

3. Shippers can greatly help by loading all cars as near to their capacity as practicable. The more freight there is loaded in each car the less cars will be required to move all of the freight.

There has been a great deal of talk in recent years about the need for better co-operation between railways and shippers. Here is a matter regarding which they can heartily and energetically co-operate to the very great gain of both."

PETERBORO' MAN ASKS DAMAGES FOR SLANDER

Port Hope, Aug. 28.—Mr. T. O. Rush, of Peterborough, has entered action in the High Court for $1,000 damages against Charles Perry, proprietor of the Royal Hotel and Rockett Bros. proprietors of the American Hotel, on the grounds that he, the said T. O. Rush, was slandered by Messrs. Perry and Rockett ejected from their hotels. The papers were served to-day by Mr. Henry Bing.

Mr. Rush states that similar action will be taken by him against several other parties in Port Hope.

AUG. 30th—From all stations Toronto to North Bay, inclusive, and west thereof in Ontario.

This is an exceptional chance for young men to visit the west, which is truly called the land of "Golden Opportunities," as many prosperous farmers and business men now residing in Western Canada can trace the origin of their good fortune to a "Farm Laborers' Excursion." The route via Chicago is an attractive one, as many large cities and towns are passed en route, which breaks the monotony of the journey, as there is something new to see all the time.

The Grand Trunk Pacific Railway is the shortest and quickest route between Winnipeg-Saskatoon-Edmonton. New Fast Express Service between Winnipeg, Yorkton, Canora and Regina.

OMEMEE NEWS

Special Correspondence

Omemee, Aug. 28.—Mrs. White, of Sturgeon St., gave a musicale on Thursday evening in honor of the Misses Robinson, of Toronto, who have been paying her a visit. On Saturday evening these young ladies returned home, accompanied by Master Willie White.

Mr. Charlie McCaffery, of Toronto, was home for over Sunday.

Mrs. Isaiah Thornton, of Colborne, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. R. G. Sandy.

An old Omemee boy, in the person of Rev. Alex. Evans, dropped into town last week to call on his many friends. Alex as he is familiarly called, is out on his annual vacation and besides looking well is the pastor of a flourishing congregation in the Republic to the south. He is another example of our home-brews who has made his town proud.

The many friends of Miss Millie will be pleased to know that she has accepted a splendid position at Kincardine.

The spirit of the Canadian National Exhibition at Toronto, is upon us, and for the next two weeks the great show will be in the lime light.

The time for tenders of the two rural mail routes to be established expired on Friday. With Omemee as a distributing centre, one route is to be via Bethel to Frank Hill and return, a distance of about 21 miles; the other is to be south, along the quarter line on the east of Omemee, taking in part of the boundary line between Emily and Cavan townships, thence along the second and third concession lines of Emily and return, a distance of about 24 miles. It is reported that there were many tenders for each route.

Miss Miriel Morrison, of the Bank of Commerce staff, Peterborough, has been holidaying in town, the guest of her mother, Mrs. J. Morrison, of King street.

Messrs. Bert Morden and Percy Handley, of Mount Pleasant, were in Omemee on Wednesday.

Mrs. James McLean and Mrs. Wm. Greig, of Mount Pleasant, spent Wednesday in town calling on Mr. and Mrs. T. W. McLean.

Messrs. T. C. Stephenson, Milt Sherin and Capt. H. Fee attended the meeting of the Ontario Rifle Association at Toronto and congratulations are in order to Pte. Sherin, of the 45th Regiment, who got inside the money in one competition.

Rev. P. B. Thornton, of Colborne, was the guest of his sister, Mrs. G. G. Sandy, last week.

On Thursday Mr. Hugh Bradford left for the Northwest on the harvester's excursion.

Mr. A. Laidley is improving his residence on Sturgeon street.

Miss Lila Beatty, professional nurse, of Rochester, is the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Beatty.

Mrs. Wagner, of Minneapolis, and her sister, Mrs. Mills, of Port Hope, who were visiting the friends of their early home at Mount Pleasant, called on Omemee friends on Wednesday.

Miss Maud and Mr. Percy Handley, of Mount Pleasant, were visitors in town on Sunday.

Mr. Winslow spent Sunday at his home at Millbrook.

DEATH CAME IN CALIFORNIA

Remains of the Late Duncan McFarlane Brought Here.

The remains of the late Duncan McFarlane, who passed away in California arrived in the city to-day, and the funeral will take place on Saturday.

The late Mr. McFarlane resided for many years in Otonabee, and last fall he went to California.

His wife predeceased him in Peterborough one year ago. A son is in the city to-day arranging for the funeral.

FREE METHODISTS IN CONFERENCE

The Eastern Ontario Conference of the Free Methodists met in the local church of that denomination at 2 p.m. with Bishop William Pearce, of Titusville, N.Y., presiding. Eighty delegates in all are expected. The first session was devoted to organization and the election of officers. The conference will be in session until Saturday, and special religious services will be held every evening this week and on Sunday.

Talk of Fast Line.

London, Aug. 28.—The chairman at the meeting of the Milford Docks Co. said the visit of Premier Borden had revived interest in the establishment of a fast Canadian steamship service. He, the chairman, had represented to Premiers Asquith and Borden the desirability of a pronouncement by the Imperial authorities as to which port would be favored. He had suggested that the combination of the two ports of Milford Haven and Bristol would best meet the requirements of the service.

NORWOOD BOY SCOUT'S INJURIES MAY BE FATAL

Toronto, Aug. 28.—Wilfred Fletcher, one of the Norwood contingent of Boy Scouts en route to the exhibition, met with a serious accident near Claremont on the C.P.R. train from Norwood. The little fellow was leaning out of the coach window when something struck him behind the right ear, inflicting a severe gash and fracturing his skull. Dr. Shannon, one of the passengers, dressed the wound, and when the train drew into the Union Station the lad was removed to the Hospital for Sick Children. Late last night he was reported as slightly improved, but little hope is held out for his recovery.

THREE EXCURSIONS TAKE 150 FROM PETERBORO TO THE WEST

There was a general craning of necks when the words "here she comes" was passed along at the C. P. R. station, this afternoon.

The excursion train to carry the farm laborers to the west was coming along, and soon all was commotion.

The train was made up of eleven passenger coaches, one baggage car and a caboose. The coaches were not filled by any means, and there was plenty of room for those leaving the local depot.

The number was about fifty and the total for the three excursions, so far as Peterborough is concerned, reached 150.

The majority of passengers were sturdy young men, who gave the appearance of having come from the farm. There were many ladies on the train. Another excursion train leaves Peterborough on Aug. 30th. That the response to the call from the west is not meeting demands, is shown by the fact that two more excursions have been arranged for by the C.P.R., the same to leave Peterborough on Sept. 4th and 6th, the same fare of $10 being in effect.

As the big mogul pulled out about two o'clock to-day, there was a general hurrah from the passengers, and not a few tears from friends on the platform.

His Son is Here

D. Ferguson remains unconscious at the Nicholls Hospital. His son, from Cartier, Quebec, is now in the city.

FATHER OF REV. DR. O'BRIEN HAS PASSED AWAY

Had Been Sinking Since Last Saturday — Funeral on Friday.

The death of Mr. James O'Brien of 114 Aylmer street, removes from the City of Peterborough one of the most well-known and highly-esteemed of its residents. It was apparent that since the demise of his wife, on September 1st, of last year, he gradually declined, but was able to attend to his business, until Saturday 17th last, when he complained of illness. Since that time he has been steadily sinking and passed peacefully away at an early hour this morning.

The deceased gentleman, who was sixty-nine years of age, was born in the vicinity of Nenagh, Tipperary, Ireland, the youngest of a family of six. When an infant he came to Canada, with his parents, who located in the southern portion of the present City. In 1849, the family removed to Ennismore, returning in 1866 to Peterborough and residing therein ever since. On April 21st, 1873, the late Mr. O'Brien was married to Miss Honorah Cregan, who predeceased him, as already mentioned. There were two children of the marriage, William James, who died in February, 1895, and the Rev. Fr. M. J. O'Brien, D.D., Rector of the Sacred Heart Church.

After being connected for some time with the old Midland Railway, the deceased assisted in the construction of the C.P.R. roadbed in this vicinity, becoming first section foreman, which position he held for 20 years. At the expiration of that time he engaged in corporation work, and in 1908 entered into partnership with Mr. Arch. Weir, forming the present coal dealing firm of Weir and O'Brien.

It was not by reason of his business associations alone that rendered him widely known. He was a model husband and father, temperate in all things, charitable to any commendable object, and although naturally reserved in manner, anything he undertook was executed with Christian-like determination and example. It was by example that he taught his sons their first lesson in temperance.

The late Mr. O'Brien was a member of years standing, and a Past President of the C.M.B.A. He was an active member of the St. Peter's T.A.S. from its foundation and on the formation of the Sacred Heart Church became a charter member of the T.A.S. of that institution.

The funeral will leave the family residence at 9 o'clock on Friday morning and proceed to the Sacred Heart Church and from thence to St. Peter's Cemetery, for interment. The Rev. Dr. O'Brien will say Mass, and His Lordship Bishop O'Connor will officiate at the Absolution.

Many a man can't afford to dress well because his wife does.

BEAUTIFUL EYES

are made beautiful by long, silky lashes and well defined, lustrous brows. Eyes, like diamonds, depend on their setting. The beauties of the face are lost if the eye brows are thin and scanty, and the lashes are thin and scanty. Parisian Lash Lustre grows beautiful, soft, silky lashes. It has done so for society women throughout Europe, and it comes here well recommended to do the same for you. Parisian Lash Lustre is not a dye or colorator, but a scientific preparation for beautifying the eye lashes and brows. Our guarantee goes with every box of Parisian Lash Lustre. A two weeks' treatment will bring beauty to your eyes that you have never before possessed. By mail, prepaid, in opal boxes on receipt of price, fifty cents. B. V. THIRTY-FOUR THOUSAND WERE AT THE MEMORIAL SERVICE

Season of Mourning in London on the Eve of the Funeral of the Late General Booth—Old Fashioned Revival Held With White Catafalque on Platform.

London, Aug. 29.—Funeral services over the founder of the Salvation Army, Gen. Wm. Booth, were held at the Olympia last night in accordance with the traditions of that organization, without pomp or symbols of mourning, but with a most moving fervor and impressiveness.

Thirty-four thousand people participated in the service.

The body of the late general in a plain pine coffin rested high on a white catafalque in front of the big platform across the end of the hall, where all the chief officers of the organization were seated and where forty bands were massed.

While the front rows of chairs before the coffin were filled with representatives of various bodies, with the equerry for the king, several mayors in their robes and chains of office, a delegation from the Stock-Exchange, ministers and clergymen of all the Protestant churches, and Jewish rabbis, and while many notable personages were seated throughout the house, the rank and file of the great gathering was composed of the plain people for whom the army works and of whom it is composed.

The service itself was not only a memorial, but was a mammath meeting of prayer and praise. No other congregation comparable with it ever occurred in London, if in the world, save the funeral of the general's wife, which was held in the same hall 22 years ago.

The vastness of the Olympia made it impossible to conduct the service by word of mouth. More than half of its 33 numbers, however, were familiar salvation songs which the many thousand-voiced chorus sang with a mighty volume of sound and with militant earnestness.

Then the bands broke into a dead match and all the thousands rose and turned towards the far entrance, where appeared a cluster of white-tipped flags. Amid reverent silence, the white catafalque was wheeled along the aisle to a position in front of the platform, where its escort broke to the right and left and mounted the steps. Bramwell Booth immediately reached his chair, where he fell to his knees and buried his face in his hands. The assembly then sang to the tune of Belmont, "Dear Saviour, I can never repay the debt of love I owe."

Silent reading, alternating with hymns, continued for half an hour, following which a true salvation army revival service was conducted by Commissioner Howard, with invitations to sinners and backsliders to come to "The Mercy Seat."

The most impressive feature of the solemnities followed. All the soldiers of the army rose and recited the covenant of fidelity, pledging themselves to be faithful soldiers of the Lord.

The catafalque was then wheeled slowly down the aisle while the great gathering sang, "When the roll is called up yonder I'll be there."

The coffin was placed in a hearse and conveyed to the Salvation Army headquarters, where it will rest until taken to Abbey Park Cemetery today.

As the doors closed behind the casket, Commissioner McKie pronounced the benediction, and immediately afterwards Olympia became a babel with the foreign delegates seeking London comrades with whom they were stopping. The police struggled to produce order from chaos as the great crowd mingled with the other contingent, which had waited outside the hall, listening to the singing throughout the more than two hours which the service lasted.

BOURASSA MAY GO TO OTTAWA

The Nationalist Leader Urged to Run in Three Rivers.

Ottawa, Aug. 29.—The re-entry to the [illegible] political arena of Mr. Henri Bourassa is foreshadowed by prominent Nationalists and is considerably credited here. It is understood that Mr. Bourassa was offered a nomination in Richelieu, which is now vacant as a result of a protest. He decline that. However, it is believed that when the Three Rivers contest comes to trial next week the result will be to reopen that seat and in this constituency the Nationalist leader has been urged to run, and, it is said, has intimated his willingness to do so. He would make the naval question the issue and oppose both Laurier and Borden policies. Hon. Jacques Bureau is the sitting member.

The clerical influence is strong in that district and it is stated that the clergy are behind the proposal to induce Bourassa to run.

DEATH RATE HIGHEST FOR OTHER CATHOLICS

Montreal, Aug. 29.—That the highest death rate is among "Other Catholics," which is the form in the health statistics used to denote all Catholics not French-speaking, is the conclusion arrived at by Dr. Louis Laberg, medical health officer, in compiling statistics for his report for the past twelve months.

The percentage of deaths as against births is as follows: Other Catholics, 66.71; French-speaking Catholics, 59.40; Protestnats, 59.13; Jews, 33.14.

NEW COMMISSIONER FOR NEW YORK POLICE

New York, Aug. 29.—Mayor Gaynor has asked W. J. Flynn, chief of the secret service of the department of the east to take the job of police commissioner, it was learned yesterday.

The mayor's representative told Chief Flynn that the mayor believed the secret service man could accomplish effective police reforms. Waldo will resign.

IT WAS CHILDREN'S DAY AT THE TORONTO EXHIBITION

Duke of Connaught Told the Boy Scouts He Was Proud of Their Appearance—Ten Thousand Young People Witnessed the Ceremony.

Toronto, Aug. 29.—It was indeed a thing of splendor to see 2,700 Boy Scouts from the four corners of Ontario reviewed by royalty yesterday, and the Duke of Connaught's comment, "I am proud of you," when he addressed the boys, was likewise the sentiment of over 12,000 people who witnessed the stirring spectacle. It was the most outstanding event that has happened in the history of the movement in Canada, and the scouts were prepared, as they always are. They showed the stuff that they are made of. They performed feats that the grown-ups would not even attempt to do, because they were never taught.

The fact that it was "Children's Day" made the review of the boys a greater feature. Probably 10,000 children alone witnessed the gorgeous ceremony. There were exactly 80 troops which marched by the duke, and 50 of these were from outside towns. Even with such a turnout it did not comprise any more than one-third of the entire force of Boy Scouts in the province, which gives a clear conception of the grip it is getting on the young life of the country.

Commander H. G. Hammond and Adjutant G. S. Gibbons were responsible for the great event. The scouts had never before the chance to show what they could really do before the public. And when they built huts, pitched tents, erected bridges, put up a wireless station and transmitted and received message by wireless, and did other things with remarkable skill they showed the disinterested and the disbelievers a few of the things they could do.

The duke, accompanied by his staff officers, Commissioners Eaton, Marshall, Kent, George and Wilson, and Mayor Geary, Hon. G. E. Foster, W. K. McNaught, M.P.P., and other of the grand stand show and there walked up and down the line. The duke now and then stopped to chat to the boys, many of whom wore the "silver wolf," the highest decoration for efficiency in the movement. After the inspection the scouts sang their gospel song: "Be Prepared."

Previous to his address Scout Campbell of Toronto was brought out and introduced to His Royal Highness, who placed the green and white ribbon, which is an emblem of general proficiency, or that of a qualified member of the "Order of the Silver Wolf," around his neck.

In his speech the duke said: "Boy Scouts of Ontario,—I wish to tell you how pleased I am to meet you to-day, and how proud I feel as chief scout of Canada in having seen you on parade. You belong to a new, and I believe, one of the best organizations we have ever had. You are taught all that is noble, manly and Christian for the rising generation of boyhood. I feel convinced that there is not one of you whom I address to-day that is not proud of the creed of a Boy Scout and who is not prepared to carry out fully the instruction given to him."

Following this the scouts showed what they could do in the way of pitching tents, building huts, making mattresses, erecting bridges, signaling transmitting and sending messages by wireless telegraph and several other things.

In the competition for general appearance and proficiency Troop 14, Centennial Methodist Church, Toronto, won the Kent Cup, presented by J. G. Kent, president of the Exhibition. Chatham, Ont., won the silver bugle presented by R. S. Williams, Toronto. Commissioner H. C. Hammond was made the recipient of three silver trays from the coronation troop

THOUSANDS WERE MOURNERS AT GENERAL BOOTH'S GRAVE

Final Funeral Services Were Held To-day—Reigning Houses and Presidents of Republics Sent Representatives to Attend the Obsequies—Hour of Prayer in Local Temple

SPECIAL TO THE REVIEW

London, Aug. 29.—The remains of the Late General Booth were laid to rest to-day beside that of Catherine Booth, his wife, in Abney Park Cemetery. Representatives of reigning houses and presidents of republics joined round the grave with many thousands from the masses whom the founder of the Salvation Army tried so bravely to uplift.

THE LOCAL SERVICES

A special prayer meeting was held at the temple on Simcoe Street, between the hours of 12 and 1 to-day, under the leadership of Captain Watkinson.

BRAMWELL BOOTH

BADLY BEATEN BY BICYCLE MAN

Aged Montreal Alderman Sustained Serious Injuries.

Montreal, Aug. 29.—Ald. Judge of this city, who is over 60 years old, was brutally attacked near his home yesterday afternoon. The alderman remonstrated with a man on a bicycle who had run over a child. The man, who afterwards gave his name as Eudore McNicoll, attacked the alderman, seizing him by the hair and knocking him down, then kicking him in the face. The alderman, however, fought the man off and then gave him chase, finally getting him arrested. McNicoll has jumped his bail.

WORSE THAN ANY SUFFRAGETTE

Woman Lies in Wait for President Taft With Two Long Knives as Weapons.

Special To The Review.

Columbus, O., Aug. 29—Caroline Beers, aged forty, who said she was from Greenville, Ohio, was arrested by Pittsburg detectives at the southern depot, while waiting for President Taft, with two long knives which were found concealed in her clothing. The woman said she was the wife of the President.

RAIN INTERFERES WITH HARVEST

Bad Weather at Winnipeg General Throughout the Country.

Winnipeg, Aug. 29.—Rains, which were pretty general over the entire spring wheat country, but especially heavy in the east central districts of Saskatchewan, during the past 24 hours, have about put a stop to harvesting operations, and in many districts the binder will not again be at work before Friday. Several points report bright, clear weather yesterday, with the prospect of resumption of work in the afternoon on light and well drained lands. The harvest labor situation is naturally aggravated by delays of the last few days. Probabilities to-day say cool and partly fair, with showers in many localities.

CAN GET MONEY

British Capitalists Ready to Invest in Soo Industries.

Sault Ste. Marie, Aug. 29.—"The Soo industries can have all the money they want," said Mr. Grenfell, the leader of the party of British capitalists, who arrived yesterday morning on their special train. The party closely inspected the steel plant, Merchant Mills, Rail Mills, blast furnaces and other branches of the allied industries, and expressed their admiration. The party will remain here until to-night.

Last night they dined at "Mount Fernier," the Talbot mansion, where a dinner of 68 covers was prepared. Mr. and Mrs. Talbot will also entertain the ducal party on their arrival to-day.

Parents Arrested.

Toronto, Aug. 29.—Following the verdict brought in by the jury under Coroner Graham last night at the inquest in the city morgue into the death of the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Briscoe of Colborne, Ont., who died on the train from Colborne to Toronto about a week ago while being brought to the city, Acting Detective Nesbitt arrested the father and mother of the child last night.

Both were locked up in No. 1 police station. The verdict rendered was that the child came to its death through criminal negligence on the part of the parents.

Carpenter Is Killed.

Toronto, Aug. 29.—John Leybburne, a carpenter, employed at the Guelph Farm, met death yesterday by falling 35 feet down the improvised elevator shaft, which is used for the purpose of carrying the concrete to the differ-

COWS IN PEEL COUNTY WERE MILKED BY ELECTRICITY

Hon. Adam Beck's Commission Has a New Cure for the Scarcity of Farm Labor—All Kinds of Farm Machinery Can be Operated by Power Transmission Lines of the Hydro.

Toronto, Aug. 29.—A new era in agricultural development was inaugurated yesterday when Mrs. Beck, wife of Hon. Adam Beck, chairman of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission, switched on the electric power at J. W. Might's farm, Clarkson, four miles north of Cooksville. The large attendance of farmers from the districts of Brampton, Port Credit, Clarkson, Malton, Cooksville and Meadowville, gave eloquent testimony to the widespread interest which had been evoked by the investigation into the utility of Hydro-electric power on the farm.

The power was supplied by a cable connected with the Port Credit-Brampton transmission line, and the current passed through a transformer carried on a traveling motor wagon, which drove a motor installed on a second truck. There was also on view milking machines, pumping machinery, choppers and cream separators, and during the afternoon the visitors had ample opportunities of seeing the various labor-saving appliances in operation.

The demonstration was in charge of Hon. Adam Beck, who had as his right-hand man, F. A. Gaby, acting chief engineer of the Hydro-Electric Commission.

Inside the farm house Mrs. Brown, who has charge of the domestic appliances at the Hydro exhibit at the Exhibition, gave an interesting display of the many time and labor-saving devises placed on the market by the commission. Mrs. Brown had charge of the cooking exhibit at the recent electric show in Madison Square Garden, New York.

Two or three days will be spent on Mr. Might's farm, and after giving demonstrations in the Brampton district, the exhibit will be taken to the Galt, Preston and Hespeler district; from there to the New Hamburg, Berlin, and Baden district; then to the Stratford, Seaforth and Mitchell district. After that the following districts will be visited in the order named: London and Byron, St. Thomas and Port Stanley, Woodstock and Ingersoll, Tillsonburg and Norwich.

In addition to Hon. Adam Beck and Mrs. Beck there were present: Hon. James Duff, Minister of Agriculture; Gordon Wilson, M.P.; Richard Blain, M.P.; Sam Charters, M.P.P.; Reeve R. H. Lush, Deputy Reeve William Rutledge, Deputy Reeve Gordon and the councillors of the local township.

After the visitors had witnessed a practical test of the threshing machine the unique sight of a cow at Clarkson being milked by electricity generated at Niagara was afforded the crowd. The cow gave no sign that anything unusual was afoot, and the farmers and their wives were loud in their praises of the wonderful contrivance.

The ease and rapidity with which the threshing of a large quantity of oats was accomplished aroused the outspoken admiration of the farmers assembled. They fully appreciated the explanatory remarks of the Minister of Power as to the saving in time and labor. Here was the solution of the difficulty experienced year after year of getting labor, and skilled labor into the bargain. Mr. Beck assured his hearers that with a two-horse power motor he could thresh 12 bushels of oats an hour, and he expressed his willingness to back a two-horse power electric motor against a reputed five-horse-power gasoline engine.

HAMILTON POLICE ARE UP AGAINST NEW MYSTERY

Hamilton, Aug. 29.—The police have another mystery on their hands. Yesterday morning a man, later identified as John McGregor, was found in a west-end gravel pit with his skull cracked and his body badly bruised. It is believed that he was badly beaten. McGregor is still unconscious.

SAW MAN DROWN

Toronto Workmen Threw Ropes to Comrade Who Fell Into Water.

Toronto, Aug. 29.—With a number of men standing on a scow within ten feet of him, a man named McGee was drowned yesterday afternoon in the lagoon near the island, where they are putting through a cut for the waterworks.

Several of the men threw ropes to the drowning man, but none of them seemed to reach him, and he was pulled out later, dead. Dr. Clarke of the Hospital for Sick Children, was sent for, and he worked over the man for some time, but was unable to revive him.

Rob Police Chief's Guest

Brantford, Aug. 29.—James Hill and Amos Black, both colored, are held here in connection with a robbery from a young man who was a guest at Chief of Police Slemin's house, Lorne Crescent. The sum of $40 stolen was found in Hills' possession.

C.P.R. Orders 1,000 Cars.

Hamilton, Aug. 29.—The Canadian Pacific Railway has placed an order for 1,500 box cars with the National Car Co., the new million dollar concern, which is rushing its plant up here, and which expects to be in operation in the early fall.

Morality Department Busy.

Toronto, Aug. 29.—Yesterday afternoon the morality department at the City Hall raided a number of handbook places in Toronto. Six men were corralled. They will appear before the magistrate to-day.

CHARGED WITH MURDER OF WIFE

First Step in Solution of a Mystery in Montreal.

Montreal, Aug. 29.—Charged with the murder of his wife, Adelard Boudrias was arrested yesterday by Detective Girard of the Provincial detectives. The case involves a river mystery, which has baffled the police for weeks. The body of the prisoner's wife was found floating in the river some weeks ago; there were only a few bruises on it, so the case was disposed of as accidental drowning. Then the wife's brother came forward, showing letters from the deceased woman, saying her life had been threatened by the husband. Subsequently it is claimed the wife's ring was found in the husband's possession, which it is alleged that before her body was even discovered he made statements to the effect that she was dead.

HAD CLOSE CALL

Dr. J. Robertson and Party, of Stratford, Nearly Killed at Hamilton.

Hamilton, Aug. 29.—Dr. J. Robertson, of Stratford, and a party of seven women and two children, returning from Toronto, had a remarkable escape from death on the Waterdown road while trying to race to Hamilton ahead of the storm on Tuesday. One of the cars became unmanageable, and was only brought to a stop on the edge of the steep ravine, when the second car, following it, crashed into it, locking the brakes. Dr. Robinson and his wife, with their party, returned to Stratford yesterday.

Lead Bounties Cease.

Ottawa, Aug. 29.—The high price of lead in London is responsible for no bounties being paid at present on the Canadian product. The bounty is $15 a ton, but when the price in London is $18 payments cease automatically. That figure in the English market has been reached, and in consequence bounties are not being paid at present.

SEVEN INDICTED ALDERMEN HEAD THE POLLS AT DETROIT

In Yesterday's Primaries Several of the Accused Civic Officials Were Renominated—The Chief Alleged Grafter, However, Lost by Narrow Margin.

Detroit, Aug. 29.—A feature of the local primaries was the victory of seven of the aldermen recently arrested on bribery charges in their contests for renomination. It was reported during the day that Ald. T. E. Glinnan, charged by the prosecutor with having received the largest bribe of any of the accused officials, was one of the victorious candidates. Later returns, however, indicated that he had been defeated by an extremely close vote.

Scattered returns that are still coming in from the state-wide primary election show clearly that the few contests that existed on the state tickets were all bitterly fought. Results from forty-nine counties give Amos S. Mus-

State F. C. Martindale. A great part of the upper peninsula returns are not in yet, and the Martindale forces are claiming that the northern vote will seriously reduce Musselman's majority. It is generally conceded, however, that the latter had won the victory.

The race for the Democratic nomination for mayor of Detroit was the closest contest of its kind locally in years. An official count of 133, out of the city's 177 precincts, gave Mayor Wm. B. Thompson, a majority of 551 over Police Justice E. J. Jeffries.

Oscar B. Marx, Republican candidate for mayor, led his only opponent, Proctor K. Owens, by more than 7,000. Horatio S. Earle is leading his two opponents for the Progressive

WILL SIDE TRACK NEW YORK

The interest that is being taken in the Trent Valley Canal at present by members of the Dominion Parliament and the frequent tours of inspection that have been made of late is significant and is likely to be productive of results. It means that the work of constructing the waterway right through to the Georgian Bay is to be urged upon the Federal authorities by those in a position of influence. That the construction of the Georgian Bay Canal would completely sidetrack New York as a grain shipping port is easily evident to one who will but take a glance at the map. That the anticipation of the work is already beginning to make some people across the border nervous, is shown by the comments of American newspapers, from one of which we quote the following:

"We think of New York as our greatest port, but progressive and wideawake Canada may rob us of that distinction if the Georgian Bay route becomes an actuality. On the day it is completed there begins danger that commercial supremacy may pass to Montreal, and the Canadian boats will control our lakes. Canada is now crying that this canal will mean unbroken bulks to foreign parts. The Erie Canal, despite its enlargement to large boat size, will not be able to compete with this situation.

"Anyone who sees the immense lake traffic, the cargoes of wheat, grain and other commodities that are being shipped east from the Northwest and Canada, can easily realize why the adherents of the new Georgian Bay Canal feel the work should be pushed to completion. The Georgian Bay allows of deep draft vessels, and the small lakes and rivers between it and Montreal require only canals to make this a short and feasible route from the interior of the Northwest to Montreal, the St. Lawrence and the ocean.

"Some six years ago $250,000 was granted by the Canadian government for making a detailed survey to determine the best route and the cost of a canal over it. The engineers in charge have decided that the proposed Georgian Bay ship canal could be essentially a river and lake scheme by using natural waterways, and that if it could be made navigable for large lake freighters, it would be the natural outlet from the West to the ocean. They found that of the 440 miles of projected navigation from 410 to 420 miles follow the course of some river or lake. On the whole route about 30 miles of artificial waterway would be needed, an astonishingly small amount, but lakes and river beds would have to be dredged if a large depth channel would be required. In fact it is estimated that it will probably require ten years to build this canal and cost $100,000,000 if fitted with locks 800 feet long, 75 feet wide, and 22 feet deep.

"It is estimated that such a canal could be operated for about a million dollars a year, but a moderate toll would more than pay this. Surely one day and perhaps more would be gained in going from the head of the Great Lakes to an ocean port.

"Canada is just beginning to realise what an immense asset the Great Lakes are. With the opening of the great wheat fields in Alberta and Saskatchewan, large elevators have been built on Lake Superior. These require facilities for shipment east, and large capacious boats to carry the grain. Canadian passenger boats and a few freighters now go to Eastern ports on Georgian Bay, and from them grain is shipped east by rail. But aside from the cost of this process, and the necessity of unloading and proper terminal storage and facilities, the railroads have reserved the right to refuse any freight that it does not pay them to carry, and not to take any freight if they need their equipment for other purposes. A canal from Georgian Bay through to Montreal would avoid breaking bulk, for it would afford shipment by way of French River to Lake Nipissing, then to Trout Lake at head of Mattawa River, and from this river to the Ottawa and Montreal."

The Georgian Bay Canal will ere long become as great a necessity as any of the trans-continental railway systems.

Crowd Lynches Priest.

Lisbon, Aug. 28.—Despatches received here yesterday from the Portuguese town of Aldeia Obispo, tell of the putting to death of a priest by an infuriated mob.

The priest, it is alleged, attempted to conduct a funeral without the traditional burial rites, and the authorities and the people of the town objected. In the scuffle which ensued the priest, whose surplice was torn, beat an elderly man and was placed under arrest. On the pretext of changing his surplice before accompanying an officer the priest went into the presbytery and secured a revolver, with which he shot the policeman dead.

The inhabitants, infuriated by this act, stormed the parsonage and after seizing the priest lynched him. Burial of the body, which was horribly mutilated, in the local cemetery was opposed by the angry crowd.

Boy Scout May Die.

Toronto, Aug. 28.—Wilfrid Fletcher, one of the Norwood contingent of Boy Scouts, en route to the Exhibition met with a serious accident near Claremont on the C.P.R. train from Norwood. The little fellow was leaning out of the coach window when something struck him behind the right ear, inflicting a severe gash, and fracturing his skull. Dr. Shannon, one of the passengers, dressed the wound, and when the train drew into the Union Station the lad was removed to the Hospital for Sick Children. Late last night he was reported as slightly improved, but little hope is held out for his recovery.

C. N. R. Extends Lines.

Toronto, Aug. 28.—The Canadian Northern are now contemplating a further extension of the Montreal-Riordan line. The right-of-way has been offered by inhabitants of several towns north of Riordan if the C.N.R. will but extend their line. In addition to this the C.N.R. have been encouraged to accept help from the Quebec Government in pushing the line further north to the lakes, Archambault and Ouardau, two of the largest lakes in the Laurentian pleasure ground. This would bring the projected line to a point 16 miles east of the C.P.R. pleasure resort, St. Agathe.

Seized Chinese Pirates.

Macao, China, Aug. 28.—The pirate junk from which a crew of Chinese desperadoes landed on British territory near Hong Kong a few days ago, plundering a native settlement and carrying the tax collector away for ransom, put in here yesterday for supplies and was seized by the Portuguese police. The pirates will be turned over to the British authorities at Hong Kong.

Montreal Grain and Produce.

MONTREAL, Aug. 28.—There was an increased demand from foreign buyers for old crop low grade Manitoba spring wheat, and as bids in many cases were 3d higher than yesterday, a fair amount of business was worked for prompt and nearby shipment, but the demand for new crop wheat is limited, and the prices bid are generally out of line. There was a good enquiry for oats, and the local market is firm, with sales of round lots of No. 3 Canadian western at 49c c.i.f. The foreign demand for new crop spring wheat flour was better, and prices bid were within 3d per sack of that asked by millers. Local trade fair and market steady. Millfeed active and firm. The demand for butter is increasing. Cheese situation strong, with fairly active business doing. Eggs firm. Dressed hogs declined 25c per 100 pounds.

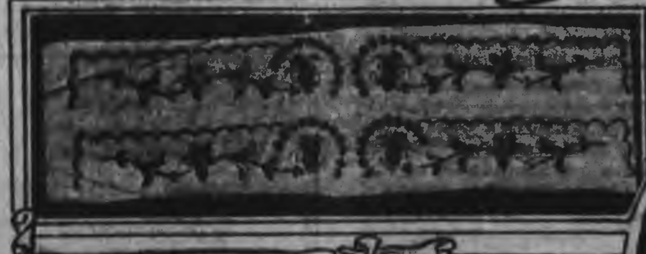
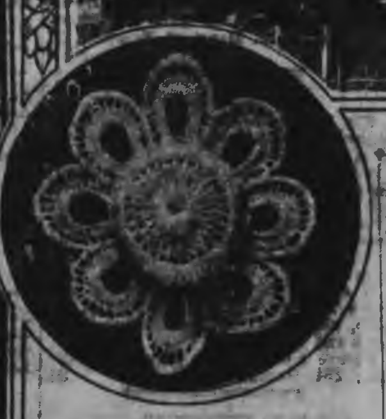
The Swiss Lace Makers of New Jersey

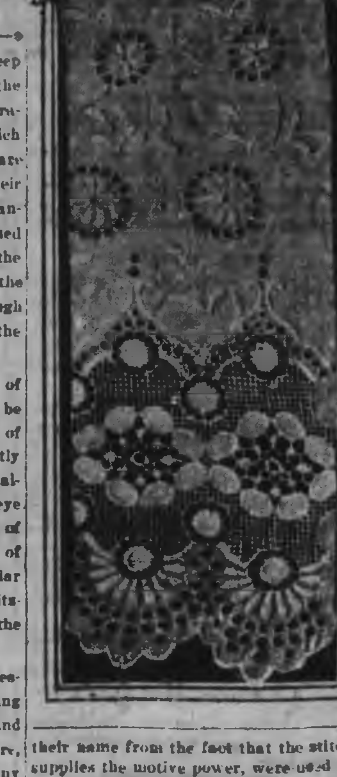


Collars Made on Hand Machines

One of the Lace Factories



Etched or Burnt Out Work



Is the commercial history of the United States to repeat itself in the case of its embroidery trade with Switzerland? Is the colony of Swiss gathered in New Jersey to be the cause of their mother country losing the greater part of an industry which seems to it a birthright as it did the supremacy in watch making? Ten years ago Switzerland derided the thought, to-day the New Jersey colony is smiling—and saying, "Give us more protection." In this case it is a country having its own people as competitors, while in the case of the watch making it was ordinary competition.

On the heights west of Hoboken, N. J., scattered throughout a number of small municipalities, a group of men, mostly Swiss, have been spreading the doctrine of embroidery, telling of its beauties and charms. It is curious that the growth of the industry here is reproducing in many ways the conditions as they are in Switzerland. As the trade there was first an industry of the home and of the small factory attached to the home, before the establishment of the large plants, so here it is first the home factory which predominates. Small factories are springing up seemingly over night, and, at the present time a building intended for this work can always be seen under construction—a large room holding the machines, with skylights at the rear, covering the lower part of the house and the living rooms of the owner above.

It is in New York city that factory conditions have been fostered. A walk through West Hoboken, Union Hill, West New York and North Bergen will be a great surprise to the uninitiated, for the little factories, some holding only one machine, will be met on almost every street, in some cases three are grouped in one block.

A part of the community but keeping aloof and mingling mostly with folk from home, those who are Swiss by birth keep up all the traditions of home, passing the secrets of the trade to the young generation. All the customs of home life, which consider first of all the practical side, are kept intact for many years after their arrival in this country, many of the mannerisms of home adornment are continued in use, the cooking is Swiss and among the older folk one can readily see that the cut of clothing is not American, although one can see a few hobble skirts among the young set.

Embroidery is a never failing topic of conversation; shop talk is always to be heard, due to the large percentage of girls and men who are connected directly or indirectly with the industry. The almost continual presence before the eye of the small workshops and other bits of Swiss local color tends to lend an air of embroidery to the neighborhood, similar in many ways to that in St. Gall, Switzerland, the embroidery centre of the world.

The first attempt to establish the present popular power embroidery making machines in New Jersey was in 1896 and in New York city a short time before, but the industry grew slowly. Many years before the introduction of the power machines, the hand machines, which get their name from the fact that the stitcher supplies the motive power, were used successfully and were doing a lucrative business and are doing so still. It is with these machines that the better class of work is done. At first, and in most cases with the hand machines, the pioneers in the industry in New Jersey were established in an ordinary dwelling house converted to suit their needs.

The presence of the embroidery frame throughout the eastern part of Switzerland is so insistent as to be almost part of the landscape. The picture of the fields, white with the webs spread out to bleach, is not more common nor more surprising to the stranger than that of the Appenzellerin seated before her embroidery frame in the shade and amid the flowers of her garden.

It can truly be said that many a woman of the Swiss Oberland works her very life into the product of her deft fingers, for girlhood, middle age and old age are spent over the embroidery frame. It was in the district about St. Gall that the embroidery trade grew and prospered, and since the introduction of the hand and power machine its influence has been felt directly or indirectly throughout a large district. The popularity of the machines in no way prevents the production of the beautiful work made by hand, much of it being made during the months when the snow flies and it is uncomfortable to travel far from home. The growth of the industry can be seen in the number of machines. The power machine was introduced during the early '80's, and in 1906 the machines in operation numbered 4,051, while in 1911 the number was 7,100. The number of hand machines is almost double this number.

The embroidery may be roughly put into two classes or four varieties, each class having two varieties. In the first class would come the hand and hand machine embroidery, for their stitches are structurally the same; in the second class would come the ordinary sewing machine and power machine embroidery, for the same reason. It is the last variety that is making possible the general use of this decoration.

Hand embroidery is too well known to need a detailed description of its qualities and the methods of making it. The hand machine variety is structurally almost an exact duplicate of the former, for the stitches are similar in every way, the needle as in hand embroidery being passed by the machine entirely through the cloth for each stitch, the stitcher furnishing the entire motive power for the machine. It is with this machine that the better class of machine work is made, doing the most intricate designs with ease, and up to a few years ago designs requiring more than one color could be made only on this machine.

The essential difference between the hand machine and the power machine is the structure of the stitch in that the stitch of the latter is similar to that of the sewing machine. The stitch of the ordinary household sewing machine and its method of embroidery is well known. The power machine is simply a sewing machine with many needles, each needle duplicating the pattern which is placed on the end of the machine, the material to be decorated being passed about the point of contact of the many needles, this movement being governed by the stitcher at the end of the machine, he moving the end of a pantograph over a pattern which is six times the size of the completed work, each move of the end of the pantograph being reproduced by every needle in the machine.

As he moves over the pattern with the end of the pantograph, which is connected directly to a perfectly balanced frame holding the cloth, this cloth moves about the point pierced by the needle, receiving the decorating stitches. The delicacy of this machine is marvellous, an experienced operator being capable of governing the placing of the stitch to a small fraction of an inch, the completed work being so close an imitation of hand embroidery as to deceive most people until a close inspection is made. Most of the machines are set directly on mother earth, upon a firm foundation to prevent vibration, which would throw the stitch out of place. The mechanism of the machine is so simple as to astound the beholder at first, but when he is told the number in stitches capable in one day he is abashed. It is the duplication of needles which makes this possible, although the machine itself works at a low rate of speed. While the machine is capable of making 125 operations in one minute it seldom does so, and when it is considered that 680 needles are sometimes at work on the standard size machine it will be seen that 85,000 single stiches are made in one minute, or about 5,000,000 in one hour, the operator timing each move of the pantograph, which represents one stitch, to the moment when the needle is not piercing the cloth, as it is impossible to move it while the needle is doing so. Threads break while the machine is in full swing, but this is no deterrent to the girl watcher performing her regular duty of threading up the needle while it is moving full speed. Think of a woman threading up her sewing machine while it is moving!

Intricate designs and work upon flimy foundations are as easily made as a simple design on heavy cotton goods; work on spidery netting seems play. Silks, woollens, flannels, linens and cottons of various weaves are some of the materials used as foundation; silk, cotton and linen are used in working out the design. The variety of designs is almost innumerable, an expert estimating them at several millions, saying that the variations are endless and governed by the fashions of the day.

A variety of goods for which there is much demand and for which the demand is growing is the Swiss lace, which is also known as "burnt-out work" and as "etched work," getting the last two names from an operation used in its production. It is embroidery without the supporting foundation or supporting backs. The design is stitched in the usual way, generally upon a ground of very light weight material, after which this ground is destroyed by acid or heat, governed by the material used.

ALL CLASSES PAID TRIBUTE TO DEAD LEADER'S MEMORY

Mayor Bradburn Presided at Memorial Services Last Night — City Officials, Clergymen, Business Men and Salvationists Pronounced Touching Eulogies on the Life and Work of the Late General Booth.

The churches of the city, the civic authorities and the business men, were represented at the special memorial service held in the Salvation Army Hall last night, in a token of respect to the late General Booth and every class of citizens paid warm and graceful tribute to the dead leader's life and work. The members of the Army assembled in Victoria Park about 7.30 and headed by the band playing the solemn strains of the "Dead march in Saul," marched slowly through the drizzling rain to the place of meeting.

The hall was crowded despite the threatening weather, when the members of the band took their places, the funeral march was again played, and the speakers of the evening filed into the building and took seats on the platform. The visitors present were Rev. John Fee, Rev. H. J. Keith, Rev. W. C. Riddiford, Secretary Hainsworth of the Y.M.C.A. Mayor Bradburn, Ald. Anderson, Chief Howard, Mr. F. L. Ackerman Mr. Peter Campbell and ex-Ald. Batten. The Mayor presided.

After prayer by Rev. Mr. Fee, the assemblage joined in singing "O God our Help in Ages Past." Rev. Mr. Keith read passages of Scripture filled with comfort to the bereaved, from the opening words "Let not your hearts be troubled," to the final promise, "there shall be no night there." The Army's Songsters sang, Beautiful Home," and the band rendered, "Welcome Sweet Day," one of the late General's favorite hymns.

Among the many eulogies pronounced by the speakers, none was more touching and graceful than the one spoken on behalf of the Women Soldiery, by Mrs. Peryer, mother of Bandmaster Peryer. Mrs. Peryer, who is recently from England, was converted thirty-three years ago at a meeting personally conducted by the General. She met him at different times, and was always struck by the kindness and sympathy he felt for his followes. A short time ago, she was at a meeting, when, almost sightless, the general was led to the desk to make an address. When he left that meeting, he turned at the door and raising his hands in benediction said, "Press Forward," the last words Mrs. Peryer heard him utter.

Thomas Brooks, local treasurer of the Army, spoke on behalf of the men soldiery, and Ald. Anderson for the citizens of Peterboro. The Aldermen made fitting reference to the work accomplished by the general, and said that this grand work is sure to be carried forward ably and faithfully by the new leader, who has been so carefully trained by his departed father.

Rev. W. C. Riddiford made one of his characteristic and eloquent addresses. He met the late general in Windsor some years ago, and received one of the greatest inspirations of his life when the famous evangelist shook hands with him and made a blessing upon him. Mr. Riddiford said that the general had in his life time accomplished more good in the cause of humanity than all the churches combined, and still that work is only in its infancy. The local corps were commended for the good they are doing in Peterborough.

Mayor Bradburn said that the world was better to-day because General Booth had lived, and would be bettered by the lives of all who would follow the example so clearly set before them. The Salvation Army is doing a grand work in the world and in the city. It is reaching people whom the churches cannot touch, and he hoped that the organization would prsoper — as he felt certain it would— under the new leader.

Capt. Watkinson told of an incident in the life of the late general, as showing how he worked in season and out of season. Once when in South Africa, he had a business transaction with the celebrated diamond prince, the late Cecil Rhodes, at the close of which the Salvationist knelt down and prayed. It was probably the first devotional exercise the millionaire had witnessed since his boyhood, and he told the general that he was the first man who had ever attempted to pray in his presence.

After the singing of the hymn, "When I Survey" and the benediction by Capt. Watkinson, the memorial service ended.

FREE METHODISTS HOLDING ANNUAL CONFERENCE HERE

Delegates From All Parts of Ontario in Session in the Aylmer Street Church — Missionary From Africa to Give an Address.

The seventeenth annual session of the East Ontario Conference of the Free Methodist Church convened in their church on Aylmer street yesterday afternoon at 2 p.m. Bishop Pearce, of Titusville, Pa., called the conference to order, conducted the devotional exercises and presided.

Rev. C. Cunningham, resident pastor, was elected secretary, and Rev. A. F. Ball, assistant secretary.

The following named ministers were present: Rev. W. H. Reynolds, Uxbridge district; elder of the Toronto and Muskoka district; Rev. R. Burnham, Picton district, elder of the Kingston and Campbellford district; Rev. L. Singerman, conference evangelist; Rev. W. Zurongg, Hillsdale, treasurer of the conference; Rev. S. G. Snyder, Holt; Rev. H. B. Luck, Bracebridge; Rev. A. F. Ball, Campbellford; Rev. E. Snyder, Kingston; Rev. C. Goodrich, Verona; Rev. F. F. Prior, Uxbridge; Rev. M. L. Benn, Toronto; Rev. D. L. Gunter, Belhaven; Rev. W. H. Gregory, Warkworth; Rev. Miles Babcock, Cordova; Rev. H. Smith, Housey Rapids; Rev. W. P. Haradan, Huntsville; Rev. R. Babcock, Marmora; Rev. A. Sims, Toronto; Misses Lotta Babcock and Kate Clark, Gravenhurst, lady evangelists.

The lay delegates are: George Babcock, Walter Tompkins, John McAuley, H. F. Smith, Henry Kay, Asa Amey, Bessie Cochrane, J. D. Shier, Frank E. Minor, G. E. Valleau, Norman Cole, Hiram Leake, Robert Kerr, Wm. Steenburg, R. J. Whaley, Thos. J. Luck, George Fuller, Wm. Marks, Barnett Babcock.

Dr. Backenstoe, missionary from Africa, was introduced to the conference and invited to an honorary seat. A public missionary meeting will be held some time during the conference, at which he will give a very interesting account of his laborers in Africa, and of the work in general there. Due announcement will be made of this meeting.

Two laymen were elected to serve on the Stationing Committee, which consists of the bishop, the two district elders and the two laymen.

Revs. W. H. Reynolds, R. Burnham and A. Sims were elected a Nominating Committee. Their report will be presented to-day.

The business sittings of the conference commences at 8.30 and close at 11.30 a.m., and all are open to the public. Preaching service every afternoon at 2.30, and 8 p.m.

Last night Bishop Pearce preached to a very large and responsive congregation from 1 Thess., 5. 23: "And the very God of peace sanctify you wholly, and I pray God your whole spirit and soul and body be preserved blameless unto the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ." The sermon was masterly, logical and eminently scriptural and Methodistic. An altar call was given and several came forward to seek entire sanctification.

TO-DAY'S SESSION.

The second sitting of the Free Methodist Conference convened in

Most of the time of this morning's sitting was taken up with reports from circuits, which, on the whole, showed a good degree of prosperity, both spiritually and financially.

A most interesting communication was read from Rev. F. C. Appleton, who is a member of the conference, and is now serving as a missionary in China.

Revs. W. H. Reynolds and R. Burnham were re-elected as district elders for the ensuing year.

At the close of the morning sitting the bishop addressed the conference on the preacher and his work. The address was full of wise and eminently practical counsel.

Rev F. F. Prior, of Uxbridge, was appointed to preach this afternoon, and Rev. M. S. Benn, of Toronto, at 8 p.m.

Farm Laborers

The latest report from Winnipeg regarding farm laborers was received in a telegram to-day from Grand Trunk Pacific Railway at Winnipeg, that on account of heavy demand for harvesters, especially along Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, where the maximum wages are being paid, that every effort be made to increase the supply.

A special farm laborers' train will leave Toronto 2.00 p.m. on Friday, the 30th, via Grand Trunk through Chicago and Duluth.

SULLIVAN—HARRIS NUPTIALS

The Hamilton Spectator of yesterday says:

All the world loves a lover and all the world loves a bride, and Cupid could not collect fairer toll than he did this morning, when Miss Anne Marjorie, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred J. Harris, became the bride of Mr. Herbert J. Sullivan, M. D., one of Hamilton's rising young professional men. The wedding took place at 8 o'clock in St. Patrick's Church, Right Rev. Thomas Joseph Dowling, Bishop of Hamilton, performing the ceremony. The bride was attended by her cousin, Miss Bessie McSloy, of St. Catharines, as maid of honor, and her young sister, Miss Regis Harris, as flower girl. Mr. Parnall McHugh, of Toronto, was best man, and Messrs. Reed Murphy and Edward Kelly acted as ushers. Miss Florence Filgiano presided at the organ, giving the Bridal Chorus from Lohrengrin as the bridal party entered the church, and Mendelssohn's wedding march at the close of the service. During the ceremony Mr. Fred Murphy sang Ave Maria, by Luigi Luzzi, and Azederum, by Millard. Immediately following the marriage, nuntial mass was celebrated by Rev. J. H. Cody, assisted by Rev. Joseph Bagnasco and Rev. J. F. Hinchey. The interior of St. Patrick's church, at all times beautiful, was even more so this morning with the beautiful floral decorations of white asters and palms, presenting a fitting background for the brilliant colorings of the gowns of the ladies present. The bride was attired in a gown of rich ivory duchess satin, on the left side of which was a deep panel of pearl embroidery with heavy silk roses picked out in rhinestones, and over the right side hung a rich drape of duchess lace, both trimmings terminating at the knee in a wide, loose band of embroidery and pearls, while a court train fell in heavy folds from the empire waist. She wore also a tulle veil hemmed in pearls, in cap effect, with orange blossoms, and carried a shower bouquet of orchids and lilies of the valley. Diamond earrings, the gift of the groom, were the only ornaments worn. The maid of honor, Miss McSloy, was gowned in pink satin veiled in flowered silk net, with touches of lavender, large shell pink chiffon hat, with white plumes, and carried pink roses. Miss Regis Harris, flower girl, wore a sweet little empire frock of white satin, trimmed with ribbon roses, and carried a white satin shepherd's crook decorated with lilies of the valley.

The groom's gift to the maid of honor was a coral and pearl necklace, to the flower girl a gold bracelet, to the best man a silver cigaret case, and to the ushers pearl and gold stud sets.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held by the bride's parents at their home on Main street, the young people receiving their friends in the drawing-room, which was simply and tastefully decorated with palms and white asters, as were the dining and sitting-rooms, where breakfast was served by Caterer Crawford, an orchestra in the sun parlor providing music for the occasion. The guests present were relatives and intimate friends only of both families, many coming from Toronto, St. Catharines, Peterboro and Montreal.

An array of exceptionally beautiful gifts evince the popularity both bride and groom are held in among their friends.

After the wedding breakfast Dr. and Mrs. Sullivan left on a honeymoon trip to New York and other eastern points, the bride traveling in a suit of grey velour cloth briaded in black, with heavy white corded silk collar, white moire hat with ostrich mount. On their return to town Dr. and Mrs. Sullivan will reside at 58 Wellington street south.

Some of the gowns noticed were:

Mrs. F. J. Harris, mother of the bride, looked very stylish in a handsome costume of king's blue charmeuse satin with rick black lace over-dress embroidered in oriental beads, black plumed hat with touches of king's blue, bouquet of bluish pink rosebuds.

Mrs. J. C. Sullivan, Peterboro, mother of the bridegroom, gown of mauve satin, with black silk marquisette overdress, trimmed with bands of heavy silk embroidery, black hat with willow plume, bouquet of roses.

Miss Genevieve Sullivan, cadet blue silk foulard, panel of rich cream allover lace, white plush hat with touches of pink.

Miss Evelyn Harris, pale blue duchess messaline satin, bands of crystal fringe, with chiffon sash and pearl ornament, white hat.

WALKER—MORROW

The handsome residence of ex-Mayor W. G. Morrow, was last evening the scene of an exceedingly pretty house wedding and one of unusual interest, when his sister, Miss Belle, was united in marriage with Major Duncan Walker. The marriage ceremony, which was solemnized in the dancing room, which was beautifully decorated with palms and gladiolias, was performed by Rev. Dr. Shorey, of Lindsay, assisted by Rev. T. J. Mansell.

About seventy relatives and immediate personal friends of the principals were present as guests to witness the ceremony, and they were received by the bride's only sister, who was gowned in pale pink crepe draped in shadow lace and carried a beautiful bouquet of American beauty roses.

The bride was charmingly attired in white duchess satin trimmed with old lace and looked exceedingly well. Her bouquet was a shower of lily of the valley and her one ornament was a handsome diamond pendant, the gift of the groom. She entered the drawing room on the arm of her brother and was preceded by two pretty flower girls, scattering rose petals as they walked. The bride and groom were unattended except by these dainty children, Jessie Matthews, daughter of Mr. T. F. Matthews, and Rosamond Huycke, daughter of His Honor Judge Huycke, the former in pale blue and the latter in pale pink. Each were garlaned with flowers of blue and pink and wore platinum bracelets, the gift of the groom.

The music was orchestral and Mr. Norman Jolliffe, of New York, also rendered several vocal solos, that before the ceremony being "The Voice that Breathed O'er Eden."

Following the ceremony cordial congratulations were tendered and usual toasts and brief speeches.

The bride's going away gown was a tailor-made suit of blue whip cord. The honeymoon tour will include a trip down the St. Lawrence and the Saguenay. Upon their return they will reside at 206 Aylmer street.

The many gifts told of the bride's social popularity and her host of friends. The groom, besides his association with educational interests, is a popular officer of the 57th Regiment, the officers of which sent a handsome grandfather's clock with their happy felicitations.

Guests from out of town included relatives and friends from New York, Boston, Toronto, Hamilton, Chatham and other places.

THE MEMBERS OF THE SACRED HEART T.A.S. are requested to meet this evening at 8 30 for the purpose of visiting the home of their late brother, James O'Brien. Jas. Lasure, President.

THE LAUNCHING OF THE EMPRESS

There was a huge crowd of spectators to witness the launching of the Empress of Russia at Glasgow, to-day, Aug. 28th, one of the two new Empress steamers ordered by the Canadian Pacific Railway. The launch of the new vessel was performed by Mrs. H. Wyndham Beauclerk, the eldest daughter of Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, the president of the C.P.R. Amongst those present and in the unavoidable absence of Mr. A. Piers, the European Steamship Manager of the C.P.R., was Mr. George McL. Brown, the European Manager of the C.P.R., who represented the company.

WAS REMEMBERED BY HER FRIENDS

Miss Rose Dyer Who Comes to Peterboro' From Lindsay Presented With Gold Ring.

Miss Rose Dyer, who, for some years has been chief operator in the Bell Telephone exahnge at Lindsay arrived yesterday in Peterboro, where she has been appointed to a responsible position in the local exchange.

Before she parted from her friends and business associates in Lindsay, she was presented with an address and a beautiful gold ring set with a ruby. Those present when the presentation was made were the local chief Mr. T. J. Tuly, local plant chief W. D. Buck, wire chief W. Wellbourn Miss M. Ranson, Miss O. O'Neill, Miss E. Corran, Miss L. Thorn, Miss H. Hungerford, Miss J. Haugh, Miss G. Haugh, and Miss P. Workman.

The presentation was made by Mr. T. J. Tuly after he had read the following address—

Dear Miss Dyer—Knowing of your near departure from among us, we the telephone staff, wish to present to you a small token of our esteem Hoping when you wear this you will remember the friends you are leaving behind you.

Your going will leave a gap not easily filled, but your friends are all pleased to hear of your advancement.

During your stay here you have through your kindness and willingness to assist, made all of us friends, who though sorry to see you go, join in wishing you success in your new position.

Miss Dyer expressed her thanks for the expression of the staff's good feeling toward her in few words, telling them how much she regretted leaving the Lindsay office, although the position offered her in Peterborough was an advancement. She said she felt her position here would be ably filled by her successor, Miss M. Ranson, in whose abilities she had great confidence.

LOCAL YOUNG MAN TO BE MANAGER

Of Eastern Branch of Western Realty Company to Locate Here.

After a month's visit to his home here, Mr. A. N. Allison, returned to Winnipeg this afternoon, where he has resided for the last two and a half years. Mr. Allison will return to Peterborough in about a month to accept the management of the Eastern branch of the Investors' Realty Company, of Winnipeg, to be established in this city. The position is one that requires good business experience and involves a considerable amount of responsibility. Mr. Allison's services were personally solicited by the president of the company. Two years of thorough business education in the west, including successful experience in the handling of real estate, have specially qualified Mr. Allison, however, for the office.

The location of the Company's offices in Peterborough has not yet been arranged, but the opening will be early in October.

PETES PROVED GOOD MUDDERS AND WERE AHEAD ALL THE WAY; EIGHT OUT OF NINE FOR TRACEY

Stan. Creswell Stood the Pace Well, on the Mound for the Senators—Hard Hitting by Brant and Nicholls—Score Was 7-2

It's rather funny, that, of the two new teams admitted to the Canadian League this season, one should be returned champions, on the top, and the other, champions on the bottom, and there is an additional supply of comedy when the fans of the bottom champs. watch their crowd trim the other fellows in the upper berth, as the season draws to a close.

◆

The score yesterday was 7—2, and although the fans sat and watched the proceedings with a feeling of "we don't care a rap, its as dry here as any other place," there were lots of fancy baseball in the six and one-half innings. The Petes won because they hit the ball, good and healthy, and the Senators lost because they failed to pull off the same trick.

◆

Manager Cook used Stan. Creswell on the hurling heap and right well did the youngster behave. He had plenty of steam, he mixed 'em up and the number of hits secured by the Petes wasn't any larger than has been collected off some of the best of them. He was a trifle unsteady and two bases on balls were turned into two of the first three runs gathered by the Caps. And if it comes down to "what was what" his team used more speed in chasing the ball before winning the big lead on the other clubs, than was the case yesterday. Altogether Creswell behaved well and is a much better twirler than some people might suppose.

◆

In the hitting, Creswell's single in the third, was the only hit allowed by Tracey in five innings. That was a fly back of short which fell with Brant, Swartz and Beard looking on. In the sixth with one down, Burke, Callahan, Dolan and Robertson singled in succession, for two runs, and maybe it didn't look like a blow up. But it wasn't. Tracey was pitchball and the victory was the eighth in the last nine games, in which he has worked. There was speed to his style, in the third in particular. Cook made the bag when Byrne delayed a throw and then drew Barthold off the bag. Renfer came along with a sacrifice. Creswell grounded to Byrne, who threw to second but Nicholls failed to get under the play. With two on and one out, Tracey fanned Burke and Callahan; and the old pill travelled some.

◆

The features were a three bagger by Brant and a homer by Nicholls, the latter hit bouncing off the brewery barn into the yard. It was the longest hit of the season and Byrne was on first at the time. It so happened that he held the same bag when Brant got his.

◆

Some pretty running catches were made by Swartz and the crowd howled in delight when Dolan's long fly landed in Jack White's mit.

◆

Trout made three bags on a hit to Burke in the third. Sailor allowed the ball to get through him and thus assisted the Petes in the run getting as White and Swartz scored.

BREEZES FROM THE DIAMOND

The White Caps may play a University nine, after the series with Ottawa next week.

◆

Yesterday's bill had to be called in the seventh, after Ottawa had batted. Umpire Blake decided it was too dark. And the players thought it was too wet.

◆

Dolan's terrific drive in the sixth almost upset Johnny Barthold. The big first baseman was lucky to protect himself.

◆

A double header will be pulled off on Friday afternoon.

◆

That ball which Nicholls waffed over the brewery barn was meant for a waster. The batter was damp however, and Creswell did not get the ball cross as intended.

◆

Any of the White Caps who feel disposed to remain in Peterboro, after the season is closed, will be given positions.

◆

Creswell may be given another chance in the box for Ottawa, this week.

RETURNING half cent mile to Winnipeg, plus $18.00 to destination in Eastern Canada.

GOING DATES.

AUG. 23rd—From all stations south of but not including Main Line, Toronto to Sarnia Tunnel, via Stratford; all stations Toronto and north and east of Toronto to Kingston and Renfrew.

AUG. 28th—From all stations Toronto and east, and east of Orillia and Scotia Junction.

AUG. 30th—From all stations Toronto to North Bay, inclusive, and west thereof in Ontario.

This is an exceptional chance for young men to visit the west, which is truly called the land of "Golden Opportunities," as many prosperous farmers and business men now residing in Western Canada can trace the origin of their good fortune to a "Farm Laborers' Excursion." The route via Chicago is an attractive one, as many large cities and towns are passed en route, which breaks the monotony of the journey, as there is something new to see all the time.

CURED OF THIS HORRIBLE DISEASE

Edmonton Girl saved By "Fruit-a-tives"

EDMONTON, ALTA., Nov. 20th 1911.

"I had been a sufferer from babyhood with that terrible complaint, Constipation.

I have been treated by physicians and have taken every medicine that I heard of, but without the slightest benefit. I concluded that there was no cure for this horrible disease.

Finally, I read of "Fruit-a-tives" and decided to try them, and the effect was marvellous.

The first box gave me great relief, and after I used a few boxes, I found that I was entirely well.

"Fruit-a-tives" is the only medicine that ever did me any good for Chronic Constipation and I want to say to all who suffer as I did—Try "Fruit-a-tives"—why suffer any longer when there is a perfect cure in this great fruit medicine"

(MISS) E. A. GOODALL.

"Fruit-a-tives" is the only remedy in the world made of fruit and the only one that will completely and absolutely cure Constipation.

50c a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size, 25c. At all dealers or sent on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

Sargent, who made a few opening remarks. The following program was rendered: Miss Pearl Petrie, recitation; Mr. A. Armstrong, H. Howard, musical selection; Mr. Ernest Heffernan, song, "Love, me and the World is Mine" (encore); Mr. T. Petrie, song, "The Brooklyn Theatre Burning"; Mr. Wesley Webster, song, "A Summer in the Country"; Mr. Canlin and Mr. Turner sang several songs; Mr. Ed. Sargent, a reading; Mr. H. Howard, song, "I'm the Candy Lad"; Mr. H. Quinn, Douro, a reading; Mr. Clifford Curtis, song, "When the Harvest Days are Over"; Mr. W. G. Johnston, song, "When Maloney Drives up to the Door."

At the conclusion of the program a vote of thanks was moved by Mr. G. Lee, seconded by Mr. Harold Fitch, to those who took part.

After refreshments were served by the young ladies, "God Save the King" was sung, when all left for home, well pleased with the night's outing.

INDEPENDENT FORESTERS

The achievements of the Independent Order of Foresters in the field of fraternal insurance have for years stood out as evidence of what may be accomplished by an organization guided by men having the high interest of the order at heart. Down on Society Row the number of callers gives some idea of the world-wide membership of the order. Every member is cordially invited by those in charge of the tent, while new members requiring information will also receive every attention. The order's rates and benefits should appeal to all who investigate the standing of the order and what is offered.

The I.O.F. tent at the Toronto Exhibition is now open to their many friends and visitors. The tent is beautifully furnished with mission oak, and decorated with palms. The front is attractive and striking, the chief decorations being large palms, intermingled with flowers. The tent is one of those places on the grounds that should not be passed without calling and learning something of the order's great advances. Already there is evidence of many new members as a result of the placing of the tent on Society Row.

It is most interesting to talk with those in charge of the tent, and note their enthusiasm when discussing last year's record. It would do a member or friend on the outside good to hear of the great good they are doing the masses of the people, they having paid during the year 1911 $2,316,749.74, to beneficiaries; to hear them tell of the many homes they have visited with the check of $500 or $1,000.

It would stir the heart of any man or woman to take a more determined stand in assisting to promote an institution that is doing so much good for their fellowmen.

Another great feature which they enthuse over is their disability benefit, which practically means that when a member of the order is permanently or totally disabled, they feel that is the time when he should be relieved. Therefore he ceases to pay all further payments, and receives 70 per cent. of his policy within a year after he has been pronounced permanently or totally disabled by his physician.

Another great feature in their policy is the relief they are to their members when they reach the age of 70. All members cease to pay at that age, and if they so desire they can draw 70 per cent. of their policy in a lump sum.

This itself, should waken young men to the importance of making application in a society that will guarantee him full protection against death or disability, and then when they have reached an age when they find they cannot fight the battle of life as they have done in the past, the brethren of that institution come to them and release them of all further payments and pay to them 70 per cent. of their policy.

Those in charge are very enthusiastic about this, showing where the young men could not be persuaded to save, but through the channels of the order he takes an obligation binding him to pay a certain amount every month, which gives him a protection of $1,000 to his beneficiaries, or when he reaches the age of seventy the draws his 70 per cent. and all he has paid into the order is a little better than $480, which means that the risk has been carried that number of years, and the amount of money he has paid in has been returned to him with profits.

It is also very interesting to hear them refer to many thousands who have have been visited at the hour of sickness, comforted by the visitation of the members and the tender care of the nurse who has been provided by the order, and along with that they receive a sick benefit of $3 a week for the first two weeks, $5 a week for the next ten weeks, and $3 a week for the next six months, and to hear them talk of the great relief and happiness they have brought into the hearts of many who have suffered and would have had to endure it alone had it not been for the enthusiasm of the members who got out and talked to their many friends of the great advantages one can enjoy by becoming a member of this great order.

The order has paid out during the past year in sick and funeral benefits alone $277,504.54. Such benefits as these should be sufficient to weaken the many men and women who have yet to make provision against sickness and death to make application immediately, for at the back of all the promises they make their members they have a surplus fund of over nineteen millions of dollars.

A strong invitation is tendered every Forester and every friend who is interested in fraternal work to make the I.O.F. tent a visit, and there receive a souvenir as well as a booklet explaining the different branches that this order has undertaken to adopt. It is one of the very few spots where friends can receive a cool, refreshing rest, and any friend who is anxious to help in the fraternal branch of the order can secure for the sanatorium and orphanage stamps, which go towards helping to care for the afflicted.

THE C.P.R.'S NEW STEAMSHIPS

A cablegram has been received today, announcing that the Empress of Russia has been launched at Glasgow and her sister ship, the Empress of Asia, will be launched in the course of the next two months. Both vessels are being built for the C. P. R., by the Fairfield Shipbuilding and Engineering Company of Glasgow, for their transpacific service and will be ready to go into service early next summer; they are much larger than any of the present fleet, being 590 feet in length, 68 feet beam and 46 feet in depth, and gross tonnage about 15,000. The turbine system of propulsion has been adopted by the C.P.R. for the time in these two vessels which are to be propelled four screws driven by four sets of Parson's turbines, and will have an average speed at sea of eighteen knots per hour. They embody all the latest improvements both for the safety and comfort of passengers.

In the construction of these vessels a radical departure from the current practice has been made in constructing them with cruiser sterns and the rudders entirely underhung. This form of stern, besides giving the vessels a very distinctive appearance increases the effective length of water line, thereby assisting propulsion, and also adds considerably to the available deck space at the after end. The vessels will have five decks and in addition a long combined forecastle and bridge deck. Above the bridge deck will be located the principal first class public rooms, with the officers' quarters and navigating bridge overhead. In the dining saloon, tables have been arranged to suit the demands of various passengers. Small tables will be provided to accomodate two and four persons and larger ones for parties of six will be arranged in alcoves, whilst there will be still larger tables for other parties.

Accomodation is provided for two hundred first class, 100 second class and 300 third class passengers, the two latter classes being for Asiatics. A number of single berth rooms, as well as double berth rooms have been provided so that the growing class of passengers who desire privacy can be taken care of. There are also a number of suites consisting of bedroom, sitting room and bath room. Besides the usual spacious dining-saloon, lounge, cafe, library and writing room, a large gymnasium has been provided on the upper deck. It is to be fitted up with a large variety of exercising machines. Another feature adopted for the first time, is the laundry, which will be found of great convenience, especially in the hot weather on the China coast.

Mr. W. E. D. McTaffart, superintendent of the Buffalo Park at Wainwright, a Grand Trunk Pacific divisional point, reports that no less than 250 buffalo calves have been added to the herd this year, increasing the number of animals in the reserve to nearly 1,200. The increase in the number of calves over last year is estimated at 25 per cent, while the death rate as been remarkably low. All of the buffalo are in a very healthy condition and are becoming exceedingly tame. On driving through the park, in fact, they refuse to remove from the trail so that it is necessary to drive around them. The report states, however, that several have recently given indications of an ugly disposition, though this is attributed to the fact that the animals are now mating.

OSHKIGMONG

Special Correspondence.

Oshkigmong, Aug. 29—Alfred McCue has just returned from a two months' trip to Georgian Bay, his headquarters being at Point au Barie. He and Albert Smoke were with the one party all the while they were away, guiding, cooking and waiting were their chief duties every day.

An excursion is coming here on Saturday from Young's Point and intermediate places.

Mr. Allen Taylor and Mrs. Ben Taylor and Mildred are at Hiawatha visiting friends for a few days.

Mr. Thomas Wesley, of Rama, is here for a few days' visit. Mr. Wesley preached to a large congregation last Sunday evening.

The people are all getting ready for the three days' excursion to Lake Simcoe.

Mr. Albert Smoke is taking a trip down to Hiawatha, where he will stay for a few days.

INDIAN RIVER NEWS

Special Correspondence

Indian River, Aug. 29.—Farmers are very busy just now with the harvest.

Indian River inhabitants are certainly taking advantage of the summer months by picnicing. Under the auspices of Mr. Macleod, Misses Jennie Holland and Janet Breckenridge a picnic was held on the shore of Rice Lake on Tuesday of last week. Mr. Thomas Breckenridge, who is locally famous for his skill as an oarsman, took all in turn for a sail over the lake, while Mr. Macleod employed part of his time handling a large punt. Mr. Walter Bryce and family, of Toronto, who have been residing in a summer cottage for the past six weeks, came over in the afternoon and kindly relieved Mr. Breckenridge from his rather arduous work by taking the party for a sail in his gasoline launch, which, needless to say, was greatly enjoyed by all.

A contest in swimming took place in the afternoon and the two prizes for the same were won by Misses Mary Elmhirst and Maggie Shearer.

Mr. and Mrs. Bryce and family consented to join the party for tea, which was served in picnic fashion on a rustic table on the shore of the lake. About 8 o'clock the party dispersed to their respective homes, after a very pleasant holiday had been spent and a vote of thanks given to those whose kind efforts had made the picnic a success.

Some of those present were: Mrs. Hall, Mrs. W. H. Borland, Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Wood, Mr. and Mrs. T. Breckenridge, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Elmhirst, Mrs. Jos. Faux, Norwood; Mrs. Richard Faux, of Westwood.

The people of this locality are debating whether such a modern convenience as "rural mail delivery," which is expected in the near future, will prove beneficial to the neighborhood or otherwise, but all seem satisfied with such modern securities as lightning rods, which are to defy the elements. No need to fear electric storms now.

Mr. Billy Faux sold a large quantity of raspberries this season. Mr. Faux is to be congratulated on this success as a gardener.

Mr John Graham is suffering at present from a severe attack of the gout.

Mr. Gib. Elmhirst, who is interested in educational affairs, does not approve of the long holidays during the summer months, especially in the rural schools.

Misses Minnie and Pearl Moore, of Peterborough, are guests of their friend Miss Ada Elmhurst, this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Sargent attended church in Norwod last Sunday.

Miss Vine Shearer was in Peterborough Saturday last.

CITY FATHERS OBJECT TO ANY C.P.R. STOCK INCREASE

Windsor, Aug. 30.—The most important action taken by the Union of Canadian Municipalities at its final session here yesterday was the adoption unanimously of the resolution offered by Ald. Joseph Clarke of Edmonton, opposing the application of the Canadian Pacific Railway for permission to increase its capital stock by $60,000,000. The convention based its opposition to the proposed plan on the grounds that the scheme is for the sole purpose of keeping dividends of the company below the limit at which the Dominion Government would be entitled to exercise control over freight and passenger rates.

The resolution reads as follows:

"Whereas as upon the incorporation and issuing of a charter to the Canadian Pacific Railway Co. of Canada provision was made that the Government should retain and exercise control of the freight and passenger rates as soon as the profits accruing to the said company reach the amount of 10 per cent. per annum on the common stock, and,

"Whereas, up to the present time this beneficial provision has been of no benefit to the patrons of the said railway company, especially in the western part of Canada, any reduction or consideration in the adjustment of its freight and passenger rates for the reason that the said company has never admitted that their profits equalled ten per cent. per annum on the common stock and whereas now the profits of the said company have reached such proportions that it is impossible longer to deny that the profits have reached that point where the Government of Canada is entitled to exercise control and regulation of the freight and passenger rates, and,

"Whereas, the said company have made application or are about to make application for permission to increase the common stock of the company without in any way retaining the safeguard and equitable provision stipulated by the Government of Canada when the provision herein referred to was first inserted, and,—

"Whereas, in the opinion of this convention it would be inequitable, unfair and lacking in sound public policy to in any way acquiesce in the desire of the company without retaining the provisions first stipulated in regard to the control of freight and passenger rates.

"Now, therefore, this convention of the Union of Canadian Municipalities hereby resolves that in our opinion no permission should be given to the Canadian Pacific Railway Co. to issue new stock or increase its present stock without retaining the same or more effectual control of freight and passenger rates as is now existing and that steps should be taken at this time to exercise the control retained by the Government of Canada upon the issuing of the charter of the said company.

"And that a copy of this resolution be sent to the Premier of Canada and to the Minister of Railways and Canals."

Another resolution adopted, deprecated the practice of the carrying of appeals to the Government by railway companies who objected to adverse rulings by the Railway Commission. In the opinion of the municipal delegates, the Railway Commission should be made the sole arbiter of all disputes.

Saskatoon was named as the city for holding the next convention, although Sherbrooke, Regina, and Victoria, B.C., were all anxious for the honor.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Charles Hopewell, mayor of Ottawa, president; L. A. Lavallee, K.C., mayor of Montreal, first vice-president; R. D. Waugh, mayor of Winnipeg, second vice-president; J. L. Beckwith, mayor of Victoria, third vice-president; W. D. Lighthall, K.C., Westmount, Que., re-elected secretary-treasurer; G. S. Wilson, Montreal, re-elected assistant secretary.

BOY SCOUTS BREAK CAMP IN TORONTO

Two Thousand of Them Left The City Yesterday For Their Homes.

Toronto, Aug. 30.—Breaking camp yesterday nearly 2,000 Boy Scouts have scattered to their various home towns. The tents were dropped simultaneously during the afternoon and the spectacle was witnessed by a large crowd. The scouts began to get things ready for their departure in the early morning and by late last night very few were to be seen on the grounds. All Ontario was represented, troops coming from as far north as Haileybury, east to Kingston, west to Windsor and Sarnia, and south to Niagara. None of the troops attempted to trek home. All boarded trains.

Admittedly the young fellows had the greatest outing of their lives. And every one of them learned something that will be valuable to him. Despite the fact that for the three days' sojourn on the grounds of about 2,700 of them there was not one case of sickness reported.

U. S. Cruiser to Rescue.

San Juan Del Sur, Nicaragua, Aug. 30.—The United States cruiser California arrived here yesterday with a detachment of marines on board who are to be used for the protection of American life and property in Nicaragua. Everything is quiet in this port.

Charles Gallow Starved for Three Days in Charitable Toronto.

Toronto, Aug. 30.—Charles Gallow, 100 East Front street, was picked up at the corner of King and Church streets yesterday evening by Constable Third. Gallow was looking very ill when Third first saw him. By the time the constable had hold of him, he was unconscious. He was taken to St. Michael's Hospital, where it was said that he was suffering from starvation. He became conscious about two hours after being taken into the hospital. He said that owing to a run of hard luck, he had not eaten for three days.

PRISONER ESCAPES IN SHORT ORDER

Welland, Aug. 30.—Peter Person of Thorold, was brought to Welland county jail yesterday morning shortly before noon to serve sixty days and by 1.30 he had made his escape. Person made a dash through the door when the guard's back was turned.

PREMIER BORDEN STARTED FOR CANADA THIS MORNING

He Says British Cabinet Has Not Yet Given Canada Any Details of Imperial Defence Conditions, But That all Information Will be Forwarded Later—Denies a Rumor Concerning Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

Special to the Review.

London, Aug. 30.—Hon. R. L. Borden, Canadian Premier, and L. P. Pelletier, Postmaster-General, left London by train this morning to take the Allan liner Victorian at Liverpool for Montreal.

London, Aug. 30.—The Canadian Premier, Robert L. Borden, leaves England to-day for home. In an interview yesterday the Premier said that the British Cabinet had not yet given Canada, on account of pressure of work, any details of the Imperial defence conditions. A full statement, however, he said, will soon be forwarded to Canada.

Mr. Borden denied the report that Sir Wilfrid Laurier, leader of the Opposition in the Canadian Parliament, had refused to join in the consultation on the subject of Imperial defence.

London, Aug. 30.—London newspapers are wholly congratulatory to Mr. Borden on the manner in which he handled the suffrage deputations. The Pall Mall Gazette says: "Way- threatening him with the consequences of withholding women's suffrage in his own land, is a rather consummate piece of rudeness, but probably the suffragettes have discovered that the laws of hospitality are man-made and accordingly they require breaking. Canada will not be inconsolable for the class of immigrants whom the Women's Political Union threaten to send elsewhere."

The Liverpool Post declares the suffragettes received a well deserved snub and adds "A charitable view of these childish suggestions is that the aggressive campaign has entered on its dotage."

The Westminster Gazette describes Mr. Borden's reply as spirited and emphatic, and says: "The method in which he was approached was scarcely courteous. Certainly foolish burglars' or highwaymen's methods will advance no good cause."

It is somewhat noteworthy that The Manchester Guardian, which, while deploring militancy, has championed the cause of women's suffrage, makes no comment.

Scotland Yard detectives have been detailed specially to protect Mr. Borden from suffragette molestation dur-

THE FIRST LORD AND MRS. CHURCHILL ON HOLIDAY

Mr. Winston Churchill, the militant and very active First Lord of the Admiralty, has been passing a part of his holiday at Sandwich, and, of course has attracted the usual amount of attention. The accompanying photograph shows the First Lord and his charming wife enjoying their outing. This was taken before he was "held up" while motoring by two aggressive suffragettes on bicycles.

FOURTEEN MORE MEMBERS FOR DOMINION PARLIAMENT

By the Last Census, Ontario Will Lose Four Representatives While the West Will Gain Twenty-two—Redistribution Bill Will Probably be Introduced Next Session.

Ottawa, Aug. 30.—While the sessional program has not yet been decided upon, and not even been discussed by the Cabinet, it is the general impression that there will be a redistribution bill brought down next session. With the naval question the Bank Act and the redistribution bill to be before the House, it means a lively and probably a lengthy session.

There have been many unofficial statements as to how the new census will affect the representation of the various provinces. The Toronto News correspondent has secured a statement from an official of the Secretary of State Department which shows that Ontario will only lose four seats instead of six as has been reported. The West will get no fewer than 22 new seats. Manitoba's representation will be increased from 10 to 15; Saskatchewan will get six new seats; Alberta five and British Columbia six.

Politically it should not make much difference in the next election, as the increased representation in Saskatchewan and Alberta, where the Liberals hope to gain, will be offset by Manitoba and British Columbia, both Conservative provinces.

New Brunswick will lose one seat, Nova Scotia two, and Prince Edward Island one.

The following are the figures of the representation as it will likely stand by the next redistribution bill:

	Next.	Last.
Ontario	82	86
Quebec	65	65
New Brunswick	12	13
Nova Scotia	16	18
Prince Edward Island	3	4
Manitoba	15	10
Saskatchewan	16	10
Alberta	12	7
British Columbia	13	7
Yukon	1	1
Total	235	221

This will mean 14 new members for the next House.

ROWELL TALKS TO WORKINGMEN

Finds Out Their Views on the Subject of Compensation for Injuries.

Woodstock, Aug. 30.—To find out what the laboring men of his constituency thought upon the question of workmen's compensation, for injuries, Mr. N. W. Rowell, K.C., leader of the Opposition in the Legislature, held an important conference in the City Hall here last night. Invitations had been previously sent out by letter and there was a large and enthusiastic response.

He made his position plain in response to an interrogation from someone in the audience: "If the Government does not introduce a bill following the report of this commission at the next session I will introduce one myself," he declared, amid applause; "but if the Government does introduce one covering all the points I will give it my hearty support."

Mr. Rowell proposed a general reorganisation of the Ontario Bureau of Labor. "We have a Bureau of Labor down in Toronto. Perhaps some of you have been ignorant of the fact and have never heard of it. It is badly out of date, and it is time it was revived and reconstructed. If we had a Bureau of Labor alive to the needs and conditions existing in this province to-day it would not be necessary to appoint a chief justice as a commissioner to find out what is the legislation in Great Britain, Germany and other countries. It should not be necessary to appoint a commissioner to find out if we should have an eight-hour day for miners."

BROCKVILLE WATER NEEDS BOILING

LAWN HOSE ROMANCE

Prescott Young Lady Drenched Man With Garden Hose Then Married Him.

Prescott, Aug. 30.—A real romance culminated in the marriage at St. Mary's Church, Dunkirk, N.Y., of Miss Nellie Theresa Carroll, daughter of Mrs. Ellen Carroll, of Lincoln avenue, and Mr. William Joseph Corliss.

The couple first became acquainted about a month ago, when Miss Carroll, who was spraying the lawn at her home, with a garden hose, accidentally, gave Mr. Corliss, who was passing, a drenching.

She apologized, and a mutual friend who appeared on the scene, introduced them. A week later their engagement was announced.

ANOTHER CRUISER IS LAUNCHED

Australia is Pushing Forward the Construction of a Navy.

London, Aug. 30.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—The protected cruiser Sydney, built for the Australian navy, was launched yesterday at Glasgow. She is the second of three Australian cruisers of the second class.

At the launch the day before of the C.P.R. steamer Empress of Russia, the chairman of the building company said the question of safety at sea had been much before the public of late and the new vessel was so constructed that in the event of anything unforseen occurring it would float with any four compartments flooded, instead of two compartments which had been the Board of Trade standard of safety hitherto. So far as he was aware this was the first merchant ship launched with the added equipment

WET WEATHER HOLDS UP WHEAT HARVESTING IN WEST

Farmers Are Becoming Uneasy as Some Grain is Spoiling in the Fields—Fine Weather, However, is Expected.

Winnipeg, Aug. 30.—With the sky overcast and the barometer steadily falling, very little progress is being made with harvesting operations in the three prairie provinces.

Reports from Edmonton state that the harvesting of the biggest crop on record is at a standstill through heavy rains. In this district, with about 15 per cent. of the crop cut, a feeling of uneasiness is occasioned this week by rains which began Monday night and only now show signs of abating. General harvesting is delayed a week.

No damage from frost or rust is recorded in the Calgary district. Rain has interfered with operations for the past three days, but with 50 per cent. of the crop cut, little anxiety is felt. A few more days' good weather will suffice to complete reaping.

Lethbridge reports cold weather for the past few days with no signs of frost, and harvesting going on apace.

At High River, hail is reported, both Wednesday and yesterday, but no damage has been done. The crop is a little on the green side, but harvesting is being proceeded with in places.

The whole Province of Saskatchewan appears to have been visited with almost torrential rains during the past few days, and harvesting is therefore at a standstill, though a little has been done to-day. In the Saskatoon district about 35 per cent. of the crop is cut, with but a few favored farms being able to proceed with the harvesting. In the vicinity of Regina farmers hope to recommence harvesting either to-day or to-morrow if the weather continues. A heavy rainstorm Wednesday night put a stop to the expectation of hearing the buzz of binders at work yesterday morning. But finer weather yesterday a resumption of work in the field is hourly expected. The same report is sent in from along the Soo line, also north to Prince Albert, where, in the latter place, a severe electrical storm raged.

Manitoba has fared no better than her sister provinces, rain being recorded all over the province, putting a stop to all harvesting. In some districts a few hours' sunshine will enable the binders to again start, but generally speaking it will be Monday before the bulk of farmers will be able to harvest.

The barometer has been very unsteady all through the west again, but sunshine was recorded Wednesday at 6.8 and a little yesterday, which supplements an otherwise almost sunless month.

Needs 25,000 Men.

Winnipeg, Aug. 30.—"We are still short 25,000 harvesters to meet the requirements of the west," said J. Bruce Walker, Dominion commissioner of immigration, yesterday morning, "and I am extremely anxious that every effort should be made to obtain them.

"I concede that the harvesters' specials have been filled to overflowing with a splendid class of workers, but I am afraid that our friends in Ontario have failed to appreciate the urgent needs of the western farmers for this year's crop.

"The estimate of 50,000 is not in the slightest exaggerated, not more than 20,000 from Eastern Canada have reached Winnipeg to date.

"Deputy Minister Harcourt at Edmonton wired me yesterday: 'There are not enough men for harvest in this province as yet. Advisable get railway companies run more specials.' Deputy Minister Mantle of Saskatchewan wired me: 'Saskatchewan has about one-half of the men required. Strongly advise supplementary excursions.' Western farmers are paying $3 and $3.50 per day with board for good experienced harvesters. This is 50 per cent. of an increase over the wages of two or three years ago, while the harvesters' expenses have not increased."

SNAKE IN MILK

Some Dealer Was Careless When He Added the Adulteration.

Montreal, Aug. 30.—After opening a bottle of milk yesterday morning, Mrs. Rosaria Lamothe, Workman street, was horrified when a small snake sprang to the ground and lay there hissing. Having recovered from her fright, Mrs. Lamothe telephoned the health department which sent an inspector to the house to kill the reptile.

The snake was of the harmless variety and it is supposed that it either fell into a milk pail or was in the water with which the bottle was washed.

FATAL ACCIDENT IN ENGLAND

Two Killed, Forty Injured in a Railway Collision.

London, Aug. 30.—Two lives were lost and forty persons were seriously injured in a collision between a crowded business men's train and another light passenger train early yesterday morning at Vauxhall Station on the Southwestern Railway.

A train from Aldershot, crowded with workers, proceeding to the city, was standing in Vauxhall Station, where tickets are collected before the trains run into Waterloo terminus, when a light engine pulling a couple of passenger cars fouled the switches and dashed into the rear of the loaded stationary cars.

Doctors and ambulances were quickly on the scene and the dead were removed to the mortuary, while the injured men were transported to St. Thomas' Hospital nearby.

UNITED STATES MAY REFUSE TO ARBITRATE CANAL TREATY

In That Case Other Treaties Will be Violated, Including One Made With Ambassador Bryce by Which all Disputes Are to be Submitted to the Hague.

Washington, Aug. 30.—Although the State Department will authorise no statement to that effect, it is understood here that the administration will decline to permit the question of the right of the United States to relieve its own shipping from tolls in the Panama Canal to go to arbitration. This position of the Government, it is said, may not be developed fully for some time.

While the British protest delivered Wednesday, clearly intimated a purpose to demand an arbitral decision in the event that a more careful study of the Panama Canal Toll Act bore out the impression conveyed by the first reading, that it is in violation of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty if the usual course in diplomatic exchange is followed, there must be many arguments and counter-arguments submitted on both sides before the resources of diplomacy would be exhausted, thus warranting a demand for arbitration. The British demand for such rests upon the broad basis of two special treaties between America and Great Britain, in addition to the great general convention creating The Hague Tribunal, and binding all other parties to adjust their disputes by recourse to its methods. The first of these treaties, the Hay-Pauncefote treaty, in its third article, declares that there shall be no discrimination against any of the nations obeying the rules of the canal, and in its fourth articles asserts that no change of territorial sovereignty shall affect the obligations of America and Great Britain under the treaty.

The second special treaty, that made between the then Secretary Root and Ambassador Bryce, four years ago, binds each country to submit to The Hague Tribunal any difference that may arise relating to the interpretation of treaties, provided that "they do not affect the vital interests, the independence, or the honor," of the parties. On its face, a British demand for arbitration on such a basis, is generally regarded to be sound and beyond discussion.

From the American viewpoint there are many loopholes for escape from the British contention, and these may be contended that admission of American coastwise traffic to free passage in the canal, constitutes no actual discrimination against British shipping. Existing law permits no foreign boats to transport American coastwise commerce, and British vessels could not be employed to carry goods through the Panama Canal even if they were completely relieved from tolls, as will be the American coastwise trade. Thus, it is argued, it cannot be claimed that British commerce is affected one way or another by this favored

THE THREAT OF THE SUFFRAGETTE

The militant spirit of the British suffragettes was again displayed the other day when the deputation that waited upon Premier Borden in London, threatened reprisal, because he refused to promise to take steps to grant the franchise to the women of Canada. The Suffragettes say they will use their influence to divert the tide of immigration from Britain from Canada to Australian shores. Furthermore they will in the interests of the cause so dear to them commence an agitation of characteristic vigor in their cause.

No one need tremble at the outlook. The class of immigrants with which the suffragettes may be supposed to have any influence is not the class that is desired in Canada, and if they are sent to Australia so much the worse for the Antipodes and so much the better for this country. The climate of Canada is not conducive to the production of that form of hysteria which is requisite for the conducting of a suffragette campaign. Canadian women are safe and sane. Even were they disposed to be led away by the example of their misguided sisters in Britain no campaign would be tolerated in this country, where window smashing, the distruction of silk hats and attacks upon persons of our public men were leading features.

The dark hint thrown out by the suffragettes should not be lost upon our immigration officials. The latter should in the future exercise extra vigilance to the end that no undesirable in the shape of a suffragette with a hatchet or other weapon concealed about her person even though that person be arrayed in the garb of the wealthy aristocrat, be allowed to enter this country. To turn them back at the portals is an easier method of averting the threatened danger than to permit the movement to gain headway and so double or treble the duties of our police officers and magistrates.

But for the present at least there is no cause for alarm. The public buildings are safe for the time being, the owners of plate glass windows need not tremble, and if our statesmen desire to wear silk hats they may do so for another year at least without fearing that that portion of their attire will be crushed down over their eyes or beaten out of shape by a faction that seems to mistake a display of rowdyism for an exhibition of strength.

THE BANK MERGER

Farmers in Peel and other counties of Ontario, are, the dispatches tell us, to combine their capital and so avail themselves of the opportunity to bring electricity to their doors, this to be used not only in heating and lighting the buildings, but in doing much of the work on the farm including the milking of cows. The Toronto papers boom the proposition and hail it as a speedy and effective remedy for what is now the farmer's chief difficulty in the prosecution of his business—the scarcity of labor.

Some of these papers, however, are not ready to admit that the joining of financial forces is desirable in all instances, and protest against what they are pleased to refer to as the bank merger, the Royal and the Traders' banks having just received authority from the Treasury Board to unite, this authority having been approved by an order in council. It is hard to gather from the arguments of the papers that protest, whether their objection is that the amalgamation of capital is dangerous to the business interests of the country, or that the matter should not be disposed of by order in council, but left over until it could be discussed by parliament. The cabinet, however, has not in this case, the public may rest assured, exceeded the power conferred upon it by the banking law.

This is the season when the bursting fruit jar threatens the housekeepers with a new danger.

Col. Roosevelt says he is willing to trust the people. The colonel would probably sing a different tune if he was in the grocery business.

Detective Chief Carpenter of Montreal received work from Edmonton yesterday morning that he has been appointed chief of police of that city at a salary of $4,000.

John Jones, 25 years old, single, of Falls View, was instantly killed near Montrose, Ont., on the Michigan Central Railway yesterday when a yard freight ran him down.

Col. Sam Hughes and the Canadian officers attending the military manoeuvres have arrived in England, and were met by Lord Strathcona, who entertained them to dinner.

After 21 years of service with the Toronto Electric Light Co., of which he has been for some time past the general manager, R. F. Pack, a prominent electrical expert, has resigned.

The weather cleared yesterday in Norwich, Eng., and the floods are rapidly receding. The electric light and traction systems have been restored, and the pumps in the waterworks are in operation.

A vigorous campaign is promised in Canada on the part of the English Women's Suffrage Political Union, which intends to take immediate steps to strengthen the existing organizations throughout the Dominion.

Most women wouldn't mind being neglected, if they could only manage so the neighbors wouldn't find it out.

THE MARKET

Latest Quotations in Grain Dairy Products, Live Stock Etc

CHICAGO, Aug. 29.—Predictions of lighter receipts next week in the southwest bore some of the responsibility for the bullish tenor that prevailed today in wheat. The market closed steady at a net advance of 1-4c to 3-8c to 5-8c. Corn wound up a shade to 1-8c to 3-8c above last night, oats with a gain of 1-8c to 1-4c to 1-4c, and provisions 2 1-2c to 17 1-2c increase in cost.

The Liverpool market closed to-day ¼d higher than yesterday on wheat, and [illegible] on corn. Budapest wheat was [illegible] lower, Berlin [illegible] lower.

RULES THAT WILL GOVERN EXHIBITS AT THE FALL FAIR

The directors of the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition ask that all prospective exhibitors observe carefully the following rules and regulations—

1 All members, being bona fide residents of the Counties of Peterborough, Victoria, Northumberland, Durham or Hastings, who have paid the annual fee of $1.00 for the current year, shall be members, and as such shall be entitled to the advantages and privileges conferred on the members under the Rules and Regulations of the Exhibition.

2. Any member can compete for any or all of the prizes offered at the Exhibition. Twenty entries may be made free except live stock and poultry, provided the head of the family to which the exhibitor is a member of the society, otherwise the usual fee for non-membership must be paid. Additional entries, 10 cents each.

3 Animals or articles entered for competition must be the bona fide property of the person entering them, and with the exception of animals must have been grown, produced, manufactured or made during the present year by the person or persons exhibiting them; and if any doubt arises on the subject, proof will be required. The President, First Vice-President and any of the Board of Directors shall be obliged to cause any exhibitor, with reference to whom such doubt exists, or with reference to whom any such notice has been given to make a statuory declaration of a compliance with the terms of said rules. No animal shall be shown in more than one class, except in the case of herd prizes or special prizes. If any person shall enter any article for exhibition, as produced or manufactured by himself or herself, when it has not really been so, he or she shall forfeit all prizes which may be awarded to them and shall be precluded from exhibiting in the future.

4 No person can make more than one entry of grain, seeds, roots, fruits flowers, vegetables, dairy produce, implements, manufactures, ladies' work or fine arts, in the same section or class.

5 Recommended Premiums" may be awarded for such articles as may be considered worthy by the Judges although not enumerated on the list, and the directors will determine the amount of the premium; but no premium will be awarded to any article, however deserving it may be, if entered as an extra, when there is a class to which it properly belongs.

6 Should there be only one exhibitor in a class or sections, the Judges can use their own discretion as to awarding the premium; and in all cases where they do not think the animal or article worthy, they can withhold the premium. The Judges shall in no case award a prize unless they consider the exhibit actually worthy of such a prize. No person shall be a judge of any article or in any class in which they are interested as an exhibitor, agent, employee or otherwise.

7 All entries are required to be made by noon on the 11th of September. Any member entering after that date will be charged 50 cents. extra up to Friday noon, 13th of extra up to Friday noon, 13th of September, when the books will be finally closed. Entries may be sent by post (prepaid) to the Secretary. Entry tickets will not be mailed to exhibitors, but will be handed to them at the office of the Secretary on the grounds, if not received before.

8. Live stock and poultry must be on the grounds by 10 a.m. on the second day. Exhibits in all other classes must be on the grounds by 12 o'clock noon on the first day. Judging in classes other than live stock and poultry will begin at 2 o'clock p.m. on the first day. This rule will be strictly enforced.

9. Articles not accompanied by their owners may be addressed to the care of the Superintendent of the Exhibition, if prepaid, who will receive them on their being delivered at the grounds; but in no case will such articles be brought on the grounds, and placed on exhibition except by, and at the expense of the owners, or their authorized agents.

10. Members' tickets will admit member on each day of the show. Tickets are not transferable.

11 Exhibitors, on bringing their exhibits to the grounds, will be passed in free by showing their entry tickets. On each subsequent entry to the grounds they will have to pay the usual entrance fee of 25 cents, except in case of members. Vehicles of all sorts, 25 cents.

12. Herdsmen and the necessary attendants on stock and special caretakers will be supplied with tickets, the numbrr of said tickets to be determined by the President, such tickets to be dated on the days of the Exhibition, and marked on two lines, forenoon and afternoon; the tickets to be punched at the entrance, such entrance to be confined to two admissions daily. For stabling for horses apply to the Secretary, when making entries. A charge for stalls will be made of 25 cents, each to accompany application. This will be refunded on return of lock and keys in good order. The top half of stable doors to be kept open from 10 a.m. to till 6 p.m., every day during the exhibition

13. Numerical tickets will be supplied, which must be attached to every animal or article for competition, and the age of every animal marked on the ticket.

14. Any person not authorized to do so conversing, or otherwise interfering with Judges while on duty, forfeits the right he or she may have to a prize, and no person will be allowed to touch, taste or handle anything on exhibition, except the Judges, and it shall be the duty of the judges to report to the Secretary, on handing in the books, any infringement of this rule.

15. Upon the discovery of any fraud deception or dishonest practice, either in preparation, ownership, or of any representation concerning any article exhibited, which may have affected, or may have been intended to affect the decision of the Judges, the Executive Committee shall have power to withhold payment of any prize awarded, and may prohibit any such party or parties from exhibiting in any class for one or more years, and may publish the names of such persons or not, as may be deemed most expedient.

16. No animal or article will be allowed to leave the grounds till 4.30 p.m., Saturday, without the permission of the President.

17. Properly authenticated pedigrees of all thoroughbred animals must be produced to the Judges or Committee in charge of the Class when the animals are called into the ring. Calves are considered such until one year old, and age must be put on ticket.

18. Exceptions as to errors in Premiums must, in order to be considered, be made known to the Secretary before the close of the Exhibition. No protest will be considered unless accompanied by a deposit of $2.00. Protests respecting speeding in the ring must be accompanied by a deposit of $5; such protest to be handed to the Secretary before the starting of the event. Deposits to become the property of the Exhibition if protest is not sustained, but if sustained the full amount will be handed back to the party who entered the protest.

19. The Society reserves the right to prohibit and prevent all kinds of theatrical or circus or acrobatic performances, exhibitions or shows, and also to regulate or prevent the huckstering or trafficking in fruits, goods, wares or merchandise, on the exhibition grounds, or within 300 yards thereof; and any person who, after due notice of such rules and regulations, violates the same shall be liable to be removed by the officers, policeman or constables of the Society, and be liable to a fine of not less than $1 nor more than $20; such fine to be enforced and collected as fines are usually collected, and to be paid over to the Society for its use and benefit and in default of payment the said offender shall be imprisoned in the common jail for a period of not more than thirty days.

20. The First Prize Ticket will be Red; the Second, Blue; Third, White; Extra, Green.

21. No person or persons shall be allowed to display any badges or prize tickets secured at any other fair until such time as the awards have been made.

22. Grain must be the growth of the current year. Grass seed may be the growth of the current or previous year.

23. No person shall be allowed to drive or ride horses on the show grounds faster than a walk, except within the Exhibition Ring under penalty of immediate removal from the Exhibition Grounds.

24. Exhibitors whose tickets have not been delivered heretofore will find entry cards and members' tickets ready for them at the office of the Secretary on the Exhibition Grounds on the First Day of the Exhibition.

25. Judges on Stock will commence their duties on Friday, the 13th of September, at 1 o'clock p.m. Owners of stock will please govern themselves accordingly.

26. In paying prizes, one dollar will be retained from all prize winners winning $1 or over, for membership for 1912.

27. While the Society will take all reasonable precaution to secure the safety of exhibits, they will not be responsible for any loss incurred.

28. This Society reserves the right to interpret its own rules and regulations.

Good Form

Bridesmaids and Ushers.

The wedding procession is more brilliant where there are a number of bridesmaids. They add, however, to the expense of the occasion, since the bride is now expected to make them each a present. This is usually something to be worn at the wedding—a pair of hatpins, a fan or some small article of jewelry, says Florence Howe Hall.

The bride also invites them to a luncheon, dinner or festivity of some sort not long before the day of the ceremony. The gifts intended for them may be set at each plate, like favors, in small packages neatly tied up with white ribbon.

Sometimes the bridegroom and ushers are also asked to the dinner. This seems to us a much better plan than the giving of a bachelor dinner. Where the bridegroom asks his best man and ushers to the latter function it occasionally happens that some of the young men drink more wine than is good for them. In the twentieth century we ought to be beyond such barbarism as this. If there is a bachelor dinner the groom makes his gifts to his friends, usually scarfpins, at this time.

When the bride's health is proposed all rise and drink it standing. They then break the glasses, the most convenient way being to snap them off at the stem and throw them into the grate.

The best man is usually the groom's brother or most intimate friend. The ushers are chosen from the circle of his near relatives and closest friends, with the addition of one or more of the bride's brothers or other relatives.

In the same way a sister of the groom is included among the bridesmaids. They provide their own costumes, but the bride decides what these shall be. She should be careful to avoid choosing gowns and hats more expensive than her young friends can afford. If there is a maid of honor she wears a costume differing somewhat from those of the bridesmaids. She is always either the sister or the most intimate friends of the bride. Often, however, there is no maid of honor, the first bridesmaid acting as the bride's special attendant.

How many ushers there shall be will depend on the size of the wedding. Six are usually sufficient. It balances the bridal cortege well and also gives the bridesmaids a pleasanter time if there is one usher to correspond to each of the latter. If the bridegroom has many young friends to whom he wishes to pay a compliment he sometimes invites eight or even ten to usher at his wedding. Too many black coats in the bridal procession do not look well, however.

Politeness Worth Money.

In an article in the Woman's Home Companion on "Seeing Europe on $3.50 a Day" the author says:

In Europe a small provision on words is wise to have and not difficult. Buy a phrase book to begin with, although it will probably tell you how to say, "All's well that ends well," when you want to make out your laundry list, and it seldom takes into consideration that "If you please" and "I beg your pardon" grease the wheels of social intercourse even more in Europe than in America. They should be prefaced to every request which the grammar teaches. "Thank you" are the first words to be learned in a foreign language.

Some people are clever at picking up French or German, learning nouns from street signs, verbs from billboards and idioms from advertisements. If you have not this kind of mind learn to say "Please" and "Thank you." Nine cases out of ten the clever man will discover what you want.

When a man meets trouble half way he has a poor companion for the rest of his journey.

According to the very latest evidence, you're a parasite, no matter if you do work 18 hours a day.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

CURE

Sick Headache and relieve all the troubles incident to a bilious state of the system, such as Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Distress after eating, Pain in the Side, &c. While their most remarkable success has been shown in curing

SICK

Headache, yet Carter's Little Liver Pills are equally valuable in Constipation, curing and preventing this annoying complaint, while they also correct all disorders of the stomach, stimulate the liver and regulate the bowels. Even if they only cured

HEAD

Ache they would be almost priceless to those who suffer from this distressing complaint; but fortunately their goodness does not end here, and those who once try them will find these little pills valuable in so many ways that they will not be willing to do without them. But after all sick head is the bane of so many lives that here is where we make our great boast. Our pills cure it while others do not.

ACHE

Carter's Little Liver Pills are very small and very easy to take. One or two pills make a dose. They are strictly vegetable and do not gripe or purge, but by their gentle action please all who use them.

This is an exceptional chance for young men to visit the west, which is truly called the land of "Golden Opportunities," as many prosperous farmers and business men now residing in Western Canada can trace the origin of their good fortune to a "Farm Laborers' Excursion." The route via Chicago is an attractive one, as many large cities and towns are passed en route, which breaks the monotony of the journey, as there is something new to see all the time.

The Grand Trunk Pacific Railway is the shortest and quickest route between Winnipeg-Saskatoon-Edmonton. New Fast Express Service between Winnipeg, Yorkton, Canora and Regina.

Montreal's Spending Money.

Montreal, Aug. 29.—According to figures prepared by the city auditor, Mr. Pelletier, the city will next year have at its disposal $16,000,000 to spend. The report shows that $8,100,000 of this amount will come out of revenues, such as real estate, taxes, water taxes, etc. The remainder will come out of loans.

Says Liberals Are Waning.

Calgary, Aug. 29.—"The Liberal party in England is on the wane. They have been steadily going down hill, as the recent series of bye-elections shows," declared Sir Philip Sassoon, M.P. for Hyde in the British House of Commons, who is now in Calgary.

FARM WHERE DEMONSTRATION WAS HELD

Mr. J. W. Might of Peel County is a Brother of Mr. F. J. Might of This City

Mr. J. W. Might, proprietor of the farm on which the Hon. Adam Beck of the Hydro-Electric Commission demonstrated the method by which farm work can be performed, is a brother of Mr. F. J. Might, proprietor of the Turnbull Company in this city. Mr. Might's farm is one of the finest in a district which is generally regarded as the agricultural paradise of Ontario. It is situated near Britannia, in Peel County, about 15 miles from Toronto, and only a short distance from the shores of Lake Ontario. It was selected by Mr. Beck for demonstration purposes, not only on account of its situation, but because it is equipped with all the modern conveniences required in up to date farming. Mr. Might is regarded as one of the leading farmers of Ontario.

MR. BURNHAM TALKS MARRIAGE LAW TO VANCOUVER PAPER

The Daily News Advertiser of Vancouver, B.C., prints the following interview with Mr. J. H. Burnham, M.P., who is making a tour of the West—

"Is any further action likely to be taken in the House of Commons on the Ne Temere question in view of the recent decision of the Privy Council?"

The above question was put to Mr. J. H. Burnham, M.P., for West Peterborough, who arrived in the city last evening from Victoria. Mr. Burnham took a strong stand when the Lancaster Bill was fought out in the House last session and was one of the staunchest supporters of that measure.

Mr. Burnham replied— "The Privy Council's judgment gave an unexpectedly full effect to the word 'solemnization,' in the power granted to the provinces by the British North America Act.

"Something will have to be done to provide a federal marriage law and it will not be necessary in doing so to fly in the face of the recent judgment or to offend any province. A federal law can be passed and people can be married under it without conflicting with another law covering smaller territory. For example, if I wish to get married in an unorganized district how am I to do so since it is not a province and since there is no federal marriage law affecting the district?

"Such a confession of weakness and failure of administration on the part of a government or parliament could not be tolerated. A marriage law must be provided for such districts. Then as to provinces it is quite plain that some common understanding must be arrived at by or through the common agent of the provinces, viz., the federal House, respecting the validity of the marriage of people moving from one province to another. Otherwise we should be in an equally absurd position in this respect also. These two cases once being provided for will cover the entire Dominion and the whole question without conflicting with the jurisdiction of a province, for, be it observed, a provincial law cannot override a federal law, which does not pretend to override a corresponding provincial law. We have lots of similar cases in fishing, mining, navigation, etc.

"I think it will be easily settled, but it will be settled somehow. You may be sure of that. Those who wish to be married exclusively according to church law, may do so, but to deny a similar right to those who wish for marriage under a civil law is to acknowledge that in such matters churches can override the laws of a nation or people, which will of itself bring the whole matter to a speedy issue. Let the churches be free, and the people also. Let us all be free. That is my motto."

This is Mr. Burnham's first trip to the Coast, and he expressed himself as greatly impressed with the progress of the West. He added that he thought every member of parliament should travel all over the Dominion before he was allowed to legislate for the whole of Canada.

SYSTEM OF TAXATION THAT PREVAILS IN MANITOBA

The Province of Manitoba was largely settled by people from old Ontario, and naturally their assessment act was modelled on that of the older Province, with such alterations as experience had shown to be necessary. Being a new settlement it naturally attracted men of progressive ideas, people not bound by precedent and ready to try improvements so we find that the assessment laws show a continous development, and many things which were taxed at first were exempted as the years went by.

One of the first important changes was the exemption from taxation of farm buildings and improvements. Later local councils were given power to assess the plant and buildings of any local industry as one-half its value. In order still further to encourage the farm industry the buildings and land of horticultural and agricultural societies were exempted provision was made that in rural municipalities the land of all farmers, market gardeners, and stock raisers was to be assesed at its unimproved value. The part of the assessment act referred to above is section 28 and reads as follows—.

"All lands in rural municipalities improved for farming or gardening purposes, shall be assessed at the same value as such lands would be assessed if unimproved; but in case of lands improved for other purposes the value of such improvements shall be added to the assessment of such lands.

"Provided that the ordinary farm residence and buildings upon any piece of land shall be considered as improvements for farming purposes within the meaning of this section:

"Provided, also, that, in cases where the lands are improved for the purposes of a local industry other than farming or stock ranching, the said lands and such plant, machinery and implements may, if the council so direct, be assessed at not less than one-half of the actual value."

Live stock of farmers and the produce of farms and gardens were also exempted from taxation."

These exemptions have worked so well in rural municipalities that there is a growing demand for their exemption, as far as applicable, to towns and cities.

The legislators of Manitoba in their effort to secure the best possible laws for their Province soon recognized that a great city of 100,000 people should have wider powers of self-government than those granted in the municipal act. And so a further step in advance was made by the granting of a special charter to the city of Winnipeg.

Among the powers granted is the right of lowering the assessment on improvements, and as a result the city now taxes buildings on only 60 p.c. of their value, while land is assessed at 100 p.c. The reasons given being that buildings result from individual enterprise and land values are the result of collective enterprise, and so the latter is considered a more equitable subject for taxation than the improvements

Steamer Geneva will run special trip on Labor Day to Gore's Landing and Harwood leaving Wolfe St. wharf at nine o'clock returning Wolfe St. wharf at 7.30. The Str. Geneva will discontinue her regular trips after this date. 2d.

PLENTY OF TOMATOES BUT—

The lack of sufficient warm sunshine has made the tomato crop somewhat backward this season. The retail price at present is 60 and 50 cents per basket, but according to Mr. Tom Miricolo, with proper weather conditions the price paid should be only 35 cents, followed by a further drop to 25 cents next week.

The crop is very satisfactory this season and had old Sol accomplished what was hoped for, the housewife would have benefitted. Lower prices may come later.

NOTE OF WARNING TO THE FARMERS

There has been issued, by direction of the Minister of Agriculture at Ottawa, a conspicuous poster calling the attention of potato growers to the importance of examining their crop to ascertain whether or not it is infected with "Potato Canker." The hanger shows in natural colors a potato plant, the whole yield of which is affected by the disease. It also shows the apperance of individual tubers in which the Canker has started to work.

Growers who discover suspicious symptoms of the disease in their crop are requested to send affected specimens to the Dominion Botanist, Experimental Farm, Ottawa. The poster is issued as Farmers' Circular, No. 3, of the Division of Botany and is being distributed by the Publications Branch of the Department of Agriculture.

The last trip to Stoney Lake will be run on Monday (Labor Day) per Str. Monarch, leaving Wolfe St. wharf at 8 a.m., returning 7 30. Return trip 50c, calling at Mount Julian and

BORDEN'S VISIT BEARING FRUIT

Increase of Trade Between Canada and the French Republic.

Ottawa, Aug. 28.—Following the recent visit of Right Hon. R. L. Borden, Hon. L. P. Pelletier, and other Canadian Ministers to Paris, it is expected that an effort will be made by merchants and commercial organizations in France to bring about a substantial increase in the trade now being carried on between that country and Canada. With this object in view, Canada will likely be visited within the next fortnight by H. F. Fletcher, chairman of the Canadian section of the British Chamber of Commerce in Paris.

Mr. Fletcher plans to sail during the present week for Montreal, and will make an extended tour of both Canada and the United States, arriving in the latter part of September in Boston, where he will represent the Paris Chamber of Commerce at the International Congress of Chambers of Commerce to be held in that city.

It is understood that while in Canada Mr. Fletcher will be employed in encouraging as far as possible the export of Canadian manufactured products to France, the trade in certain lines of manufactures being considered capable of great improvement.

LINDSAY'S CHANCE

That Town to Vote on a Bonus By-law September 24th.

Lindsay property owners will on September 24th, vote on the question of granting a bonus to the Fitzsimmons Automobile Company, now located at Cannington, but which is desirous of securing a new location. The company asks for a loan of $12,000 to be paid back in ten equal annual instalments, a free site not to exceed $700 in value, and the usual tax exemption for ten years, school taxes of course, excepted. The company promises to erect a factory in which the manufacture of automobile bodies will be carried on, and to employ at least forty skilled workmen.

St. John's Choir Practice

The first practice of St. John's choir for the choral recital to be given in the church next month was held last night, when the choristers studied hard several numbers new to them, including a chorus from Haydn's "Creation," "The Marvellous Work." The practice was heartily

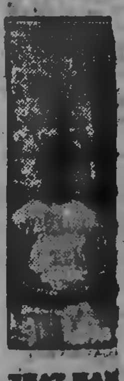
PETES BESTED 1912 CHAMPIONS IN TEN INNINGS STRUGGLE; ON NICHOLL'S TIMELY HIT



THAT MAN TROUT

White Caps Pulled up on the Senators in the Bucky Seventh and the Fans Saw a Grand Struggle — Score Was 7-6.

It looked very much like a case of teasing at the ball lot yesterday, when the White Caps and Senators, overtime with Renfer and Osborne doing the heaving. The score was 7-6, and any fan who didn't get his money's worth, will, on presenting himself at the gate next week, be admitted free.

It was a great game of baseball, free of fight all the time and the Petes had to win it twice. Umpires of course make mistakes, and yesterday was no exception. Blake got in wrong with the players, on strikes and first base decisions and then "blew up in the tenth."

The score was 6-5 with Ottawa in the lead, the Senators having shot ahead in the tenth. Louden dropped the ball into left, but was forced at second by Cook, who made the middle bag when Nicholls made a bad throw to Barthold, trying to complete the double. Osborne got Hopper on strikes but Renfer hitting on right field, scored his manager. Burke followed with a single but Callahan whiffed in vain.

That run might have won the game had the visitors been playing the Petes of May and June but the "latter Day" Petes are some different. Peggy Swartz, first man up dumped the ball in Sailor Burkes' territory, and Trout came next with one of his winning drives down third base, Robertson just managing to knock the ball down and hold the basemen at first and second. Jimmie Beard came along with a sacrifice and Byrne's single scored Swarts with the tieing run. Then the fun began.

Nicholls played on the nerves of the fans and pitcher Renfer by an exhibition of knocking foul balls. He had six to his credit when Big Renfer made his fatal move. The probabilities are he would have got away with it too had manager Rowan not protested. But he did and Blake sent Byrne down to second. He refused however, to pass Trout to the plate, as the rules call for, as on a balk, each baseman advances and the rule now applies whether the baseman is forced or not. Blake held his ground and wouldn't allow Trout to go home with the run that would have won the game. But it had to come. Before his fielders had returned to their proper positions Renfer shot one over to Nicholls, who pasted the leather between Burke and Callahan, the ball falling safe.

Schwind robbed Jack White of a hit in the third by spearing a hard line drive and Burke made a grand running catch of his waft in the ninth.

Brant also was a bright spot. His fielding and throwing to first was as good as big league performances.

They slipped a neat one over on Art Schwind who was passed in the eighth. Schwind simply jumped at it when Barthold left his bag to play in. Nicholls came up behind, made a sensational catch of Trout's throw as he fell at the bag and then threw to Brant, who got the Ottawa shortstop easily.

The play as engineered yesterday was a winner.

Brant and White were caught off the bags in the first, following a grounder by Swartz. The ball travelled to Robertson to Hopper to Schwind to Robertson to Schwind to Robertson.

Casey Dolan's best was a sacrifice in the first, He had only three putouts during the ten innings. "How do you like being in last place," is one of Dolan's favorite remarks when returning vocal bouquets.

Renfer was lucky to escape with a triple in the fourth. It was a close decision at third.

Trout injured a finger, but remained in the game. Another instance of worth of this nifty young backstop.

Osborne worked well after the first round, but failed to come up to Ty Cobb's mark as a batsman. However, the players will tell you Osborne drove in two players with a hit at London. Don't ask the big fellow about it, he's too modest.

OBITUARY

Mrs. John Galvin

Mrs. Mary Galvin, wife of John Galvin, of the 5th Line, Smith, passed away at 8 o'clock last night at St. Joseph's Hospital, after a lingering illness of several years.

The deceased is survived by a sorrowing husband, two sons, Fred, in Manitoba; Leo, at home, and three brothers and one sister.

The funeral will take place at 2 o'clock on Sunday afternoon to St. Peter's Cathedral, and from thence to St. Peter's cemetery.

TURNERS HAVE FINE EXHIBIT AT TORONTO

J. J. Turner & Sons are to the front at the Toronto Exhibition with a tent display, about which many commendary remarks are being made by visitors. Turners have something new every year, and this latest exhibited eclipses all others.

The tent is constructed to meet the objections of people who are against such living accommodation on account of close associations with mother earth, which brings a fear of snakes and other underground inhabitants. It has a raised platform 3 feet 6 inches from the ground, four bedrooms, dining and sitting room, while an arrangement makes the attachment of another tent, with kitchen, bath and toilet room, possible, or detached as the owner wishes. The tent is 20x20 ft., the color scheme being white and green. Lattice work surrounds it and altogether the exhibit is not only one which reflects great credit on the manufacturers, but also advertises in no small degree, the city, where the manufacturing plant is located. Mr. Turner, Sr., was personally congratulated on the exhibit by one of the firm's competitors. If arrangements can be made the exhibit will be shown at the Peterborough Exhibition.

In view of the low level of the water in the Skeena River, which has ended steamboat traffic, special permission has been given by the Railway Commission to the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway to operate its main line east from Prince Rupert as far as Seeley Gulch Crossing at Mile 176, beyond the Skeena Crossing. The short distance to Hazelton is covered by teams which meet all passengers for the town and interior points of the province. Details of the new service will shortly be announced. Advices from Northern British Columbia had already given warning of the rapid decline of the Skeena River but it had not been expected that the boats would be stopped before another month, by which time the G.T.P. would be completed right into Hazelton, thus providing a service throughout the winter for the first time. An automobile service has been established between the towns of Hazelton and New Hazelton, three trips being made daily on the route, thus providing for what was felt to be a serious want.

REGATTA FOR THE YOUNG PEOPLE MADE BIG HIT

Bridgenorth Crew Won War Canoe Race and Now Hold The Silver Cup — List of Prize Winners.

The large crowd that witnessed the juvenile Regatta at Chemong yesterday was proof of the popularity of the sports held at the Park. The weather, while it was not altogether suitable for boating, was a great improvement on that of the Thursday preceding. A strong wind with a chilly snap to it swept across the lake from the Ennismore side and gave the contestants some difficulty in keeping their craft upright, at the same time stirring them to vigorous work to keep warm.

Since yesterday's programme was but the sequel of that run off a week ago there were naturally fewer spectators, and a large number of the crowd who lined the banks were the little tots for whom the day was held. It is the first year that a juvenile day has been held, and it proved so decidedly interesting and amusing that it will very likely be continued in future at the Park. The latter half of the afternoon, which included the land events, which were run off on the smooth drive in front of the hotel, was probably the more attractive of the two as this feature of the sports is in its first year.

The much-talked-of war canoe event, which is exciting so much interest this year, was the big feature in the aquatic line. The Bridgenorth braves, who were elated over their victory a week ago, especially since it was their maiden attempt at this sport, threw down the gauntlet to the "Y" crew and to liven up the contest, Mr. Davis, proprietor of the hotel, offered a beautiful cup as a trophy for the winners.

The struggle proved to be rather one-sided, as the village huskies pulled to the flag a half a dozen boat lengths in the lead. The Y. M. C. A. crew was practically made up of juniors.

The sparring match, which is also an innovation in the list of water sports was a very amusing and laughter-provoking affair. To straddle a slippery slim pole, suspended three or four feet above the water is ticklish enough, but when the equilibrist must give and take punishment with water soaked cushions and still retain his balance, it becomes a feat that requires no little skill. Vincent Eastwood, after belaboring all comers into the water, succeeded in winning the event. Stephen Nicholls again demonstrated himself to be the speediest paddler in the county when he won that event in handy fashion from his brother, Harold Hill paddling third.

A very amusing feature of the land events was the sack race, a half dozen tots being tied up in a potato bag, the combination to cover fifty yards as speedily as possible. Little Genevieve O'Connell did not seem to mind the hampering much and romped to the tape an easy first. A dozen pairs of aspirants started in the three-legged race, but a half of that number did not take kindly to the double harness and the usual spills were encountered.

The dance in the evening was also thoroughly enjoyed, about fifty couples being present. The music was furnished by Mr. A. Huycke, of this city, who very kindly rendered two solos during the evening that were keenly enjoyed.

Preparatory to the donation of the war canoe cup, Messrs. E. A. Peck and E. Elliott addressed the crowds gathered on the hotel lawn. Both gentlemen congratulated the winning crew, and on behalf of the cottagers thanked Mr. R. E. Davis for the trophy, as also for his untiring efforts during the season to make it an enjoyable one for all the cottagers and visitors to the Park.

1. Boys' Single Canoe, (16 and under)—1, Wilfred Stratton; 2, Herb Dixon; 3, Ed. Houghton.
2. Girls' Single Canoe, (17 and under)—1, M. Bull; 2, A. Eastwood; 3, M. Rutherford.

5. War Canoe Race—1, Bridgenorth crew; 2, The "Y" crew.
6. Girls' Tandem Skiff, (14 and under)—1, A. Carmichael and Phyllis Young; 2, J. Eastwood and Evelyn Houghton; 3, J. Hereford and M. Merrel.
7. Boys' Single Skiff, (15 and under)—1, Geo. Cox; 2, V. Eastwood; 3, O, Cavanagh.
8. Girls' Swimming Race—1, M. Bull; 2, M. Rutherford.
9. Sparring Match—1, V. Eastwood; 2, E. Houghton.
10. Boys' Tandem Skiff, (13 and under)—1, G. O'Connell and "Bobs" Hayes; 2, N. Bull and Geo. Cox.
11. Boys' Swimming Race, (15 and under)—1, H. Carmichael; 2, Geo. Cox.
12. Boys' Single Canoe, (11 and under)—1, S. Nicholls; 2, P. Nicholls; 3, H. Hill.
13. Boys' Running Race, (7 to 9 years)—1, D. Carmichael; 2, D. Young.
14. Boys' Running Race, (5 to 7 years)—1, H. Young; 2, J. Warrington.
15. Girls' Running Race, (7 to 9 years)—1, Genevieve O'Connell; 2, Helen Thompson.
16. Needle Race—1, N. Bull and E. Houghton; 2, Donald Carmichael and Agnes Carmichael.
17. Boys' Running Race, (4 to 11 years)—1, Clifford Healson; 2, Stanley Deegan.
18. Girls' Running Race, (9 to 11 years)—1, Katherine O'Connell; 2, Jean O'Connell.
19. Three-Legged Race, (15 and under)—1, Reginald Dixon and Douglas McCarter; 2, N. Bull and "Bobs" Hayes.
20. Boys' Running Race, (11 to 14 years)—1, S. McClelland; 2, Wallace Nicholls.
21. Sack Race—1, Genevieve O'Connell; 2, Rolly McManus.
22. One-Legged Race — 1, Stanley Deegan; 2, Gregory O'Connell.
23. Special Race for Young Ladies—1, M. Bull; 2, M. Eastwood.

The officials for the afternoon were the same as a week ago. Much credit for the success of the events this year at Chemong Park is due to the work of Mr. J. Patte, whose zealous efforts have done much, not only to ensure success to both of the Regattas, but to make the Park pleasant to those summering there and to visitors.

HOFFMAN WAS HELD FOR TRIAL

Peterborough Young Man in Serious Trouble at Orillia.

The case of William Hoffman, who belongs to the vicinity of Peterborough, charged, at the instance of the Barnardo Home authorities of this city, with perjury, and also under the Charlton Act, came up before Police Magistrate Clark at Orillia on Friday. The girl in the case, whom Hoffman had arranged to marry, had been living with Mr. and Mrs. Richard Maudsley, of Leigh's Corners, and had been with them altogether about three years. Hoffman also had been working at Mr. Maudsley's all summer. The girl got up early in the morning and made her way to the home of an acquaintance at Bass Lake. Hoffman had meantime come to Orillia, and hiring a conveyance drove out for the girl, and brought her to Orillia. Here Hoffman made arrangements to be married at Atherley next day, the ordained clergyman of the town being all away the day they came in. He then went to Mr. G. T. Madden to procure a license. On being questioned as to the girl's age, Hoffman professed ignorance, but said he would bring the girl in to speak for herself. This he presently did, and she affirmed that she was eighteen years old last March. Hoffman then made the necessary affidavit and the license was issued. Later the pair went to a boarding house in Elgin-street, and there passed the night as man and wife. Next day came the arrest, by Chief Reid, under instructions from Peterborough, and the frustration of Hoffman's plans. In court on Friday County Crown Attorney Cotter prosecuted, and Mr. Weddifield, of Mr. A. B. Thompson's office, appeared for the prisoner. Inspector Black, of the Barnardo House was present in the interest of the girl and of that institution. The girl admitted in evidence that she would not be fifteen till next October, that she had stated to Mr. Madden that she was past eighteen, and asserted that Hoffman knew she was not telling the truth. Hoffman was anxious to marry the girl, and it is understood that the Barnardo people would have been willing to see the matter settled in that way, as the best thing to do under the circumstances, but the girl meantime made up her mind not to have him, and positively refused. Hoffman first elected to be tried by Police Magistrate Clark, but under the advice of his lawyer he decided to go to Barrie, and he was sent down. It is understood that the case will be heard before Judge Wismer some day next week.

Riverside, Aug. 30—A fair crowd is in attendance here this afternoon. Umpire Blake announces the batteries as Herbert and Hopper; Tracey and Shea.

Prunes Quinlan is in uniform and will work in the second game. Jimmie Beard may go in behind the bat. Manager Cook is on the bench, Draper taking right garden.

FIRST INNINGS

Burke safe when Swartz dropped his fly. Callahan sacrificed. Dolan out on fly to Beard, Burke being held at second. Robertson grounded out to Brant. No runs, no hits, one error.

Brant drives out to Schwind, but Barthold lines one past Dolan; White singles into centre and Swartz to right, filling the bases. Shea is hit and Barthold scores. Beard hits to Schwind, who throws White out at the plate. Byrne hits to Schwind and Beard is out at second. 3 hits, one run, no errors.

SECOND INNINGS

Schwind grounds out to Nicholls. Brant takes Louden's fly. Draper makes two bags on a liner into right. Brant's foot is injured as Draper goes into the bag. The game is called, Dr. Eastwood looking after the injury. Brant returns and Draper evens the score on Hopper's long fly between Swartz and Beard. Herbert singles through short, but Burke ends with a foul to Shea. 3 hits, one run, no errors.

Nicholls fans. Tracey drops a single in centre but is forced at second by Brant. Barthold goes out on strikes, one hit, no runs, no errors.

THIRD INNINGS.

Callahan by fast running, beats out an infield hit to Byrne. Dolan sacrifices; Callahan is thrown out by Shea as he tries to steal third. Tracey knocks down Robertson's drive and gets the runner at first. One hit, no runs, no errors.

White grounds out. Swartz makes second on a high fly by the foul flag and steals third. Shea scores him with a single through short. Louden drops the throw from Herbert, on Beard's grounder and both men are safe. Byrne flies to Louden and Nicholls to Hopper. Two hits, one run, one error.

FOURTH INNINGS

Byrne drops Schwind's high fly. Louden hits to Tracey, who throws to Brant and Louden is also caught at first. Draper hits for three bags but Brant throws Hopper out at first. One hit, no runs, one error.

Tracey out on foul fly to Dolan, who also gets Brant's offering and makes it three put outs on Barthold's liner.

FIFTH INNINGS.

Herbert gets White. Swartz and and Shea on strikes. Great pitching by Herbert.

SCORE IN THE FIFTH.

AB. QUINLAN OUT IN UNIFORM

Trout's Injured Finger Keeps Him Out of the Game.

Ab. Quinlan donned a White Cap uniform this afternoon, and was billed to work in one of the two games. Trout is resting up his injured finger. To-morrow's game will be called at three o'clock.

A DEFY TO SENATORS

A correspondent who signs as "Peterborough Fan," and also gives his name, sends the following:

Peterborough.

30th August, 1912.

The Sporting Editor of the Review:

Sir,—According to the Ottawa Journal, the Peterborough tail end was foisted on the ball fans of the city of Ottawa, although the ex-champions, Berlin were supposed to be the club to play the Senators.

Just how this came to pass is hard to understand, but the Petes were here and the fans must make the best of it.

"Instead of fifth team, we have the last team performing at the ball park to-day."—Ottawa Journal.

Also the Ottawa Free Press seems to uphold the above view, and adds a little extra sneering. For instance, by its account, Hopper and Renfer, of Ottawa, protested against the decision of Umpire Blake. But the Peterborough players butted in and told him he could not alter his decision. Just fancy this occurring against an umpire's decision, which is supposed to be final at all times.

Again, it states:—Hopper then tossed the ball, and in disgust Renfer stuck his gloved hand out at it, and it caromed off between first and second. Schwartz scampered home before the ball could be recovered. That was the only occasion Peterborough came even close to scoring.—Ottawa Free Press.

Still I should fancy Renfer was more disgusted yesterday (Thursday) when Ottawa 5—0 in the 4th innings, and then to be thoroughly beaten by the tail end team.

The Peterborough fans are under the impression that unjust insinuations have been printed by the Ottawa Journal and Ottawa Free Press, and that justice was not given to the Peterborough team.

Therefore, the Peterborough fans will place $100 with the Sporting Editor of the Review or Examiner providing the Ottawa Free Press, or Ottawa Journal, or fans do likewise, so as to pay the expenses of the team for the day, and now challenge Ottawa to play the tail-enders on any day chosen by the managers, etc., during the coming week, the games to be played in Peterborough, best two out of three games, one game in the morning and two in the afternoon, if necessary, the winning team to get two-thirds of the gate receipts and losers one-third, also the losers' $100 to go towards the expenses of both teams.

I remain, yours, etc.,

PETERBOROUGH FAN.

ANOTHER SERMON BY BISHOP PEARCE

What Was Done at Free Methodist Conference To-day

In their church on Aylmer street the Free Methodists resumed their annual conference labors at 8.30 a.m., Bishop Pearce presiding.

Considerable routine business was transacted, consisting chiefly of reports from the pastors on the condition of their circuits, and the work which had been done during the year. Many interesting incidents were related of the hard toil, hardships, struggles and self-sacrifices of the consecrated workers, who during the year had been so actively engaged in spreading abroad the principles of pure Christianity. Yet, notwithstanding all the difficulties encountered, the great Head of the church has given them great and glorious victories.

At the close of the morning session Bishop Pearce gave another terse and helpful address on "The Preacher and His Preparation." He spoke of the necessity of a clear call, a life of devotion and noted judgment.

Rev. A. F. Ball was appointed to preach this afternoon, and Miss Lotta Babcock, a former pastor of the church here, to preach at 8 p.m.

GEN. BOOTH'S FUNERAL.

Huge Procession Follows Body to the Cemetery.

London, Aug. 30.—The body of the late General Booth was laid yesterday beside that of Catherine Booth, his wife, in Abney Park Cemetery, amid signs of deep respect from men and women of all classes.

Representatives of reigning houses and of Presidents of Republics joined round the grave with many thousands from the masses whom the founder of the Salvation Army had tried to uplift.

Delegates of legislative bodies, civic corporations, the army, the navy, business men of all branches, workmen who had sacrificed their day's wages, weeping women and children of whom the general was a true friend, marched shoulder to shoulder in the great procession which followed the body of the general to its last simple resting place.

A great gathering of members of the Salvation Army, from all parts of the United Kingdom and from many foreign countries assembled in the vicinity of the Salvation Army headquarters in the centre of the city of London at an early hour yesterday morning. The rain poured down from daybreak but when the procession had been marshalled and was about to start the skies cleared. The thousands of members of the Army and others who had stood for long hours in the rain were undismayed by the long march before them to the cemetery.

Many of those present, especially the women, wept as they saluted their dead leader.

Numbers of those in the procession were not in uniform but bore white sleeve bands with a red cross and there was an absence of the usual trappings of mourning.

As the procession marched through the muddy streets dense crowds of spectators gathered along the sidewalks and bowed their heads in respectful salute as the hearse passed away.

As General Booth had been an honorary freeman of the city of London, the Lord Mayor appeared on the balcony of the Mansion House and saluted the coffin.

The procession took three hours to traverse the five miles from the starting point to the cemetery gates. All along the line on both sides of the streets enormous crowds looked on. These became more dense as the approach to the cemetery was reached.

Beside the grave was erected a platform on which the members of General Booth's family and the leaders of the army took their places as the coffin was borne in.

The service was a very simple one, consisting of singing of Salvation Army hymns. General Bramwell Booth and his sister, Miss Eva Booth, commander-in-chief of the Salvation Army in America, delivered speeches, while the general's youngest daughter sang a solo.

By a codicil his small private property, having a net value of £487 19s. approximately $2,440, he gives to the Salvation Army with the exception of certain private papers and memoranda, which are given to his eldest son.

Another codicil deals with property estimated to value $26,475, representing moneys settled on him many years ago by the late Henry Reed for private use, goes to his children.

Watch For Potato Canker.

Ottawa, Aug. 30.—There has been issued by direction of the Minister of Agriculture at Ottawa, a conspicuous poster calling the attention of potato growers to the importance of examining their crop to ascertain whether or not it is infected with "potato canker."

Schelbergs Committed.

Toronto, Aug. 30.—Max and William Schelberg were yesterday committed for trial by Magistrate Clay on a charge of conspiring to defraud the Canadian Northern Railway out of $64.

Department of Railways & Canals, Canada

HUDSON BAY RAILWAY

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for construction of The Hudson Bay Railway" will be received at this office until 16 o'clock, Thursday, the 12th day of September, 1912, for the section from Split Lake Junction to the Hudson Bay terminus.

Plans and profiles showing the character and extent of the work to be done, the specifications and form of contract to be entered into, and other information can be seen on and after Thursday, the 15th of August, at the office of the Chief Engineer of the Department of Railways and Canals, Ottawa, and at the office of the Chief Engineer of the Hudson Bay Railway, Winnipeg, at which places forms of tender may be obtained.

Separate tenders will be required covering the work enumerated in the schedule on the section from Split Lake Junction to Port Nelson, a distance of approximately 165 miles, and on the section from Split Lake Junction to Port Churchill, a distance of approximately 245 miles.

The successful tenderer will be required to sign a contract covering the work from Split Lake Junction to the terminus selected and which will be announced by the Hon. Minister of Railways and Canals on his return from Hudson Bay.

Parties tendering will be required to accept the fair wages schedule prepared or to be prepared by the Department of Labor, which schedule will form part of the contract.

Contractors are requested to bear in mind that tenders will not be considered unless made strictly in accordance with the printed forms, and in the case of firms, unless there are attached the actual signature, the nature of the occupation and place of residence of each member of the firm.

An accepted bank cheque for the sum of $150,000.00 made payable to the order of the Minister of Railways and Canals, must accompany each tender, which sum will be forfeited if the party tendering declines entering into contract for the work, at the rates stated in the offer submitted.

The cheque thus sent in will be returned to the respective contractors whose tenders are not accepted.

The cheque of the successful tenderer will be held as security, or part security, for the due fulfilment of the contract to be entered into.

The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

By order,

L. K. JONES,
Asst. Deputy Minister and Secretary,
Department of Railways and Canals,
Ottawa, August 14, 1912.

A FORMER LOCAL MAN TALKS INTERESTINGLY OF MANITOBA

Was One of the Organizers of "Million for Manitoba League"—He Prophesies a Great Future for the Province.

A representative of the Review interviewed to-day Mr. A. N. Allison, of Winnipeg, Man., who has been visiting the city after an absence of two and a half years spent in the flourishing western metropolis.

Mr. Allison is extremely optimistic regarding the future of Manitoba, and the information which he imparted, convinces one that his enthusiasm is borne of intimate knowledge of conditions as they exist in greater Manitoba.

When asked about the recently formed "Million for Manitoba" League, he spoke enthusiastically of its golden prospects.

"The League is an organization," he explained, "to exploit broadcast the bountiful advantages of Manitoba. It's formation was the result of the constructive imagination of a few of the leading spirits of the main central points of the Province, men of vision, seers, prophets, men who have projected themselves into the future; who saw the opportunity and grasped it by the forelock. The President of the League, W. Sandford Evans, ex-Mayor of Winnipeg, was the unanimous choice of the delegates from every constituency throughout the Province, elected on account of his splendid executive and organizing ability, his integrity and his progressiveness."

"The object of the League," continued Mr. Allison, "is to make known to the nations of the world, whose presence would be of mutual benefit, the many advantages afforded them as residents of Greater Manitoba. There have been a number of agencies at work that have retarded the growth and development of the Province, and the League, with its corps of experts was not long in analyzing the entire situation."

Proceeding, Mr. Allison said that "at the outset an expert was sent to England, and the Continent with the object of interesting agriculturists and dairymen in the opportunities awaiting them if they would cast their lot with the 'number one harders' in Manitoba.

"In a great many instances the expert was asked whether Manitoba was in Saskatchewan or Alberta; he found nearly all had received more or less advertising matter from these provinces but none from Manitoba, whereupon he set out to discover why Manitoba was not in the running and also how the other provinces conducted their publicity campaigns.

He found the Provincial Governments of Saskatchewan and Alberta have well appointed offices in the large centres of Europe, with abundance of, up-to-date advertising matter in fact their equipment far surpassed and excelled that of the Dominion Government, but for Manitoba nothing could be found. No office, even in London, to say nothing of the absence of publicity literature, so our agent wasn't surprised their knowledge of Manitoba was so limited.

"The findings of this representative," said Mr. Allison "comes as a great shock to the league, as did also the reports from the delegates commissioned to study the situation in Eastern Canada and the United States."

"As men of action," he said, "believing fully in the philosophy of doing it right now, the league persuaded the Provincial Government to co-operate with them, and a very strong publicity campaign is being carried out for Europe that will make the "Ideal" of the "Million for Manitoba league" appear a comparatively easy one to attain."

"As yet," said the Review's infor-informant, "the league is scarcely six months old, but it can be stated with considerable pride that the products of Manitoba will be displayed at every Agricultural Exhibition in the United States during this year."

Some reasons why Manitoba has been slighted, he said, were that the Transportation Companies and a number of large Real Estate organisations owning and controlling vast areas of land in Saskatchewan and Alberta, have put forth every effort to sell and colonize their holdings and have expended hundreds of thousands of dollars in organizing and maintaining sales forces and circularizing tens of thousands of people.

Conditions such as these have not been conducive to rapid development in Manitoba, but she has developed rapidly in spite of them. The day of large sales of blocks of 10,000 or more acres is practically over. Improved farm lands can be bought in Manitoba cheaper than raw prairie in Saskatchewan or Alberta.

Manitoba's close proximity to the market is another good reason why she will prosper as mileage represents dollars to tranportation companies, therefore, their unceasing and untiring enthusiasm for the far west is born of remuneration.

GOVERNMENTAL OPPOSITION HAD A NEGATIVE INFLUENCE

The fact that the Manitoba Government was in opposition with the Dominion Government for over a decade and the Minister of the Interior residing in Alberta effected conditions in the Province more than can readily be appreciated. To-day, conditions are altogether changed, the Provincial and Dominion Governments are in perfect harmony, and the Minister of the Interior resides in Winnipeg.

Manitoba's boundaries have been extended and her acreage doubled. She is a Maritime Province with a port on the Hudson Bay. Thousands of good homesteads have been thrown open, a great many of which are thickly covered with valuable timber. Others are choice prairie lands, while undoubtedly a great many are rich in minerals of various kinds.

The northern part of the province will be especially helped by the construction of the Hudson Bay Railroad, which has its terminus in the Province's new harbor, at Fort Churchill.

"There is no doubt, concluded Mr. Allison enthusiastically, that Manitoba will be the industrial province of the West, and in less than twenty years she will be known more as an industrial province than an agricultural province. Winnipeg is now the third manufacturing city in Canada."

Manitoba is on the eve of unprecedented prosperity."

Mr. Allison was an active worker in the formation of the "Million for Manitoba League" having spent over a week in organization work.

He is also extensively interested in western reality, principally in Winnipeg and Weyburn, where he has valuable and profitable holdings.

The only people who keep all their promises are those who never make any.

Money talks, and sometimes, if it is marked, it forces a confession.

Young Veterinary Student Has Altercation With "Wild Pete" Collins, a Well-Known Character In the Vicinity and Two Fights Result In Second of Which Appleby Loses Life—Slayer Still at Large.

Cobden, Renfrew County, Ont., Aug. 31.—Grant Appleby, aged 27, a student in attendance at the Ontario Veterinary College, Toronto, who was spending his vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. Appleby, Ross Township, was murdered last night immediately in front of the parental homestead, being stabbed twice to the heart by "Wild Pete" Collins, a farmer of the district.

Collins made his escape, and although posses have been out for hours, no trace of him has yet been found.

The murder was the direct result of a quarrel which occurred Thursday night in the village. Collins is said to have insulted Appleby, and the latter retaliated, a fierce hand-to-hand fight ensuing. Collins went for Appleby in a vicious manner, chewing his ear to shreds. Although the bigger man, Appleby contented himself with ending the quarrel speedily and the pair were separated by friends.

Collins evidently did not forget the incident and carried his hatred to great extremes yesterday. He has been known to be of a very vicious disposition and at times has been regarded as insane.

Early yesterday his brothers sent for his mother to assist in pacifying him, but in his rage he threw her out of the house and ordered her to keep away.

Last night about eight o'clock Collins went down the road in the direction of the Appleby farm. Grant Appleby, seeing him approaching, went out to meet him, with the intention of settling the dispute of the night before, which evidently from Collins' manner was unclosed.

As Grant approached, Collins drew a knife from his pocket and made a rush for him. Grant called to his brother Reuben for assistance, and the latter rushed at Collins. Grant Appleby also made for Collins and in the melee which followed was stabbed twice over the heart.

After receiving the wounds Appleby continued pummeling Collins, until the latter cried for mercy. The pair then separated, Appleby and his brother turning to their home and Collins making off down the road. Just as Grant Appleby reached the gate, he dropped to the ground and died in a few minutes.

Medical assistance was summoned, but Dr. J. R. Stuart, who arrived, saw that his services were not needed, and Coroner Josephs of Pembroke was notified. An inquest will be opened on his arrival.

Collins is a son of Mr and Mrs. William Collins of this village. He has been regarded as a peculiar character, although never before very dangerous, and for this reason was called "Wild Pete."

The Appleby and Collins families have always been friends, and the parents of the young man can assign no cause for his sudden hatred of Grant Appleby.

Editors at the Fair.

Toronto, Aug. 31.—Press Day at the Exhibition broke a record for attendance, although the official figures were not given out by the management last night. On this occasion last year 60,000 attended and according to those who should know about 10,000 or 15,000 more were in the grounds yesterday. To-day is Hamilton Day, when the inhabitants of the Ambitious City will have but one ambition, and that is to see the fair. The million mark seems an easy thing to conquer. If the weather continues the same, there is practically no doubt that the great and glorious achievement will be a reality.

Rural editors turned out in force yesterday, there being about 300, their wives, families and friends as guests of the exhibition. The editors were dined twice by the directors, and last night a section of the grand stand seating about 300 was reserved for them. The newspaper men came from every corner of the Dominion, from as far west as British Columbia, and east to Cape Breton. One even came from Newfoundland. They all held the key to freedom in the Exhibition City.

Chinese Interpreter Goes to Trial.

Montreal, Aug. 31.—Charlie King, a former Chinese interpreter in the local courts and leader of one of the two rival tongs whose differences have been enlivening Montreal's Chinatown, was yesterday committed to stand his trial for attempted murder at the September term of the court of king's bench.

Six murder cases and three cases of attempted murder are now pending and will be heard next month before the court of king's bench

CABMAN GETS A YEAR.

Driver Who "Drove On" Over a Woman Is Sentenced.

Toronto, Aug. 31.—John Morton, the young cab driver, whose vehicle ran over Miss Agnes White on Saturday, July 13th, crushing her right shoulder and fracturing several ribs, was charged in court yesterday morning with doing grievous bodily harm by reckless driving while in charge of a vehicle.

Miss White, who has been under medical care since the accident, told the court she had crossed behind a car on the corner of Wellington and Bay streets about 12.15, when she was suddenly struck and knocked down.

Miss Simon, who was crossing just in front, testified that the cab driven by the defendant swung around the corner at a furious pace and that she herself just jumped in time to escape.

The front wheel ran over the other young lady. The cab stopped for a moment, but a passenger inside cried out "drive on, drive on," and Morton whipped up the horses, drove the rear wheel also over the form of the prostrate and screaming girl and whirling around the next corner, disappeared.

Other witnesses including Mr. A. Capon and Mr. Wm. Ward, roadmaster for the Railway Company, corroborated this evidence.

Morton did not think that the front wheel had gone over the girl, but admitted that, having become scared and ordered by his passenger to go on, he drove away. He will serve one year in the Central Prison.

WARMER IN WEST.

Chances of Getting Wheat In Are Much Improved.

Winnipeg, Aug. 31.—After heavy rains for the last week the sky is clear and bright, offering for the first time in ten days prospects of settled weather. Temperatures were generally high yesterday in Manitoba, but prophets to-day say fair and cooler, but at or not far off freezing point in many districts of central and northern Saskatchewan.

The weather map of western Canada is not encouraging to an early resumption of harvesting operations, rain having fallen again in many districts, but it is generally clear to-day and on high lands binders can get to work.

Regina, Sask., Aug. 31.—It is clear and cold here, but the sun is shining and farmers are hopeful for the harvest. If the sunshine of yesterday continues cutting will be general again by Monday. Frost was feared Thursday night, but the mercury did not go lower than 35, and the district escaped.

Weyburn, Sask., Aug. 31.—Rain fell Thursday, but cleared toward night. The weather was warm and no frost has been reported. Yesterday opened warm and clear, but cutting is delayed by wet fields. As much as 96 1-2 cents has been offered in the district by an elevator company for wheat now in the shock, grading No. 2 for October delivery.

High River, Alta., Aug. 31.—Frost was reported throughout this district Thursday night, varying from two to eight degrees. Garden stuff was injured, and wheat on low lands probably damaged.

Tangled In Balloon Rope.

Flint, Mich., Aug. 31.—In the presence of hundreds of people, fourteen-year-old Chester Betts, son of Bert N. Betts of Flint, was accidentally caught by the guy rope of a balloon yesterday and carried about 2,000 feet in the air before he fell to his death. He crashed against the roof of a barn and was still alive when spectators reached him, but he soon expired

The tragedy occurred at a country fair, and when the balloon and aeronaut shot upwards, many people thought the youth dangling with the end of the rope was a dummy. The heroic efforts of the balloonist to rescue the boy soon disclosed the truth to the crowd below. As the big gas bag crept higher, the aeronaut in peril of his own safety, could be seen working desperately to pull the dangling for into the trapeze. Finally the rope swirled away from the lad and the tiny form dropped downward like a stone

Winnipeg's Centenary.

Winnipeg, Aug. 31.—Yesterday was the centenary of Winnipeg's real natal day. One hundred years ago the band of adventurers and pioneers known as Lord Selkirk's Orkney Colonists reached the banks of the Red River and founded a settlement. The day is being extensively celebrated.

THREE KILLED; SEVERAL INJURED NEAR NORTH BAY

Fast Freight Crashes Into a Work Train With Fatal Results—Switch Was Misplaced.

Special to The Review.

North Bay, Aug. 31. — Thomas Duncan, conductor, and P. Wallace, brakeman, of North Bay, were killed. A man named Ellerdall, of Mattawa, is reported killed; W. A. Graham, Brakeman, North Bay, was seriously injured and a number of workmen were more or less injured when a fast freight dashed into a siding at Mattawa, forty miles east of here, early this morning and crashed into the rear of a work train. A misplaced switch was the cause.

LONDON CRIPPLED BY POST OFFICE FIRE.

THE LONDON GENERAL POST OFFICE

London was entirely cut off from telegraphic communication with the rest of the country and with the Continent, and for a time connection with America was severed, as the result of a fierce fire which started in the General Post Office, in which building the Central Telegraph Office is situated, and where all the wires of the service are concentrated.

While the fire was extremely fierce no lives were lost and the damage was confined to the inside of the building. One thousand employes, a majority of them women, got out of the structure promptly and without panic.

RECIPROCITY IS DEAD IN THE WEST

Mr. Burnham Visits the Winnipeg Grain Market and Finds Prices Higher There Than in Minneapolis---Some Reliable Quotations That Should Convince the Most Skeptical.

Mr. J. H. Burnham, who for the past few weeks has been making a tour of the West, going as far as the Pacific Coast, wired the Review to-day from Winnipeg in which city he visited the grain market with a view to comparing the prices there with those offered at Minneapolis. Here are his quotations,

WHEAT
Winnipeg, No. 1 Northern	$1.05
Minneapolis, " "	93c to 98c
No. 2 Northern
Winnipeg, Western Grade	98c
Minneapolis " "	88c to 98c
OATS
Winnipeg	46c
Minneapolis	31½c
BARLEY
Winnipeg, Western Grade	52½c
Minneapolis, " "	34c

ADD FREIGHT RATES

Add to these prices the difference in freight rates between points in the West to Winnipeg and to Minneapolis, and where would the western farmer, who believes in Reciprocity find himself if he sent his grain to the American market.

RECIPROCITY DEAD

Mr. Burnham adds "Reciprocity is dead in the West"

The above quotations should convince any one that the Canadian market is the one for the farmer,

Here we have the real reason why Sir Wilfred Laurier has decided not to go to the West to preach his false doctrine. His colleagues out west who understand the situation would not stand for the trip.

CHORUS GIRL SHOT.

Actress Nearly Murdered In Auto Near Hamilton.

Hamilton, Aug. 31.—Agnes Cartelle, who recently finished an engagement as chorus girl with the Zeigieild Moulin Rouge Company, was brought to Dr. Hopkin's surgery early yesterday morning by a man in an automobile, who told the doctor that the woman had been shot while riding to Hamilton from Toronto with him. The man said he was David Gillespie, a Chicago stock broker. The woman was wounded in the left breast. An examination showed that a bullet had struck her corset steel and had been deflected upwards. The corset steel probably saved her life.

Miss Cartello said the shooting was done by her husband, Clarence Abenstein, a comedian, who followed her to Toronto. They were married in Chicago some years ago, but had never lived happily. After she agreed to visit the Toronto Exhibition with Gillespie, she said she received a wire at Terre Haute, Ind., from her husband, who said he would kill her Gillespie told her not to worry, and accompany him.

The woman said that Abenstein followed Gillespie and her in another car Thursday night and when a few miles out of Toronto, caught up with them and shot at her. He then turned his car about and went back to Toronto. Gillespie hurried the woman to Hamilton and later left with her for Buffalo.

Freight Conductor Killed.

Chatham, Aug. 31.—John Flannery of this city, a freight conductor on the C. W. & L. E. Railway, was fatally injured at Wallaceburg yesterday about noon. Four cars passed over his body and both of his legs were badly mutilated and his head cut. Flannery had charge of a freight train coming into Wallaceburg. The train was doing some shunting near the oil refinery, when Flannery was missed by the crew. They found him lying on the tracks, unconscious. He passed away three-quarters of an hour after the accident.

Sir Wilfrid's Quebec Meetings.

Montreal, Aug. 31.—The first of Sir Wilfrid Laurier's meetings in this province will be at Marieville, Rouville County, on Saturday, Sept. 7. The party leader will be accompanied by many of the Liberal members of Parliament and of the Legislature in the Montreal district. Another meeting will be held at St. Cleet, Soulanges County, in the second week in September. This is one of the counties that has the honor of being represented in Parliament by Sir Wilfrid. The meetings in each case will be regional gatherings.

Cold Hits Montreal Melons.

Montreal, Aug. 31.—This is the way a fruit dealer described the crop today. Fruit growers who make a specialty of growing Montreal melons are up against it "The crop is at least a month late," he said. "There has not been enough sun or real warm weather to grow melons this summer and the way it looks now this kind of fruit will be clear loss."

HON. MR. PELLETIER SAYS CABLE RATES WILL BE CUT

Canadian Minister Says That the British Postmaster-General Is Bringing Pressure to Bear on the Companies and Certain Reductions Will Be Made, But the Exact Tariff will Not Be Given Out For Two Weeks.

Liverpool, Aug. 31.—(C.A.P. Cable.) —Postmaster Pelletier made a statement before leaving with Premier Borden on the Victorian yesterday afternoon. In part he said,

"When I first arrived in London I said one of the most important objects of my visit was to try and obtain a reduction in cable rates. I then promised to make public a statement before I left. Those rates in my opinion are unfair and should be considerably lower. The Right Hon. Albert Samuel, postmaster, has received me with the utmost kindness and courtesy. We had together many interviews, conversations and negotiations with the manager of one of the two cable companies. We also met the president of the other company, with some important officers of Mr. Samuel's department. At that moment I thought it preferable to bring to an end the protracted negotiations and to suggest respectfully to the British postmaster, among other things, that he might, under authority given him, by the landing license of one of the companies (subject to appeal provided therein), fix rates himself.

"Postmaster Samuel, who had more power in his hands with his landing license, and who could to a certain extent command the companies, reopened alone the negotiations with a view to bringing the cable companies to a point where some of the rates, at least, would be reduced by consent, instead of Ministerial decree. This is a good move on his part, inasmuch as it will render unnecessary an appeal which would have entailed considerable delay. Mr. Samuel has informed me of the progress made so far, and his hopes of further progress in the early future with regard to some other rates. All I can now say is that it has been decided, so far, that some of the rates will be reduced, and such reduction will be made within a fortnight. But all rates will not be lowered.

Mr. Samuel, being unavoidably away, I do not care to announce today what are the reductions now decided upon, and on the whole the public will be in better position to appreciate the value of these reductions if they are made known altogether and not piecemeal. Mr. Samuel will wire me all reductions which are to be made when all the details have been worked out."

PREMIER BORDEN WILL BE BANQUETED IN TORONTO

Ten Thousand Guests Will Sit Down at Arena, According to Plans Made by the Toronto Board of Trade—The Premier and Mr. Pelletier Leave Liverpool For Home—Comments of the Press.

Ottawa, Aug. 31.—Arrangements are being made by the Toronto Board of Trade to hold a banquet in the Arena, Toronto, on Sept. 23, in honor of the Rt. Hon. R. L. Borden. It is proposed to make this the biggest banquet ever held in Canada. Ten thousand invitations will be issued, and the Prime Ministers of every province in Canada will be invited to attend and give addresses. A strong committee will be appointed to complete the arrangements. Further particulars will be announced during the next few days.

Leaves For Home.

They were met at the wharf before departure by Sir Walter Bowring, representing the Liverpool Chamber of Commerce, and Archdeacon Madden. Compliments of a very cordial character were exchanged.

To a group of newspaper men before leaving the Premier expressed again his hearty thanks for the cordiality of the hospitality extended to them. Close alongside the Victorian was the Adriatic also crammed to its utmost capacity. She got away well ahead of the Victorian, being heartily cheered by the latter, which in its turn received a vociferous farewell from the crowds of spectators ashore.

Premier Borden declined to say anything regarding Sir Wilfrid Laurier's speech re Germany. He remarked he had said all he had to say regarding the navy and suffragettes, and added he was unaware the phrase "no English need apply" had any significance in Canada.

The Conservative newspapers yesterday expressed high hopes of the result of Mr. Borden's mission in enlisting Canadian co-operation for Imperial defence.

The Pall Mall Gazette says: "He is the embodimennt of a great wave of Imperial feeling and filial love. Where he and Canada lead there can be little doubt about Australia, New Zealand and South Africa will follow. For the practical result of Mr. Borden's mission we must wait a while, but in the confidence that a great step forward will be taken toward the establishment of that Empire of peace which it is the destiny of the British race to establish."

The speech of Sir Wilfrid Laurier is censured by some of the Conservative newspapers, notably The Morning Post which says "Sir Wilfrid's speech can only be described as hostile to the British naval policy."

Makes a World's Record.

Ottawa, Aug. 31.—Captain A. W. Hay, of the 8th Royal Rifles, Quebec, made a world's record for rifle shooting at the D.R.A. yesterday morning, with 21 straight bulls.

Captain C. R. Crowe, of the 30th, Guelph, last year's winner of the Governor-General's prize, scored 104 in the first stage of the same match, completed in the morning, only one point behind Captain Hay's wonderful score.

Leading winners yesterday were: Governor-General's competition, first stage, 200, 500 and 600 yards, seven shots at each; silver medal, Captain A. W. Hay, 8th Royal Rifles, Quebec; possible, 105.

'Phones For C.P.R.

Montreal, Aug. 31.—Mr. James Kent, the manager of the Canadian Pacific Railway Telegraphs, has just completed a tour of inspection of the system from the Pacific to the Atlantic.

"By the end of the year," said Mr. Kent, "the Canadian Pacific will have 4,000 miles of single track, with facilities for train despatching by telephone. By the end of the year the line from St. John to Vancouver will have a double copper circuit, so that the railway will then be able to despatch its trains by telephone instead of telegraph.

"The telephone is quicker and more adaptable to emergencies. The telephone is the modern way of despatching trains, and the Canadian Pacific in a few months will have four thousand miles of single track connecting two oceans equipped for this system."

Ten-Million Dollar Terminal.

Vancouver, Aug. 31.—The Canadian Northern Railway yesterday applied to the city for a grant of part of False Creek, on which it guarantees to spend $10,000,000 in terminal improvements.

PRICE OF COAL WILL GO UP TEN CENTS A TON NEXT MONTH

The Final Situation Beccoming so Serious That the People Are Considering Peat as a Substitute for Soft Coal and Anthracite.

The price of coal will go up another notch in Peterboro next month the increase averaging about ten cents a ton.

The fuel situation is becoming so serious that the attention of the public is turning to peat as a substitute for soft coal and anthracite. U. S. Counsel Johnson, at Montreal, in a report to the American government points out the scarcity of coal, the prices having already advanced in Montreal from $7 to $8 per ton with every indication of further and more drastic charges at the approach of winter. It is estimated that if the available peat deposits of Ontario were utilized the cost of fuel consumption would decrease fully 50 per cent.

Peat is best used in open grates and cook stoves and heaters, although if properly looked after it will prove satisfactory in furnaces as well. The illustration is given of one gentleman who saved $31 by using peat last winter. He had formerly burned eleven tons of hard coal at $7.50. Last winter he burned 15 tons of peat at $3.50, a saving of $34. It costs about $2.25 per ton to manufacture peat into a form suitable for combustion.

The bogs of this product at Alfred Ontario, are the only ones that have been worked extensively as yet, and they have turned out to be a huge success. The bogs are situated about forty miles from Ottawa, which city uses a large portion of the product.

It has been proven by the actual test of Ottawa manufacturers that 2 1-2 pounds of peat will produce as much heat as 1 1-2 pounds of soft coal, and the cost is less proportionately. There are large bodies of peat still untouched. The Simcoe bogs near Toronto, contain fully 9,000,000 tons, and extensive areas within a few miles of Peterboro and Lindsay, have yet to be explored.

The plant at Alfred is making money and there is no reason why another, more centrally located, should not pay. The move would at least be appreciated by the householder upon whom the burden of the increased cost of living is falling heavily.

Acute Dyspepsia

"My food seemed to decompose in my stomach," writes Mr. Ralph Clemmons, of Newbridge, P.O. "I had a stomach that failed in some way to perform its work. Digestion seemed more or less arrested and I grew thin, yellow, nervous. The stomach became distended and impeded apparently the action of the heart, for often at night it would do great stunts. At times I would vomit a mucous mess, and at these times my head ached most terribly. A friend, who had been cured of a similar condition, advised me to take Dr. Hamilton's Pills regularly, which I did. The result in my case was simply marvelous. Dr. Hamilton's Pills removed the cause, strengthened the stomach, excited the liver to normal action, the kidneys were released of excessive work. Health soon glowed within me. I can now eat, sleep, and live like a live man."

Be advised—Use Dr. Hamilton's Pills—they are sure to do you good. 25c per box, at all dealers, or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Canada.

THE GROUCH

The Grouch has not a friend in the world unless it be the person who makes a ten cent purchase in a store and then asks the merchant to deliver it a mile or so out in the suburbs. The Grouch is at war with the world but is given to emptying the phials of his spleen upon the devoted heads of the youth of Peterborough. During the summer vacation the Grouch has had frequent collisions with the small boy and has infested the newspaper offices and bored everybody with his wailings. According to his way of thinking the small boy is not what members of the rising generation were in the days of the Grouch's adolescence, which must have been far back in the past, seeing that he has apparently forgotten that he was ever a boy himself.

The Grouch says that the boy of to-day is not trained properly either in the Public or the Sunday Schools of the city, that in the one he is not submitted frequently enough to the rod while in the other the true principles of morality are not inculcated into his receptive mind. The boy, too often, according to the Grouch, leaves his class, in which he has been expected to fetch the religious instruction and gathering around him a band of choice spirits heads for the country where he abandons himself to plundering the orchard of the suburbanite. The marauder, according to the Grouch not only appropriates the fruit but by his violent methods of unlawful acquisition inflicts injury upon the trees.

The Peterborough youth has probably profited by reading. He has doubtless at some time in his career either heard or read the highly moral account of the checkered career of that prince of bad boys, Will Crews, who had a weakness for plums and chose moonlight nights for his depredations. On one of these nocturnal excursions he climbed a tree, seated himself on a branch, and filled his hat with the fruit. The branch broke, boy and plums fell to the ground in a heap and with noise sufficient to awake two dogs that rushed to the scene and attacked him as if he were some wild animal. Then the farmer came up with the horsewhip and did the rest.

The Peterborough small boy, according to the Grouch, takes no chances. He does not risk life or limb by climbing the tree, but stands on the ground and knocks the fruit down with a pole. This is safer, but it is hard on the tree. It has, moreover, the advantage of precluding the possibility of the youth being taken by surprise for at the first indication of approaching danger he can abandon his unlawful pursuit and effect his escape, in all such cases running because he has not the power to fly.

All this from the Grouch. That worthy really should look upon all youthful frolics, not necessarily with commendation, but with some degree of charity. The small boy has his temptation as we all have, and may be forgiven if he occasionally is unable to stand a test which was too much even for his first parents. Boys will be boys, although perhaps the Grouch never was one.

The Peterborough youth, if no better, is certainly no worse than his kind the world over. He goes to the Toronto Exhibition in the uniform of the Boy Scout and there so deports himself as to win special encomiums from the Duke of Connaught himself. He is as a rule well behaved on the public streets. His passion for baseball which he plays under difficulties and by rules of his own making on every vacant lot is but an indication of the latent virility in his anatomy. He attends the professional games and when a policeman, striving to quell an incipient riot, slaps him soundly, he may not exactly offer the other cheek for similar treatment, but he shows the stern stuff in his makeup by taking his punishment without a murmur. He does not report the matter to his parents and call for vengeance.

But he does not forget. He keeps on thinking and waiting for the day when he is grown up and the man who smites him will do so at his own personal peril.

MR. BORDEN RETURNS

Mr. Borden is on his way home after a somewhat protracted sojourn in England. His trip has been a success from beginning to end and as a statesman of the first rank he has been heralded by the British Press without exception. At every place he spoke he has been listened to by vast throngs of all classes of the British people and his addresses have been published in full, with favorable comment, by the leading journals. When he received a deputation of suffragettes he did not attempt to win their favor by fine speeches and specious promises, but told his visitors plainly that he meant to do nothing for the advancement of their cause in his own country.

The Liberal press on this side of the Atlantic have already announced that the Premier has practically failed in his mission and that his conference with the Imperial authorities, on the question of the defence of the Empire, have resulted in nothing. All of which is pure speculation. When the time comes for Mr. Borden to speak he will do so, and not before. In the meantime all guesses are idle as well as unfair and misleading. How the Premier is regarded by the British press may be gathered from the following extracts—

The Pall Mall Gazette says of Mr. Borden on the eve of his sailing for home: "He is the embodiment of a great wave of Imperial feeling and filial love. Where he and Canada lead there can be little doubt that Australia, New Zealand and South Africa will follow. For the practical result of Mr. Borden's mission we must wait a while, but in the confidence that a great step forward will be taken toward the establishment of that empire of peace which it is the destiny of the British race to establish."

The Westminster Gazette, the Government organ, expresses a similar view. The speech of Sir Wilfrid Laurier is censured by some of the Conservative newspapers, notably the Morning Post, which says: "Sir Wilfrid's speech can only be described as hostile to the British naval policy."

NOTE AND COMMENT

It's only a mild variety of smallpox they are having in Hamilton. That city never does take anything seriously except itself.

The unexpected has happened. The journalistic lion and lamb have at last lain down together in amity and peace. The Toronto World and the Globe are as one in their opposition to the C.P.R. melon cutting, so called.

The Warder with true civic pride and journalistic enterprise publishes a list of the many good things to be found in Lindsay, but fails to add that the tax rate in that town is thirty mills and a fraction over.

Money talks louder and more to the purpose than the clamor of even baseball patrons. If the Ottawa fans have so much faith in their team, what about meeting the monetary offer of the Peterborough people, who are ready to back the White Caps in a post series with the Senators with good bank bills?

Ten American immigrants with 33 head of stock drove to Creston this week and shipped to Alberta points.

MONTREAL, Aug. 30.—Business in Manitoba spring wheat over the cable was quieter, but there was a good foreign demand for oats, a further advance in prices, but owing to the scarcity of supplies exporters find it difficult to do much business, as local market is strong and prices are tending higher. Export trade in new crop spring wheat flour for October shipment was more active and sales of 25,000 sacks were made at full asking prices. Millfeed firm, under a good demand. Rolled oats 25c lower. Demand for butter increasing, and market more active at firmer prices. Cheese in good demand and strong. Eggs firm. Potatoes lower. Provisions steady.

SOME WORKING GIRLS LOSE TOO MUCH TIME

Two Girls Tell How To Avoid It.

There is nothing that teaches more than experience. We therefore quote from the letters of two girls who suffered and were restored to health. The same remedy is within reach of all.

Brooklyn, N. Y.—"Prior to taking the first bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I suffered agony every month, but after your wonderful medicine had been taken a while I felt a little better, and after taking seven bottles of it I feel that I can truly say I have no more pain or inconvenience.

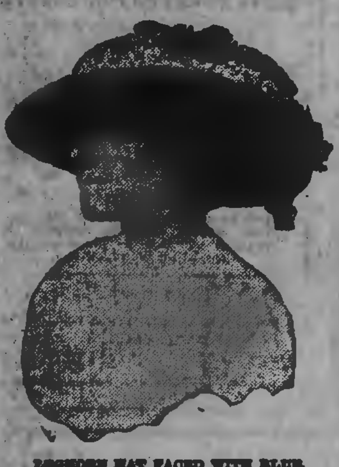
"As I am out in the business world as a stenographer, I come in contact with many girls, and when the opportune moment arrives I tell them about the Vegetable Compound and I know that quite a few are taking it."—HELEN CANEY, 838 Dean St.

Another Girl's Experience.

Tishomingo, Okla.—"I am a stenographer and book-keeper, and Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has saved my life. I am enjoying the best of health now, but I was suffering from female troubles and painful periods, and would have backache, headache and fainting spells. If any woman would like to write to me I will gladly answer her letter and tell her what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me."—Mrs. [illegible], Tishomingo, Okla.

MILLINERY MATTERS.

The Shepherdess Hat in Style Again.



LEGHORN HAT FACED WITH BLUE.

The hat bent down at the front and back and flaring at the sides is an old favorite revived this summer. This shepherdess hat is of leghorn faced with nattier blue and has a trimming of white and blue hyacinths.

Smartness of White.

The woman of limited income should not be tempted by colored linen frocks. They are not a wise investment when gowns must necessarily be few in number. They are almost sure to fade, and even while they possess all their original glory they cannot be touched up and varied by colored cravat and belt as the white outfit can. Such is the imperishable beauty of white that even the inexpensive material known as sailcloth, which can be bought for about 30 cents a yard, can be made to look smarter than the average colored linen. Those venturing upon costumes of sailcloth should, however, to make assurance doubly sure, see that the material has been well shrunk before it is made up.

Art is long, but the tempers of artists are usually very short.

There is little distinction between the gowns of young girls and the matron's frock this season. Still, there are small differences that to the initiated are observable. The stunning gown of black and white silk seen in the illustration is an ideal one for the matron who is inclined to be a trifle stout. Bands of plain black silk give long lines, and the basque effect in the back is particularly good.

NERVOUS BREAKDOWN

Usually Due to Overwork and Worry—A Tonic is Needed

Overwork and worry give rise to nervousness, sleeplessness, headaches, lack of ambition and lack of interest in your work, weak back, indigestion and sometimes a complete breakdown of the nervous system. On every hand you find victims of this kind and often they do not know what to do for themselves. If these are your symptoms you need a tonic, and the only way to tone up the nerves is through the blood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a direct nerve tonic because they enrich and build up the blood, and it is through the blood that the nerves are fed. Under their tonic influence nervousness, with all its attendant evils, disappear, and the worried sufferer again enjoys health and strength. Proof of the value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in nervous troubles is given by Mrs. Lara Schevling, Lundar, Man., who says:—"I was attacked with nervous trouble which almost drove me to distraction. It would be almost impossible for words to describe my condition. The least thing would startle me and leave me trembling for an hour. I had nervous headaches, and slept very badly at nights, some nights not at all. My appetite grew poor, and I was really a physical wreck. I had been to several doctors and had taken many different medicines, but without any benefit. Then I read of a case similar cured by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I sent for a dozen boxes fully believing it would take at least that many to cure me. You can judge of my gratitude, however, when I found that after using only half a dozen boxes I was again enjoying the best of health, and have since remained well and strong. I used the remainder of the pills among my children when they seemed out of sorts, and have found them at all times to be the very best of family medicines."

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Seasonable.

Sweet summer slowly comes apace,
The landscape richly gracing.
From every portion of the place
Spring's churlish chatter chasing.
There is a freshness in the air,
A welcome warmth is brewing,
And hints are hurtled here and there
That tell of something doing.

Removed is winter far away.
Its chilly rule has faded,
And for a warmer date and day
Its baggage has been traded.
We do not sit around and sigh
For weather more kind hearted
Or hope that some day by and by
Some such stunt will be started.

For when the summer comes to stay
And makes an entry formal
We recognize it right away
If everything is normal.
For we can tell it at a glance
When slowly it comes stealing.
There isn't any guessing chance—
We know it by the feeling.

And if at times it seems to make
Enthusiastic showing
How much more fun it is to bake
Than to be mixed with snowing!
Yes, summer is our pride and stay,
Our very choicest season,
But let us venture anyway
To hope it will have reason.

For the Children

A Fourth of July Parade of Children in Masks.

The old time noisy, firecracker celebration of the Fourth of July has happily gone out of fashion. Powder and fire are too dangerous for young folks to handle. A masked parade is a jolly way for children to show their patriotism on Independence day. The more grotesque the masks and costumes are the greater will be the fun. Another good plan is to have a colonial parade and perhaps tableaux in the schoolhouse or on some convenient field or lawn. The youngsters, dressed up to represent George and Martha Washington, Miss Columbia, Uncle Sam and the men and dames of colonial times, can be grouped to form many pretty and interesting pictures. It is greater fun, too, than being burned and otherwise injured by firecrackers.

A Fourth of July Game.

Another good Fourth of July game is called "stars and stripes." To arrange for this take a large number of cards and paste a gilt star on each. On another bunch paste a red strip of paper on each, and on another paste a strip of silver on each.

The cards are dealt, one to each player and one to the pool, until all are disposed of. The cards are held figure side in. Each player examines his cards to see whether he has enough stars and stripes to make up the American flag. If he has the correct number and over he counts them out, and after showing them to the table he lays them aside. Perhaps he may have two flags. When no player can form further flags from his own cards the drawing begins. Each player borrows from his left hand neighbor and endeavors to make a flag. If any player gets out of cards he still may draw. The person on the right of the one out of cards draws from the pool. The pool is only used when absolutely necessary. No one is allowed to answer any question as to the flag during the game, and much fun will be made by the players displaying their ignorance as to the correct number of stars and stripes of our emblem. When a player lays down his hand with a wrong number of stars and stripes to make up one flag those cards go to the pool, but no one must tell him in what way he erred or the others will be helped. The one making the most correct flags wins a prize.

She wears the finest clothes in town.
Her husband has a bunch of scads.
On poor folk she looks proudly down
And speaks about "the lost Pleiads."

He—She used to. Now she sits up for him.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

DIABETES

Sanol's Antidiabetes, the great discovery of a German Specialist, is the only practical and thoroughly tested Remedy for Diabetes-mellitus. It has a specific action against the poisons of the disease, and by its use the secretion of sugar almost immediately abates and disappears altogether after a short time. So long as the disease has not reached its last stages, a cure can be effected with "Sanol's Antidiabetes."

Open wounds heal after a little time, the disagreeable thirst disappears after a few days the general health of the patient becomes speedily improved.

Sanol's Antidiabetes is used with an alternate diet regimen based on long experience in the study of this disease.

All sufferers from this terrible and hitherto considered incurable disease should not hesitate to give "Sanol's Antidiabetes" a trial, as we feel absolutely certain that it will justify all the claims we make for it.

This remedy is perfectly harmless to the organic system, being composed only of herbs and extracts, and containing no poisonous or injurious matter whatever.

FOR FIVE YEARS A FAITHFUL PASTOR

Rev. W. C. Riddiford's Successful Work in Park St. Baptist Church.

The Rev. W. C. Riddiford will to-morrow, commence his fifth year as phstor of the Park Street Baptist Church. During the present pastors stay in Peterboro, a new church has been built, and the church in general has taken a new life. All the various departments are in a healthy and flourishing condition.

Mr. Riddiford is pre-eminently the young man's man, and takes a deep interest in all that pertains to the upbuilding of manhood and character in all its diverse forms.

Rev. W. C. Riddiford, Pastor of Park Street Baptist Church.

He is a firm believer in Chrsitian athletics, as the baseball and football teams of Park Street church attest. He is also an enthusiastic member of the local Y.M.C.A., in fact the only minister in the city who is a member of that institution, which is not very complimentary to the rest. All should support it.

Mr. Riddiford has done a good work in the south end of the city, and all wish him greater success in the year upon which he is entering.

The services to-morrow will be of a special nature.

Steamer Geneva will run special trip on Labor Day to Gore's Landing and Harwood leaving Wolfe St. wharf at nine o'clock returning Wolfe St. wharf at 7.30. The Str. Geneva will discontinue her regular trips after this date. 2d.

FREE METHODISTS CONFERENCE ENDS

Special Services to be Held in the Aylmer St. Church To-morrow.

The Eastern Conference of the Free Methodist Church closed its business session in the Aylmer St. church to-day when Rev. A. Sims preached at 2.30 p.m. Another service will be held at 8 o'clock this evening when Rev. H. B. Luck will preach.

The program for services to-morrow is as follows:

9.00 a.m., Love Feast, by Rev. R. Burnham.

11.00 a.m., Preaching, by Bishop Wm. Pearce.

2.30 p.m.. Missionary Address, by Dr. W. A. Backenstoe, returned missionary from South Africa.

7.00 p.m., Preaching by Bishop

The "PANDORA" Range Solves Cooking and Baking Problems--More Reasons Why

The superiority of the "PANDORA" Oven to that of any other range you can buy has been convincingly proven in a former advertisement. The swelling tide of orders from our agents testifies to that, yet there are many more features —some of them exclusively McClary's— which add to the excellence of the "PANDORA" range.

Illustration No. 1 shows the semi-steel linings of the "PANDORA" Fire-box. These linings are manufactured by a special process. As you see there are five pieces—a front-piece, two ends and two at the back—and fitted into Fire-box without bolts or cement. The surfaces of these linings are smooth — they have great fire-resisting power and are already famous for durability and simplicity.

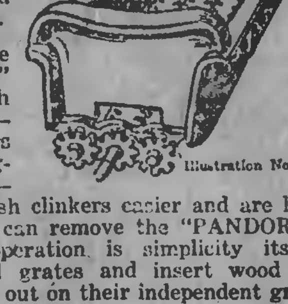

Illustration No. 1.

Illustration No. 2 shows the grates used in "PANDORA" range and the case with which they are removed—being made with three bars they are heavier and stronger than the two-bar grate—the teeth are shorter—crush clinkers easier and are less liable to break. Anybody can remove the "PANDORA" semi-steel grates — the operation is simplicity itself. A boy can take out coal grates and insert wood by simply sliding them in and out on their independent grate-frame.

The baking power of an Oven depends largely on Fire-box—it must be built in exact proportion to oven. The Fire-box of the "PANDORA" is deep and wide but not out of proportion—there is a wide surface at top of fire so that it radiates more heat and cooking can be done much quicker over front pot-holes without forcing fire—another apparent reason for our fuel economy claim.

CHILDREN MUST BE VACCINATED

The School Board at its next meeting will probably discuss the question of the vaccination of school children, as there are many citizens in Peterborough who are of the opinion that a general vaccination is advisable.

According to an Act passed at the last session of the Legislature every child before it reaches the age of three months must be vaccinated or the parents must secure a certificate from the Medical Officer of Health that the child is unfit through ill health. The charge fixed by law is twenty-five cents.

There is great diversity of opinion as to the merits of vaccination, some medical men claiming that the inoculation of the virus is positively harmful, while others are strong advocates and can point to many cases where vaccination has been the means of saving a community from an epidemic of smallpox.

WORK OF THE FORESTERS

VISIT TENT ON EX. GROUNDS

The Work of This Organization is Really Wonderful — Thousands Visited in the Hours of Sickness.

In a beautifully decorated tent just to the south of the Manufacturers' Building at the Canadian National Exhibition the Independent Order of Foresters have opened their exhibition quarters. It is thrown wide open with a welcome hand to their many friends and visitors. The canvas building is elegantly furnished with mission oak, and decorated with palms. The front appearance is most striking, the decorations being large palms intermingled with flowers.

The work done during the last year is remarkable, and in some instances also, beyond comprehension. But the work is a reality, and there are hundreds of thousands sounding its praises to-day.

It is most interesting to talk with those in charge, and note their enthusiasm with reference to their last year's record. It would do a member, or a friend on the outside, good to hear of the great good they are doing the masses of people, they having paid during the year 1911, $2,316,740.74 to beneficiaries, to hear them tell of the many homes they have visited with the small cheque of $500 or $1,000.

It would kindle the heart of any man or woman to take a more determined stand in assisting to promote an institution that is doing so much good for their fellowmen.

Another great feature which they enthuse in is their Disability Benefit, which practically means that when a member of the Order is permanently and totally disabled, they feel that that is a time when he should be relieved, therefore he ceases to pay all further payments and receives 70 per cent. of his policy within a year after he has been pronounced permanently and totally disabled by his physicians.

Another great feature of their policy is the relief they are to their members when they reach the age of seventy. All members cease to pay at that age, and if they so desire, they can draw 70 per cent. of their policy in a lump sum. This itself should waken young men to the importance of making application in a society that will guarantee them full protection against death or disability, and then when they have reached an age when they find they cannot fight the battles of life as they have done in the past, the brethren of that institution come to them and release them of all further payments and pay to them 70 per cent. of their policy.

Those in charge are very enthusiastic about this, showing where the young men could not be persuaded to save, but through the channels of this order, they were able to take an obligation, and that obligation bound them to pay a certain amount every month which gives them a protection of $1,000, to their beneficiaries, or when they reach the age of seventy, they draw their 70 per cent., and all they have paid into the order is a little better than $480, which means that their risk has been carried that number of years, and the amount of money they have paid in has been returned to them with profits.

It is also very interesting to hear them refer to the many thousands who have been visited at the hour of sickness, comforted by the visitation of the members and the tender care of the nurse who has been provided by the Order, and along with that, they receive a sick benefit of $3 a week for the first two weeks, $5 a week for the next ten weeks, and $3 a week for the next six months, and to hear them talk of the great relief and the happiness they have brought into the hearts of many who have suffered and would have had to endure it alone had it not been for the enthusiasm of the members who go out and talk to their many friends of the great advantages one can enjoy by becoming a member of this great order.

The order has paid out during the past year in sick and funeral benefits $277,504.54. Such benefits as these should be sufficient to waken the many men and women who have yet to make provision against sickness and death, to make application immediately, for at the back of all the promises they make their members, they have a surplus fund of over nineteen millions of dollars.

A strong invitation is tendered every Forester and every friend who is interested in fraternal work, to make the I.O.F. tent a visit, and there receive a souvenir as well as a booklet explaining the different branches that this order has undertaken to adopt. It is one of the very few spots where friends can receive a cool, refreshing rest, and any friend who is anxious to help in the fraternal branch of the order, can secure the Sanitorium and Orphanage stamps, which go towards helping to care for the afflicted.

The last trip to Stoney Lake will be run on Monday (Labor Day) per Str. Monarch, leaving Wolfe St. wharf at 8 a.m., returning 7 30. Return trip 50c, calling at Mount Julian and Burleigh. 2d

WAS FORMERLY AN EDITOR IN BERLIN

Death of Alexander McPherson at His Toronto Home.

Toronto, Aug. 31.—One of Ontario's best known old-time journalists passed away Wednesday in the person of Mr. Alexander McPherson. Mr. McPherson who was seventy-eight years of age, was born in Glengarry county, leaving early in life for Berlin, where he was proprietor and editor of the Berlin Telegraph for thirty years. Giving up active business life twelve years ago, Mr. McPherson came to Toronto, and has been residing at 259 College street.

A widow, one daughter, Mrs. J. M. Givin, of Toronto, and one son, Wilfrid Laurier McPherson, survive.

A presentation has also been to the Library of two volumes of Boswell's Life of Johnson, Croker's edition, by Mr. Perry, of this city. Readers of Macaulay's works will doubtless remember the scathing essay on this edition, in which Macaulay mercilessly belabors the editor. These volumes will not be placed on the shelves but can be obtained on application to the Librarian by anyone interested in literature who wishes to study the letter-press.

The Library will be open hereafter on Wednesday afternoons and evenings.

Mr. H. R. Charlton, General Agent of the Grand Trunk system, is in receipt of a letter from an official of the Saskatoon Board of Trade in which the following reference to the crop situation is made:—"The present month has been probably the coolest July for some years back, and up till date we have had something like 1 19 inches of moisture precipitation. This equals roughly about 140 tons of water per acre. Now, while some of our people are inclined to be discouraged by the present unusually mild weather, those who are most conversant with the science of agriculture, entirely recognize that a cool July, after the unusual heat in June, is really a most propitious circumstance. At the present time there is every reason to be exceedingly hopeful with regard to this year's harvest."

WORK IN THE WOODS

Lumber Companies Preparing for Season's Cut.

The local lumber companies will carry on operations during the coming season in the woods on the same extensive scale as last year, and this is a good index of the satisfactory condition of the general business of the country.

The Peterborough Lumber Company will operate two camps in Anstruther township; each camp will have from 75 to 100 men. Wages will rate about the same as last season. The company are already engaging men for the woods, and no able-bodied workman need be idle in Peterborough.

SMALL LOANS WANTED

From private parties direct or through their solicitors, from $500 to $800, for from 3 to 5 years, interest 6%, payable half yearly. Security first mortgage on new houses and choice lots in the way of the city's most rapid growth—south-west from C.G.E. Loans being for less than half their present selling value, while security is increasing in value every day. This money being used to assist in building more homes for sober, honest and industrious working men. Who will respond to this call? No doubt as to safety.

SENATORS GO UNDER IN SCRAPPY GAME OF FIVE EXTRA ROUNDS WITH THE PETES

The Gold Dust Twins Again in the Limelight, Brant Driving in Nicholls With the Winning Run—Tracey Gave Great Exhibition of Control and Nerve and Went Back at the Champions Shutting Them Out in a Five Innings Bill.

Gentle reader, if some one should whisper, to the effect that the Petes are not playing championship ball, look over the statistics of that fourteen innings go and figure it out yourself. And if the same voice suggests that the Ottawa bunch are not going some, look up their figures.

Here's a few of them. Johnny Barthold had seventeen chances without a slip; Brant and Nicholls at difficult jobs, took fourteen without a miss while the big outfield took thirteen with only one slip. Passing over to the Senators, Frank Dolan accepted twelve chances at first base, Schwind and Louden had eighteen with only one juggle, and Fred Herbert made eight men wave the air in vain; in the fifth he fanned White, Swartz and Shea in succession. That looks like a ball game.

A STRAIGHT BALL AND HIS NERVE.

That first affair at the park yesterday was a grand ball game. Ken Tracey was sent in for the Petes, and with a straight ball and a ton of nerve hooked up with big Fred Herbert, and was returned the winner. Talk about curveless wonders, they're not in it with Tracey. His control was of the best and that's one reason why he won. Time and time again he shot the ball across the plate and his fielders retired the batter by pulling down a long fly. In the last two innings, for instance, the six men went out on fly balls, Brant, Swartz and Beard having the balls. And the Senators were trying to win. They were hammering that old pill to all quarters, but unfortunately for their chances of winning—at the fielders. There were nineteen fly balls in all for the Petes to handle, and Willie Swartz dropped the only one. Had Hopper been minus his stiff knee the game might have ended for the Senators in the ninth as Louden was on third, when he gave Tracey a hard chance. He was the third man thrown out and the Petes failed to register in their half. It just needed a little hit to win the game. The scoring of the winning run went to Brant, who whiffed one but of reach of Schwind, scoring Nicholls. Then the crowd let loose and the players hiked to the benches.

C.P.R. Men Get Increase.

Ottawa, Aug. 31.—The conciliation board, appointed by the Dominion Government in the dispute between the Canadian Pacific Railway Co. and its station agents and telegraph operators, have rendered a decision granting a ten per cent. increase, the same to be divided between the agents and operators as their services may warrant, the importance of a station varying from time to time.

The arbitrators were P. McDonald of Woodstock, Ont., J. G. O'Donoghue, Toronto, and J. E. Duval, Montreal.

The decision is a compromise between what was asked and what the railway company was willing to give, and it is likely will prove acceptable to both parties.

DUCK SHOOTING NOW IN ORDER

Season Opens To-morrow But No Sunday Shooting is Allowed

The duck shooting season opens tomorrow, but owing to the fact that ordinary guns are not equipped with a Maxim silencer, the flocks will be safe until to-morrow morning. The present law forbids shooting on the Lord's Day, and shooting is noiser than fishing. Besides, the Game inspectors could scarcely avoid hearing the shooting if they were within a mile or more, hence those who go down for the opening of the season will scarcely venture out until the break of Labor Day.

The holiday will enable all the enthusiasts to get out for the first flights, and among those who will start out before the sun rises will surely be members of the gun club, who after a summer's shooting at clay birds, will doubtless want to try their skill on the live birds as they rise from the water.

Ducks are reported to be fairly plentiful.

RURAL SCHOOLS TO MAKE EXHIBITS

Rural schools Fairs, under the direction of the teachers of the participating schools, the local branch of the Department of Agriculture; and the Public School Inspector, will be held this year at Peterborough and Norwood, on the fair grounds, on the same days as the annual fall fairs, which are as follows— Peterborough, Sept. 12, 13 and 14, and Norwood, Oct. 8 and 9.

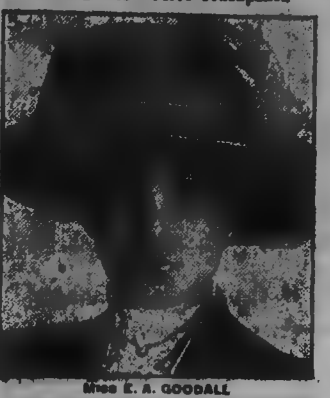
TORTURED FROM BABYHOOD

"Fruit-a-tives" Cures Constipation



Miss E. A. GOODALL

EDMONTON, ALTA., Nov. 20th. 1911

"I have been a sufferer since babyhood from that terrible complaint, Constipation. I have been treated by physicians, and have taken every medicine I heard of, but without the slightest benefit. I finally concluded that there was no remedy in the world that could cure Constipation.

About this time, I heard about "Fruit-a-tives" and decided to try them. The effect was marvellous.

The first box gave me great relief, and after I had used a few boxes, I found that I was entirely well.

"Fruit-a-tives" is the only medicine that ever did me any good and I want to say to all who suffer as I did—"Try this fruit medicine and you will find—as I did—a perfect cure"

(MISS) E. A. GOODALL.

"Fruit-a-tives" is the only medicine in the world made of fruit and the only one that will positively and completely cure you of Constipation.

50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size, 25c. At all dealers or sent on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

Did You Ever?

Did you ever court a girl,
Perfect peach, lovely pearl,
In the parlor when the gas light glimmered low?
Did you ever hold her hand,
Try to make her understand
That her words would bring you heaven, bring you woe?
Did you ever clasp her tight
To your bosom while the light
Of a sudden seemed to gently fade away?
If you did were you not mad
When her mother and her dad
Hollered, "Jennie, how much longer will he stay?"

FAITHFUL UNTO DEATH.

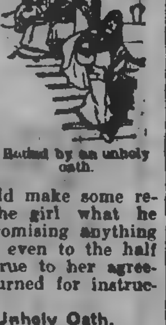
—September 1.—Mark 6:14-29.—

Text: "Be thou faithful unto death, and I will give thee a crown of life."—Rev. 2:10.

OUR STUDY includes the tragedy connected with John the Baptist's death. King Herod had put away his wife, and was living with the wife of his brother Philip—Herodias—who, for ambition's sake, had dared everything that she might occupy the place of a queen. John the Baptist in his preaching had referred to the fact that King Herod was living in violation of the Divine Law, and that this was likely to bring upon the people a war, for his wife was a daughter of King Aretas.

Herodias heard of John's teaching, and was both angry and fearful—angry that he should dare to speak so of her relationship to the King—fearful, lest the words of this eloquent man, which greatly moved the masses, might alienate her from the King. Had Herod put her away, as would have been his duty, she would have been a disgraced woman, for the Herods were well known in Rome and elsewhere. So she was ready to do murder to divert such a calamity.

Herod feared John and feared the people who believed John to be a Prophet, but Herodias feared neither God nor man. However, in deference to her wish, Herod had John arrested. Even then Herod liked to hear him talk, and all the more Herodias feared the influence of John. The King's birthday came, and she encouraged him to make it a festival, and to ask to the banquet his principal friends. She dressed her own daughter in the airy costume of the dancing girls of the East, and sent her in to dance before them.



Bound by an unholy oath.

So great a condescension implied that the King should make some return. He asked the girl what he should give her, promising anything that she would ask even to the half of his kingdom. True to her agreement the child returned for instructions.

Bound by an Unholy Oath.

When she made her request, the King was grieved, yet he felt bound to comply with his oath. Was he not King, and should he now draw back and imply that he had some confidence in this peculiar Prophet? No! The head was delivered to Herodias.

Alas, poor world! How many are its snares of pride, and fear and attempts to increase its pleasures and honors!

In a previous study we heard Jesus' words, that no greater Prophet than John had arisen. We fully agree that he was a Prophet of the Lord. We fully agree that he will have a great reward in the future; with Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, he will come forth from the death state a perfect man, because he was found faithful, even unto death. He will be one of the class mentioned by the Lord through the Prophet David—"Instead of Thy fathers, shall be Thy children, whom Thou [Messiah] shalt make Princes in all the earth." (Psa. 45:16.)

Those who selected our lesson text evidently overlooked the fact that John the Baptist is not one of the Church class referred to in the Lord's words, "Be thou faithful unto death, and I will give thee a crown of life." (Rev. 2:10.) John will indeed get life everlasting as a glorious portion, but he will not be a member of the Bride class. This honor belongs to us who have been begotten of the Holy Spirit, since Pentecost. We quote St. Paul's words concerning the Ancient Worthies: "All these died in faith, not having received the things promised them," "that they, without us, should not be made perfect." (Heb. 11.13, 38-40.) We, the Church, the Bride class, the Little Flock, called to be joint-heirs with Jesus in His Kingdom, must get our share of the blessing first. The Bride and the Bridegroom must be perfected in the First Resurrection before the Kingdom can be established; and it must be established before the blessing can go to any others—even the Ancient Worthies.

"Faithful unto death."

Wherein Is the Difference?

If John the Baptist was faithful unto death why should he receive an earthly reward and the Bride class receive the heavenly reward? In the matter of justice God could not properly show any preference to one person, or to one class; but in matters of grace, of favor, as the Scriptures declare, He may do what He will with His own.

Nothing in God's promise bound Him to give John the Baptist a place in the Bride class. The Apostle Peter declares that God foreknew this class, predestinated it as a class, but not as individuals, from before the foundation of the world; and He is now making a selection according to principles, to determine who may be of this class. He gave no opportunity to John the Baptist to be of this class, but in His providence permitted him to die when he had accomplished the work specially intended for him. None can be of this Bride class who died prior to Pentecost, for there the Holy Spirit of adoption and begetting was first given, and without this none can occupy the plane of sons; those under Moses and of his House were servants.

You'll Sleep More Soundly
If You Keep Healthy With Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills

The man or woman with a good appetite, sound digestion, and bowels and kidneys working right, is never troubled much with sleeplessness. It is when the bowels become constipated and the liver and kidneys sluggish that the trouble begins.

Lazy liver and constipated bowels quickly bring on biliousness, indigestion and sick headaches, making a sound, refreshing night's sleep impossible. Or the inactive kidneys allow the blood to becomes loaded with uric acid, which causes rheumatism, with all its sleep-destroying tortures.

Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills, taken regularly, induce sweet and dreamless sleep by keeping all these organs active and regular. The headaches disappear, the digestion becomes good again, the blood is purified and perfect health returns.

Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills have been a favorite household remedy in Canada for over half a century, and they are in daily use throughout the world. Being purely vegetable they are safe for young and old. Made by W. H. Comstock Co., Ltd., Brockville, Ont., and sold by all dealers at 25c. a box.

A FINLAND MARKET.

The Emotional Drama of the Sale of a Bunch of Carrots.

In Finland the people still cling to some of the old customs—the old market days, for instance, and the market places, such as were familiar to English life a hundred years ago. There is little chance there for the middleman to make a profit in the transfer of produce from the producer to the consumer. A typical market scene is given by Paul Waineman in his book, "A Summer Tour In Finland":

"The market is a veritable delight to the eye of the visitor, it is so ridiculously primitive and old fashioned. There are lines upon lines of quaint booths and rows of springless two-wheeled market carts, with patient little Finnish horses standing as motionless as if they had been made of the same gingerbread that a smiling market woman offered to me as I wended my way through their midst.

"Dainty ladies picked up their skirts as they threaded their way here, there and everywhere, inspecting minutely the goods on the various stalls, always followed by a red-cheeked handmaiden bearing a huge old world wicker basket, from which a very varied assortment of edibles peeped out.

"At the market you can buy everything — meat, poultry, fruit, vegetables, milk, butter, flowers, even to the humble wild lilies. The hum of voices is astonishing. There are apparently no fixed prices, and a tragedy of renunciation may be observed in the surrender of a handful of vegetables to a customer who has bargained too hard.

"One especial bunch of carrots caught my attention. They appeared to me to be very ordinary carrots, but their owner, an old man, bent nearly double with his years, lifted them tenderly from the corner of his cart. The would-be purchaser was an elderly woman with sharp, greedy eyes. I could see from the first that it would go badly with that old man.

"The scene that took place between them was tragic. Every emotion of which a human countenance is capable was portrayed in turn upon both faces—polite inquiry, astonishment, contempt, incredulity, wounded pride, determination, hesitation, avarice, finishing up at last with triumph on the one side and resignation on the other as the bunch of carrots was carried off by the woman."

Hardly a Parallel.

Many stories are told of the wit of Sir H. Beerbohm Tree, and one of the best is related by Miss Constance Collier. The incident happened while she was rehearsing for the part of the heroine in a production at His Majesty's Theatre. The author of the play was there, making various suggestions.

"In this scene," he said, "the hero should pick you up, Miss Collier, and carry you off the stage across his shoulder."

Miss Collier objected, but the author insisted, till Sir Herbert came to the rescue.

"I saw a play in Italy once," said the latter, "in which the hero caught hold of the heroine by the legs and banged her head on the floor."

"Splendid!" exclaimed the author. "What was the play?"

"Punch and Judy," was the actor's retort.

While We Sleep.

"God bestows his gifts during the night," says the old German proverb. Sleep itself is a great blessing, and while we sleep the clouds are storing their supplies of moisture, the rivers are performing their ministry of labor on our behalf, the seeds are swelling in the earth, the grain is springing in the fields, the fruits are ripening on the trees, the harvest is growing golden in the mellow darkness of the autumn night, for, in truth, if we are wise and diligent, nature is on our side, and all God's world is busy preparing our bread.—Henry van Dyke.

Fashion.

Oh, Fashion's a whimsical lady!
She changes her mind every day.
One day she brings out a new hobby,
And the next day she puts it away.
She's always in search of the novel,
And she doesn't care what it may cost.
And the queerest of all things about it
Is the whole world submits to be bossed.

Oh, Fashion's a terrible tyrant!
She issues her changeful decrees,
And, although we protest we don't like it,
Still we all of us drop on our knees.
We worship her while we're protesting,
And her whimsical rules we obey
Till the question, all others transcending,
Is, What's the most stylish today?

—Somerville Journal.

BIG PROGRAM FOR THE STAY-AT-HOME CROWDS

Labor Day Sports to be Held at Riverside Park, Commencing at Two O'clock.

The big Labor Day event to be held at Riverside Park on Monday afternoon promises to be a big drawing card. The Labor men, who have supplied the only local program for the day, deserve a big crowd and the indications are they will not be disappointed.

The members of the various unions will meet at Central Park, and headed by the 57th band, will parade to Riverside, where a big list of sporting events will be carried out, the band supplying music during the afternoon. The program also includes that winning number, "The Baby Show," and for this competition Mr. Roy and Mr. Mendel have kindly agreed to offer prizes, one dozen cabinet photos. Other prizes will be given.

The window of Sanderson's jewelry store shows to advantage a fine array of prizes which are offered for the sporting events, while in Turnbull's window is to be seen a handsome rug. The person holding the ticket coupon with the lucky number takes the rug.

Mr. Stratton has been reported as having donated the silver cup for the football game, but the donor is Mr. E. A. Peck. The game will be between the C.G.E., champions of the Midland League, and an All Star team.

The sports will start at two o'clock.

WILL THE MOVING PICTURE LICENSE BE INCREASED?

Peterborough Houses Pay in $40—Brantford Gets $300

Is the license fee of $40 for moving picture houses in Peterborough too low?

Members of the Finance Committee say yes and at a meeting last night, it was decided to recommend to the Council that the fees be increased.

Here is the license fee as charged in five other cities: Kingston $50; Guelph, $50; Brantford, $300; St. Thomas, $50, and London, $80. The City of Windsor does not assess the picture houses.

Ald. Anderson was of the opinion that houses giving vaudeville performances should be charged extra.

It was pointed out that the fee for the Grand Opera House was only $10 per annum, but the explanation of this was that when the theatre was erected, Peterborough was being benefitted, and a fixed rate was given for 10 years.

Ald. Anderson also contended that while the shows might be alright for older people, the pictures give children a false idea of life.

Ald. Johnston thought $100 a fair price.

"It seems to me," said Mayor Bradburn, "if they get the right kind of pictures, it is good amusement." His Worship opined that the shows give amusement to people who could not afford to pay big prices.

"I've seen ladies go into the shows and leave babies out in the street," said Ald. Duncan.

It was suggested that the fee be increased to $75.

GRANT OF $100.

Another item of business of the committee was the granting of $100 towards the Labor Day celebration.

Ald Anderson, while not objecting to the grant, noted the fact that the appropriation of the committee was already overdrawn.

"Well it's money that has been well spent," retorted Mayor Bradburn. "It's kept thousands of dollars in the city."

BEAUTIFUL EYES

are made beautiful by long, silky lashes and well defined, lustrous brows. Eyes, like diamonds, depend on their setting. The beauties of the face are lost if the eye brows are thin and scanty, and the lashes are thin and scanty. Parisian Lash Lustre grows beautiful, soft, silky lashes. It has done so for society women throughout Europe, and it comes here well recommended to do the same for you. Parisian Lash Lustre is not a dye or colorator, but a scientific preparation for beautifying the eye lashes and brows. Our guarantee goes with every box of Parisian Lash Lustre. A two weeks' treatment will bring beauty to your eyes that you have never before possessed. By mail, prepaid, in neat boxes on receipt of price, fifty cents. R. V. POLICE COURT

Three more of the "gay cats" who caused trouble at a Chinese Cafe, handed over $8.40 at Police Court this morning.

A drunk and disorderly, arrested by special officer Pinchin was fined $5 and costs.

Chas. Webb was fined $5 and costs for damaging the car of Dr. Robertson of Norwood. His Worship decided on $220 as compensation to the owner for damages sustained to the car. Webb's mother paid the full amount.

MR. SHEARER WAS NOT PRESENT

Inquest Was Adjourned Again for Two Weeks.

As Mr. Shearer's condition prevented his appearance before Coroner Dr. Greer and the jury at the City Council Chamber last night, the inquest into the death of Edward Hayes, was further adjourned for two weeks.

Mr. Shearer sat up in a chair yesterday for the first time.

The Saskatoon Normal School opened, Aug. 29.

PERSONALS

Mr. Bert Gillespie left this morning for Toronto.

Mr. G. J. Sherry, of 106 McDonnel street left this morning for Dutton.

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Fowler left to-day for a week's visit to New York City.

Mr. William Morris returned home to-day from Lakefield where he has been visiting friends.

Mrs. Loucks and son, Donald, of 138 Antrim street, left this afternoon to visit friends in Marmora.

Mr. F. W. Bates, of the Bell Telephone Company, left this morning for Toronto where he will spend a week's vacation.

Mr. Wm. Morrison, who has been visiting his sister, Mrs. J. C. Wood, of 777 Water street, left for his home in Kingston this morning.

Mrs. D. R. Fleming and children, 539 Gilmour St., returned from Cobourg yesterday evening after spending a three weeks' pleasant holiday there with her parents and other friends.

Mr. R. Gliddon will resume his lesson in piano on Tuesday, Sept. 3.

LAST BAND CONCERT

The 57th band concert in Victoria Park last night was a great success in spite of the cold. The band was there in full strength and rendered some pleasing numbers, of which selections from "Erminie," and the "Popular Airs" caused great applause from the crowd. A large crowd was present and most of them stayed till "God Save the King," although the weather was decidedly chilly. This was the last band concert in Victoria Park this year.

PARISIAN Sage, the delightful and invigorating hair tonic, is a true hair nourisher. It penetrates into the scalp, gets to the roots of the hair, kills the dandruff germs, and supplies the hair with just the kind of nourishment it needs to make it grow abundantly.

Since its introduction into Canada PARISIAN Sage has had an immense sale, and here are the reasons:

It does not contain poisonous sugar of lead, nitrate of silver or sulphur or any injurious ingredient.

It cures dandruff in two weeks, by killing the dandruff germ.

It stops falling hair.

It promptly stops itching of the scalp.

It makes the hair soft, glossy and luxuriant.

It gives life and beauty to the hair.

It is not sticky or greasy.

It is the daintiest perfumed hair tonic made.

It is the best, the most pleasant and invigorating hair dressing made.

Made only in Canada by The R. T. Booth Co., Ltd., Fort Erie, Ont. The price is only 50 cents at drug stores and counters where toilet goods are sold.

Wm Madill guarantees it.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The Review does not hold itself responsible for opinions expressed by its correspondents

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir—The Examiner of the date of the 15th day of August last, under the head of "Another Head is Dispatched," says—

This false excuse for Mr. Gallon's dismissal was offensive partisanship. Is it not offensive partisanship for Mr. Gallon to be sworn in and scrutineer for Mr. Hawthorne, and do all he could for him against Mr. Jas. Thompson? Did not Mr. Gallon accompany Mr. Hall in his automobile round these parts and do all he could for him? Did he not do the same thing with Mr. F. D. Kerr and Mr. Hawthorne? Of course, if he liked to do these things he had a perfect right to do so, but not to squeal at the result, when his party was beaten at the polls.

The Examiner also says— During the fourteen years of Judge Weller's incumbency there was no Court held at Apsley. This is far from being true. Mr. Gallon has not held the clerkship for fourteen years during the late Judge Weller's incumbency. Judge Weller was up at Apsley, often holding court. Mr. Ruddy, K.C., and Mr. F. D. Kerr have held court for him, when he was too ill to come. If Mr. Gallon settled cases out of court, he took good care to get his fees, and no blame to him for that part. The office of clerk may have been offered by Mr. Gallon to different people, one he says, he offered it to denies it. But has he the power to give it to anyone he pleases to offer it to? If the office was no good, and he did not want it, why did he not resign? There was ample reason for Mr. Thompson to demand his dismissal, and it is unfair to him not to state the facts so as the public can judge for themselves, if they care to do so.

DOMINION EXHIBITION IN DOMINION CAPITAL.

An event, long sought, and which may never be repeated, at least, not for a decade is the Dominion Exhibition in the Dominion Capital. This enterprise, which will be launched on September 5th, has developed into a magnitude unforseen even by its ambitious promoters. The enormous volume of entries received from the nine provinces, attests active co-operation by the leading industrial and commercial interests throughout Canada. The unprecedented demand for admission tickets sold at six for a dollar up to the opening of the Exhibition gives promise of monster crowds of visitors from all parts of Central Canada.

Fortunately the typhoid epidemic which affected nearly one per cent. of Ottawa's population came to an end before it could interfere with attendance at the Exhibition, and the city is preparing to entertain thousands more than if the cause of the fever trouble had not not been discovered and removed. The latest pronouncement on the city water by Dr. Shirreff, Medical Health Officer is that it has been safe for drinking for the past six weeks, and must continue so, under the present method of safeguarding the supply.

The Dominion Exhibition will be in full swing from the morning of Saturday, September 7th, to the end of the Night Show on Saturday, September 14th. In addition to the daily program of splendid attractions, which will be mailed on request, many special features are billed for single days. The opening Saturday, for instance has a half hour of fancy drill and physical exercise by 1,000 Baden Powell Boy Scouts. It is also the biggest racing day, with two $400 events. The Scots Guards Band, which will appear in Rideau Rink, September 12th, makes that a conspicuous date. Live stock parades, horse shows and jumping are distributed over the last four days of the Exhibition. For the final Saturday, is billed the sensational high jumping to beat the Canadian outdoor record, the purse being $150. Railway rates are reduced to one-third the usual cost of travel, on the excursions, which will be run from all Canada, east of Port Arthur.

CLOUDBURST CLAIMS THE LIVES OF THIRTY-SIX IN PENNSYLVANIA

Terrible Storm Sweeps Part of Quaker State and a Section of Ohio.

Special To The Review.

Pittsburg, Sept. 3—The list of dead as the result of the floods in Western Pennsylvania now totals 36. The property damage is over two millions.

Pittsburg, Pa., Sept. 3.—At least 22 known to be dead and 11 others believed to have perished are the results of a terrific storm which swept Western and Northern Pennsylvania, the Panhandle district of West Virginia and a section of Eastern Ohio Sunday night and early yesterday. The monetary loss cannot even be estimated at this time.

After a 24-hours' period of excessively hot weather the storm broke Sunday evening. In addition to an extraordinary rainfall, the electrical features were most spectacular. The steady rain caused every stream to leave its banks. Within a short time the water had washed away railroad tracks in many places and sent tons of earth from surrounding hills, making all thoroughfares in the flood zone impassable.

Latest reports give the following table of fatalities: Colliers, W. Va., nine dead. It is estimated that 20 persons met death. Cherry Valley, Pa., six drowned. Burgettstown, Pa., one drowned. Avella, Pa., three drowned. Cannonsburg, Pa., three drowned.

During the night this city experienced the storm. The suburbs suffered severely, cellars being flooded, street cars crippled and wire service prostrated. In a number of Western Pennsylvania points people became panic-stricken. At Newcastle, Pa., congregations were dismissed by ministers when announcements were made that a flood was headed for the town. At Fort City, Pa., a dozen houses were washed from their foundations. Lighting struck a score of houses while McGrah~, a suburb, is under three to five feet of water.

Oil derricks were blown down, small streams flooded and scores of persons spent the night in interurban cars while repairs were being made to the tracks.

The Pittsburg baseball club were on one of the trains delayed by the Colliers flood and were not scheduled to reach the city until 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon, compelling postponement of the morning game with Chicago.

Train Hurled Into River.

Camp Douglas, Wis., Sept. 3.—Four persons were killed in the wreck of a passenger train, No. 10, on the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Omaha Railroad, which plunged into the Lemonweir River, near Camp Douglas yesterday, owing to the washing away of a bridge. Twenty-six persons were injured, six of them seriously.

Every car, including the sleepers, with passengers still in their berths, was hurled into the stream, whose waters augmented by the cloudburst of Sunday night, made it a torrent. Panic-stricken occupants of the sleeping cars, clad only in night clothes, struggled through broken windows to escape. The smoking car was carried down stream, but all its occupants escaped.

The dead are: Engineer Ralph Thompson, Fireman Abraham, mail clerk, name unknown; Baggageman Lee.

CHINA RESENTS BRITISH DEMANDS

London, Sept. 3.—Deep resentment is felt in China over the British demand in regard to Tibet. Many of the Chinese merchnts in Tien Tsin and other cities threaten retaliation for what they regard as an insult, and propose to boycott all British goods entering Chinese ports, according to a news agency despatch received here yesterday.

Scottish Explorer Rescued.

Christiania, Norway, Sept. 3.—Dr. William S. Bruce, a noted Scotch explorer, and a companion, who had been exploring Spitzbergen, were rescued by a steamer at Advent Bay, which they had reached after a long and perilous trip. The news of their rescue was received here yesterday.

TWO AMERICAN MARINES KILLED

Panama, Sept. 3.—Reliable information from Managua received here is to the effect that two American marines have been killed there. The 800 marines sent from Philadelphia on board the transport Prairie for service in Nicaragua, arrived at Balbao from Colon Friday afternoon, and camped on the docks there. They transferred their equipment to the cruiser California by tug and lighters Sunday morning.

The California arrived Saturday, but stayed outside the bay, as her captain after consultation with the port and canal zone authorities, decided not to dock the vessel for fear that she might touch bottom.

Disastrous Storm In Fruit Belt.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Sept. 3.—When the worst electric storm in months broke over the Niagara district Sunday, several barns, outbuildings, and trees were struck by lightning. The telephone, telegraph and electric wires were damaged and fruit also suffered considerably.

London Hippodrome Robbed.

London, Sept. 3.—Burglars secured booty amounting to $5,000, when they broke into the hippodrome music hall Sunday night and burst a safe. They had previously chloroformed the watchman on duty, who remained unconscious for four hours.

Lightning Destroys Valuable Barn.

Melbourne, Ont., Sept. 3.—During the heavy electrical storm that passed over this village yesterday morning the barn of Albert Homes was struck by lightning and the barn with all the season's crops was destroyed.

BIG LOSS TO FACE

Floods Have Done Heavy Damage in England

Special to The Review.

London, Sept. 3.—Reports from all over the country show that the loss suffered by agriculturists as a result of the floods is greater than most people imagined and the fine weather from now on will do little to amend conditions. The loss can be reckoned in millions of pounds sterling, and many thousands of British farmers face hopeless ruin, and tens of thousands of laborers are confronted with untold suffering as an attendant result through the curtailment of work.

BINDERS ARE BUSY AGAIN

Sunshine Brings Joy to the Western Farmer.

Winnipeg, Sept. 3.—The weather map of the Canadian prairie west for last week was ideal, almost every district reporting brighter skies and drying winds while on neither Saturday nor Sunday night did the temperature drop below 34. As a consequence, farmers were putting in a busy Labor Day and the whirr of the binder, after practically a week's suspension through dampness, is again heard in every district. Every indication points to the weather as set fair, and if this is maintained during the current week, a tremendous hole will be cut in standing grain.

The difficulty is to find labor sufficient to throw it up into stooks, and with sheaves lying on the fields farmers will be little better off than if the grain was left standing. Practically every available unemployed man in this city has now been drafted out and the Labor Day parade yesterday morning was remarkable for the absence of the usual crowd of idle hangers-on to the skirts of organized labor.

More harvest trains are expected from the east to-day and to-morrow, and these will be rapidly distributed. Owing to high wages and great demand for labor south of the international boundary, the quota of harvesters furnished from there has been disappointingly small.

To Get Men From U. S.

Ottawa, Sept. 3.—The Government is endeavoring to get men to harvest the western crops from the United States. The maritime provinces, which in other years supplied armies of harvesters, are not responding as well as expected this year. The same is true of Ontario and Quebec. The immigration authorities are therefore arranging to bring hands from across the border.

Dispensation from the usual regulations governing the Alien Labor Laws are being temporarily brought into force, and special low rates for harvesters are being secured on U. S. railways. It is hoped that in this way sufficient harvest hands can be secured.

MORE PAY FOR THE TEACHERS

St. Catharines, Sept. 3.—Hon. Dr. Pyne was the guest of the public and high school board on Labor Day, when he officially opened the new $40,000 Victoria public school, in the north-eastern section of the city. In the evening he officiated at the opening of the new assembly hall and gymnasium erected at the Collegiate Institute. He spoke to large audiences on both occasions, recalling difficulties which he encountered as a member of the Board of Education at Toronto. He also spoke on the present scarcity of qualified teachers in Ontario, and stated that the movement now on foot would grant them better remuneration in future. Mayor Merritt and the members of the school board also spoke on both occasions.

STRONG COMPETITION IN SPORTING EVENTS AT RIVERSIDE

Frank Leahy Won Five Mile Event With Armstrong a Popular Second — C.G.E. Defeated All Stars 5-2— Officials Carried out the Program in Highly Satisfactory Manner.

The weather man did not give the best brand of weather yesterday, but conditions for the Labor Day celebration might have been much more unsatisfactory.

It did not rain during the two hours and a half necessary to run off the program of sports, at Riverside, and the fairly large crowd witnessed athletic events which were for the most part contested for in a manner that made it both interesting for the spectators and competitors alike. There is generally a monotonous drag about a program of sports, but Mr. J. J. Thompson and the other officials in charge yesterday are to be congratulated on the bright manner in which they carried out their duties. There were no long waits, and, as said before, the events were interesting. A race was a race in reality, and the result of the breakaway did not always mean the result of the event.

Shortly after two o'clock the members of the various local unions lined up at Central Park and headed by the 57th band, marched to Riverside. The officials soon had the program under way, and it was only a few minutes later when Announcer George Ahearn gave out the first winners.

The band was liberal with music during the afternoon, the numbers being catchy and of that order calculated to please the crowd on such an occasion.

THE EVENTS.

The first event, a base running contest for boys under 16 years of age, brought out three youngsters, Cavanah Taylor and Mirty. The base lines were apths of mud, and the boys were badly handicapped.

Cavanah and Taylor did the distance in 18 1-2 seconds, and Mirty in 20 seconds. The first two went at it again, Cavanah taking first prize, gold cuff, links and tie pin his time being 18 seconds. Taylor's time was 20 2-5 seconds, and he won a baseball glove. Murty received a book.

With a jump of 4 feet 7 inches Michael O'Brien won the running high jump and the tobacco jar. Jimmie McMartin his nearest rival, got the cuff links.

In the 100 yards race Arthur Flowers, Hy. Wood and Mike O'Brien took first second and third resepectively. Flowers' time reading 10 4-5 seconds. The boys bunched it all the way. First prize was a gold watch; second, a berry bowl, and third a Big Ben clock.

Albert Sheward breasted the tape as first man in the 100 yards race for married union over 40 years of age, and with the honors he took Mr. G. N. Graham's prize of $10 in gold. For second place George Ahearn won a $6 clock. A. Giles was third man. The time was 14 1-5 seconds.

The crowd witnessed a pretty race in the 440 yards bill. J. Mahoney started out like a winner, but at half the distance gave way to Jas. McMartin. Hy. Wood drew up on the two men and the sprint to the tape was all excitement, McMartin doing the trick first. Wood and Mahoney fell at the finish and some difficulty was experienced in deciding the winner.

McMartin carried off an $8 pair of field glasses, and Mahoney won second place, a razor and cream set of silver. Wood was third and Taylor fourth.

From a bunch of eleven youngsters and a pile of boots, Lorne McIntyre found the winning post first in the boot race and won $1. J. O'Dette was second and Walter Bailey third.

In the 100 yards race for single men J. O'Dette was a winner, with Jack Cooke second. The time was 11 4-5 seconds.

The school boys' relay brought out some fast steppers, and Arthur Lipsett, in the last stage drew a warm hand from the grandstands by doing the distance in a pretty burst of speed. The winning team, L. McIntyre, L. Lipsett and Arthur Lipsett represented the East City school.

FIVE MILE RACE.

Twelve runners faced the starter in the five mile event, but only four came home. Frank Leahy, of Douro, who won the junior Examiner race, last year, was an easy winner, with G. Armstrong, who ran third to him last year, coming in second. Taylor was third and Dies, of Ennismore, fourth. The boys only went 20 laps, the time being 23 m. 23 1-5 sec.

This race was featured by the splendid running of young Armstrong, who appeared in no distress throughout the distance. He was warmly applauded as he continued the race, while others older and more experienced fell by the wayside. Taylor, also ran a strong race.

The Brinton Carpet Co. won the factory relay race, Jimmie McMartin beating out Arthur Flowers in the last stretch by inches. McMartin had a good start, but Flowers gained yards on him, and almost found the tape, a winner at that.

The 100 yards race for married men went to J. McMartin and Alex Miller, the time being 11 1-5.

Miss Vera Castle, "with a remarkable burst of speed" won the young ladies' race, with Miss R. Mahoney second.

THE LUCKY NUMBERS.

The lucky number to take the Rug was announced as 15, while 1038 took the ham.

C. G. E. 5, ALL STARS 2.

The football match between the C. G. E. champions and the All Stars went to the Electrics by 5—2. Each team scored one in the first half, Vickers for the champions and Sharman for the All Stars.

After the rest, C.G.E. had the better of the play, and shortly before full time had the score 5—1 in their favor. The All Stars however, fought for another counter and C. Huston found a hole beside Simmonette. There was plenty of good football played and the game was not without considerable interest.

Much credit is due to Mr. J. J. Thompson, physical director of the Y.M.C.A. for the manner in which the program of sports was conducted. In spite of the very unfavorable conditions, he worked untiringly, and put every event through to the entire satisfaction of the participants and spectators. The committee in charge are also greatly pleased with Mr. Thompson's work

TO INSIST THAT THE CANAL DISPUTE GO TO THE HAGUE

Official Announcement That the Recent Panama Toll Bill Passed by the U. S. Congress Will Be Protested Under the Hay-Pauncefote Treaty and Full Arbitration Asked Under Root-Bryce Treaty.

London, Sept. 3.—It is officially announced that the British Government will make a formal demand upon the United States Government for arbitration of its claim that the Panama Canal Toll Act, as recently passed by the United States Congress, violates the Hay-Pauncefote treaty.

Nothing definitely is known here beyond the brief official announcement that the formal demand for arbitration would be made, but it is believed that instructions already are en route to the British Embassy at Washington concerning the situation.

The British demand will be made under the arbitration convention of 1908. Great Britain's contention will be that the question at issue does not affect the vital interests, independence or honor of the United States, and that therefore it is clearly within the scope of the 1908 convention, since the matter to be arbitrated is not an act of congress, but an interpretation of Article 3 of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty.

Recent advices from Washington indicate that the United States Government, should it hold firm in its determination not to arbitrate, will take refuge in Artcle 2 of the Root-Bryce Arbitration treaty of 1908.

That article makes it a prerequisite to actual arbitration that both sides "shall conclude a special agreement defining clearly the matter in dispute," and this must be approved by the Senate. So that if that body takes the same view next winter of the predominant rights of America in the use of the canal, as it did last session, it may prevent arbitration by declining to accept any "special agreement" satisfactory to Great Britain.

Taft Surprised.

Beverley, Mass., Sept. 3.—The announcement that Great Britain will appeal to The Hague Tribunal to settle its claim of violation of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty by the Panama Canal act came as a surprise to President Taft. He had heard reports that such an appeal was contemplated, but was of the opinion that the matter would be taken up in the usual diplomatic way.

The President was not ready last night to make an expression about the appeal to The Hague. He had no official word from the State Department, and did not expect to consider the case until he reaches Washington Wednesday.

FOUND HUSBAND DEAD IN BED

Brockville, Sept. 3.—When Mrs. Robert Taber of Athens awoke Sunday morning she was horrified to find her husband dead in bed beside her. He was apparently in his usual health on retiring and awoke only once, to complain of feeling cold. He was employed as clerk on works on the construction of the new postoffice in the village.

Taber was a retired farmer, who had spent of the whole of his life in that district.

Girl's Death Suspicious.

Goderich, Sept. 3.—Crown Attorney Seager and county officials are investigating the death of a young woman near Lucknow.

It is alleged that she was in a delicate condition and died in convulsions.

The circumstances surrounding the case are of a serious nature, it is stated by the officials, though, owing to the fact that no ante-mortem statement was made, there may be difficulty in bringing anyone to justice.

In the poultry classes for the MacLeod fair, there were 340 entries as compared with 157 last year.

Winnipeg is going to have a large central market in the near future This is now practically assured.

BIG LABOR DEMONSTRATIONS HURT BY RAINY WEATHER

British Labor Congress.

London, Sept. 3.—Nearly two million trade unionists were represented by five hundred delegates at the congress which opened yesterday at Newport, Monmouth, and many new and important issues will be raised for the first time.

One of these is the question of syndicalism, as opposed to the more moderate methods hitherto adopted of attaining trade union ends. A resolution is proposed calling for the reaffirmation of syndicalism principles of amalgamation with the national union of dock laborers.

One of the unions in the Transport Workers' Federation will move an amendment expressing approval of the principle of amalgamation where practicable, but repudiating in explicit terms the propaganda for syndicalism. The measure of success or failure attending the syndicalists efforts will be determined by the attitude of the miners, who have not yet declared themselves on this subject.

CANADA TO RECEIVE MORE CONSIDERATION

Privy Council Will Give Dominion Better Treatment.

Ottawa, Sept. 3.—One direct result of the visit to London of the Canadian ministers will be that the judicial committee of the Imperial Privy Council will give more time and attention to the consideration of Canadian appeals.

It has been felt for some time that the growing number and importance of Canadian cases, couple with the recent protests in the Canadian press at the decisions in a number of important Dominion appeals, warranted a somewhat closer knowledge of conditions in this country by members of the judicial committee.

It is understood that the Canadian Minister of Justice while in London had an informal conference with regard to this matter with Chancellor Haldane, who expressed every desire to do all that was possible to meet the wishes of the Canadian people.

Mr. Doherty, however, heard nothing of the alleged proposal to appoint a special and permanent Canadian representative on the Imperial board.

Not to Extend Steamship Service.

Berlin, Sept. 3.—Representatives of the Hamburg-American Line here deny that any further extension of the company's steamship service to Canada is in contemplation. The company has been running steamships twice a month to Montreal and Quebec for a number of years, but its standing agreements with the Canadian Pacific and other companies, it is said, would prevent it from increasing its present service.

FIVE KILLED IN WRECK

Work Train in Collision With Fast Freight.

North Bay, Sept. 3.—Five dead and ten severely injured was the toll taken by an accident on the Canadian Pacific near Mattawa on Saturday morning, when a work train engaged in ballasting the tracks, while running caboose first, collided with a fast through freight train.

The dead and injured, with the exception of Conductor Thos. Duncan, were all residents of Mattawa. Conductor Duncan was a young, unmarried man, residing with his mother and sister at North Bay.

No blame is attached to the crew of the fast freight, as it was the duty of the men in charge of the work train to give the freight a clear track. The casualty list is:

Dead—Thomas Duncan, conductor of the work train; Thomas O'Keefe, Felis, Chenier, August Desjardines, and Ernest Chenier, laborers.

Injured—Thomas McManus, foreman of work train; Peter Morrison, brakeman; Wm. Roach, fireman; Sigfried Joudoin, Adelard Bertrand, Damas Chenier, Matthew Cyr, Alfred Bangs, Neil McCalpin, Clarence McCalpin.

The injured are all doing well in Mattawa hospital, with every prospect of recovery.

KAISER REVIEWS HIS BIG ARMY

Berlin, Sept. 3.—Emperor William passed in review yesterday the most powerful army ever gathered in Berlin in time of peace. It is comprised of 63,000 men and composed artillery, cavalry, engineers and auxiliary troops of the Guards and of the Third Army Corps.

The army flying corps took part in the parade for the first time since its formation. Eight aeroplanes and two dirigible balloons under the guidance of officer-airmen flew at the head of the marching columns as they passed the Emperor. His Majesty stood beneath the solitary poplar in the centre of the great Templehof parade grounds and returned the salute of the troops as they went by.

Montreal Has Ten Thousand In Line and Ottawa Breaks All Previous Records With Four Thousand—Toronto Fails In Expectations on Account of Unpromising Weather—Other Cities.

Toronto, Sept. 3.—Yesterday was a big day in most Canadian cities, and the working man was very much in the ascendant. Rain interfered with the processions in some places but as a general rule the turnout of union men was well up to the mark and the picnics which took up most of the day were greatly enjoyed. Montreal had hoped for a parade of 30,000 persons but on account of the rain and the muddy streets only 10,000 marched. Ottawa's procession broke all records with four thousand in line.

The Toronto parade from Queen's Park to the Exhibition grounds turned out about 4,000 members of unions to testify to their loyalty to the cause, and they were cheered by probably 100,000 people along the line of march. The procession, while scarcely including one-fourth of the members of local unions, was equal to that of last year. Notwithstanding that the weather was moist and momentarily threatening to become exceedingly wet, the processionists marched unhesitatingly to their destination. Fortunately the rain held off, except for a gentle sprinkling.

Downpour at Guelph.

Guelph, Sept. 3—Under the auspices of the Iron Moulders' Union, the Labor Day celebration here, while considerably dampened by the heavy downpour all morning, proved very successful. The morning events were cancelled, as was the horse race matinee in the afternoon, but the Westinghouse football team and the sports and band concerts in the afternoon and evening were well attended.

Weather Cleared at London.

London, Ont., Sept. 3.—The London trades and labor men paraded to Queen's Pork yesterday, where a long program of sports were held. It rained in the morning, threatening to spoil the day, but before noon the sun came out and apart from the heat the weather was delightful.

Big Parade at Ottawa.

Ottawa, Sept. 3.—The Labor Day celebration here passed all previous records, attracting no fewer than 4,000 trade unionists, who with their different floats, streamers and uniforms, made a picturesque and brilliant procession. The parade took over half an hour to pass a given point on its route through the heart of the city, and when eventually it lined up in Cartier square at midday an enormous crowd was present to witness the judging.

In the afternoon an excellent program of athletics sports was run off at the south side park before a great crowd.

Gotham's Big Parade.

New York, Sept. 3.—Under grey skies which threatened rain at any moment, more than 30,000 men and women, in floats, in carriages and on foot, passed up Fifth avenue yesterday in New York's annual Labor Day parade. The Woman's Trade Union League and the Woman Workers, affiliated with it, were conspicuous, as were delegations from the striking furriers and the striking cloakmakers.

Before the line got under way union representatives rode up and down seeing that none but union-shod horses were ridden or driven.

Kingston Has Picnic.

Kingston, Sept. 3.—Kingston labor men celebrated the day with a monster picnic at Lake Ontario, where a program of sports were carried out. Two baseball matches and a baby show were special features. There was no parade. The weather was fine, although dark clouds hovered over the city all day.

Berlin Turn-Out Abandoned.

Berlin, Ont., Sept. 3.—Owing to a heavy rainstorm yesterday morning the annual Labor Day parade was not held. The weather cleared at about 11 o'clock and the 29th regimental band paraded to the auditorium, where games of baseball scheduled were cancelled. Most of the ball players are en route to their homes, the Canadian League season being over.

Few Clouds on Labor Horizon.

Ottawa, Sept. 3.—Labor Day this year, according to the Labor Department, saw fewer strikes throughout industrial Canada than the holiday has witnessed for several years past. The industrial disturbances of July were not evident in August and at the present time there is not an industrial dispute or strike of any great import in the entire country.

The most important, perhaps, in the difference in the Porcupine district which involves a thousand men, an arbitration board, has been appointed, however, and an amicable settlement is looked forward to.

JUDGE MONET STILL FIGHTING

St. Johns, Que., Sept. 3.—Judge Monet has returned from California and intends to raise the Monnoir question once more. He proposes to hold a mass meeting at St. John next Saturday, Sept. 7, and give the conditions of the Monnoir priests' resignation.

By a peculiar coincidence the date of the mass meeting is the very day Archbishop Bruchesi of Montreal announced for his pastoral visit. His grace stated in his letter that his visit was to do good and not to aid in any strife over past difficulties. As the passions of some might be aroused by ill-advised clamors he thought it more prudent to defer his visit.

The Greatest Land Boom of the Century

Is just starting in the Gulf States of the South. Thousands of people from the north are now rapidly buying up land in that district in anticipation of the enormous advance which is sure to take place by the time the Panama Canal is in operation.

Great Opportunities in Alabama

The Great Gulf Lands Ltd., Kingston, Ontario (Capitalization $500,000.) have recently purchased 18,980 acres in the most desirable fruit and agricultural district of this wonderfully productive State. Their lands are situated in Baldwin County within fifteen miles of the City of Mobile (where millions of dollars are to be spent on harbor improvements).

Development of Property

For the purpose of developing the property immediately a block of the stock is now being offered for public subscription. An interesting and beautifully illustrated booklet containing twenty-four pages and complete Prospectus will be mailed upon application.

Peterboro Review

The Daily Review

TUESDAY, SEPT. 3, 1912.

MR. BURNHAM AT EDMONTON

The Edmonton Journal of August 28, prints an interview with Mr. J. H. Burnham, M.P., and we transfer the matter to our columns. The Journal says under the heading "Hampden Burnham, Suffragist, Author and Parliamentarian":—

"Hampden Burnham, member of parliament for West Peterborough, is in the city to-day, and what distinguishes him from other brilliant eastern parliamentarians is that he is a suffragist.

Of course, he is other things too. He is a lawyer and he is an author—incidentally, I might say—for so little of his time is spent in that way, though he has written a number of excellent books, among which is "Jack Ralston," a story of the Northwest, and "Marcelle," the latter being one of the best Canadian historical novels ever written. Mr Burnham's style is, in the very finest sense, literary, and not only in "Marcelle" has he written a charming romance, but he has observed historical accuracy in every detail. Mr. Burnham's hobby is golf

"Of course, I am a suffragist," said Mr. Burnham, in a tone that suggested surprise at any other idea entering my head regarding him; and then he proceeded to tell me of a convention of women, at which he presided in Ottawa not long ago, where a number of the speakers astonished him—he admitted — with their ability.

Mrs. Leathes—a Toronto woman—he particularly praised. She spoke in a broad way, said Mr. Burnham, advocating woman's cause in the abstract and proving, in the only way that any case can be proven, that according to general principles, woman is entitled to equal standing with men in any community.

"Sir Richard McBride said the other day," continued Mr. Burnham, keen on the subject, "that the women of British Columbia had not yet been disturbed over the suffrage question; but he paid them the compliment (or rather, did them the justice) of saying that in hospitals, charities and all works leading to the comfort and solace of mankind, woman was pre-eminent.'

"Had Sir Richard been a little more advanced in his views," added Mr. Burnham on his own account, "and stated further that where women have proved themselves so capable, wherever their capabilities have been put to the test, they should not be denied a voice in the management, he would have given his remarks the proper logical conclusion; for it is impossible to contend that where man is inferior, they should have the management of women who are admittedly superior.

"Therefore, since this branch of human affairs is at least half that of the state," argued Mr. Burnham, "it follows that we ought to be sensible and reason that women should be given the power of saying at the polls how they think these matters should be carried out. At the present time they are hampered in their work largely by bad management, and yet are robbed of their privileges.

"This, of course, cannot last. The public mind will shake off its absurd prejudices and give women the right (in some respects at any rate) of saying how affairs should be managed where she alone is really competent to judge.

"Women are not anxious to enter the army, nor are men keen to enter the nursing profession; and it is as idiotic to contend that women are not entitled to vote because they can't become soldiers as it is that men should not vote because they cannot be nurses."

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local application, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circular, free.

Canadian National Exhibition

Persons intending visiting the Canadian National Exhibition, Toronto, can procure from any agent of the C.P.R., copy of the official program booklet, which contains train service, hotel information, and principal attractions at the Exhibition.

The management of the Exhibition has put forth every effort to make this year the grandest in the history of the Fair, and the attractions are of the very highest standard. The public should take advantage of the low rates offered by the Canadian Pacific to see the "Imperial Year" of this splendid exhibition. 3d

CATTLE MARKETS.

Union Stock Yards.

TORONTO, Sept. 2.—Receipts of live stock at the Union Stock Yards were 56 cars, comprising 1034 cattle, 364 hogs, 696 lambs and 108 calves.

Butchers.

Choice butchers' steers and heifers sold at $6.50 to $6.75, and one extra load of heifers at $6.85; loads of good, $6 to $6.25; medium, $5.25 to $5.50; common, $4.50 to $5; cows, $3 to $5.40; canners, $1.60 to $2.50; bulls, $3 to $5.50.

Stockers and Feeders.

Steers, 850 to 950 lbs., are worth $5 to $5.25; stockers, $4 to $4.75.

Milkers and Springers

One choice Holstein cow sold at $110. The balance of those on sale ranged at from $50 to $70 each.

Veal Calves.

Over 100 calves sold at $3.50 to $8.50 per cwt.

Sheep and Lambs.

Over 600 sheep and lambs sold as follows: Sheep, light ewes, at $4.25 to $5; heavy ewes and rams, $3 to $3.50.

Hogs.

Prices unchanged, at $8.50 to $8.75, fed and watered, and $8.30 to $8.40 f.o.b. cars, were reported.

Montreal Live Stock.

MONTREAL, Sept. 2.—At the Montreal Stock Yards, west end market, the receipts of live stock for the week ending Aug. 31 were 1600 cattle, 3600 sheep and lambs, 2650 hogs and 700 calves. The offerings on the market this morning for sale were 1000 cattle, 2500 sheep and lambs, 1200 hogs and 400 calves.

An easier feeling prevailed in the market for cattle today, and prices, as compared with a week ago, show a decline of 25c per hundred pounds, which was due to the more liberal supplies of common to good stock, but really choice steers were by no means plentiful, and if it had not been for the arrivals of a few good loads of northwest ranch cattle buyers would have had some difficulty in filling their wants with this class, as the quality of the cattle coming from Ontario are only grading from common to medium.

The top prices realized for picked lots of choice steers were $6.75 to $7, and sales of full loads of good cattle were made at $6, $6.25 and $6.50, while other loads of fair stock, with some oxen in them, sold for $5.50 to $5.75 per 100 pounds.

A feature of the small-meat trade was the active demand for lambs from both butchers and packers, and prices advanced 25c per 100 pounds, with sales of Ontario stock at $6 to $6.25. The tone of the market for sheep was also stronger.

The tone of the market for hogs continues easy.

Butchers' cattle, choice, $6.75 to $7; do., medium, $4.75 to $5.75; do., common, $3.75 to $4.25; canners, $2.50 to $3; do., choice cows, $4.75 to $5; do., medium, $4.25 to $4.50; do., bulls, $2.50 to $4.50; milkers, choice, each, $60 to $70; do., common and medium, each, $40 to $50; springers, $30 to $35.

Sheep, ewes, $4 to $4.25; bucks and culls, $3.50 to $3.75. Lambs, $5.75 to $6.25.

Hogs, f.o.b., $8.75 to $8.80.

Calves, $5 to $10.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

EAST BUFFALO, Sept. 2.—Cattle—Receipts, 2800 head; active and 10c to 25c higher; prime steers, $9.50 to $9.85; shipping, $8.50 to $9.25; butchers, $6 to $8.75; heifers, $4.75 to $8; cows, $3 to $6.50; bulls, $4 to $6; stockers and feeders, $4.75 to $6; stock heifers, $4.25 to $4.80; fresh cows and springers, active and $2 to $3 higher, at $35 to $75.

Veals—Receipts, 1000 head; active and steady, $4 to $11.50.

Hogs—Receipts, 11,200; active and steady, to 5c higher; heavy, $9.20 to $9.25; mixed, $9.35 to $9.40; yorkers, $9 to $9.40; pigs, $8.80 to $9; roughs, $7.80 to $8.10; stags, $5.50 to $7; dairies, $8.75 to $9.25.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 14,000 head; steady; sheep, slow; lambs, active; lambs, $4.50 to $7; yearlings, $3.25 to $5.50; wethers, $4.75 to $5; ewes, $2 to $4; sheep, mixed, $3 to $4.60.

Chicago Live Stock.

CHICAGO, Sept. 2.—Cattle—Receipts, 15,000; market steady to 10c higher, except calves, 50c lower; beeves, $5.75 to $10.55; Texas steers, $4.30 to $6.60; western steers, $6 to $9.25; stockers and feeders, $4.25 to $7.15; cows and heifers, $3 to $8; calves, $8 to $11.

Hogs—Receipts, 28,000; market, light, strong; others, weak to 10c lower; light, $8.25 to $9; mixed, $7.90 to $9; heavy, $7.65 to $8.85; rough, $7.65 to $7.85; pigs, $5 to $8.10; bulk of sales, $8 to $8.80.

Sheep—Receipts, 14,000; market, steady to 10c higher; native, $3.40 to $4.75; western, $3.50 to $4.75; yearlings, $4.50 to $5.65; lambs, native, $4.75 to $7.25; western, $4.75 to $7.30.

ONTARIO WOMAN'S FORTUNE

Freed From That Weak, Languid, Always Tired Feeling, by Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound.

Thessalon, Ont.—"I cannot speak too highly of your medicine. When my appetite is poor and I have that weak, languid, always tired feeling, I get a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it builds me up, gives me strength, and restores me to perfect health again. It is truly a blessing to women, and I cannot speak highly enough of it. I take pleasure in recommending it to others."—Mrs. ANNIE CAMERON, Thessalon, Ont.

Women who are suffering from those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should not lose sight of these facts or doubt the ability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore their health.

There are probably hundreds of thousands, perhaps millions of women in the United States who have been benefited by this famous old remedy, which was produced from roots and herbs over 30 years ago by a woman to relieve women's suffering. If you are sick and need such a medicine, why don't you try it?

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

POOR SERVICE.

They serve, 'tis said, who stand and wait
And do not make a bit of fuss.
That may be so for aught we know,
But we are sure they can't serve us.
We go into a restaurant
And find that sort of chap on hand.
We never visit it again
To watch him wait and stand and stand.

Quick action is the modern word
That makes the customers return.
They do not cotton to the one
Who stands around with time to burn,
For after they have read the bill
And made their orders out with care
They want to see the waiter jump
And in a jiffy get it there.

This waiting at the festive board
Until the rabbit has been shot,
Until the vegetables are grown,
Does not exactly strike the spot.
Nor does it make a fellow glad
To see the waiter stop to chin
Some pretty waitress half an hour
Before he brings the order in.

So let them stand if they would lose
What custom ventures to their door,
But let them bring things on the jump
If they would gather in some more.
The modern world must bolt its food—
It much prefers the quick lunch plan—
And so it does not care to wait
For service by the waiting man.

PERT PARAGRAPHS.

It may be that we can sneak up behind and get what we want, but few of us can afford to take it that way.

Virtue, it is said, is its own reward, but in that it is not unique, for in the long run each of us is in the same position.

Nerve and invention are the only things necessary to make poverty seem opulence.

The man who does what he has to do is likely to be the man who takes the most credit for it.

Social position may be desirable, but it is not remunerative.

The coming man seldom arrives secretly and by night.

As all well informed children know, King George V. of England is also emperor of India. Last year the king visited his eastern empire to be crowned at Delhi. This ceremony is carried out with great pomp and is called a durbar. The durbar is the official reception of the princes of India to their accepted ruler.

King George received many presents from his subjects at that time and since his return to England has been the recipient of many more. Recently there arrived in England a consignment of animals for the royal zoo. Among them was a pair of rare swamp deer or barasingha, as they are called in India, one of which is here pictured. The barasingha are deer of northern India of rather large size. They live on the edge of the forest on grassy lands.

An Alphabet Game.

Have small tables with four players at each, as in ordinary card games, but instead of the usual playing cards have alphabet cards—the small squares with one letter on each, such as are used in playing word making. These can be bought in sets, with the proper proportion of duplicates.

The cards are placed in a heap, one set in the center of each table, and the game begins by each person drawing five cards from the pile. When the signal is given the first player makes as many words as she can out of her own and borrowing from her partner's cards.

Each one's cards are placed, face up, in a row in front of her, and the words as formed are arranged on the table in columns above this row. This allows each player to see her partner's "hand" and borrow from it when desirable.

When no more words can be made the player draws one card from the pile and the next player begins. On the next round the players draw three cards from the pile as their turns come to play.

After twenty minutes' playing the partners having the most words progress to the next table. A time limit may be given for playing, and at its expiration the one having the highest score at the head table wins the prize and the lowest score at the foot table gets the "booby" prize.

One, Two and Three.

One person goes out of the room, and the rest decide upon three persons, well known people, or there may be one or two who are present in the company. Suppose the three chosen be Mary Garden, Theodore Roosevelt and President Taft. Then the absent player is recalled, and the leader questions her in this fashion: "What will you do with my first?" And she may answer, "Teach him to dance on the tight rope." "What will you do with my second?" "Put him in a glass case and keep him for a curiosity." "What will you do with my third?" "Dress it in long clothes and feed it bread and milk."

Then the leader may exclaim: "You must pay a forfeit for the second. It is impossible. You might teach Mary Garden to dance on a tight rope, and you could feed President Taft on bread and milk, but you could not keep Roosevelt in a glass case."

Long Words.

Curiosity seekers sometimes expend some of their energy in making a list of the longest words in the English language, but the list usually includes words that are not yet recognized as legitimate. The longest distinctly recognized word, the editor believes, is "transubstantiationalist," which has twenty-three letters. It may be found in the Century Dictionary. It is said that the Sanskrit, the ancient language of the Hindus, has one word of one hundred and fifty-two syllables and the Greek one of seventy-seven syllables. The latter was made by Aristophanes for a special purpose.—Chicago News.

Little Boy's Lesson.

See the little bird's nest
In the apple tree,
Hair and straw and leaves together,
Woven close 'gainst wind and weather,
Pretty as can be.
Little boy, and could you make it?
No? Then look you do not break it!

See the tiny ant hill
Close beside the way.
Here the ants, so small and strong,
Busy, busy, all day long,
Live and work away.
Little boy, and could you make it?
No? Then look you do not break it!

See the lovely flower
Blooming sweet and fair,
Peeping out through leaves and grass,
Giving joy to all who pass
By its beauty rare.
Little boy, and could you make it?
No? Then look you do not break it!

Nervousness And Dyspepsia Cured By "Fruit-a-tives"

WALKERTON, ONT., MAY 9TH 1911

"My trouble was extreme Nervousness, brought on by Indigestion or Dyspepsia, from which I suffered in its worst form.

I asked Mr. Hunter, my druggist, about "Fruit-a-tives" and he advised me to try them.

I took several boxes and am pleased to say I am now enjoying fine health.

I honestly believe I owe my health to "Fruit-a-tives" and strongly advise anyone suffering from Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Nervousness or Sleeplessness, to commence using "Fruit-a-tives" and continue this remedy until a cure is accomplished".

The Shave Head Kid.

The other day a kid he come
To visit Eddie Binks awhile.
You bet it made our eyes pop some
To see that new boy's haircut style.
His head had been clipped close and clean
It made our grown folks say, "My stars!"
And where the clipper 'd slipped we seen
A lot of funny little scars.

We run right in the house and teased
To have our hair cut just that way,
But all the grown folks wasn't pleased
And told us to run out and play.
And then we teased some more and cried
Till mother just run off and hid.
It's awful sad when you're denied
A haircut like that shave head kid!

New London Resorts Popular

The inauguration of a new train service by the Grand Trunk between Montreal and New London, Conn., this year has induced many Canadians to visit this, comparatively speaking, new territory on Long Island Sound. The number of people from Toronto, Ottawa and Montreal who have visited Block Island, Watch Hill, Fisher's Island and other resorts in the vicinity of New London have returned enthusiastic over the attractions offered there, and many prominent people have stated that the environments are delightful and that the district is without doubt one of the finest on the Atlantic Coast. The Company are much gratified with the business that has offered this year, and the probabilities that a heavy passenger traffic during the summer will be experienced next year and as the district becomes better known.

Department of Railways & Canals, Canada

HUDSON BAY RAILWAY

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for construction of The Hudson Bay Railway" will be received at this office until 16 o'clock, Thursday, the 12th day of September, 1912, for the section from Split Lake Junction to the Hudson Bay terminus.

Plans and profiles showing the character and extent of the work to be done, the specifications and form of contract to be entered into, and other information can be seen on and after Thursday, the 15th of August, at the office of the Chief Engineer of the Department of Railways and Canals, Ottawa, and at the office of the Chief Engineer of the Hudson Bay Railway, Winnipeg, at which places forms of tender may be obtained.

Separate tenders will be required covering the work enumerated in the schedule on the section from Split Lake Junction to Port Nelson, a distance of approximately 165 miles, and on the section from Split Lake Junction to Port Churchill, a distance of approximately 245 miles.

The successful tenderer will be required to sign a contract covering the work from Split Lake Junction to the terminus selected and which will be announced by the Hon. Minister of Railways and Canals on his return from Hudson Bay.

Parties tendering will be required to accept the fair wages schedule prepared or to be prepared by the Department of Labor, which schedule will form part of the contract.

Contractors are requested to bear in mind that tenders will not be considered unless made strictly in accordance with the printed forms, and in the case of firms, unless there are attached the actual signature, the nature of the occupation, and place of residence of each member of the firm.

An accepted bank cheque for the sum of $150,000.00 made payable to the order of the Minister of Railways and Canals, must accompany each tender, which sum will be forfeited if the party tendering declines entering into contract for the work, at the rates stated in the offer submitted.

The cheque thus sent in will be returned to the respective contractors whose tenders are not accepted.

The cheque of the successful tenderer will be held as security, or part security, for the due fulfilment of the contract to be entered into.

The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

By order.

HAPPY THOUGHT

PERFECT BISCUIT BAKING NEED NOT BE DIFFICULT

It all depends on the heat your oven gives.

Ranges with slow ovens are all right for some kinds of biscuits. But an oven that is chronically slow simply ruins others, and it is useless for many purposes.

Other stoves bake beautifully on one side and not on the other. So you can never depend on them.

"Happy Thought" Ranges are perfect bakers.

If you want a slow oven, a slow fire will produce the desired result. If you want a very hot, quick oven, just build up the fire and keep it going strong for a little while.

This feature saves you money in two ways: It saves fuel by making it unnecessary to use too much, and by giving you the full heat value of every ounce of fuel. It saves the food material by ensuring just the right result, no matter what part of the oven you use. More than a Quarter Million Canadian women use the "Happy Thought" every day.

THE MORNING AFTER THE NIGHT BEFORE IN THE POLICE COURT

Fight on Charlotte Street Goes Hard for Thos. Banks Who is Fined on Two Charges—Motor Cyclist Assessed for Riding Without Number Being Attached to Machine.

The morning after the night before was a busy one for Magistrate Dumble in police court to-day. Had Jack Johnson been a spectator at the "hit as you please" fight on Charlotte street. He might have felt some alarm for the championship.

Arthur Hayes didn't think he was guilty of being drunk and disorderly.

P.C. Brown said he arrested the man on Charlotte street. "He interfered when we were about to arrest another man," the officer told the Magistrate.

"He has the wrong man," said the prisoner.

Detective Newhall said the man urged the crowd to take another prisoner away from P.C. Reid. There were about 500 people present and the language was disgraceful.

The Magistrate said $5.75.

Thomas Banks said he was not guilty.

"I had about 20 minutes' resistance with him before I got assistance," said P.C. Reid.

The Magistrate again said $5.75.

Robt. Revoire was drunk in a public place.

This time His Worship said $2.

"Give me time," pleaded Robert, and he got 10 days.

Wm. Allwood was guilty of being drunk and disorderly.

He didn't have $2. He will await the magic touch of his employer.

ASSAULT CASE.

Wm McKnight admitted he was drunk but when charged with assaulting Harry Castle, held that Castle hit him first.

"If he had been sober I don't think he would have done what he did," said Castle. "This is a complicated case."

Detective Newhall said McKnight told him last night the affair was a "put up job."

Castle was willing to withdraw the assault charge, so His Worship handed down only a fine of $5.75 on McKnight giving him 10 days to pay.

A SECOND CHARGE.

The detective told of the general mix-up on Charlotte street last night, and of how Banks had kicked him on the knee. He fought all the way to the cells.

"I was helplessly drunk," came from the prisoner. "I know who got the kicks."

The judgment was $8.75 or fifteen days in jail.

HE LOST HIS NUMBER.

Louis Florence was charged with riding a motor bicycle, not having a number as prescribed by the law.

"I lost it," said Florence, "and did not know I was without it."

"He was riding about three days without it," said P.C. Reid.

Louie produced the plate, with the explanation that he had found it in the mud."

The fine was $5 and costs, or $7.60.

"All motor or bicycle men who come before me, I'll make them understand that they must realize their duty," concluded His Worship.

STOLE A WATCH.

Charged with stealing a gold watch and chain, valued at $20, William Connors pleaded guilty, but said he was under the influence of liquor at the time."

"Do you come from Lindsay?" asked the Magistrate.

"Yes," replied the prisoner.

P.C Brown told of his chase after the prisoner, from the Grand Trunk station Connors finally entering the Grand Hotel, going upstairs and replacing the watch in the room of the owner who was asleep on his bed and did not know the timepiece had been stolen. He was not drunk then.

"A guilty conscience makes cowards of us all," remarked His Worship when Connors claimed that he was "good and drunk."

He was remanded for one week for sentence.

Wilfred Ireland, from whom the watch was stolen, admitted a drunk charge and was given 15 minutes to get his fine of $2.

FORESTERS' TENT IS LARGEST IN TORONTO EXHIBITION SOCIETY ROW

The first and largest tent in "Society Row," which fronts on the lake just at the west of the big ring before the grand stand at the Toronto Exhibition is that of the Independent Order of Foresters. There there is rest, comfort and a welcome for all Foresters or their friends who, while visiting the Fair, wish to meet old friends or make new ones. All should avail themselves of the courtesies of those in charge.

Here, if they are not already participants in the benefits of this great franternal and benevolent society, they may learn of the many and manifold advantages which go with a membership in this great order.

A WORTHY RECORD.

It is of exceeding interest to talk with those in charge of the rest and reception tent. There you may learn of the marvelous record of this order, a part of which you may so easily become. Old members who call and talk over the doings of the big society go out with new pride in the order and added zest to their determination to bring more to share in the benefits in which they participate.

Here they will tell you of protection against loss of health, against the ravages of age and death and of protection of the family should the bread winner be removed. No child of a deceased Forester will ever want for a home. Already over 630 orphans are now being cared for in a home supported by the order, which is easily maintained by an assessment of a bare two cents per month upon the 240,000 membership. The home is a large, comfortable, country house near Oakville, Ont. There is a free sanitarium for the consumptives, where all members of the order who fall a prey to this dread disease are given a chance with the aid of the most scientific treatment under the most propitious conditions, to regain their health and strength and to be allowed a second start in the battle of life with unimpaired equipment.

THE MATTER OF RATES.

The rates of the I.O.F. policies are just high enough to fully guarantee the benefits expected, and that is all—any less would be too low.

It would do a member or a friend from the outside good to hear, as he will at the tent in Society Row, of the great blessings which the order is bringing to the masses of the people. They have paid during the year 1911 alone $2,316,740.74 to beneficiaries. You will hear of the many homes they have visited with the small cheque for $500 or $1,000. The eyes of these kindly men kindle when they they tell that each member becomes a missionary to members to swell the strength and enlarge the scope of the order, and this is enough to kindle new fire in the hearts of those who hear and send them forth to achieve yet a greater good for their fellow-men through the instrumentality of this great and beneficent order.

A FRIEND IN NEED.

Then you will hear of the disability benefit which is another wonderfully attractive feature of Forester insurance. This gives the member assurance that should he be permanently or totally disabled he has a great friend in the order which will care for him in his time of need. Those directing the policy of the order have decided that this is a time when he should be relieved from the burdens of the upkeep of his policy, and he is therefore relieved. He stops making any payments, and is entitled to receive seventy per cent. of his policy within a year after he has been pronounced so permanently or totally disabled.

Still another beneficient feature of this Forester insurance is the relief extended to all members who shall reach the age of seventy years. From that time on all payments are stopped, and the member may, if he wishes draw out seventy per cent of his policy in a lump sum.

This single feature should be enough to arouse the young men to the great importance of making early application for membership in a society which will guarantee them full protection against disability or death. Here they find an order which, when they have reached such an age as precludes them from active participation in the great battle of life, allows them instead to participate in the benefits of a brotherhood which will care for them in their declining years and smooth out the road before their tiring feet so that it may become a primrose path upon which shines the kindly sunshine of a warm friendliness rather than a rough and lonely road of desolation.

YOUNG MEN MAY SAVE.

Those in charge of the tent are very enthusiastic about this, pointing out that where the young man could not be persuaded to save, but through the policies of this order, he was able to take an obligation, and that obligation bound him to pay small set amount every month, which gives him a protection of $1,000 to his beneficiaries, or, when he reaches the age of seventy, he may draw 70 per cent. of his policy. All he will have paid into the order will be a little over $480. This means that his risk has been carried through the years, and the amount of money he has paid in has been returned to him with profits.

They will tell you also of thousands who have been visited in the hour of sickness, comforted by the visitation of the members, and of the tender care of a nurse provided by the order. Together with this they receive a sick benefit of $3 a week for the first two weeks, $5 a week for the next ten weeks, and $3 a week for the next six months, and to hear them talk of the great relief and the happiness brought to the hearts of many who have suffered and would have had to endure it all alone had it not been for the enthusiastic work of the members, who go out and talk to their friends of the advantages one can enjoy by becoming a member of this great order.

THOUSANDS PAID OUT.

The order has paid out during the past year in sick and funeral benefits alone, $277,504.54. Such benefits as these should be sufficient to waken the many young men and women who have yet to make provision against sickness and death, to make application immediately, for at the back of all the promises they make their members, they have a surplus of over nineteen millions of dollars.

A strong invitation is tendered every Forester and every friend who is interested in fraternal work, to make the I.O.F. tent a visit, and there receive a souvenir as well as a booklet explaining the different branches that this order has undertaken to adopt. It is one of the very few spots where friends can receive a cool, refreshing rest, and any friend who is anxious to help in the fraternal branch of the order, can secure the Sanitarium and Orphanage stamps, which go towards helping to care for the afflicted.

SUDDEN DEATH OF MRS. ROBT. MACKIE

Passed Away From an Attack of Heart Failure

Death came suddenly to Mrs. Robt. Mackie, of 277 Thomas street on Saturday night, when she suffered an attack of heart trouble, near the corner of Park and King streets, and passed away.

Mrs. Mackie has been suffering from heart weakness but was not unusually depressed when she started out for a walk.

Dr. J. M. McCulloch was called but the patient died before aid could be administered.

The deceased is survived by her husband, Robt. Mackie, a millwright at the C.G.E. Co., had lived in the city about six months, residing with their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Cotton. The couple formerly lived in Hamilton thirty years, coming to Canada from the old country. Mrs. Mackie was borne in Wylan-on-Tyne, England, and was in her sixty-second year at her death. Her maiden name was Sarah Dunne. Mr. Mackie's native home was in Ayr, Scotland.

The funeral took place this afternoon to Little Lake Cemetery, Rev. Jas. Rollins officiating.

APPOINTMENTS AT CONFERENCE

Final Session Held at the Free Methodist Church

The last sitting of the Seventeenth Annual Session of the East Ontario Conference of the Free Methodist Church was held on Saturday.

The time was occupied with reports of Committees and other miscellaneous business.

The reports show the uncompromising position of the Church on all moral issues. The liquor traffic, corrupt politics, the horrid white slave traffic, and the modern move in the religious world, away from confidence in the inspiration of the scriptures, as well as other subjects, were considered, and the conference pledged itself to continue to oppose these and all other evils, as it has ever done. Salvation from all sin through simple faith in Jesus Christ is the main issue.

Miss Lottie Babcock was re-elected Sunday School Secretary, and Rev. Wm. Zurbrigg conference treasurer.

The report of the Stationing Committee was read by the Bishop, as follows:

APPOINTMENTS:

Kingston and Campbellford districts, W. H. Reynolds, District Elder; Kingston, E. Snyder; Odessa, Norman Perry; Gananoque, C. Goodrich; Verona, W. Zurbrigg; Westport, to be supplied; Enterprise, A. M. Gun,ir; Vennachar, Samuel Loshaw; Picton, Edith Sears and Annie Slack; Warkworth, W. H. Gregory; Campbellford, A. F. Ball; Cordova, M. Babcock; Marmora, R. Babcock; Gunter, Edna Redner.

Toronto and Muskoka districts, R. Burnham, District Elder; Toronto, M. S. Benn; Armadale, to be supplied; Uxbridge, H. Wattam; Belhaven, D. L Gunter; Newmarket, S. C. Snyder; Peterborough, C. Cunningham; Crown Hill, L. Slingorland; Midland, Ethel Davey; Housey's Rapids, to be supplied; Gravenhurst, Lotta Babcock and Kate L. Clarke; Bracebridge, H. B. Luck; Huntsville, W. P. Harndin; N. G. Harp, J. W. Potter, A. Sims, H Smith, Supernumerary; C. F. Appleton, Missionary to China; F. F. Prior given certificate of good standing in view of transfer to the Western Canada Conference.

The Sunday services were well attended. Bishop Pearce preached a very able sermon in the morning and another in the evening. Dr. Backenstoe gave a very interesting missionary address in the afternoon. About two hundred dollars was raised for missionary and other purposes. The next session is to be held in Kingston.

OBITUARY

The Late Martin McManus

Mr. Martin McManus passed away last night at the age of 73 years. Six months ago the deceased was taken ill and went to recuperate at the home of his nephew, Mr. Michael McManus, of Douro, and resided there till the time of his death.

The late Mr. McManus resided in Douro until seven years ago, when he came to live in Peterborough, on Albert Street. He is survived by one sister, Mrs. Daniel Shea, of Douro.

The funeral will take place at 8 o'clock to-morrow morning to St. Joseph's Church, Douro, and from thence to St. Peter's Cemetery.

Miss Ellen Smith

Mr. W. G. Fife, of 578 Division street has received the news from Windermere Muskoka, of the death at that place of his cousin, Miss Ella Smith, who, with her mother, Mrs. Marion Jamison, resided here some years ago, and was very well known in the city. She passed away at the home of Mr. David Fife, with whom she has been living. Surviving are three brothers: William Jamison, of Windermere; Robert, of St. Paul, Minn., and Rev. Walter Jamison, of Palmerston, Ont., and two sisters, Mrs. Maggie Jamison and Mrs. (Rev.) David McCamus, of London, Ont.

The remains will be brought to the city to-night, and the funeral is to take place from the residence of Mr. W. A. Fife to-morrow morning at 10 o'clock to the Little Lake cemetery.

Invention for the Deaf

Warne Bros., jewellers, extend an invitation to the public to call and witness the test of the famous Aurophone, the latest invention for helping the deaf to hear, which will take place Wednesday and Thursday, September 4th and 5th. Those who suffer from deafness are invited to have a practical test of the Aurophone, which is highly recommended by specialists. The use of this instrument stops head noises and enables the deaf to hear distinctly, and no unpleasant results follow.

NEW BOYS' SECRETARY

Mr. A. T. Nash, the Cowboy Preacher, at the Y. M. C. A.

A new Boys' Work Secretary has arrived at the Peterborough Young Men's Christian Association, succeeding S. R. Hall. His duties begin with the first of this month, and he is now ready to help the boys of this city ta make the most of themselves.

The new Secretary's name is A. T. Nash. He was born and reared on a farm near Dunnville, Ont., but has had a somewhat varied experience since that time. After completing the public school he worked for several years as hired man for different farmers. Then he became a factory hand, and later a shipping clerk. He then spent three years in the mail order department of the large departmental houses in Toronto.

But he says that during all that time he was like a fish out of water. His employers were apparently satisfied with his work, but he heard a voice which he could not resist, calling him to more definite Christian service; accordingly, he went to Naperville, Ill., where he completed a four years' course in connection with North Western College, and his summer vacations were all spent in making a house to house canvass throughout different states of the union.

After these four years of preparation, he accepted the position of pastor's assistant at a small town in the Canadian North West. He spent one year at this place, after which he received his ordination from his Conference and was then sent seventy miles inland, where he soon became known as the Cow-Boy preacher. He labored in this capacity in the Southern part of Alberta for two years, but the desire to become of greater service to a larger number still burned within him. He recognized the fact that the boys of to-day are the men of to-morrow, and that the only way to save the nation is to save the boy. He therefore decided to enter Boys' Work in connection with the Young Men's Christian Association, and he accordingly attended the Canadian National Young Men's Christian Association summer school at Lake Couchiching for two summers, where he specialized in Boys' Work. And upon the recommendation of Mr. Taylor Statten, the Provincial Boys' Work Secretary, he accepted his present position in this city.

We bespeak for Mr. Nash the hearty co-operation of all who are interested in the welfare of the boys of Peterborough.

PETES MADE A CLEAN-UP AND THEY DID IT WELL

Last Home Game of 1912 Season Won in Decisive Fashion by Score of 14 5—Purse of Gold for Pitcher Tracey and Catcher Trout in Recognition of Their Faithful Services.

Robertson hits to Osborne, who throws the runner out at first base. It was the last play of the last Canadian Baseball League game of 1912, in Peterborough, and the White Caps again demonstrated their superiority over the Senators. The score was 15—4.

The showing of the two teams in the last series of five games at Riverside, is as follows:

	R.	H.	E.
Ottawa	16	30	8

The Saturday bill looked good, to go the way of the Cookmen, as the heavy artillery went slam-bang against Osborne's shoots, right off the reel, and with a slashing drive just out of reach of Joe Byrne, Dolan scored two runners. It was an easy matter for the Petes to get the brace back, and thereafter the visitors took a rear seat.

"Peggy" Swartz, was in the limelight with grand catches in left garden, one of them being a one-hand grab, William getting the ball between Heard and Brant. Osborne, too, was on the job by knocking down box cutters by quick work, and retiring the runners.

The blow came in the fourth, when Dapper was hit for six runs. He was replaced by Stan Creswell, but the Petes kept on with the assault. Hopper, who has been working behind the bat for the Senators, although not in the best of shape, on account of an injury to his knee, was forced to retire when injured again by a pitched ball. Manager Cook finished the game, Ed. Rehfeld going to right.

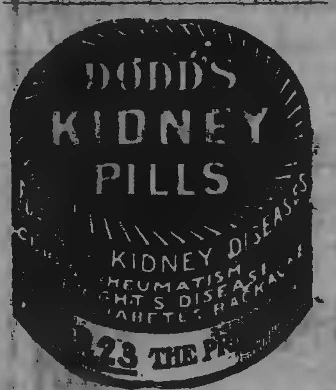
Towards the close of the game, Mr. George Lynch, on behalf of the Peterborough Ball Club, presented a purse of gold to Pitcher Ken Tracey and one to Catcher Irvine Trout, the presentations being testimonials to the faithful and good work of the two players. The event needless to say, came in for hearty endorsation by the crowds present.

The season is now over and the boys are leaving for their respective homes. Of the first material secured for the local team, Swartz, Trout, Heard alone finished the schedule. For the past month the team has been playing championship baseball, and only the bad start kept them below the other fellows. Manager Rowan and his white caps have given their best services and the fans will join with the Directors in their appreciation of the same. Whatever some people may have to say against professional baseball, it can be truly said that the members of the Peterborough Baseball team have, both in and out of the game, conducted themselves as gentleman and that means a whole lot. They will be welcomed back to Peterborough.

There is of course a deficit to be faced—experience costs good money—but the introduction of the game into Peterborough had been a success in other ways. There will be a different story to tell at the conclusion of the season of 1913.

And just remember that the prisons of the country are full of men who thought they could get away with it.

Any woman will fall in love when the right man comes along, but that doesn't prevent her from wishing that the right man will have money.



BREEZES FROM THE DIAMOND

The White Caps received a double beating at Ottawa on the holiday, Tracey and Osborne losing the duels with Herbert and Renfer. The scores were 4—2 and 6—1. The Senators secured but five hits off Tracey, while the Petes took ten, but an infield boot which should have been a third out, allowed the champions to rally to the extent of three runs.

In the presentations on Saturday, Tracey received $40 and Trout $60.

The Ottawa Journal of Saturday says the Senators presented the White Caps with the entire block of games, while the Ottawa Citizen says: "The White Caps now have one of the fastest teams in the league, as has been demonstrated by the manner in which they have been walloping the Ottawas during the last series."

The Chemong Park Baseball team played their last game of the season yesterday when they beat the fast Cavendish team from Lakefield by a score of 13—10. The Lakefield nine have won the Town League for several years and were therefore rudely jolted when the Cottagers put a win over on them.

Harry Brant was unable to go to Ottawa because of his injured foot and "Jimmie" Beard worked at short.

Humor and Philosophy

By DUNCAN M. SMITH

PERT PARAGRAPHS.

THE woman who will marry a man because she is sorry for him often gives him cause for sorrow about the first of every month.

Being successful is more than enough to keep some of us busy.

The high cost of living causes a great deal of talk, but the h. c. o. l. seems above it.

The average man expects his wife to take so much for granted that the poor creature comes to feel that life is as dull as ditch water.

One reason why some persons are such scandalous liars is that truth refuses to associate with them.

Anything that gives you a sane angle of vision is worth all it costs you to attain to it.

A fast gait doesn't guarantee either a safe arrival or a desirable destination.

We never have a suspicion that people are either double dyed or foolish who agree with us.

FARM LABORER'S EXCURSIONS $10 TO WINNIPEG VIA CHICAGO

Plus half cent mile from Winnipeg to destination, but not beyond MacLeod, Calgary or Edmonton.

RETURNING half cent mile to Winnipeg, plus $18.00 to destination in Eastern Canada.

GOING DATES.

AUG. 23rd—From all stations north of but not including Main Line, Toronto to Sarnia Tunnel, via Stratford; all stations Toronto and north and east of Toronto to Kingston and Renfrew.

AUG. 28th—From all stations Toronto and east, and east of Orillia and Scotia Junction.

AUG. 30th—From all stations Toronto to North Bay, inclusive, and west thereof in Ontario.

This is an exceptional chance for young men to visit the west, which is truly called the land of "Golden Opportunities," as many prosperous farmers and business men now residing in Western Canada can trace the origin of their good fortune to a "Farm Laborers' Excursion." The route via Chicago is an attractive one, as many large cities and towns are passed en route, which breaks the monotony of the journey, as there is something new to see all the time.

The Grand Trunk Pacific Railway is the shortest and quickest route between Winnipeg-Saskatoon-Edmonton. New Fast Express Service between Winnipeg, Yorkton, Canora and Regina.

TURNBULL'S

THE HOUSE THAT VALUE BUILT

WINNERS AT BABY SHOW

Judges Had no Easy Task Deciding the Winners.

For the Baby Show which was held on Labor Day at Riverside Park, the babies and their mothers occupied seats in the grand stand adjacent to the band.

There were many babies to be judge and it was by no means an easy task for the judges—Alderman Anderson, Mr. G. N. Graham and Mr. Frank Russell, of the editorial staff of the Examiner—to decide which were the "best" babies.

As to the mothers who themselves presented much that was good looking

They brought their babies dark and fair,
With golden locks or sweet brown
hair,

Varying from six to twelve months of age. These pretty little dears were divided into two classes:

Class No. 1, comprised infants under six months of age; class No. 2, consisted of those between six and twelve months. The babies in class 1 were judged first. After considering a number of points, perhaps too many, from the mother's point of view, the prizes in Class I. were awarded to — (1) G. Robinson, aged 5 months; (2) D. Hoolihan, aged 5 months. The first prize, which was donated by Mr. Roy, was one dozen cabinet photographs; the second prize being a $2.50 gold piece, contributed by the committee. In Class II, the prizes consisted of a dozen photographs cabinet size, donated by Mr. L. Mendel; the second prize being a $2.50 gold piece likewise contributed by the committee. These were won by —. Barrie, 8 months, and F. Underwood, 6 months, respectively. It was an extremely difficult matter for the judges to arrive at their decision with reference to first and second places.

An extra prize given by Mr. Frank Russell for the prettiest girl, was won by Jessie Simons.

TURNER'S TENT IS UNIQUE

The Toronto Mail says, in regard to the exhibit of J. J. Turner & Sons at the Toronto Fair:—

People interested in tents should see this one. Undoubtedly the best one on the grounds it is to be found on the left just inside the Dufferin gate. It is a canvas home of luxury, complete in every detail, fitted with bathroom, etc., and at a price that is within the reach of all who can afford a vacation. To say that it is great does not cover it, It is unique. Like the exhibitors' reputation, it is the standard of excellence. It was manufactured at Peterborough by J. J. Turner & Sons, Canada's largest tent manufacturers.

CORNER GEORGE AND HUNTER STREETS

12 YEAR OLD RAY MOFFATT HAD LEFT FOOT SEVERED

Ray Moffat, son of Peter Moffat, 176 Smith street, had his left foot taken off this morning about ten o'clock by a G.T.R. shunting engine in front of the Quaker Oats Co's power house at the foot of London street. He was walking along reading a book when his foot became caught between a plank and the rail and he was unable to withdraw it before the engine came along and severed it just above the ankle.

The Dan Spence ambulance was called from the power house and he was conveyed to the Nicholls Hospital where Drs. McClelland, McCulloch and Carmichael attended him.

One report of the accident is that three other boys were in the way of the train and the engineer in watching this trio, did not notice young Moffat.

WAS MARRIED IN WINNIPEG

The many friends in the city of Mr. E. M. Best will be interested to learn that to-day in Winnipeg is the wedding day of the gentleman named. He is engaged in that city as Asst. Supervisor of the Winnipeg Play-ground Commission, a sufficiently onerous task for anyone not so constituted as is Ernie Best. The lady in the case is Miss Ruby Betts, daughter of Mr. G. E. Betts, of Winnipeg. A warm friend in Peterborough wired to Mr. Best this afternoon — "Caught, conquered and caged at last," which tersely expresses the situation. Congratulations are in order and tendered.

REV. J. G. LEWIS BACK FROM WEST

The Rev. J. G. Lewis, of Warkworth has returned from four months' vacation spent in touring the West. Mr. Lewis, while out west, visited his brother, the Rev. H. Lewis, of Regina, whose church was blown down in the cyclone which devastated that city.

While away, Mrs. Lewis and family have been visiting Mrs. A. R. Campbell, of 421 Stewart street, and have now returned to their home in Warkworth.

WERE AFTER DRUNKEN MEN AT LATE HOUR

Two natives of Alderville were arrested late last night, and in police court this morning, were remanded to jail for one week.

The men, it was said, were assisting drunken men on Hunter and Aylmer street last night, and a young man becoming suspicious of their actions, informed the police, with the result that their arrest followed.

A witness said he noticed one drunken man giving one of the two prisoners some money, and also that they followed two other men on Aylmer street.

The prisoners are members of the Alderville band, which came to the city on Saturday.

THE CITY SHARES IN THE RECEIPTS OF THE THEATRES

The proprietors of moving picture houses in Peterborough are not what might be said pleased at the action of the city Finance Committee regarding the increasing of the license from $40 to $75.

One proprietor, in conversation with a Review representative, explained that the receipts of the shows was circulated in Peterborough, the only money going outside being that for the pictures, which were the best obtainable. All passed the Government censor.

As to the $300 fee in Brentford, he said he understood that the holder of the license there had an agreement with the city whereby no other licenses could be taken out.

"We're not making a fortune or anything like that," said the Review's informant.

PUPILS BACK TO THEIR STUDIES

The schools throughout the city re-opened this morning at nine o'clock. Ther ewas a very full attendance at all the institutions. This year's roll of students will exceed those of previous years. Two new rooms one at the Central and the other opened at the King Edward school will relieve the congestion, which was expected to be felt in East City and the West Ward.

RUNAWAY HORSE MADE GOOD TIME

The horse of Mr. Taylor, the Water street real estate agent, became frightened this afternoon on George street and tore down at a great speed which caused considerable excitement. Fortunately there was no one in the light rig. When the horse reached Turnbull's the rig swung around and struck a gravel wagon and bent the wheels and splattered passing pedestrians with mud. After that it proceeded for quite a distance when it was caught by the owner, Mr. Taylor.

All food offered for sale in Kelowna is now subject to official inspection.

WAIT TILL NEXT YEAR

Ottawa, Sept. 4.—All signs of the political horizon at the present time point towards a late meeting of Parliament. It is the general belief in official circles now that there is a strong probability of the opening of the session being delayed until after the Christmas holidays.

It is pointed out that there is much legislation of a constructive nature to be got in readiness for introduction. During the summer most of the Ministers have been away from the capital and their Departments, and this will add greatly to the space of time and amount of work which now confronts them before Parliament can meet. Some time will undoubtedly have to be given to the consideration of the naval question, as it is now a practical certainty that nothing definite as regards policy has yet been decided upon and will not be before it is given these and mature consideration by the entire Cabinet Council. Mr. Hazen, it is understood, is going to the Pacific Coast after his return here, and will likely be away for two weeks. This would seem to indicate that the question of the navy will not be taken up for some weeks, probably not until October.

Mr. Borden on his return is going to spend a few days in Nova Scotia, and, as scheduled, to speak at a number of banquets in his honor. It is altogether unlikely that the Cabinet will get down to real work before October, and it is felt that it will be too late in November, when they are ready, to summon Parliament until after the new year.

MONTREAL TO GREET BORDEN

Montreal, Sept. 4.—This city will extend a welcome to Rt. Hon. R. L. Borden, the Prime Minister, when he reaches here on his return from the old country on Saturday. A meeting of the prominent city officials, business and professional gentlemen was held at Freeman's Hotel yesterday morning to discuss the details of the reception. It was decided to make it absolutely non-partisan in character.

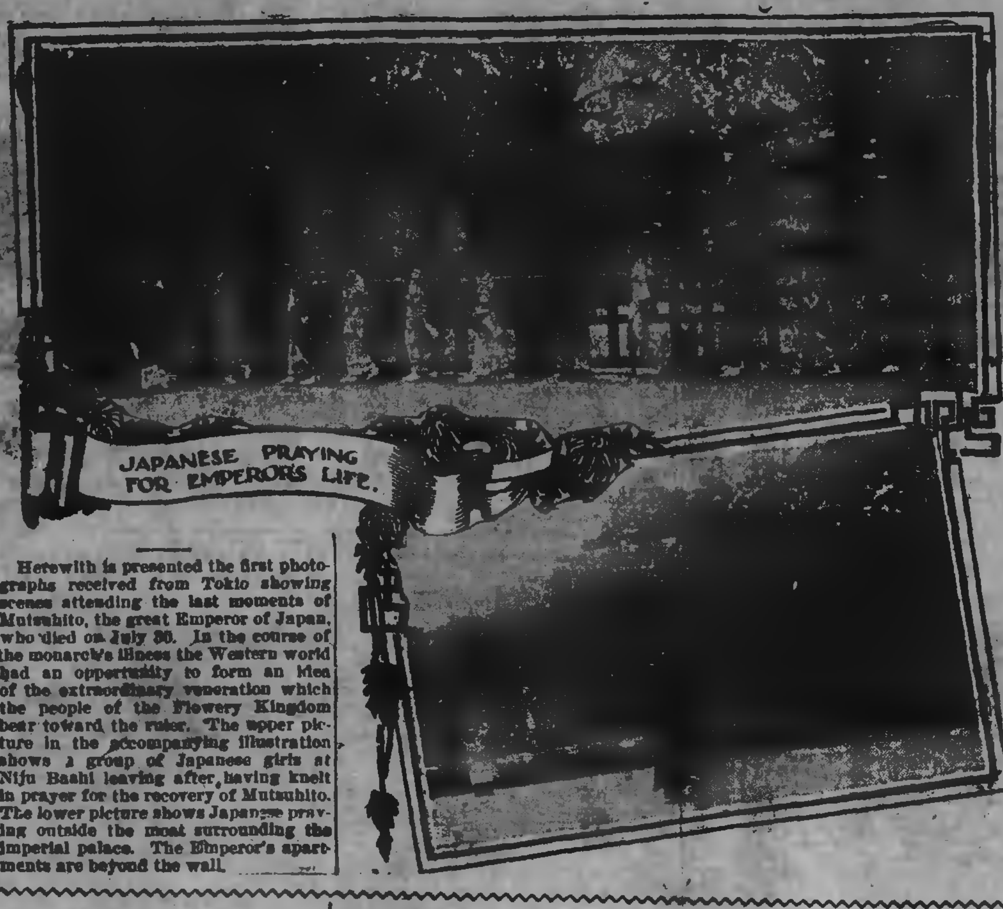
The reception will follow along the same lines as those tendered in former years to Sir John Thompson and Sir Wilfrid Laurier on their return from important visits to the old country.

Mayor Lavallee will be invited to read the address of welcome and he will be supported by representatives of every society, business organization and professional body in Montreal.

Erie Canal Badly Damaged.

Rochester, N.Y., Sept. 4.—The Erie Canal went out [illegible] feet west of Bushnell's Basin yesterday morning, at the same spot where the break occurred a year ago. All the new work and reinforced concrete put in by the state at that time is washed away, and a large area is under water. The canal will be out of service for a long time.

FIRST PICTURES OF SCENES ATTENDING DEATH OF JAPAN'S EMPEROR



JAPANESE PRAYING FOR EMPEROR'S LIFE.

Herewith is presented the first photographs received from Tokio showing scenes attending the last moments of Mutsuhito, the great Emperor of Japan, who died on July 30. In the course of the monarch's illness the Western world had an opportunity to form an idea of the extraordinary veneration which the people of the Flowery Kingdom bear toward the ruler. The upper picture in the accompanying illustration shows a group of Japanese girls at Nifu Bashi leaving after having knelt in prayer for the recovery of Mutsuhito. The lower picture shows Japanese praying outside the moat surrounding the imperial palace. The Emperor's apartments are beyond the wall.

Galt Suffers Heavily.

Galt, Sept. 4.—Inspection of the streets to-day shows that the damage by cloudburst Monday will be heavy, running into thousands of dollars. Nearly all the high streets were up by the rush of water and the splendid drain service failed to cope with the extraordinary downpour, the heaviest and most furious in the history of the town. Everywhere in the valley cellars are flooded and several streets rendered impassable. Lightning struck the malleable iron work house of Wm. Dean's, Blenheim Road. The storm caused much more damage to town property than the memorable flood of Easter Sunday.

BLIND PIGS WERE RAIDED

Cobalt, Sept. 4.—The provincial police pulled off the biggest "blind pig" raid in years yesterday, when they nabbed fourteen alleged "piggers" on forty-six charges of selling.

Two spotters have been working for the past two weeks, and have apparently succeeded remarkably well. Included in the list of arrests are two men from South Lorraine, and one from North Cobalt, while the balance are well known Cobalt saloonkeepers.

IMPERIAL CADETS MADE IT HOT FOR ENGLISH DANDIES

Fifteen Lads Who Paid Their Own Way Out to Attend Toronto Exhibition, So Angered Others by Their Swaggling Behavior That Their Tents Were Pulled Down and They Were Pelted With Sods.

Toronto, Sept. 4.—There was a merry little battle in the Imperial cadets' camp at 11.30 Monday night, when fifteen boys from Eton and Winchester Colleges, England, who comprise the English team number two, were hazed. This corp arrived in camp on Sunday from Ottawa, where they were the guests of the Government at the D.R.A. meeting. When the shooting concluded, the boys were sent to the Exhibition to camp with their comrades. But right away they got themselves disliked. Their "high brow" conduct was the cause of a cleverly organized hazing party, which pulled off some pryotechnics out of the ordinary in military camps. During the melee the English team was rendered homeless and tentless and was the target for sods, and an officer, who drew his sword to scare off the hazers, was the recipient of the missles and the biggest scare of his life.

The English team No. 2, which by the way does not take part in the competition with the cadets, after arriving in camp, became disgruntled at their reception. They ordered the Ridley College cadets to pitch their tents and demanded several other favors from other corps, which not even officers would think of doing. The Ridley College boys merely laughed at them and told them to pitch their own tents or "do the other thing," whereupon the English boys, so the story goes, got quite saucy. However, they did pitch their tents and after the last peg was driven they, in some way, secured cots and real, up-to-date luxurious bedding. They were fifteen boys all told and two cots were placed in each tent.

When the news traveled among the others, who had been in camp a week and sleeping on straw ticks laid out on the cold, cold ground, a regular Bedlam broke loose, and immediately ways and means were devised to deprive these young "swaggers" from all their comforts. And to add insult to injury, the Englishmen called the mounted Saskatchewan corp, a fine sample of manhood, "young pigs." The westerners by no means liked this pseudonym and got busy. They organized. At a meeting, it was decided that the hazers would sneak up to the lines of the objectionable Englishmen, and, with two or three men at each tent, would flop the canvas. The whistle was blown and the entire line of tents was dropped and the canvas pitched to one side, exposing the forms of the collegians reposing on comfortable cots and wrapped cozily in heavy blankets and quilts. Quilts! Get that? When the tents were lying on the ground, a loud cheer of victory was given, followed by a scramble on the part of the hazed English lads.

But the "maltreated" cadets were game to the core. They jumped from their cots and grabbed their whips and went after the enemy, only to tackle an impenetrable bulwark—the hazers had supplied themselves with sods and threw them with all their might at the onrushing Englishmen.

By this time, however, the raiders had slunk back to their tents and were making a brave attempt to sleep. No one really knows the names of those who carried out the raid, the thing had been organized so ingenuously.

According to the raiders, they were practically forced to teach these cadets from Eton and Winchester their proper plane in a military camp. They said that they had tried to use them as orderlies and had refused even to eat the meals set before them. When they entered the mess tent where the others were dining, they would not remove their headgear as the others had done, until they were hissed so loudly that an officer on duty ordered them to do so.

It is unlikely that any official cognizance will be taken of the affair.

NEW BANKING LAW

Ottawa, Sept. 4.—A provision for outside, but non-Governmental bank inspection to supplement supervision by the bank's own inspectors will be, it is understood, the chief feature of the bank act which Hon. W. T. White will introduce at the coming session.

The objection taken to the principle of inspection by the Government officials is that it would mean practically a Government guarantee as to the solvency of each bank and the accurancy of published statements.

The proposal is to compel each chartered bank in Canada to have an independent inspection of its branches and head office books made at regular intervals by duly licensed and authorized accounting experts.

NAVAL QUESTION DISCUSSED BY SIR GEORGE REID

In Speech on Imperial Defence at Toronto, Sir George Reid Says That If the Bonds of the Empire Are to Be Strengthened It Must Be Done at Once—Has Nothing to Say Regarding the Method of Action.

Toronto, Sept. 4.—Sir George Reid, high commissioner in London for the Commonwealth of Australia, in a speech at the directors' luncheon at the Exhibition yesterday preached the doctrine of Imperial unity and the necessity of Canada, if she intends to do something to strengthen the British navy, to act quickly. In concluding his eloquent speech he said: We know that intense as our loyalty is, that your loyalty is just as intense, just as undoubted; we think that you may adopt some other method than ours, in your wisdom, and it is not for us to speak a word to you in matters that so closely concern you, but I think we have a right to say in Australia, after what we have done, that whatever the Empire has got to do, to strengthen the bonds of our Motherland, ought to be done quickly.

"I would like just to give you a few figures with reference to the trade of Australia with the British Empire. It stands in this way: Seventy-five per cent. of everything we buy outside of Australia is bought in the British Empire; from the rest of the world we buy 25 per cent. We do not ask the Empire to buy from us at that rate, because some countries buy 14 per cent. more in proportion than they sell to us; they sell us 25 per cent.; we sell to them 39 per cent. of all our experts.

SIR GEORGE REID.

We have imitated the splendid example of Canada in this way, and I may pause for a moment to express my admiration for the manner in which Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his colleagues and the Parliament of Canada gave Great Britain such a handsome and unconditional preference. We give a preference to another country that cost us $5,000,000 a year in customs revenue. We believe in reciprocity and we believe in preference, and we also believe in letting the people of the Mother Country judge for themselves what is best for them with the same independence and fairness and thoroughness with which we judge is good for us.

"Now, there is another thing that I would like to say. We in Australia are not so near the storm centres of the world. We are far away from them, but at the present moment every Australian boy at 14 begins to wear the King's uniform and he wears it under a system of compulsory training until he is 26. This system is made a light one. It does not interfere too seriously with the preparation for the real battle of life, in which young Canadians and young Australians must inevitably engage.

"In twenty-four hours the little cloud on the horizon may become a national crisis of the greatest gravity, and one naval engagement, if it went against us, might shatter the supremacy of the British fleets upon the oceans of the world, and you know, if our fleets are once shattered we won't be allowed to employ our wealth in building them up again, the power that overthrows us won't allow us to get strong enough to have another battle with them; so that our fleets must always be ready to fight and to fight at once.

"That is what we think in Australia; at the same time we also think this: After all, wherever the Britisher goes, he has got stored up in him somewhere the call of the sea; it was the sea which made the Englishman what he is; it was his love of the sea, his adventures on the sea and his enterprise on the sea; when the sea ceases to become attractive to our race, the days of our Empire will be numbered. We in Australia are responding to the call of the sea; we are bringing the men of young Australia face to face with the greatest traditions of our race in sea life by endeavoring to preserve and promote them."

TO AID THE PRIVY COUNCIL

London, Sept. 4.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—The Canadian Associated Press is informed that a second attempt to strengthen the judicial committee of the Privy Council, whose decisions in the past have been far from satisfactory in the colonies, will be made shortly after the reassembling of Parliament.

Reports, which appeared in the Canadian press, claiming that Lord Chancellor Haldane proposed to add the name of Chief Justice Fitzpatrick to the active body, are purely imaginary. The personnel of the committee will apparently remain the same as hitherto, while the court is also to remain as it is, the proposed amalgamation with Supreme Court appeals being considered unworkable. To meet the particular needs of the dominions over seas, it is understood that assessors possessing special knowledge of the points at issue, will be admitted, and will assist their lordships in arriving at decisions.

DAMAGE IS BEYOND REPAIR

New York, Sept. 4.—A cable to The Tribune from London says:

Reports from all over the country show that even in the now unlikely event of an unusually fine September none of the damage done to the crops by the inclement weather of the last two months can be made good. The loss to the farmers is far greater than most people imagine. It can be reckoned in millions of pounds sterling and it falls upon men who in the majority of cases are unable to bear it.

Thousands of British farmers stand face to face to-day with hopeless ruin, unless help comes from some quarter outside their control. Tens of thousands of laborers are suffering now and will suffer still more during the coming winter from the curtailment of employment, and all signs points to the fact that the prosperity of the British agricultural community has suffered a blow from which it will take years to recover.

ROOSEVELT ABOLISHES REPUBLICAN MAJORITY

Progressives Make Gains All Along the Line In Conservative State and Result of the Bare Election of the Republican Governor Will Be That Roosevelt May Sweep the More Advanced of the States.

White River Junction, Vt., Sept. 4.—The strength of the new Progressive party in its first line-up against the older parties and the disappearance of the Republican majority for the first time in ten years and the first time in the history of the state in a Presidential year were the outstanding features of the state election in Vermont yesterday. For many years political students have pointed out that any decrease in the Republican majority in Vermont in September below the normal of 25,000 has been followed almost invariably by the party defeat in the Presidential fight in November. These majorities, which have averaged close to 30,000 in all the state elections in Vermont in Presidential years since 1892, were represented yesterday by a bare plurality.

The Republican loss apparently went in a great degree to the Progressives and to a somewhat lesser extent to the Democrats. The Republican governor will probably be elected by a bare majority.

The falling off in the Republican vote began with the first returns, while the Progressives gained all along the line, in some cases carrying towns which had heretofore been regarded as strongly Republican.

The returns from the Vermont elections, though incomplete, indicate a remakable uprising of the people in response to the three days stumping tour through the Green Mountain state by Theodore Roosevelt. For the first time in the history of the state the Republican party has failed to elect its candidate for governor in a Presidential year. True, the Republican plurality at the state election would seem to ensure the electoral vote of the state for Mr. Taft by a reduced majority. But it also indicates a serious defection in the results of his supporters.

On Monday last it was predicted that the Progressive vote in Vermont at this election might reach the eight-thousand mark; the probabilties are that it will reach double this estimate.

The population of Vermont is of old colonial stock, ultra conservative and intensely loyal, by half a century of tradition, to the regular Republican organization. If his appeal to such a community has resulted in so large a vote for the Progressive party, it is difficult to over-estimate what may result from the stumping tour which Col. Roosevelt began yesterday in the more progressive states.

The battle is just begun.

No Ballot For Women.

Columbus, Sept. 4.—The women of Ohio failed yesterday in their efforts to gain the ballot, according to indications of the early returns last night. While the earliest figures on which this result is based came almost entirely from the larger cities of the state, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Columbus, Toledo and Dayton, it was in those places where the suffragists waged their most determined fights and politicians said the result would not be changed by the final results.

Most of the important of the 42 proposed amendments, it is believed, will be carried.

The first 327 precincts of the 5,197 in the state, give the following vote on equal suffrage: Yes, 15,848; no, 25,147.

The women, it is said, will not give up their fight for the ballot, however, but plan to make use of the initiative and referendum to gain another vote.

Comes Out For Roosevelt.

Des Moines, Ia., Sept. 4.—Senator A. B. Cummins, Progressive, and candidate for the presidency of the National Republican Convention, issued a statement yesterday, in which he opposed President Taft, said he will vote for Roosevelt, and went on record as opposed to the nomination of a third party state ticket in Iowa at the state convention which Roosevelt will address here to-day.

In saying he would vote for Roosevelt for President, Cummins added: "But it must be understood that I will do so, protesting against the organization of a new party, and dissenting from some of the doctrines announced in his platform."

COLLINS IS ARRAIGNED

Cobden, Ont., Sept. 4.—Peter Collins, the Cobden man, who on Friday last stabbed and killed Grant Appleby, a veterinary student at Toronto, during a fight between the two men here, will stand his trial at Pembroke on a charge of murder at the assizes opening on December 6.

Following the verdict of the coroner's jury naming Collins as responsible for Appleby's death, he was arraigned before the local magistrate and committed. He was afterwards removed to Pembroke jail.

T. W. McGarry, K.C., M.P.P., will represent Collins and set up a plea of self-defence.

Court proceedings yesterday only lasted a few minutes. Very little evidence was submitted.

Eye-witnesses described the quarrel testifying that Appleby had beaten Collins only after receiving the knife wound.

Britain Denies Report.

London, Sept. 4.—A complete disavowal is given by the British Foreign Office of the so-called official announcement that the British Government will formally demand arbitration on the Panama Canal tolls question.

"The lines of action which lie before the British Government are now being considered and any announcement of the kind is premature."

This is the full text of the formal statement given out by the Foreign Office yesterday, in reply to requests for details as to the reported demand for arbitration.

In explanation a publication of the report, the officials of the Foreign Office said in the first place it was wholly incorrect, for no announcement of any sort had been made, nor even decided on by the British Government.

It is possible the Government will await the result of the elections in the United States, in the hope that the United States Government may find a way afterward of meeting British wishes.

GRAND LODGE OFFICIALS WERE NOT ADMITTED

A.O.U.W. Members Arrange to Fight Against Rates Being Raised.

Special to The Review.

Guelph, Sept. 4.—Grand Lodge officials of the A.O.U.W. were refused admission at a meeting held last night by members from various points to arrange to fight the recent action of the Grand Lodge in raising rates. They were told on applying for admittance that the meeting was for the purpose of fighting the Grand Lodge officers and not for hearing them. The meeting endorsed the action of the committee in issuing a writ to prevent the new rates becoming effective.

BECKER CASE FOR SEPT. 14

New York, Sept. 4.—On the application of District Attorney Whitman, the case of Police Lieut. Charles Becker, charged with the murder of Herman Rosenthal, was transferred yesterday from the Court of General Sessions to the criminal branch of the Supreme Court before Justice J. W. Goff, sitting in extraordinary term. Justice Goff granted the application agreeing not only that Becker should be tried before him, but that he should plead to the indictment before him.

Becker was arraigned before Justice Goff for pleading shortly before eleven o'clock, but still refused to plead on his counsel's advice that the indictment had been "improperly and illegally found." A technical plea of not guilty was then entered.

Justice Goff quickly overruled four motions brought by Mr. McIntyre to obtain a delay and set the trial for Thursday, Sept. 12.

WEATHER MAKES AMENDS.

Prairies Are Now Enjoying Wind and Sunshine.

Winnipeg, Sept. 4.—The strong sunshine which prevailed in Winnipeg on Monday, was general over the west yesterday morning. There were light showers in some sections, but charming weather followed early in the forenoon and harvesting operations were very general all over the west by noon. The situation generally is pronounced quite satisfactory.

Fifty per cent. of the grain is reported cut in many sections, with threshing under way.

Ahead of Last Year.

Portage la Prairie, Sept. 4.—Although the sky was overcast Monday till noon, a strong drying wind was blowing all day which has put everything in good shape for the ideal weather which is prevalent all over the Portage plains. Reports yesterday show that all farmers are busily engaged. Many have finished cutting and are waiting their turn for the threshing gangs. Operations are well ahead of this time last year. The weather indications are fine and prospects are good.

Third Day of Slashing.

Regina, Sask., Sept. 4—For the third day in succession farmers are slashing into the wheat. Saturday they were cutting all over the district despite Friday's rain. Monday morning again dawned bright and sunny and the binders were working. Yesterday the same conditions prevail, though the sky was overcast.

About fifty per cent. of the wheat is cut, and there are indications that it will be of fine quality. This district is practically assured of an excellent crop, even under any weather conditions, for so much of the grain has already been saved as to make it a paying proposition.

Wonderful Headway.

Weyburn, Sask., Sept. 4.—Monday night was warm and stormy in the south and east, but clear at Weyburn. Yesterday was bright and warm with a light breeze. Crops are progressing wonderfully and no damage reported.

About thirty harvesters arrived in town Monday night, but many more are required.

Slight Rain In Moosemin.

Moosemin, Sask., Sept. 4.—A very slight rain fell Monday night, but it is bright and clear to-day. The temperature was 53 Monday night.

"PILLS LIKE A FYLE"

So Harsh and Drastic are Many Pills as to Seriously Injure Health.

In a letter written from his home in Valencia, Mr. Marsh Selwyn does service to thousands by drawing attention to the injuries inflicted upon delicate people by drastic purgative pills.

"For a long time I suffered from constipation. This condition compelled the use of pills. Like many another, I made the unwise choice of using pills that were like lightning in their activity. I began to be troubled with intestinal disturbances, griping rumblings, gas in the bowels and diarrhoea. I grew pale and emaciated. Then the doctor told me drastic irritating pills had caused catarrh of the bowels, an almost incurable disease. Explaining my situation to a friend he advised a trial of Dr. Hamilton's Pills. I speedily experienced the healing and curative effect they exert on the stomach, liver and bowels. The intestines, freed from irritating drugs, rapidly regained natural tone, the bowels acted as if nature and not Dr. Hamilton's Pills were at work. I know it will be of value to thousands to know that a pill as mild and curative as Dr. Hamilton's is available to the ailing."

For bowel disorders, sick headache, constipation, liver and stomach derangement, there is no pill so invariably sure to cure as Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Refuse a substitute. Sold in 25c boxes, all dealers, or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The Calgary Herald says:—"Local Grits should send Sir Wilfrid a copy of last night's Herald, specially marking the item "That Wider Market, which showed No. 1 northern wheat at Winnipeg at $1.04 1-2, and No. 1 northern at Minneapolis at 99 7-8." It would be a humiliating spectacle to see a distinguished statesman like Sir Wilfrid trailing round this province upholding the doctrine of reciprocity in the face of figures like these." The Herald is right. Sir Wilfrid fears to undertake a missionary tour in the west, in the face of the facts.

The cardinal feature of the new Bank Act to be introduced at the coming session of Parliament by Hon. W. T White, Minister of Finance, will, according to the minister's present intention, be a provision for outside but non-governmental bank inspection, in addition to the present regular inspection by the banks' own inspectors. The proposal is to compel every chartered bank in Canada to have an independent inspection of its branch and head office books made at regular intervals by duly licensed and authorized accounting experts. The government has decided to adopt the principle in lieu of the proposed system of regular inspections by government officials, which would involve practically a government guarantee as to the solvency of each bank and the correctness of its published statements.

Minnesota suffragettes have adopted a new battlecry:

Darn the government; darn the sox,
That's the way to the ballot box.
Patch the holes in hubby's hose;
March to the polls and voice your woes.

The darning needle will supplant the brickbat as the weapon of the Minnesota Woman Suffrage League, which at a recent meeting decided to maintain a booth at the state fair and invite all men to bring their socks to be darned to prove that suffrage workers are not incapacitated for housework.

Church League Meeting

Delegates to the Church League are asked to please remember the meeting to be held to-morrow, Thursday evening in the Y.M.C.A.. The meeting is called for 8.30 sharp, and all delegates are particularly requested to attend.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circular, free.

THE MARKET

Latest Quotations in Grain Dairy Products, Live Stock Etc

Liverpool and Chicago Wheat Futures Close Lower—Live Stock—Latest Quotations.

CHICAGO, Aug. 3.—Heaviness ruled the wheat market all day, as the natural result of huge receipts from both the spring and winter crop. Closing prices showed a net decline of 7-8c to 1c. Corn finished 1-8c to 3-8c down, oats unchanged to a shade off and provisions varying from 2 1-2c lower to an advance of 12 1-2c.

The Liverpool market closed yesterday to ½d lower on wheat, and ¼d to ½d lower to ½d lower on wheat, and ¼d to ½d lower, Budapest ⅝c lower.

Montreal Grain and Produce.

MONTREAL, Sept. 3.—The demand from foreign buyers for new crop Manitoba spring wheat was good and as bids were in line sales of a number of loads were made late Saturday and this morning, but owing to the continued weakness in the Winnipeg market late cables today came 7½d per quarter lower, and the demand even at this reduction was much quieter. The demand for old crop oats continued good, and a fair amount of business was done. The local market is very firm. There was a good enquiry for new crop spring wheat flour from European sources and bids for some round lots were received, which may result in business. The local trade is steady under a fair demand for small lots. An active trade continues to be done in bran and shorts. Butter is strong at an advance of ⅛c to ¼c, with a good business doing. Local stocks estimated at 115,000 packages, of which considerable is held for western account. Cheese rather quiet but strong, with prices ⅛c to ¼c higher. Local stocks 150,000 boxes, of which fully 100,000 are held for English account. Exports last week were 81,965 boxes, against 46,244 for the same week last year. Eggs active and firm. Provisions steady.

Kidneys Wrong?—

If they are you are in danger. When through weakness or disease the kidneys fail to filter the impurities from the blood, trouble comes at once. Backache, Rheumatism, Sciatica, Gravel, Diabetes, Gall Stones and the deadly Bright's Disease are some of the results of neglected kidneys. Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills contain a most effective diuretic which strengthens and stimulates the kidneys so that they do their work thoroughly and well. Try

DAMES AND DAUGHTERS.

Miss Mary Woods of the Brooklyn navy yard cuts the patterns for all the flags made there. She has been making flags for the government for more than thirty years.

Miss Cornelia Bentley Sage, appointed director pro tem. of the famous Albright art gallery in Buffalo on the death of the director of the museum, has been remarkably successful, and her position is now permanent.

Senora de Cueva, wife of the first secretary of the Mexican embassy at Washington, sings old Spanish and Mexican ballads with much feeling. She not only has a voice of unusual range, but is a composer of note.

Miss Julia C. Lathrop of Chicago, an associate of Jane Addams in the work at Hull House, a member of the Illinois board of charity and a graduate and trustee of Vassar college, has been appointed by President Taft as chief of the new children's bureau in the department of commerce and labor.

Mrs. Edgar F. Luckenbach, one of the seventeen graduates at the recent exercises of the Woman's Law college of New York university, is the wife of a millionaire steamship man. She has gained quite a reputation as a yachtswoman and has won several trophies by her prowess at the wheel of a racing yacht.

QUEER BANK CHECKS.

Drawn on Wood and Other Things, but They Got the Money.

There is a bank clerk in a western city who has for years indulged a hobby for collecting bank checks drawn on queer articles. There hang about this clerk's desk a torn linen collar, a piece of lath, a cuff and various other objects used for the purpose of drawing money from the bank.

Each of these has a story. The clerk began his collection with a piece of lath. This was honored by the bank for $250. It was made into a check by the owner of a sawmill, who, with his son, was at the plant with no check book. The money was needed to pay the hands. The sawmill man wrote on the lath just what a check correctly drawn would bear and sent his son to the bank to get the money and explain. The lath check was honored after some discussion among the bank officers.

The cuff check was drawn by an actor who while intoxicated had engaged in fisticuffs with a fellow Thespian and had been arrested. He was treated cavalierly in his cell. As he could obtain no paper, he bribed a boy to take his cuff check to a bank. In due course the player received his money and paid his fine.

If one carries a good account it is probable that his bank will honor his check, even if drawn in a freaky way, but as a general thing they are loath to encourage that sort of procedure.—Exchange.

A Spoon Insult.

The etiquette of eating was formerly simpler, because the number of table implements was smaller. Sir Charles Murray (born in 1806) states in his "Reminiscences" that dessert spoons were unknown in the days of his youth, and people scraped along very comfortably with only teaspoons and tablespoons. When dessert spoons were invented Hamilton Place, the seat of Sir Charles' uncle, was among the first households in Scotland to adopt them, and a small laird invited to dine there was both astonished and disgusted to find one of the new fashioned spoons handed to him with the sweets. "What for do you gie me this?" he inquired of the footman. "Do ye think ma mooth has got ony smaller since I fangit ma soup?"—London Chronicle.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

CURE

Sick Headache and relieve all the troubles incident to a bilious state of the system, such as Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Distress after eating, Pain in the Side, &c. While their most remarkable success has been shown in curing

THE JEWS OF LONDON

THE YIDDISH QUARTER IS HOME OF A RACE APART.

The Wealthy Hebrew Soon Enters Into English Ways, But the Everyday Inhabitant of the Ghetto Does All His Chaffering on the Streets and Lives a Primitive Oriental Sort of Existence.

The London Ghetto is a world of its own. If you would know how Jews work and play, and pray and read and drink, marry and rear children—dozens of children—it is in the near East, between Aldgate and Stepney, Leman street and Brick lane you must linger. Hereabouts live all the real workaday Jews; in Maida Vale and Park lane and Piccadilly there are but the simulacra.

The Jews has not yet learnt to be both a good Jew and a man of substance, with a stake in the country, all at once, though the Jew of Park lane and him of Petticoat lane have a connecting link in their common physiognomy and their common language, for Yiddish still remains a "lingua franca" among all Jews. However wealthy and exalted his station, every Jew understands the meaning, though he may have lost the wit to practice Jewish "chine."

Wentworth street, running from Middlesex street to Commercial street, is the shopping centre of the district. Here will be found such delicacies as pickled herrings and Dutch pickled cucumbers, olives, "stuffed monkeys," bolas, and the inevitable stacks of cold fried fish. The Ghetto thirst seems mainly relieved by lemons; at least, every "Greener" who can find no immediate trade starts life by selling "vine lemons, dree a penny," in the Lane.

There is nothing depressing, externally, at all events, about the Ghetto. The main thoroughfares, Whitechapel, Mile End road, Commercial road, are fine, broad avenues, some flanked with trees, and even the narrow off streets are gayer than most poor districts, because poor Jews delight in the outdoor life. Like all simple, primitive peoples, the Jews exalt their daily provisioning and work—in so far as the modern factory system permits it—into a sort of festival. There is no fun in telephoning to your fish-monger to send the best salmon in the shop.

But the Jewish matron, with threepence to spend on a piece of hake or haddock, can pass from one barrow to another probing with skilled finger the freshness of the article, chaffering with the vendor about the price and quality of his wares. You will see her in Wentworth street wrinkling her eyebrows with scorn when fish is bad and dear, her pupils dilating in joy when she gets a bargain.

By going into the open market you can one day bring home little octagonal Russian rolls, or a loaf with its twist and poppy seeds, or rye-bread, or sweet-bread, as the fancy takes you. 'Tis a pleasant two hours; whilst you have had gossip with your neighbors you have got the best of a hardened coster and you have provided a jolly good dinner for the children returning home from school.

As soon as the air gets a little warm in this rather dampish country, at nearly every door an old lady, her days for marketing over, will be found seated on the step blinking in the sun, holding the skirts of her young grandchild and shrieking to those a year or so older to come off the roadway. Whenever possible the Jew prefers to transact his business in the street; not only in the Ghetto will you see him buying and selling, haggling, talking and gesticulating on the pavement; he carries this trait to the higher life of a diamond merchant in Hatton Garden or a broker in Throgmorton street.

The standing offence to the orthodox, fresh from Russia, is the palatial building in Middlesex street, the Jewish Board of Guardians, established in 1859 in Devonshire square to give relief to the "strange poor" by the granting of loans.

The board has now an income of over $350,000; its activities are split up into a large number of committees; there are loan committees and distress committees, apprenticeship committees, sanitary committees. And yet to the poor real Jew it is as heartrending to apply to "The Board" for help as is elsewhere an appeal to the workhouse.

Not that the poor Jew has any silly scruples about accepting money from richer people. That he confidently regards as their business; the Jewish beggar, the "Schnorrer," is an institution, as readers of Mr. Zangwill's books will know.

The following anecdote is a typical instance of the combined wit and impudence of the Jewish beggar; a Schnorrer demanded of a rich Jew the money for a visit to Ostend, the doctor having told him that sea baths would do him good. The wealthy man rather demurred. Ostend was an expensive place; could not he go somewhere a little cheaper? "Sir," replied the Schnorrer with dignity, "where my health is concerned I never consider the expense."

The Jew does not understand class distinction; one man is rich and another is poor, God has so ordained it. But wealth does not give a man a better understanding of the Talmud or a better heart. The poor Jew expects the rich one to eat better—and more—and his wife and children to have finer clothes, jewels — that is a sensible and proper way to spend the money.

But at "the Board" the poor Jew is made to feel that he is of another class. Fresh from Russia, foodless, suffering, he begs at the Board in the name of God for meat and succour. He is repulsed by a gorgeously uniformed porter, and told that formal application must be made. Visitors came to investigate his case. Does the man deserve charity? Are the children hungry enough? the man sick enough?

The total bonded indebtedness of Coleman is $2,000. The property in that town is assessed at $448,350.

NO MORE DANDRUFF OR FALLING HAIR

Parisian Sage is Your Friend. Use it and All Hair and Scalp Troubles Quickly Go.

No poisonous sugar or lead—no sulphur—no dye in PARISIAN SAGE.

The cleanest, daintiest, most refreshing and delightful hair tonic in the world is PARISIAN Sage. If you do not use it you are daily missing a glorious treat. It is simply splendid for men, women and children. It is sold at drug and toilet goods counters for only 50 cents a large bottle. Ask for PARISIAN Sage for your own protection. The girl with the Auburn Hair is on every carton and bottle.

PARISIAN Sage drives out all dandruff and stops hair from falling in two weeks. It stops itching scalp in 12 hours.

It is a hair nourisher and promptly puts life, luster and beauty into dull faded and ill-looking hair.

Hugh D. McKinnon of Brantford, Ont., writes—"I consider PARISIAN Sage the best preparation for the cure of dandruff, falling hair and itching scalp that I have ever used. It is an excellent hair tonic and dressing and I shall always be pleased to highly recommend PARISIAN Sage."

Wm. Madill guarantees it.

September an Ideal Month

In the Algonquin National Park of Ontario the month of September is one of the most beautiful of the year. The "Highland Inn" situated on Cache Lake 2,000 feet above sea level offers all the comforts one may desire at reasonable rates. The region is a natural playground of over 2,000,000 acres, and those who love nature and the wild things that live in her confines can enjoy themselves to their hearts content. Algonquin Park Station where the "Highland Inn" is situated is only 168 miles west of Ottawa and 200 miles north of Toronto. For any one whose nerves are troublesome, or through over work need a rest, or whose health is run down, there is not a more delightful place in America. Write to Mr. Wm. Gall, Manager, The "Highland Inn," Algonquin Park, Ont., for all particulars and illustrated booklet.

PIONEER PREACHERS.

Those of Missouri's Early Days Had to Be Expert Riflemen.

Nearly every pioneer preacher in Missouri was as expert in the use of the rifle as any of the laymen. Services were usually held in a neighbor's cabin. Notice of a "meeting" was promptly and generally circulated, and the settlers attended, uniformly bringing their rifles to guard against possible surprises or to obtain game on the way to or from the service.

The pioneer preachers labored without money and without price. They gained their substance, as did their neighbors, by the rifle and by their daily toil in the clearings and the cornfields.

The Rev. Justinian Williams, Methodist, and the Rev. Peyton Nowlin and the Rev. Thomas Kinney, Baptists, were the first preachers in Saline county. They preached on Edmonson's creek and in the Big Bottom. "Old Ban Nowlin," as he was called, was a sedate gentleman, dry as to manners and sermons, but with a kind heart and good intention.

His colleague, Kinney, however, was of a jovial disposition and very popular. He was without literary attainments, but invariably provoked his congregation to laughter. Nowlin took him to task upon one occasion for his levity. Kinney answered:

"Well, I'd rather preach to laughing devils than to sleepy ones, as you do. You make them sleep, and I make them laugh. My congregations will pass yours on the road to heaven. I bet you a coonskin they will."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

The Captured Poet.

I was singing the joys of rural life,
Sweet as a song may be,
But the farmer came
And spelled my name,
And 'twas plowing time for me.

I sang of the river's music
As it rolled to the ocean great,
But the fisherman came,
My song to blame,
And put me to digging bait.

So I fled to the stormy city
With many a weary sigh,
And I'm singing now
Where no poets plow—
Fifteen stories high.

Frank Stevens, of Windsor, was charged with vagrancy and pleaded guilty. He was discharged and given a chance to work.

HEAR THE MIND READING SONG

Harry Bulger, who comes here as the star in an entire new edition of "The Flirting Princess", is original to a degree. He is constantly creating new, unique and novel ideas and spectacular surprises. His latest is a big second sight or mind reading song number, which he intends shortly to introduce in "The Flirting Princess." The ladies of the audience on entering the theatre at each performance are handed small pads of paper, with the request that they write a question they would care to have answered, concealing the piece of paper about their person. During the second act the questions asked are sung by the chorus, and the answer to each question given in the song.

Another pet idea of Bulger's is to advertise his show by means of motion pictures, showing in advance of the dates he is to appear in each city, at the different theatres, scenes from "The Flirting Princess," having the regular house orchestra play the Adams, Hough and Howard selections appropriate to each scene and situation, as it may occur on the pictures from this popular musical comedy. Mayor Bradburn Asks for Names But Ald. Morgan is Silent— Another Conference With Hon. Adam Beck under Arrangement—Ald. Gordon Believes Time Has Come For a Frank Statement to the People.

If a conference can be arranged, the City Council, or a deputation, will wait upon Hon. Adam Beck to secure the latest information regarding Hydro-Electric power for Peterborough.

Ald. Gordon brought up the question last night before the council, and stated that he had been met by several citizens who sought information as to the situation.

He argued that a frank statement should now be made to the people who were interested.

Ald. Morgan spoke along the same lines. "There are people on the streets who can quote the prices of Mr. Beck for power to Peterborough," said the east ward alderman.

Ald. Morgan, however, balked when asked by the Mayor to supply the names of those people.

"Give me one name," urged the Mayor but Ald. Morgan refused.

"If he has, he has what I haven't got," returned His Worship.

Ald. Morgan said he believed Hon. Mr. Beck was disgusted with the Council and he further said that the people should be told what had been offered.

This was deemed unwise on account of the strong competitive forces lined up for action.

Ald. Morgan—"Submit a by-law at what he has given us. I think its good enough."

Ald. Johnston urged that the Council go in a body and interview Mr. Beck, or arrange for a meeting in Peterborough.

After some further consideration of the question, the Mayor said he would call up Mr. Beck to-day and arrange for a meeting.

ANOTHER MOVE IN THE PAVING PROPOSITION

(TENDERS TO BE ASKED FOR)

Moved by Ald. Duffus seconded by Ald. Gordon that the City Engineer be authorized to ask for tenders for the construction of concrete pavements on Chambers street and on Hunter street, between Park street and Belmont avenue.—Carried.

This motion was the culmination of a discussion last night on street paving, which Ald. Gordon commenced by asking if the paving proposition had been abandoned. He was informed that the poles remained in the way.

"Was there anything to indicate that the poles would be moved?" Ald. Gordon also asked.

The Mayor replied that a settlement of this question was being sought for. The power question too had something to do with the matter.

"Well I'd chop them down," remarked Ald. Johnston in all earnestness. "It's ridiculous that a municipality has not the power to go ahead with local improvements."

It was pointed out that permission would have to be asked before the Railway Board, and that might be extended to the Privy Council.

"Are you prepared to pay $350 to have those eleven poles removed?" asked the Mayor.

Ald. Morgan replied that he would move in that direction.

"We may have to pay the same sum to get the other three removed," said Ald. Duffus, in voicing his protest against such a move.

The discussion was brought to a close with the understanding that the Mayor would take up the question again with the companies.

In regard to paving, His Worship told of an offer from the Canada Cement Co., who would supply a man free of charge to supervise the work. The company is a firm believer in cement pavements and recognize the importance of having the pavement done properly. This offer is open to any municipality.

CITY MUST PAY SHARE OF COST AND MAINTENANCE

"WE'RE SOAKED" SAYS ALD. GORDON

Some time ago, a certain citizen wrote the Chairman of the Railway Board, in regard to protection on the G. T. R. crossings at King and Sherbrooke streets.

The next move was a sitting of the Board in this city, and an order to the railway company to install gates.

At the meeting last night, a letter was read from the company's solicitor to the effect that the city must pay 10 per cent. of the cost, and maintenance of the gates at Sherbrooke street, and 15 per cent. for King street.

Ald. Johnston couldn't figure out why the people should be made pay for their own protection.

"We're soaked," was the blunt manner in which Ald. Gordon expressed himself.

NEW GENERAL SECRETARY FOR YOUNG WOMEN'S ASSOCIATION

Miss Mary McCalla, who for the last four years has been fulfilling the duties of general secretary for the Y.W.C.A., of this city, has resigned. She is being succeeded by Mrs. J. W. Grey of New York City, a sister of Mr. Ferguson, Classical Master at the High School. Mrs. Grey has had wide experience in Y.W.C.A. and college work in the States, and comes to the city highly recommended. The latest position held by her before coming to Peterborough was the principalship of Alma College for Girls at St. Thomas.

An assistant secretary has been added to the staff. This position will be occupied by Miss Grey, who is a graduate of McGill University in the Department of Science. Miss Grey has been an active worker in social and church circles, and also had experience in Y.W.C.A. work.

The prospectus for the winter season for the local Y.W.C.A. will be out shortly.

WHAT THE WEATHERMAN GAVE IN AUGUST

Unseasonably cool, with a large number of rainy days, were the chief characteristics of the weather for August.

The highest the thermometer went during August, was 83 degrees, on the 13th, and it reached 80 only two other days, (the 14th and 25th.) The lowest was on the morning of the 30th, with 39 degrees. There was a heavy white frost that morning. The lowest day temperature was on the 24th; the highest reached that day being 58 degrees. The following day (Sunday) was one of the warmest days of the month, the thermometer rising to 81 degrees, a rise of 23 degrees, most of which occurred during the night—a most unusual occurrence. The average daily temperature of the month was about five degrees below the usual figure.

The rainfall for the month was 3.66 inches. Rain fell on 15 days, the heaviest being on the 9th, 1.26 of an inch. There were 6 thunderstorms.

Although the weather has been cold and wet locally, the same conditions have prevailed generally all over the Dominion, in some places to an even greater extent than here.

No records for heat are being broken this summer. On only two days has 90 degrees been reached. The warmest day was July 10th, with 91 degrees.—W. P.

Rain yesterday ended a hot spell in Chicago, which claimed six lives since Saturday.

DIED ON THE MORNING OF HIS SISTER'S FUNERAL

Rev. W. S. Jamieson Passed Away Suddenly at Guelph —His Sister the Late Miss Ellen Smith Was Buried at Little Lake Cemetery This Morning.

Special to The Review.

Guelph, Sept. 4.—Rev. W. S. Jamieson pastor of the Methodist church at Palmerston, Ont., died suddenly this morning.

He was formerly stationed at Hespler, Hamilton, Welland, Brantford, Niagara-on-the-Lake and Tara.

Rev. Mr. Jamieson was a brother to the late Miss Ellen Smith, whose funeral took place from the residence of Mr. W. A. Fife, Division street, this morning, the remains having been brought here last night from Windermere, Muskoka.

A Review representaive called at Mr Fife's residence this afternoon and gave him the first news of the reverend gentleman's death. He was so overcome by the sad news that further information was not asked.

ALL COVERED SKATING RINKS (ROLLER RINK INCLUDED) MUST PAY $100 LICENSE

"Is there any license fee for the roller rink?" asked Ald Gordon at the City Council meeting last night, as the aldermen discussed the moving picture houses.

He was told the roller rink went free.

"Then I'll move that a by-law be prepared providing for a fee of $100 on the skating rink."

"Is it rather far fetched?" queried Ald Morgan.

After some discussion Ald. Gordon amended his motion to read "all covered skating rinks."

Ald Johnston held that the roller rink, skating, baseball and similar sports were classed as athletics, and it was hardly fair to tax such.

Ald. Anderson—I think the rink should pay a license. It has been more or less of a nuisance for years.

Ald. Morgan—The only objection was to the organ.

Mayor Bradburn—No, they complained beyond that.

Ald. Duffus—I can't see where you get a distinction between the theatres and the rink. They are both earning powers.

Ald. Gordon's motion was seconded by Ald. Anderson and passed

ALMOST A REPETITION OF (HORSE AND VEHICLE SUFFER) CONCESSION ST. ACCIDENT

Dr. King claims $7 from the city, as compensation for injuries to his horse and damages to his vehicle, the result of a mishap, which, he says, resulted when his horse frightened at the cement mixer and other property of the city, which were placed on Charlotte street.

This is a similar case to that of Mr. G. W. Hatton, who met with an accident on Concession street and was awarded damages against the city.

If payment is not made, Dr. King will take action to recover damages.

After the accident to Mr. Hatton, the council, in clear language, made it plain that, when operations were in progress in any street, that thoroughfare should be closed to traffic.

Now, the council will endeavor to find out who was negligent, and the matter goes before the Board of Works.

NO MORE DUMPING AT GOOSE POND

If the Sanitary Inspector's Recommendation is Approved.

Sanitary Inspector Spence wrote the City Council last night, recommending that the council prohibit the dumping of any kind of material along the bank known as Goose Pond, and further, that, as the period of engagement of the man at the dump at the foot of Charlotte street, had expired, he be re-engaged. The average dumping at this latter place is 17 1-2 loads daily.

The Inspector noted that the garbage collector had appeared in police court, and also that carters and different people dumped material at Goose Pond.

The Property Committee will deal with the communication.

THE WEED CROP LARGE

The Use of the Scythe by Citizens May Become Compulsory

Good afternoon Mr. Citizen, have you harvested your weed crop?

The generous display of weeds about the city, formed the subject of a short discussion by the City Council last night.

There are statutes which define the position of property owners as regards weeds, but as the aldermen were not altogether conversant with the provisions, it was decided that the information should be secured and used to advantage at another meeting.

There was a general feeling that the weeds should be cut, but then it would appear that the city is as big a transgresser as the citizens, there being some beautiful crops on city property.

INDEPENDENT FORESTERS

Those at the Independent Order of Foresters' tent on the Exhibition Grounds have lots to tell of the benefits of membership, and a visit to Society Row should be profitable to anyone looking into fraternal insurance. Many Foresters have already called and entered their names on the roll-book at the I.O.F. headquarters.

It is most interesting to meet the many friends and hear them speak of their enthusiasm towards the Order, and hear how delighted they are with the wonderful achievements that the Hon. E. G. Stevenson, their Supreme Chief Ranger, has made.

A most interesting story is told by the many members of the great comfort that is brought to the homes through their orphanage branch, they having under their care over seven hundred fatherless little children. Nearly fifty of these children are being cared for, educated and clothed at the Orphans' Home, a most beautiful spot, where every comfort is given them. Some of their children have proved to be the brightest scholars in the whole county of Halton. One of their boys, who was left without father or mother when seven years of age, has received his schooling and care at the Orphanage, and he has been able to win the honors of the whole county. The members are naturally proud of their children, and it makes one feel good to hear them boast of that great work, and that work itself should appeal to the many people who have not yet interested themselves in the work that the Independent Order of Foresters are doing. It is worth a man's time and money to interest himself in such a grand and noble work.

Another branch of the Order, and a very important one, is their Sanatoriums, they having one erected in the Adirondack Mountains, where they have treated over one hundred and seven patients. This treatment is given to the members free of cost; every comfort is granted the patient, and none of the expense is taken from his sick benefits, which he is entitled to receive during the time he is afflicted. No wonder that the members of the Independent Order of Foresters are so enthusiastic, when they are engaged in such a missionary work.

A hearty invitation is tendered every Forester on the Fair rounds to make a visit to this tent, where they will receive a most cordial welcome and have every question answered regarding the workings of the institution.

FINANCES OF HAMILTON BALL CLUB IN GOOD CONDITION

Hamilton, Sept. 4.—With the closing of the Canadian League season of 1912 the directors can afford to look back on the past season with a great deal of satisfaction. Financially the Hamilton club has had a great year, and prospects are that the drafting season will see the promotion of several of the players with profit to the local club's coffers. Next year there will be practically a new team on the field, and in their new home the members of the club should make big money. Britannia Park will be remodelled by the Alert Club, the new owners of it, and work has been commenced on the new steel and concrete stands that will seat 4,000 people.

RETURNING half cent mile to Winnipeg, plus $18.00 to destination in Eastern Canada.

GOING DATES.

AUG. 23rd—From all stations north of but not including Main Line, Toronto to Sarnia Tunnel, via Stratford; all stations Toronto and north and east of Toronto to Kingston and Renfrew.

AUG. 28th—From all stations Toronto and east, and east of Orillia and Scotia Junction.

AUG. 30th—From all stations Toronto to North Bay, inclusive, and west thereof in Ontario.

This is an exceptional chance for young men to visit the west, which is truly called the land of "Golden Opportunities," as many prosperous farmers and business men now residing in Western Canada can trace the origin of their good fortune to a "Farm Laborers' Excursion." The route via Chicago is an attractive one, as many large cities and towns are passed en route, which breaks the monotony of the journey, as there is something new to see all the time.

AGRICULTURE IN RURAL SCHOOLS

The work conducted by the Department of Agriculture this year in the rural schools of the Province of Ontario, marks a new era in the development of agricultural education. Many attempts have been made to introduce agriculture in the rural schools to prevent the exodus from the farms and to increase production, but these, unfortunately, have been largely unsuccessful. The new plan is based on the idea of vocational education, whereby those pupils who intend being farmers, will be trained directly in their life work.

The work has been started in eight schools in the County of Peterborough, four in each riding. Seeds of various varieties of crops and flowers have been distributed to the boys and girls of these schools, who are now exhibiting their best samples in competition for prizes, to be shown at the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition, Sept. 12, 13 and 14. The exhibit will be held in a large tent erected on the grounds and is open to everyone.

It is planned to largely extend this work next year, and all school teachers and trustees are especially invited to consult with the representatives in charge of the exhibit. As a matter of interest the prize list includes the following:

GIRLS.

1. Samples of six Apples (any variety.)
2. Cut Flowers of distributed varieties (one bouquet.)
3. Interest and care of plot during summer.
4. Best arranged Bouquet of Flowers (any variety.)

SCHOOL.

1. Collection of Weeds, mounted and named.
2. Collection Weed Seeds named.
3. Best school exhibit.

BOYS.

1. Sheaf of Wheat, 1 1-2 ft. dia. at band.
2. Sheaf of Oats 1 1-2 ft. in dia. at band.
3. Sheaf of Barley 1 1-2 ft. in dia. at band.
4. Sample of six apples, any variety.
5. Peck of Potatoes from school plot.
6. Pint of Beans from school plot.
7. Six cobs of Corn from school plot.
8. Interest and care of plot during summer.

All articles for exhibition must be delivered at the respective schools not later than Wednesday, September 11th. Appropriate prizes (probably not money) will be awarded in each class.

BEAUTIFUL EYES

are made beautiful by long, silky lashes and well defined, lustrous brows. Eyes, like diamonds, depend on their setting. The beauties of the face are lost if the eye brows are thin and scanty, and the lashes are thin and scanty. Parisian Lash Lustre grows beautiful, soft, silky lashes. It has done so for society women throughout Europe, and it comes here well recommended to do the same for you. Parisian Lash Lustre is not a dye or colorator, but a scientific preparation for beautifying the eye lashes and brows. Our guarantee goes with every box of Parisian Lash Lustre. A two weeks' treatment will bring beauty to your eyes that you have never before possessed. By mail, prepaid, in opal boxes on receipt of price, fifty cents. B. V. Canadian National Exhibition

Persons intending visiting the Canadian National Exhibition, Toronto, can procure from any agent of the C.P.R., copy of the official program booklet, which contains train service, hotel information, and principal attractions at the Exhibition.

The management of the Exhibition has put forth every effort to make this year the grandest in the history of the Fair, and the attractions are of the very highest standard. The public should take advantage of the low rates offered by the Canadian Pacific to see the "Imperial Year" of this splendid exhibition. 3d

YOU CAN BE ABSOLUTELY SURE OF VALUES

If you carefully read the store advertisements and follow them in your buying.

Merchants advertise certain lines because they know these lines will advertise their stores. Because there is something about certain goods, they are put in conspicuous places and the people are told about them. It may be the exclusiveness or newness of design, it may be an unusual quality, it may be an attractive price.

But there is at least one definite, sure reason why a merchant advertises an article and is willing to stake the reputation of his store upon it.

Therefore, when you see an article advertised in THE REVIEW, depend upon it, that article is good value, as good value as can be obtained in that particular store.

POSITION OF FIRE CHIEF

Acts With the Mayor and Chairman in Matters of Dismissal or Employment.

4. That clause (l) of section 7 of By-law, No. 1039 being a By-law, to provide for the government of the Fire Department, be amended to provide that the Chief shall have power to suspend any member of the department, and upon doing so shall immediately report to the chairman and such suspension shall be confirmed or disallowed by the Mayor and Chairman, and that he shall, with the approval of the Mayor and Chairman first obtained, have authority to discharge any members of the department and shall have authority to employ members of the department, but every member so employed shall not be retained more than two weeks without the approval of the chairman.

So read the report of the Fire, Water and Light Committee last night at Council.

Ald. Johnston—"What's the object?

Mayor Bradburn — "Because the committee thought it would work out better."

Ald. Johnston— "I don't think so. It worked all right when I was chairman."

Ald. Johnston wondered why there should be so many changes made.

Ald. Morgan—"Let him, (the chief) hire and fire without the mayor and chairman."

Ald. Anderson—"The idea is simply to make it less cumbersome in dealing with the men."

Ald. Duncan —"The Fire Chief should have full control."

"Yes, give him full control," added Ald. Morgan.

Mayor Bradburn—"Why you were one of the aldermen who moved last year, to take it out of the Chief's hands. Why do you change?"

Ald. Morgan—"I've come to the conclusion that he can run the Council the Fire Department, etc., etc."

Finally the report was adopted as read.

Ald. Gillespie, the chairman was absent, and the report was read by Ald. Gordon.

THE STORY OF A MISSING WHEEL

A case has come up that involves a point of law and order. A workman left his wheel in the shed of a yard off Water street. At noon when he sought the wheel to make for dinner it was gone. He laid complaint to the police—wheel stolen. When he returned from dinner the wheel was there. Hastened to withdraw complaint. Found the wheel had been borrowed by one of the police. Question. What is the position and privilege of the police in such a matter? Logically, the officer should arrest himself and pay his own fine.

CITY DADS INCREASE THE PICTURE SHOW FEE TO $75

(NOTHING EXTRA FOR VAUDEVILLE)

The recommendation of the Finance Committee, that the moving picture house license be increased to $75 passed the Council last night. While the question of boosting the price, of providing for an extra license, for those houses giving vaudeville entertainment as an extra attraction, came up in the general discussion, no action was taken.

Ald. Gordon took up the cause for the picture men, and moved that the fee be increased only to $50, with an additional fee for vaudeville. He said that one proprietor informed him that the cost of operating was $24 per day. Ald Gordon contended the shows provided for a class of people who probably could not afford other entertainment. "Far better, it seems to me," he remarked, "for boys and girls to put their time in there than in pool rooms and other places a danger to their morals."

Ald. Morgan—To my mind they have a little gold mine. The Red Mill man charges 10 cents on Saturdays and holidays. If he will stay at 5 cents, give him the license at $50; if he raises to 10 cents charge him $75 or higher.

"There are a great many people here not making money," contended Ald. Duffus, "because of high licenses and high rents." He did not favor increasing the licenses.

Ald. Anderson connected the failures at school with "too much of this stuff."

Ald Gordon's amendment was lost on vote, the report passing as read.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Reynolds of 670 Gilchrist street, have returned from their trip to Rochester and Batavia coming by way of the Toronto Exhibition. Their niece, Miss Etta McDonald of Rochester, returned with them.

C.G.E. CHAMPIONS ON EXHIBITION

The three trophies won by the C.G.E. football team in 1910, 1911, and 1912 are now on exhibition in the window of Yeotes Bros.' tobacco store. A large group photo by Orme is also exhibited.

SOME MORE BIG POTATOES

Mrs. Jas. W. Lillico, of 379 Homewood Avenue, brought a potato to the Review office to-day, which eclipses the one grown by Mrs. R. Freeburn, by one quarter of a pound, it weighing 1 3-4 lbs.

Mrs. Lillico also informed the Review that two 1 1-2 lb potatoes were grown in the same hill.

WITH THE CITY FATHERS

The City Council has on hand several offers for the preparation of plans and specifications for the outlet sewer, which the Township of Otonabee and Monaghan ask for in order that the pollution of the Otonabee River would be stopped, and the whole question of a sewerage system will come up at a special meeting.

The Council recognizes that prompt action is necessary to protect the city from legal proceedings.

The Romaine street sewer was flushed out last Saturday, a pressure of 160 lbs. being used by the fire engine.

The sewer on Aylmer street, south of Romaine street, will have to be repaired. The Board of Works is doing everything possible to get the the sewer in this part of the city in working order.

Burnham street is in bad repair, in fact one East City resident is said by Ald. Morgan, to have remarked that an automobile in which he was riding, came close to being buried in the mud. The Board of Works will likely look into this matter. The heavy rains of course are to a large extent responsible.

Ald Duffus and Johnston will be a committee to look into the question of widening Babb's Lane, and providing for a street from Bolivar to Patterson.

Peck, Kerr and McElderry communicated with the Council last night asking for consideration of Mr. I. Eastwood's position in regard to his new building on Hunter street. The Council recently decided that Mr. Eastwood should change the building to conform with the by-law, and last night refused to take any further action.

The Fire Chief and his chairman have been invited to the 4th convention of Provincial Fire Chiefs, to be held at Woodstock. The committee will decide whether or not the invitation will be accepted.

There is a gutter in front of the Salvation Army Temple, which Capt. Watkinson asks to have filled up. Permission to have two trees removed is also asked for. The Board of Works will decide.

The Board of Works will also deal with the question of repairing Wolseley street as asked for by the Township of Smith.

The plans of a property of Goheen Bros., which provides for a laneway, were approved by Council.

HIGH COST OF LIVING

Duke of Connaught Gives an Opinion at Red Deer

Special to The Review.

Red Deer, Alta., Sept. 5.—In reply to the address of welcome, this morning, the Duke of Connaught expressed the opinion that mixed farming should play a larger part in the prosperity of the country, and only by its development could the cost of living be kept within bounds.

THE TEMPERANCE PEOPLE ACTIVE

Forces Hold Executive Meeting at Toronto Exhibition

Toronto, Sept. 5.—There will be about seventy-five local option contests in municipalities throughout Ontario this fall. Such was the report made at a meeting of the executive committee of the Ontario branch of the Dominion Alliance at the Exhibition grounds yesterday afternoon.

The report of the campaign committee was presented by Rev. Dr. J. H. Hazelwood. It showed that the field work of the alliance for the entire autumn had been mapped out covering the following nineteen counties and two cities: New Ontario, Peel, Kent and Dundas, Essex, Prince Edward, Perth, Welland, Simcoe, Lambton, Huron, Stormont, Glengarry, Prescott, Russell, Victoria and Haliburton, Haldimand, Bruce, Middlesex, and London and Toronto.

Besides the seventy-five places in which fights will be waged, there are about two hundred and sixty localities in which voting might take place, but in many of these it is impossible to get the temperance people into the ring. There are over two hundred possible repeal contests this year, but it is likely that in fully ninety per cent. of these no effort will be made by the liquor interests.

Theron Gibson reported that the finances of the Alliance were in a healthy condition, but assistance was needed from the friends of temperance throughout the province for the proper sustenance of the big campaign contemplated this fall.

The matter of law enforcement was discussed, being introduced by Controller J. O. McCarthy. A lively discussion followed, which brought out the fact that the whole question of getting good results from local option bylaws lay in the adequate enforcement of the liquor laws. The Alliance will ask that even better results in the carrying out of the license bylaws be secured by the inspectors.

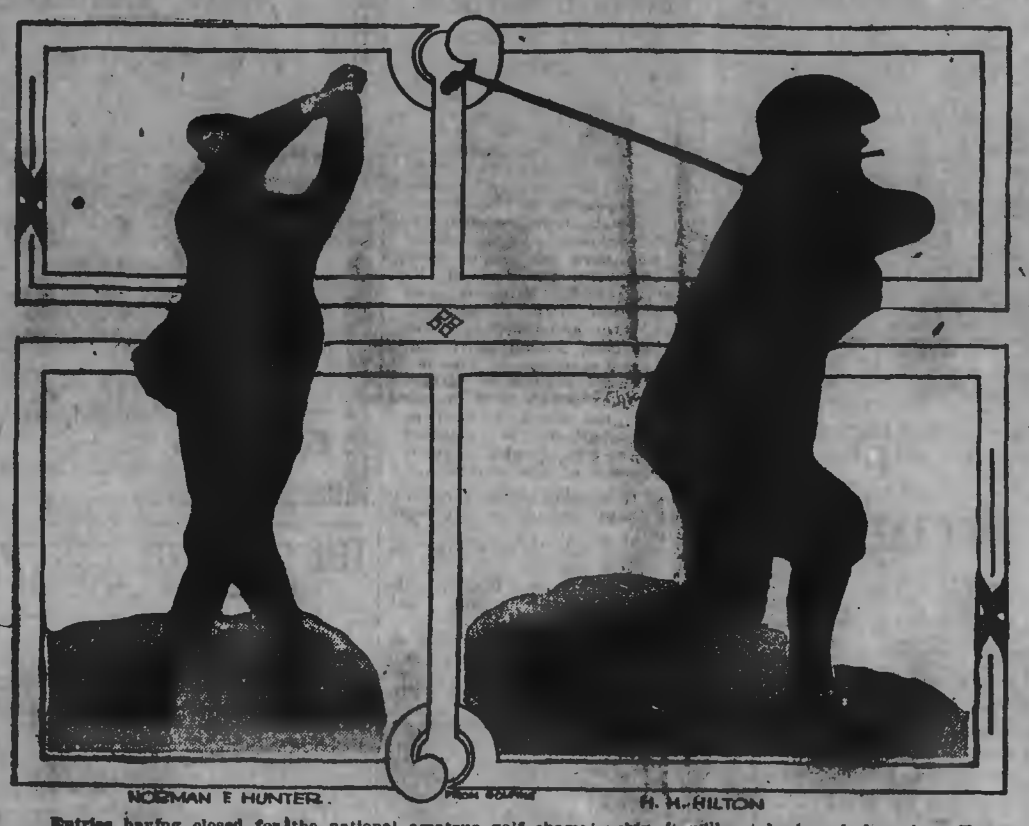
FOUND DYING NEAR SANITARIUM

St. Catharines, Sept. 5.—Peter McCullen, coremaker in the McKinnon Dash Factory, was found lying in a dying condition on the roadway leading to the local consumptive sanitarium by Dr. Sheehan yesterday morning. The doctor carried him to the sanitarium, where he expired a short time afterwards.

McCullen had been in the sanitarium till last Saturday when he left apparently much improved. His illness evidently returned, and the poor fellow was returning to hospital when he collapsed.

His wife is said to reside in Toronto, where Thomas McCullen, a brother, resides.

BRITISH PLAYERS WHO WILL BE FACTORS IN NATIONAL GOLF PLAY



NORMAN F HUNTER. H. H. HILTON

Entries having closed for the national amateur golf championship, it will not be long before those Eastern players are hurrying West for preliminary practice. In this respect the Western open championship at Flossmoor will serve a useful purpose, while the Olympic team competition at Wheaton will have a corresponding value. Representatives of all the leading associations are expected to take part in this competition, and, as these players will be the pick of their several districts, it is not unlikely that the amateur champion of 1912 will be found to have taken a hand in settling the destination of the Olympic trophy.

This, of course, is provided that one or other of the British entrants, Harold H. Hilton or Norman F. Hunter, shall not upset the calculations.

Two Shot at Sharivari.

Kingston, Sept. 5.—When a shotgun exploded at a charivari party at Wolfe Island yesterday, Francis Baker and William Kiell, two young men, were seriously injured. They are now in the Hotel Dieu, but will recover.

Miss Shea, daughter of Michael Shea, was married to James Barry, both being well known islanders, and by the way of a send-off Baker and Kiell used the rifle. Doctors are busy with the X-ray locating the shot. One received 13 shots in the shoulder and the other 12 in the head.

BIG VOTE AGAINST

Special to The Review.

Newport, Eng., Sept. 5.—Compulsory arbitration of trade disputes is strongly opposed by British Trade Unionists, who to-day at the Trades Union Congress cast an overwhelming vote against the adoption of the principle.

$200 For Bennett's Capture.

Brantford, Sept. 5.—A reward of $200 has been offered for the capture of Jack Bennett, wanted here for the murder of Emily Antone at Middleport a few weeks ago. The reward is offered by the Attorney-General's Department.

Ottawa, Sept. 5.—Hon. W T. White states that published reports as to the nature of bank inspection to be recommended by him are without foundation.

SUFFRAGETTES TO KEEP ON PREMIER BORDEN'S TRAIL

Official Organ of the Woman's Suffrage Political Union Says Canadian Premier is Superior to Mr. Asquith Because He Will Listen to Reason —Mrs. Pethick Lawrence to Head the Delegation.

London, Sept. 5.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—Premier Borden having expressed his willingness to receive a deputation upon woman's suffrage on his return to Ottawa, the Woman's Suffrage Political Union does not intend to let the opportunity go by. The Canadian Associated Press, interviewing an official of the union yesterday afternoon, was informed that they have decided to send a strong deputation immediately to Canada, headed by Mrs. Pethick Lawrence. She will be accompanied by Mrs. Harold Pethick and a number of women who have recently become world famous for their militancy.

To-morrow the official organ of the union will publish the following comment:

"Mr. Borden's reply was the most encouraging. From him we have not had foolish ignorant talk of disaster, such as Asquith indulges in. The Canadian Premier has shown himself superior to Asquith in being willing to listen to reason. If he is prepared to be guided by reason and respond to argument, then militancy will not be needed in Canada. It would, however, be affectation for the deputation not to refer to the consequences, which have in this country resulted from the Government's unstatesmanlike dealing with the suffrage question, and to the similar consequence if the Government of Canada were to follow the example of Asquith."

Ambulance Corps Appointments.

London, Sept. 5.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—With the approval of the Duke of Connaught the following appointments have been made to the St. John Ambulance Brigade:

Col. Sir Henry Pellatt, Toronto, to be commissioner for the Dominion; Dr. C. J. Copp, Toronto, to be assistant commissioner for Ontario, and Major Francis Vaux, Winnipeg, to be assistant commissioner for the province of Manitoba.

COLONIES MUST BE REPRESENTED

Montreal, Sept. 5.—That representation in an Imperial Parliament would be advantageous to Canada at the present time was the opinion expressed by F. E. Smith, K.C., M.P., prominent member of the Unionist party, who is in Montreal in company with Sir Max Aitken, en route from Winnipeg to England.

While Mr. Smith favors Imperial representation in the case of Canada, he does not look upon it in the same light with regard to the other colonies.

Canada, he believes, on account of its geographical situation, is better able to take part in the troubles of England and assist in the solution of them than any of the other colonies.

"But," Mr. Smith added, "the scheme would be lop-sided unless all the colonies were represented, and it does not seem as if the time was yet at hand when the other colonies would benefit from such representation. New Zealand and Australia could derive little benefit from such an arrangement at the present time."

TURCO-ITALIAN TREATING MAKING SLOW PROGRESS

Italy Is Determined to Hold Tripoli and Cyrenaica, Although She Will Give In on Secondary Points—She Also Wants Italians Admitted to Turkey as Before the War—Islands Desire Autonomy.

Chiasso, Switzerland, Sept. 5.—Italy is determined to maintain its hold on Tripoli and Cyrenaica. No great advance has yet been made in the unofficial negotiations for peace which are now going on in Switzerland between the Italian delegates and representatives of Turkish Government. The former, while expressing their readiness to make concessions in behalf of Italy in secondary matters, have declared it impossible to give in on several vital points. Italy demands absolute and complete sovereignty over Tripoli and Cryenaica, without, however, exacting its recognition from Turkey. It demands the evacuation of the Turkish troops, and it is pointed out that the administration at Constantinople might find a way to meet these demands by proclaiming the independence of these territories, entrusting the Arabs to govern themselves.

It is proposed that Turkey shall immediately readmit Italians to the Ottoman empire under the same conditions as prevailed before the war.

Italy will keep Stampalia as a naval station, while she will return to Turkey the other islands in the Aegean, on condition that their nationality shall be respected, and that their political and administrative organization shall be conducted on the line set forth in the proposal of Count Leopold von Berchtold, the Austro-Hungarian Foreign Minister. Finally, Italy will grant Turkey the same concessions as were granted by Austria when the latter country annexed Bosnia and Herzegovina.

The representatives of several of the islands, including Rhodes, although they have not been received officially by the Italian delegates here, have communicated with the Italian Premier, Marquis de San Giuliano, to whom they submitted a memorandum outlining the desires of the islands. In brief, they declare that if it is impossible to come under Italian sovereignty or to be annexed to Greece, autonomy must be granted similar in form to that granted Crete, otherwise they will oppose the re-establishment of the old order of things.

THE FAILURES AT STOCKHOLM

Special To The Review.

London, Sept. 5.—The British Olympic Committee in its report, issued this morning, places the blame for the poor showing made by British athletes at Stockholm, to the fact that all round athletes have not been developed.

Fall From Car Kills Student.

St. Catharines, Sept. 5.—John H. Leffer, third year medical student at Columbia University, who had been spending the summer at the Y.M.C.A. camp at Port Dalhousie, was instantly killed at a late hour Tuesday night while attempting to board a street car at the corner of Thomas street. It is thought he lost his grasp, fell to the tracks, and fractured his skull.

He was a son of P. M. Leffer, New York City, and a nephew of Ald. W. B. Burgoyne, and formerly resided in this city.

An investigation will be opened before Coroner Jory to-morrow.

Want Wider Markets, Says Mayor.

Edmonton, Alta., Sept. 5.—An allusion to the demand of the west for reciprocity was made in the civic address to the Duke of Connaught presented by Mayor Armstrong.

After expressing a desire to show loyalty to the Mother Country by extension of the British preference, the mayor continued:

"It is incumbent upon us, if we are true to our best interests, to use all lawful endeavors to enlarge our commercial bounds in order that a ready market may be obtained for our ever-increasing products of the soil, to the end that our people may know that they are subject to only fair, commercial and economic laws and in order that the very best results may be obtained, for thus, and thus only, shall content and loyalty rest upon permanent and abiding basis."

In his reply the duke made no reference to this passage, doubtless on the ground that it savored too much of politics.

NOVA SCOTIA CADETS WON KING'S PRIZE

Special to The Review.

Toronto, Sept. 5.—Nova Scotia Cadets won the King's Prize, the final stage of which was shot off this morning at Long Branch, with 147 out of 240 points. Other Corps came in the order named: England, British Columbia, New Zealand, Woodstock, Ont., Australia, Alberta.

ROOSEVELT IS PLEASED

Ottumwa, Iowa, Sept. 5.—If he had made terms with the "bosses" at the Republican convention, Col. Roosevelt said yesterday they would have turned to him with the Presidential nomination.

Col. Roosevelt's day tour through Iowa was in blistering heat. The warmth was of benefit to his throat, which was irritated by speaking in the open on cold days in New England. Most of his speeches were made in small towns. The farmers drove in from miles around to hear him, and his audiences were large.

On receiving the returns from Vermont, Col. Roosevelt said he was greatly pleased with the Progressive vote.

"I am greatly relieved at the result in Vermont," he said. "While on my three days' tour in the state, I became seriously concerned lest there should be practically no support whatever for the Progressive state ticket, because a third or half of the men who spoke to me stated their belief in the Progressive national ticket, but did not intend to vote the state Progressive ticket."

Roosevelt In Control.

San Francisco, Sept. 5.—Wednesday's primary election, which gave the Progressive party its first opportunity in California to test its strength, assured the Roosevelt-Johnson organization control of the state convention that is to be composed of the legislative nominees. This means that Republican electors pledged to Roosevelt will be named by the convention. The Taft leaders, in order to get their electors on the ballot, must resort to petitions. San Francisco and Los Angeles voted heavily for the Progressives.

GLOOM IN THE WEST; HARVESTING DELAYED AGAIN

Cutting Is Stopped In Many Districts, Particularly In Manitoba and the Farmers of Saskatchewan Are Becoming Anxious Over Their Prospects of Cutting the Grain Before Damage Sets In.

Winnipeg, Sept. 5.—A terrific rainstorm which reached its height in the Winnipeg district, where over one and one-quarter inches of rain fell between 9 p.m. and 4 a.m. yesterday morning, was general throughout the west and has cast a fresh gloom on the crop outlook. The general trend of the reports last night showed that cutting had been stopped in most districts, and the ground is so soft that the binders cannot work for two or three days. Wednesday night's rain, the heaviest at Winnipeg, was almost as bad at Portage la Prairie and Brandon, and prevailed with varying severity all the way west to Calgary. The weather forecast last night indicated still more thunder showers.

Only a few districts report actual damage as yet, but the outlook is decidedly dark. A most serious report comes from Gretna and Morden, in the rich Mennonite reserve country of southern Manitoba.

At Gretna all the wheat has been cut for several days, but only one farmer is known to have done any stacking. The stooked grain is standing in fields of water, and is sprouting badly. At Morden ninety per cent. of the wheat is cut, and the conditions are similar. The situation in the reserve is particularly hard, as the standing crop was the best looking in many years.

Following is a summary of last night's reports:

Brandon—Harvesting at a standstill and cannot be resumed for two days. No damage yet.

Portage la Prairie — Very heavy rain, all work stopped; no damage. Soaked grain cannot be handled before end of week.

Gladstone—Heavy rain, much wheat flattened.

Shoal Lake—Heavy rain, slight frost, but no damage. All work delayed.

Dauphin—Seventy per cent. wheat cut, showery, no frost, conditions fair.

Malita—Seventy-five per cent. wheat cut, heavy rain, no more cutting before Friday, no damage yet.

Carman—Heavy rain, wheat in stook is sprouting.

Prince Albert—Little rain, conditions very fair.

Bigger—Seventy-five per cent. wheat out, but all work now stopped by very heavy rains. No threshing yet.

Lumsden—No rain last night, fair progress in harvesting. Raining past four days, work stopped.

Yorkton—No rain, conditions good, but need considerable warm weather to complete ripening.

Govan—Wheat practically cut, but continuous rains prevent stacking. Farmers getting anxious.

SEWAGE CAUSED THE EPIDEMIC AT THE CAPITAL

Ottawa, Sept. 5.—Faulty construction in the concrete work of the intake pipe, allowing sewage from a sewer pipe alongside to enter thereby, causing an epidemic of typhoid, was the substance of a report yesterday to the judicial enquiry by engineers who examined the intake.

The most important evidence before Judge Gunn yesterday was that of the medical health officer, Dr. Shirreff. Although warned by the city bacteriologist at various periods from May to July that the water was showing signs of contamination, he did not issue public warning against use of the water until July 9, depending on increased doses of hypochlorite to purify it. The fever outbreak began on July 10.

RICHMOND IS COMMITTED

Is Charged With Stealing $26,000 From Bank

Special to The Review.

Toronto, Sept. 5.—Arthur Richmond, the former teller of the Bank of Toronto, was committed for trial this morning on the charge of appropriating twenty-six thousand dollars of the Bank's funds which he squandered on horse races.

Inquiring Into Death.

Orangeville, Sept. 5.—While it is not believed by Coroner Hendry that Jas. Dale, a well-known Caledon farmer, found dead in the barn of the Alexandra Hotel, was the victim of foul play, considerable mystery surrounds the case.

Dale's body was discovered in the barn yesterday morning, and a wound over the eye created suspicion that he had met with violence. An autopsy only partially carried out last night, showed that the neck was broken, but Dr. Hendry told a reporter that the injuries were probably caused by a fall.

An inquest was opened and adjourned until Monday night.

Dale was a prosperous farmer and had an extensive dairy. He lived about a mile from Orangeville.

CONSTABLE MURDERED

Tramps Suspected of Being the Guilty Parties

Special to The Review.

Calgary, Alta., Sept. 5.—Special C. P. R. Constable Robert G. MacIntosh was shot and killed in the yards of the company here last night, presumably by tramps. He was found lying unconscious with a revolver tightly clasped in his hand, in the shadow of some box cars, a few minutes afterwards.

DIED WATCHING THE AVIATOR

Brockville, Sept. 5.—A strange fatality occurred yesterday afternoon near the close of the first day of the Brockville Fair. Hemstrough, one of the Curtiss aviators, had just made an ascension in a biplane, and, after a long detour, reappeared opposite the grand stand, making a graceful dip.

As he did so, an aged spectator in the crowd, Thomas Cavanagh, was seized with heart failure. Without uttering a cry, Cavanagh fell backwards in a collapse. Several doctors rushed to his assistance, but in less than a minute the man was dead. He was 81 years of age, a wealthy retired farmer, living near Elgin, and came to Brockville against the wish of his aged wife to see the flying machines.

MANY INJURED IN LONDON TUBE

London, Sept. 5.—London's first tube collision of any consequence occurred last night near the Caledonian road station of the Piccadilly tube. Eighteen persons were injured. But for the presence of mind of the engineer the accident might have been much more serious.

At 7.30 p.m. a crowded train on the line from Finsbury Park to Piccadilly was standing at the Caledonian road platform, when an express from Finsbury Park to Hammersmith caught it up. The express was not stopping there, but fortunately the driver of the oncoming train saw the danger in the nick of time.

TO CHECK WHITE SLAVERY

Toronto, Sept. 5.—Premier Borden and the Dominion Government will be asked by the Dominion Social and Moral Reform Board to strengthen the law against the white slave traffic, and to make a minor change in the Miller bill to render it more effective for the prevention of the sale of tipsters' "sure thing" cards at the time race meetings are in progress.

May Die From Bludgeon Blow.

Montreal, Sept. 5.—Bathed in his own blood and with his skull fractured, Joseph Pauze was taken to the Royal Victorial Hospital, where he is not expected to recover. It is thought by the police that he was struck over the head with a murderous bludgeon, but up to the present the affair is shrouded in mystery.

Quebec's Welcome to Borden.

Quebec, Sept. 5.—Premier Borden, who is on the Victorian, due here Friday next, has accepted the invitation to a civic reception. He sent to Mayor Drouin the following wireless: "Pray accept warm thanks. We sincerely appreciate great honor of civic reception, which we are delighted to accept."

Victim of Spinal Meningitis.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Sept. 5.—After a day's suffering from spinal meningitis, Sybil, 19-year-old daughter of Wm. Burger, a wealthy Brooklyn tourist, died at the Clifton Hotel yesterday.

Special to The Review.

Montreal, Sept. 5.—While friends dragged the river near Boucher Island for his body, and his wife made frequent visits to the morgue in expectation of finding it there, the body of Richard E. WOMAN EDITOR OF A WESTERN JOURNAL

Is Called a Journal of Protest and Conviction.

Edmonton, Alta, Sept. 5th — The Mirror, called "a journal of protest and conviction," has made its bow in Edmonton, with Mrs. Gertrude Balmer Watt as editor. The publication is eight pages of four columns wide, and is printed on book paper. Mrs. Watt, who is the wife of a newspaper man, says among other things in her declaration of principles—

"This paper purposes to speak its mind without regard to the say so of any party or any man.

"No man and no interest will influence us. We are not dependant upon any human's smiles or frown for our existence.

"We have no vote don't even want one.

"I believe in the chivalry of most men, but I am prepared to take any stand in the journalistic world on my own.

"I expect to give knocks and take them. I don't intend to adopt the militant tactics of my suffragette half-sisters, but I do intend to let in the light on people and things as I see them.

"I trust this will not convey a wrong impression; such as that I am armed with a hatchet, and laying for somebody's scalp.

"I have no ambition as a head hunter. I hope rather to be found well up in the Booster's line.

"We would rather fight for a big-little cause, than tag at the heels of any man or body of men.

"To go with the crowd means fun, and possibly comfort, for a time, but to follow one's best convictions is the only consideration in life worth while in the end.

"We intend so far as it lies in us to forget that men are called So-and-So So's men.

"We will like better to remember that a man of courage and character is always his own man, and that a paper can be its own man and still find a following.

"It is one of the big puzzles, but one that we shall set ourselves to probe.

"We want to know why we have such an affliction of Nobodies in our legislative halls, when the country is brimming over with bright men; why men who don't know beans about departmental work get all the big positions.

"Well, we know, and we don't know, however, an unappeased curiosity cries out for 'more,' and 'more' we must be told or discover.

"We hope that advertisers will find this paper a good medium, because we are out to give them the best service possible, and because, as women represent the bulk of the buyers of a town, its being a paper edited by a woman, especially for women, they will know that their advertisements are read by the particular class they hope to reach.

"I am interested in every man's point of view, and every woman's, into the bargain. I, too, have found that the most unlikely men carry the brightest ideas 'under their waistcoats,' and if this journal accomplishes nothing else, it will be my constant aim to discover the 'human' side of events, and every one's viewpoint of life in general, and things as he has found them in particular.

"The pages of this journal are open for discussion at all times, but, we have no fund to defend libel suits.

"We start friends with the world. We want to keep friends.

"Now, as to those free advertisements. Please, there are not going to be any. This paper exists—or hopes to—on straight business principles.

"I want to pay my bills, and I want you to pay yours. I can't pay mine if I have to give away my finished space. If you have an article in your stores that I want, that I consider worth while to me, you may be sure that I will willingly pay for it. If my paper isn't worth while to you, go to one that you think is.

"All churches look alike to me.

"I believe they are all doing good work. Happily, God wanders in the streets, and is no respecter of creeds.

"I believe He would sooner see a man pay his bills than beg, and that if He were managing the practical affairs of the churches, the newspaper publishers and their families would be given a chance to make an honest living.

"My first duty is to the people who are supporting me; and if there is any giving away, they are the ones they are the ones who are going to get it.

"So we start clear. You have been told my position in a nutshell, and there should be no misunderstanding. I am willing to 'boost' for the town, for the general welfare of Edmonton.

"In advance let me thank those who have shown confidence in the Mirror in this its initial number.

"It is this loyalty and good fellowship that have given me strength and confidence when it seemed that there was no field for a paper of this character as yet in town, to still have confidence that it must be somethin̄g wrong in the old paper, and not in the town, that kept it from achieving the success that those who had its welfare at heart, hoped it would attain.

"I think I know that something. You have my word on it, it will be a Waterloo of another character that will put the Mirror out of commission."

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circular, free.

THE MARKET

Latest Quotations in Grain Dairy Products, Live Stock Etc

Liverpool and Chicago Wheat Futures Close Higher—Live Stock—Latest Quotations.

CHICAGO, Sept. 4.—Firmness in the wheat market to-day seemed to be based largely on the feeling that as the market had declined three days in succession, a rally was due. Closing prices were firm, ⅜c to ⅝c higher than last night. Corn scored a net gain of ⅝c to 1⅛c, and oats an advance of ¼c to ⅜c. The outcome in provisions was a decline of 2½c to 17½c.

The Liverpool market closed to-day ⅛d lower to ¼d higher on wheat, and unchanged to ⅛d higher on corn. Berlin wheat closed ⅜c lower, Buda-Pest, ⅜c lower.

Montreal Grain and Produce.

MONTREAL, Sept. 4.—There was little or no demand for old crop. Manitoba spring wheat and cables on new wheat for October-November shipment were weaker at a further decline of 3d, which made the bids 1½c to 2c per bushel below cost. The foreign demand for oats continues good and further sales of several loads were made. There is also a good demand for American clipped oats at prices at which considerable could be worked for export, but owing to the scarcity of lake freight from Chicago to Montreal, exporters cannot accept the orders. The local demand for oats is increasing and the market is strong. Flour is steady with a fair local trade passing, but the export demand is quiet again. Demand for millfeed in excess of supply. Butter is fairly active and firm. Cheese is strong. Eggs active. Potatoes lower. Foreign demand for hay good.

Corn—American, No. 3 yellow, 90c to 91c.

Oats—Canadian western, No. 2, 49½c to 50c; No. 3, 48c to 48½c; extra No. 1 feed, 49c to 49½c.

CATTLE MARKETS.

Montreal Live Stock.

MONTREAL, Sept. 4.—At the Canadian Pacific Live Stock Market the receipts of live stock for the week ended Aug. 31, were 1550 cattle, 1775 sheep and lambs, 1468 hogs and 300 calves, while the offerings on the market this morning for sale amounted to 800 cattle, 1500 sheep and lambs, 1000 hogs and 500 calves.

There was no important change in the condition of the market for cattle, prices being about steady under a good demand from both packers and butchers for supplies and as the supply was not in excess of the expectations an active trade was done and little stock was left over. The best steers sold at $6.50, but there were really no choice stock to be had and the lower grades brought from that down to $4.50 per cwt. The top price realized for cows was $5.50, and sales were made from that to $3.50 per cwt. Good bulls were scarce, but there was a fair supply of common stock, which sold at $2.50 to $3.50 per cwt.

The tone of the market for lambs was very firm, owing to the continued active demand and sales of Ontario stock were made readily at $6 to $6.25 per cwt. There was also a fairly good demand for sheep and ewes brought $4 to $4.25 per cwt. The market for good to choice calves was stronger and sales were made at from $8 to $12 and the lower grades at from $3 to $6 each.

A stronger feeling prevailed in the market for hogs and prices ruled higher at $8.75 to $9 per cwt., for selected lots, weighed off the cars.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

EAST BUFFALO, N.Y., Sept. 4.—Cattle—Receipts, 500 head; fairly active and steady.

Veals—Receipts, 25 head; active and 25c higher, $4 to $11.50.

Hogs—Receipts, 1600 head; active and 5c to 10c higher; heavy, $8.65 to $8.85; mixed, $8.40 to $8.50; yorkers, $8.25 to $8.60; pigs, $8.10 to $8.25; roughs, $8 to $8.20; stags, $5.50 to $7.50; dairies, $8 to $8.45.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 400 head; active; sheep, steady; lambs, shade higher, $4.50 to $7.25; yearlings, $5.25 to $5.75.

Glasgow Cattle Market.

GLASGOW, Sept. 4.—Watson & Batchelor, Limited, report smaller supplies and better demand all round. Scotch steers, 17c to 18c; West Irish, 14½c to 15c; secondary, 13½c to 14c; bulls, 11½c to 13c.

WHERE DOCTORS FAILED TO HELP

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Mrs. Green's Health—Her Own Statement.

Covington, Mo.—"Your medicine has done me more good than all the doctor's medicines. At every monthly period I had to stay in bed four days because of hemorrhages, and my back was so weak I could hardly walk. I have been taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and now I can stay up and do my work. I think it is the best medicine on earth for women." —MRS. JENNIE GREEN, Covington, Mo.

How Mrs. Cline Avoided Operation.

Brownsville, Ind.—"I can say that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done me more good than anything else. One doctor said I must be operated upon for a serious female trouble and that nothing could help me but an operation.

"I had hemorrhages and at times could not get any medicine to stop them. I got in such a weak condition that I would have died if I had not got relief soon.

"Several women who had taken your Compound, told me to try it and I did and found it to be the right medicine to build up the system and overcome female troubles.

"I am now in great deal better health than I ever expected to be, so I think I ought to thank you for it."—MRS. O. M. CLINE, S. Main St., Brownsville, Ind.

A Businesslike Precaution

The Difficulty of Discovering One's Faults.

By EMILY RICKER

A long while before Marjorie Sterling and Frank Kenyon became engaged they had one of those highly philosophic conversations on love and marriage that persons of the mating age are fond of indulging in. Why they are constantly talking on the subject they don't know themselves. Doubtless they drop on to it just as the birds twitter to each other during the mating season. The man and the maid are not always making love to each other when they chat about such matters, but they are thinking of love and marriage, all the same.

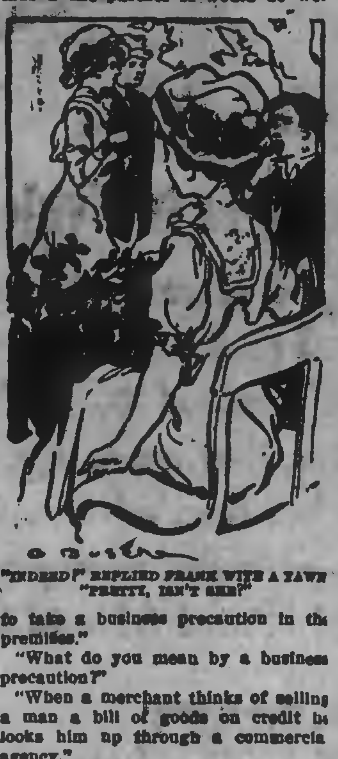
Frank, with all the gravity and appearance of wisdom of a man of forty—he was twenty-two—remarked that to marry was very dangerous owing to the fact that a man could not really know the woman he would marry until after he had lived with her, whereupon Marjorie remarked that the girl was under the same disadvantage. He had not thought of that part of the problem.

"For my part," he said, "I would rather take the risk with a girl who is liked by her own sex than popular with mine. I don't mean one who is sought after by other girls, for popularity is no index of intrinsic worth. I refer to a girl who has a fair number of intimate friends who look upon her with respect."

"And I," replied Marjorie, "would not risk marrying a popular man. I have known a young man to appear in a place and take everything by storm."

"Socially?"

"Yes, socially and with those not in the social swim. I have known such a man, I say, who was the rage for a while, then dropped to a very low level."



"INDEED!" REPLIED FRANK WITH A YAWN "PRETTY, ISN'T SHE?"

"Nevertheless, when one is about to take a life partner it would be well to take a business precaution in the premises."

"What do you mean by a business precaution?"

"When a merchant thinks of selling a man a bill of goods on credit he looks him up through a commercial agency."

"I see. Marriage is far more important than selling goods on credit."

"Indeed, it is."

This ended the dialogue. At the time it took place neither of the two thought of marrying the other, but they saw a great deal of each other and were very companionable. From being companionable Frank began to act in a way indicating to Marjorie that he was thinking of something more than companionship. He was a desirable parti, and Marjorie did not discourage him.

Frank made up his mind that he would like to settle down to married life with Marjorie, and Marjorie thought that she would like to settle down to married life with Frank. They had known each other for several years, and neither knew anything detrimental of the other. A marriage between them seemed to both a very natural thing—that is, their inclinations being for each other.

It was then that Frank concluded to take that "business precaution" he had said should be taken in such cases. Thus far he had not by any means committed himself, and no one but himself had the slightest intimation that he was thinking of marrying any one. He and Marjorie moved in the same social set, but each had a number of friends, and it was not known that the two were especially intimate. There was nothing to prevent the one gathering opinions of the other except that guardedness which persons of experience usually acquire.

One afternoon at a lawn party, Frank was sitting with a Miss Markland when Marjorie passed in company with a young man recently arrived and introduced.

"How tastefully Miss Sterling is dressed," remarked the lady. "That costume was made at Lafont's."

"Indeed!" replied Frank, with a yawn. "Pretty, isn't she?"

"Do you think so?"

"Don't you?"

"Not pretty; she's very nice."

"You're one of her friends, I believe."

"Yes. Marjorie and I are very friendly."

"And you consider her faultless?"

"Oh, no; not faultless. Marjorie has her good points and her faults, like the rest of us. There's just one trouble about her that I know—she is a bit selfish."

"Nothing else?"

"Nothing unless she is not as particular as she might be about what she says concerning her friends."

"How? Who does she say things about?"

The dialogue was interrupted at this juncture by the hostess, who brought up a man to introduce to Miss Markland.

Kenyon pursued his inquiries for a month, by the end of which time he discovered that his opinion of Marjorie was entirely erroneous. One of her companions admitted that she was selfish and traduced her friends; another that she was not always truthful; another that she was not reliable, whatever that means; another that she was intellectually of very light caliber, and so on, each giving her some one blemish and each averring that for the rest she was perfectly lovely. But unfortunately there different blemishes, taken together, made up a very disagreeable character.

Meanwhile Marjorie, unknown to Frank, had been pursuing a similar course toward him. She knew his intimate friends among men and while conversing with them endeavored to draw from them his faults. After making inquiries of her friends she pursued her investigations among some to whom she was indifferent, finally taking up those whom she suspected he did not like—not that he had ever given her any intimation of that dislike; we cannot be as cordial or enthusiastic toward some as toward others, nor can we always avoid showing antagonism in our manner.

However, before Marjorie had finished her investigations she noticed that Frank had discontinued certain loverlike looks and actions and had resumed treating her merely as a friend. Why he had changed she did not know, having no suspicion that he had been making inquiries about her and of the result of those inquiries. Her investigation of him had not elicited a single fault. Every one she had talked with about him spoke well of him, some very highly. A few had seemed indifferent toward him, but had not accused him of any fault. Naturally this gave her a high opinion of him and caused her the more to regret the change in him, to say nothing of the wounding of her amour propre.

One day she was berating her brother for some delinquency and in the heat of the argument said to him:

"I wish you were as fine a fellow as Frank Kenyon."

"What makes you think him a fine fellow?"

"Why, I have talked to his men friends, those who are indifferent to him and some who dislike him. They all speak in the highest terms of him."

"Of course they do to you."

"What do you mean by to me?"

"Don't you know that it's a principle with men always to speak well of other men to women."

"No," said Marjorie, surprised.

"Well, they do. I was talking with Tom Hartwell about Frank Kenyon the other day and Tom called Kenyon a cad."

"Why, Mr. Hartwell told me that he regarded Mr. Kenyon as a splendid fellow."

"Of course he did. I'd tell any girl that about my worst enemy."

"Oh, my goodness gracious! That isn't speaking the truth."

"If Frank should ask the girls about you they would speak the truth or at least what they consider the truth. They would say some very nice things about you, but"—

"I know what you mean."

"I don't mean anything disrespectful of girls or claim any advantage for men. The one acts in a feminine way, the other in a masculine way. The business lives men lead make them wary of getting into trouble by telling the truth. It isn't because they are so awfully nice about it, though everybody knows that men's and women's standard of honor are different. If you want adverse opinions of Frank Kenyon I can get them for you by the cart load, but they wouldn't be worth anything."

This conversation opened Marjorie's eyes to the cause of Frank Kenyon's change toward her. What could she do about it? Maidenly modesty forbade her asking if he had made inquiries about her, as he once intimated he would do when contemplating matrimony. She decided on an entirely different course. The next time they met she was very cool toward him.

This changed the situation. Frank asked her what he had done to offend her. She replied that he had done nothing. He pressed her for a reason for her coolness, and she told him that she had learned that he was regarded as a cad by his friends.

This brought about a turning point. Frank confessed that he had learned she had all the faults in the dictionary, admitting that he had made the inquiries necessary to elicit the information. Marjorie confessed that she, too, had sought the truth and had only got it from one man—her brother.

Then they laughed, and Frank felt for Marjorie's hand, drew her toward him and said:

"The only way we can find out each other's faults is to get married."

"But we'll love each other despite them, won't we?"

"Indeed we will!"

Engineers Meet.

New York, Sept. 5.—With "safety first" as the keynote, the seven hundred engineers, gathered here from twenty-seven different countries for the sessions of the International Congress of Testing Materials, again delved deeply yesterday, the second of their discussion, into their task of devising means whereby deaths from industrial accidents throughout the world may be reduced.

The failure of the Quebec bridge, several years ago, with a loss of nearly one hundred workmen, was mentioned as one of the mysteries that should be solved through the tests of steel columns.

Department of Railways & Canals, Canada

HUDSON BAY RAILWAY

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for construction of The Hudson Bay Railway" will be received at this office until 16 o'clock, Thursday, the 12th day of September, 1912, for the section from Split Lake Junction to the Hudson Bay terminus.

Plans and profiles showing the character and extent of the work to be done, the specifications and form of contract to be entered into, and other information can be seen on and after Thursday, the 15th of August, at the office of the Chief Engineer of the Department of Railways and Canals, Ottawa, and at the office of the Chief Engineer of the Hudson Bay Railway, Winnipeg, at which places forms of tender may be obtained.

Separate tenders will be required covering the work enumerated in the schedule on the section from Split Lake Junction to Port Nelson, a distance of approximately 165 miles, and on the section from Split Lake Junction to Port Churchill, a distance of approximately 245 miles.

The successful tenderer will be required to sign a contract covering the work from Split Lake Junction to the terminus selected and which will be announced by the Hon. Minister of Railways and Canals on his return from Hudson Bay.

Parties tendering will be required to accept the fair wages schedule prepared or to be prepared by the Department of Lbor, which schedule will form part of the contract.

Contractors are requested to bear in mind that tenders will not be considered unless made strictly in accordance with the printed forms, and in the case of firms, unless there are attached the actual signature, the nature of the occupation, and place of residence of each member of the firm.

An accepted bank cheque for the sum of $150,000.00 made payable to the order of the Minister of Railways and Canals, must accompany each tender, which sum will be forfeited if the party tendering declines entering into contract for the work, at the rates stated in the offer submitted.

The cheque thus sent in will be returned to the respective contractors whose tenders are not accepted.

The cheque of the successful tenderer will be held as security, or part security, for the due fulfilment of the contract to be entered into.

The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

By order,

L. K. JONES,
Asst. Deputy Minister and Secretary.
Department of Railways and Canals,
Ottawa, August 14, 1912.

RUSHING ORDERS OF BINDER TWINE TO THE WEST

The serious nature of the shortage of binder twine in the prairie provinces for use in the harvest now in progress, was strikingly emphasized by the importation of fourteen car loads of twine from the United States which has been rushed West on express time to relieve the situation. The train of binder twine was handed over to the Canadian Pacific Railway at Newport, Vermont, Wednesday morning, [illegible], and was rushed through from Montreal as the second section of the Western express, every precaution being taken by the railway officials to see that this important consignment reached its destination on schedule time. The rushing of this train across the continent, recalls an incident of a few weeks ago, resulting from the Regina disaster, when a carload of electrical equipment shipped from Peterboro to Regina to replace a plant partially destroyed by the tornado, was rushed through as a special train, consisting of the car itself, an extra car to act as a buffer, engine and caboose, thus showing the importance attached by railway officials to the emergency needs of the west.

THEY BELIEVE IN PUBLICITY

The Independent Order of Foresters' Tent still continues to be the mecca of Society Row, Toronto Exhibition. On the roll book you will find many hundreds of members who have come from long distances to make their annual visit to the grounds and record their name on the roll book at the I.O.F. headquarters. Many thousands of souvenir flags have been distributed; also literature of all description, describing the many branches of fraternal work that they are doing. They believe in advertising and giving their order all the publicity they can. The secret of their success seems to be in telling the other people of the joys that they enjoy as members of such an institution.

Mr. R. Mathison, Supreme Secretary-Treasurer, is holding an informal reception to members and friends this afternoon.

QUARREL FOLLOWED BY SHOOTING OF WOMAN IN AYLMER STREET HOME

William Leal Shot His Wife, But Fortunately Bullet Only Wounded Her in the Left Cheek—The Man Was Afterwards Arrested in His Room by P.C, Sills and is Now in Jail.

The south half of the double rough cast dwelling at the corner of Sherbrooke and Aylmer street, was the scene of a shooting affair this morning, when William Leal shot his wife, but fortunately did not kill her.

USED A RIFLE.

The man had a rifle with 22 calibre bullet, and only a glancing wound was made in the left cheek. The shooting took place about nine o'clock, after Leal had left his bed, and his room, only partly dressed.

WERE QUARRELLING.

The two commenced to argue, from a cause at present unknown, and one word leading to another, the man became aroused, and, it is said, called the woman vile names; and indulged in considerable profanity. It is said he threatened to shoot the woman.

The wrangling continued for some time.

Wilbert Regan and a helper named Dunsford, plumbers from Adamson & Dobbin, were in the house at the time, doing some plumbing work in an upper room. They heard the two people quarrelling and then the woman screamed following the shooting.

She cried for help, and when the two young men came to the top of the stairs, it is said, he threatened to shoot them, if they came down stairs.

They armed themselves with heavy tools, with which to protect themselves, should the man attack them.

Members of the family of Mr. T. O. Rush, who reside next door, also heard of the trouble and the shooting, and the wounded woman remained in their house for some time, and later walked to the office of Dr. Mann, on Sherbrooke street, where the wound was dressed. It was found that the bullet had glanced along the cheek bone.

ARRESTED IN BED ROOM.

In the meantime the police had been called for, and P. C. Sills responding, arrested the man in his room. He did not offer any resistance but apparently tried to give the impression that he had been sleeping.

Detective Newall also called, had to come from his home in the south end of the city, and he arrived just as the arrest was made.

HAS BEEN DESPONDENT.

It is said he has been more or less despondent for some time. After his arrest his wife could not say anything too good of the man, and asked to see him. He is a man about 60 years of age. Some time ago he worked at the Brinton Carpet Co., but of late had not been working.

REMANDED TILL MONDAY.

He appeared before Mr. S. R. Armstrong who acted in the absence of Magistrate Dumble, and was remanded to jail till next Monday.

He appeared to be sorry for his actions, and burst into tears as he was being taken to the jail.

The woman is at her home and will soon recover, if complications do not set in. She displayed considerable nerve throughout the whole ordeal.

Leal will face a charge of attempted murder.

WITNESS ABSENT TRIAL ADJOURNED TO NEXT TUESDAY

A large number of witnesses from Cordova, were called, after which His Honor adjourned the trial till Tuesday, September 10, as one witness was absent.

Mr. R. E. Wood is conducting the prosecution, and Mr. G. N. Gordon is acting for the young man.

The prisoner is out on bail.

The Temperance Movement

A special meeting of the W.C.T.U. is called for on Friday, 9th inst., in the Public Library, to organize for work after the holidays. We would be very pleased to see all members, and those interested in the temperance movement, to be present. By request of the president.

BALLOON ASCENSIONS

To be One of the Peterboro Exhibition Features.

The Fair Directors have arranged for the appearance at the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition, of Miss Dorothy DeVonda, who will make ballon ascensions and come back to mother earth by the parachute route.

Miss DeVonda has followed her profession for nine years and has figured in some sensational escapes from serious injury, if not death. She holds the record for altitude flights, the distance being 6,000 feet. This record was made at Ploughkeepsie, October 17, 1909.

The ballon when inflated is 120 high. It contains 1,200 yards of cloth.

COMMITTEE TO DEAL WITH QUESTION OF SECOND LOCAL OPTION CAMPAIGN

Meeting to be Called for Some Time This Month to Look Over the Situation—May be Short Campaign — Vote to be Taken at Burleigh.

The committee to deal with the organization of a campaign in Peterborough in the interests of Local Option will meet some time this month, the meeting being called for probably in the next few days.

It is understood that the campaign this year will not be as lengthy as three years ago.

A short campaign is anticipated, but as to what course will be pursued, no definite decision will be arrived at until after the meeting this month.

TO VOTE IN BURLEIGH.

The Burleigh Council have decided that a vote on the question of local option will be taken next January. With the vote going in favor of the measure, the hotels at Burleigh and Mount Julian would go dry.

75 CAMPAIGNS.

At a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Ontario branch of the Dominion Alliance, held yesterday at Toronto, it was reported that in all probability local option contests would be conducted in about 75 Ontario municipalities this fall. The report showed that there were 260 places in the province in which voting on the question of local option might take place, but in many of them it was impossible to organize campaigns. It is possible that there will be contests for the repeal of local option according to the report, but the officials anticipate that in fully 90 per cent. of these no effort will be made to have the law repealed. Rev. Dr. J. H. Hazlewood presented the report of the Campaign Committee, showing that the field work of the alliance for the entire fall had been mapped out, covering the cities of Toronto and Hamilton, and 19 counties as follows:—New Ontario, Peel, Kent and Dundas, Essex, Prince Edward, Perth, Welland, Simcoe, Lambton, Huron, Stormont, Glengarry, Prescott and Russell, Victoria and Haliburton, Haldimand, Bruce, Toronto, Middlesex and London.

MISS HELEN DARLING

As "The Flirting Princess," at The Grand next Monday evening, Sept. 9. Seat sale opens to-morrow.

Harry Bulger and an exceptionally well chosen company of comedy associates come to the Grand Opera House, Monday, Sept. 9th, in a brand new edition of "The Flirting Princess," the musical comedy success which will be presented for the first time here.

Years ago, the clever team of Sherrie Matthews and Harry Bulger made hosts of life long friends by their splendid performance in "By the Sad Sea Waves" and later in "At Gay Coney Island." Then the team went into vaudeville and were headliners and featured on every program on which they appeared. During the vaudeville engagements, Matthews was taken ill which incapacitated him from work, so Bulger was compelled to go it alone, playing engagements as the featured member in "Mother Goose," "Algeria" and other big Broadway successes. Then Henry W. Savage sent him on the road as the star of "Woodland" which was probably the most pretentious attraction Savage ever sent on tour, not excepting "The Merry Widow." "Woodland" made Bulger a valuable asset and box-office magnet which managers readily recognized, inasmuch as he was besieged with offers of engagement. As Blue Jay in "Woodland," Bulger was triumphantly successful, and after a great deal of spirited bidding by producing managers, rited bidding by producing managers, his services were secured under a long term contract by Mort H. Singer under whose management he is now starring.

Colleagues to Meet Him.

Ottawa, Sept. 5.—Hon. Messrs. Perley, C. J. Doherty, W. T. Crothers, W. T. White and W. B. Nantel will leave here on a special train to meet Premier Borden upon his arrival at Montreal on Saturday. A message received by Acting Premier Hon. Geo. E. Foster last evening, says that the Royal George has been sighted, and with fair weather should arrive at Quebec about 11 o'clock Friday morning. Premier Borden and Mr. Pelletier will leave the Royal George there and come to Montreal on the Government steamer Stanley. They are expected to arrive here Monday morning.

Thousand Persons Homeless.

Los Angeles, Sept. 5.—Fully one thousand persons are hunting homes to-day as the result of the fire which destroyed 150 buildings in Ocean Park Wednesday night, causing a loss estimated at $2,500,000, with insurance of only ten per cent. So far as known only one man lost his life.

The burned area extends from Raymond avenue on the north to Ozone avenue on the south, a distance of seven blocks, and from Ocean west to midway between the Speedway and Trolleyway on the east, everything was wiped out.

East Middlesex Liberals In Dilemma.

London, Sept. 5.—Rev. Dr. McCrae of Westminster having refused to contest East Middlesex in the provincial bye-election, the Liberals are thus far without a candidate. I. Montague may be the Conservative nominee.

BETHEL, EMILY

Special Correspondence.

Bethel, Emily, Sept. 5.—Miss Purdy of Bobcaygeon, was visiting her brother, Mr. W. Purdy, of East Emily, last week.

Mr. Joseph McConnell has erected a new barn this summer. The contractor was Mr. John Wright.

Mrs George McCagie and Miss Eva Mills have gone on a trip to the Northwest, where they will spend some time visiting friends.

Miss Annie Mills, of Rochester, spent a couple of months visiting her mother, and has returned to resume her work as nurse.

A large number of our people took in the excursion to Cobourg, among whom were Mr. and Mrs. Wilfrid Jackson, Mr. Ira Switzer and sister, Olive Mr. Charles Mills and sister, Olive.

Mr. and Mrs. Gabriel Switzer are spending this week visiting their daughters, Mrs. J. H. and Lewis E. Jones, of Midland.

Miss Feir has begun her duties as school teacher for the first term this season in our school, No. 13.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Buth and Miss Ella Switzer took in the exhibition in Toronto this week.

Mr. John McConnell, we learn, will be leaving our neighborhood after this year, and will be moving to within a mile east of Omemee.

Mrs. Walter Moncrief has been spending this week visiting friends in Toronto and taking in the exhibition.

WEDDING BELLS

HAY—REID.

Mr. Albert Allan Hay, of Northumberland County, and Miss Francis Pearl Reid, of Hastings County, were united in marriage at St. Paul's Manse, this city, yesterday afternoon by the Rev. Robt. Pogue. They will pass their honeymoon at Toronto and western points.

WHITE—CROWE.

A quiet wedding was solemnized by Rev. Robt. Pogue, at St. Paul's Manse, at 7 o'clock last evening when Miss Clara Lilian Crowe, daughter of Mr. Charles Crowe, East City, and Mr. William Arnett White, son of Mr. Frank White, of this city, were united in the holy bonds of matrimony. The happy couple were unattended. They will reside in Peterborough.

LONG—JOHNSON.

The following from the Port Arthur Daily News will be read with interest by the groom's many Peterborough friends:

A quiet wedding took place yesterday at 1.30 o'clock, at St. John's Church, Rev. C. W. Hedley officiating, when Miss Ada Florence May Johnson, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Johnson, of this city, became the bride of Mr. H. J. Long, of Peterborough, Ont.

Mr. and Mrs. Long left via the "Harmonic" for a honeymoon trip to the East. They will visit Toronto, Peterborough and other eastern cities before returning to take up their residence in Port Arthur.

CANADIAN LEAGUE PLAYERS WHO MAY GO UP HIGHER

Hamilton, Sept. 5— The season in James Patrick Fitzgerald's circuit has been prosperous to the majority of the clubs, and while some are a little behind financially at present, it is a good bet that they will all be even or better when the drafting season ends.

The numerous scouts who went over the circuit during the season did not leave without picking out a few likely looking players, and as a result the league will be without many of its present stars next season. Some of the men who are mentioned as likely to go up follow—

"[illegible]" Fisher and Garlow of the Hamilton Club will go to Baltimore.

Marty Killilea will be drafted by Detroit and will likely be farmed out by the Tigers for a year or two.

Billy Rose will be drafted by some of the International League teams and farmed out to Syracuse next season

Schwind, the Ottawa shortstop, will go to Cleveland.

Louis Bierbauer, of London, Howlck, of St. Thomas, Herbert of Ottawa, Donovan, of Brantford, McManus of Ottawa, Bullock of Berlin, Swartzmier of Hamilton, Brant of Peterborough, Wright, of St. Thomas and Louden of Ottawa, are also mentioned as men likely to go up.

Knotty Lee promises practically a new team for Hamilton next year, and if the men mentioned go up, it looks as though he will have to muster a new squad.

HOW WORLD'S SERIES WAS WON BY A STRIKEOUT

"When I get to the stage of retiring from the game and sitting in the chimney corner and drooling about what I used to do," said Del Howard, the former utility man of the Chicago Nationals the other day, "I'm going to tell my grandfather the story of how I won the world's championship by making the worst blunder of my life. On second thought I think I'll tear up the score and leave the blunder part of it out of the story.

"But it is true, and if you don't believe it, look at the score of that first game between Chicago and Detroit the first time they battled for the world's championship—that extra inning game that ended in a tie that practically ruined Detroit's chances for the chances in 1907. You won't see Howard's name among the three base hits or home runs, but the fact is if he won the pennant by saving that game, and he did it by striking out. If there was a fellow who was crossed up, fooled, puzzled, and made to look bad it was Howard, but that made no difference.

"It was a corking game, one of the greatest and most exciting I ever saw, and the crowd was crazy. Detroit had been winning and held the advantage clear down to the ninth, with Donovan pitching so fast we scarcely could see the ball. I wasn't in the game, but was doing some gallant bench work trying to help the other fellows hit Donovan.

"They had us licked by two runs in the ninth, and our fellows commenced to get a start. We had a chance to tie it up when Tinker came to bat. Tinker hadn't been hitting Donovan at all. I believe he had been struck out a couple of times, and Chance signalled to me to come out and bat. There's where Howard gave a wonderful display of club swinging. The first two shot over the plate so fast I was hardly able to set myself and swing before the umpire was yelling 'strike.'

"Then I decided to acquire a little more con-fee-di-ence. I figured that Donovan, having two strikes on me, would waste a fast one high and outside the plate and try to make me bite at it. I decided to try a little surprise party. Donovan had called Schmidt down to talk to him, and that gave me plenty of time to think it over, also to listen to what the crowd was thinking out loud about me as a pinch hitter.

"I made up my mind that Donovan was going to waste that ball and that I was going to take one large healthy smash at it, because I rather liked to hit those high ones when they weren't too far away. I started to walk in a bit to crack the ball, when I saw it coming low and fast and aimed about at my knees. It looked for an instant as if that ball was going to get a little bit tangled among my legs. I took a fine swing, and don't think I missed the ball more than a foot.

"Then I heard a howl, while the ball was going back to the stands. It had slipped through Schmidt and got away so far that the score was tied. The chances are that if Donovan had wasted the ball, as I expected him to do, I'd have been a hero or a dub, with the chances in favor of the dub, and that Detroit would have won that first game and had a running start toward the championship. It ended in a tie, broke their confidence and we won in straight heats."

FOR ALL SUMMER SORES

BREEZES FROM THE DIAMOND

The melancholy days are here, the saddest of the sad; the ball lot's silent as the grave, the fans no more are mad. The last White Cap has hit the trail, in other climes to shine; no more this year, we'll shout and cheer; they're gone—over baseball nine. Jack White caroms no more at right, while Barthold's gone from first, and Nicholls, Brant and young Joe Byrne, now think of wounds they nursed. And Peggy Swartz with Jimmie Beard, will swallow flies no more; nor Irvine Trout or Dubbie Shea make throws to stop a score. The real estate around the paths, can whoop in joy, delight; no more will Osborne romp around and set the earth atright. Ken Tracey, Hanson, Rowan too, will throw no more white pills, and we must sit in deep despair, and figure up the bills.

JOHNSON'S CROSS FIRE DELIVERY

Much of His Effectiveness Due to This Fact.

One of the factors which gives Walter Johnson, Washington's great pitcher, his great effectiveness is his cross fire delivery. While Johnson's almost unparalleled speed would make him a wonderful pitcher, though he did not possess another attribute except control, it is the manner in which he cuts the ball across the plate that makes him more to be dreaded by the batters. It has often been wondered why Jackson and Cobb, two left hand hitters who scarcely ever hit at a ball not over, are continually swinging at balls both inside and outside of the plate—straight balls too, with not a semblance of a curve on them. The reason has been mentioned. The cross fire which Johnson uses sends the ball across the plate at such a varying angle, it is impossible to judge it accurately all the time. Johnson stands on the extreme right end of the pitcher's slab while pitching, and when he winds up takes a step toward the third base line, and with his exceptionally long arm swings the ball toward the plate, not directly, as most pitchers do, but at an angle which is deceptive to the man at bat.

Johnson varies the angle and at times cuts the ball loose two or three times in succession so that it will go three or four inches inside of the plate from a wide angle and yet cause the batter to think that it is coming over. Consequently he takes a swing at it and realizes his mistake after he has missed. Then Johnson will shoot a fast one directly toward the outside corner of the plate, with the result that the batter takes another ineffectual swing at it, it being almost impossible for him to gauge where the ball is going to cross the plate in front of him.

FINANCES OF OTTAWA CLUB

Champions of Canadian League Were Money Makers.

Ottawa Citizen.—Financially the Ottawa team has been a success this summer. Over $15,000 passed through the books of the club, but the locals had the highest salary list of any of the others in the Canadian League. The receipts here, except on the wet days were always above expectations, but on the road the team didn't quite pay travelling expenses. The railway companies carried off about $3,000, and doctor's bills formed an item of about $400. The Central Canada Exhibition Association pulled down $1,200 for the use of the grounds at Lansdowne Park, and the Ottawas turned about $1,800 into the coffers of the Canadian League. All the visiting clubs took money out of Ottawa, whereas on the road the team did poorly. London always turned out well to welcome the Ottawas, but at Peterborough, Guelph, St. Thomas and Berlin the "gates" were miserable. At Peterborough last Saturday, for instance, the Ottawa share was only $70, while Peterborough game here Monday and took away over $300. Nevertheless, the Ottawa club was able to break ahead although they did not receive a cent's worth of assistance from the city council, the publicity bureau, or any of the merchants, despite the fact that it furnished Ottawa with the greatest "ad" it has ever had. Evidently the game is here to stay.

The High and Public schools were opened for the fall term this (Tuesday) morning, with a good attendance of pupils on hand. All the teachers are on duty.

Rev. Mr. Johnston, of Keene, was in Norwood to-day (Tuesday.)

Mr G. Howson, of Keene, was in Norwood to-day.

Almost everyone has returned from their summer cottages. The families of Messrs. C. W. Waters, Geo. Duffield, J. E. Roxburgh and J. W. Rork returned late last week, or on Monday of this week.

Harvesting in this vicinity is being much retarded by the continued wet weather. A great amount of grain is in the stook and it is impossible to get it in the barns on account of the dampness of the weather.

Potatoes are going to be a big crop Dr. Stewart dug a peck of magnificent tubers from three hills, some of them weighing over a pound each.

BIG POTATO

Mr. Jack Stark of Asphodel, unearthed a potato, one day last week, that weighed over three pounds. Can anybody beat that? It would take less than thirty of such to make a bag of 90 pounds.

Mr. John Whyte's new block of stores, on the corner of Peterboro and Colborne streets, are nearing completion. We understand that Mr. K. G. Thomson, druggist, has leased the corner store, which will give him a stand for a drug store, second to none in this district.

The Whyte Confectionery Company will occupy the store facing on Colborne street. We have heard that Dr. Ford will occupy the small store facing on Peterboro street, next to Mr. Squire's store for his office.

The Sunny South Company, a troupe of Darkys, will occupy the boards in the town hall on Saturday evening of this week.

Mr. E. J. Laing has entered into the real estate business, and has a few good farms for sale.

COUNCIL MEETING

At a special meeting of the village council, held on Thursday evening of last week, Mr. Isaac Puffer was re-engaged as village officer at a salary of $20.00 per month, same to include a phone in the officer's residence.

Mr. Herb. Beavis was also an applicant for the position.

The regular meeting of the village council, will be held to-morrow night, Wednesday, at which the rate for the year will be struck. Last year, the rate was reduced a fraction, and we are looking for a further reduction this year.

GOOD HARVEST

A farmer, not far from Norwood, took 105 bushels of fall wheat off three acres this year. Not so bad for Ontario.

Hogs sold in Norwood to-day, at $8.25 per cwt., live weight.

Mr. Wilfrid Fry has returned from his trip to Toronto.

Mr. Joe Doherty is at the Toronto exhibition.

Miss Ruby Comstock is attending business college.

The flies that are now in your kitchen and dining room were probably feasting on some indescribable nastiness less than an hour ago, and as a single fly often carries many thousands of disease germs attached to its hairy body, it is the duty of every housekeeper to assist in exterminating this worst enemy of the human race.

YOU CAN BE ABSOLUTELY SURE OF VALUES
If you carefully read the store advertisements and follow them in your buying.
Merchants advertise certain lines because they know these lines will advertise their stores. Because there is something about certain goods, they are put in conspicuous places and the people are told about them. It may be the exclusiveness or newness of design, it may be an unusual quality, it may be an attractive price.
But there is at least one definite, sure reason why a merchant advertises an article and is willing to stake the reputation of his store upon it.
Therefore, when you see an article advertised in THE REVIEW, depend upon it, that article is good value, as good value as can be obtained in that particular store.

MILLBROOK BOWLERS ENJOYED GAMES HERE

(Millbrook Reporter.)

A rink of bowlers consisting of R. Deyell, skip; J. Deyell, H. Allen and C. Richards went to Peterborough on Monday and had a very enjoyable game with one of Peterborough's good rinks skipped by Mr. D. Belleghem, and ably assisted by Messrs. T. B. Pratt, J. McKenzie and L. W. Pratt. The score at the close of the 13th end was 13—10 in favor of Millbrook, when one of the players had to leave to catch a train and the vice skip played two sets of bowls, and apparently this change turned the tables and Peterborough kept rolling up their score 'till they led by ten, when the game was called on account of rain, the final score being 24—14. Mr. R. Deyell made some very fine shots and his skipping was perfect. Mr. J. Deyell made some pretty plays and had his man guessing all the time. Mr. H. Allen is a classy bowler and made some star playes.

At the same time Keene were 8 up in a game with another Peterborough rink. Keene—Dr. McWilliams, Sk.; Messrs. A. St. A. Smith, J. O Reed and John Brightman, Peterborough—R. Sturgeon, Sk.; R. Soden, W. Maynard, —. Ormes.

After the games the visitors were invited by the Peterborough Club to dine at the Oriental. Before leaving the visitors were unanimous in a hearty vote of thanks to the Peterborough Bowling Club for their kind hospitality.

FIRE DESTROYS SUMMER HOTEL AT CHEMONG PARK

The summer hotel at Chemong Park, operated by Mr. R. E. Davis, was practically destroyed by a fire which broke about one o'clock to-day. A report says a defective chimney was the cause.

Little could be done to stay the course of the flames, no fire fighting appliances being at hand.

The local fire department was communicated with, but it was not thought advisable to send any of the equipment, as that which could be readily used here would not suffice, under the conditions such as exist at Chemong.

Some of the contents were saved, but the building will be practically a total loss.

GRENFELL'S WORK IN LABRADOR

Board of Sixteen to Manage His Institutions.

New York, Sept. 5.—Cecil S. Ashdown, a public accountant, of this city, who has just returned from St. John's, N.F., where he had been at work on a plan of reorganisation of the various missionary enterprises on the coasts of Newfoundland and Labrador established by the Rev. Wilfred T. Grenfell, said that he regretted very much that the report that be made to the Grenfell Association in America had given rise to misstatementbs.

He said there was no basis at all for making it appear that there had been any general mismanagement or misappropriation of funds. Instead of condemning in this report the use of the vessels for other than religious purposes, he, on the contrary, commended it.

"These boats," said Mr. Ashdown, "perform all the mission service for which they are intended, and then when they would otherwise lie idle they are chartered and the proceeds go towards paying for their maintenance. There is no criticism by any one in or out of the mission who understands the situation."

Hitherto the Grenfell missions have been supported by four different organizations representing the United Stattes, Great Britain, Canada and Newfoundland. Under the plan proposed by Mr. Ashdown, which has been accepted by the various boards, the entire enterprise will be in the hands of an international board of sixteen managers.

Charles F. Karnopp, in whom every one connected with the mission at St. John's placed the utmost confidence, proved to be a real grafter, Mr. Ashdown said, but that was the only case.

THE HORSE'S PRAYER

To Thee, My Master, I offer my prayer; feed me, water and care for me, and when the day's work is done, provide me with shelter, a clean, dry bed and a stall wide enough for me to lie down in comfort.

Always be kind to me. Talk to me. Your voice often means as much to me as the reins. Pet me sometimes, that I may serve you the more gladly and learn to love you. Do not jerk the reins, and do not whip me when going up hill. Never strike, beat or kick me when I do not understand what you want, but give me a chance to understand you. Watch me, and if I fail to do your bidding, see if something is not wrong with my harness or feat.

Do not check me so that I cannot have the free use of my head. If you insist that I wear blinders so that I cannot see behind me as it was intended I should, I pray you be careful that the blinders stand well out from my eyes.

Do not overload me, or hitch me where water will drip on me. Keep me well shod. Examine my teeth when I do not eat, I may have an ulcerated tooth, and that, you know is very painful. Do not tie my head in an unnatural position, or take away my best defense against flies and mosquittoes by cutting off my tail.

I cannot tell you when I am thirsty so often give me clean, cool water. Save me, by all means in your power, from that fatal disease—the glanders. I cannot tell you in words when I am sick, so watch me, any by signs you may know any condition. Give me all possible shelter from the hot sun, and put a blanket on me, not when I am working, but when I am standing in the cold. Never put a frosty bit in my mouth first warm it by holding it a moment in your hands.

I try to carry you and your burdens without a murmur, and wait patiently for you long hours of the day or night. Without the power to choose my shoes or path, I sometimes fall on the hard pavements, which I often pray might not be of wood, but of such a nature as to give me a safe and sure footing. Remember that I must be ready at any moment to lose my life in your service.

And finally, O My Master, when my useful strength is gone, do not turn me out to starve or freese, or sell me to some human brute, to be slowly tortured and starved to death: but do Thou, My Master, take my life in the kindest way, and your God will reward you Here and Hereafter. You will not consider me irreverent if I ask this in the name of Him who was born in a stable. Amen.

WALDO IS INCENSED

Demands That His Accuser Appear Before Him.

New York, Sept. 6.—Rhinelander Waldo, New York's commissioner of police, incensed at statements attributed to Cornelius G. Hayes, deposed inspector, that he would air departmental scandal and cause Waldo to resign, issued a drastic order yesterday commanding Hayes to report at headquarters at once and state "In writing whether he did or did not threaten the commissioner." This further involves the police situation in that Hayes, already accused of making false statements involving the commissioner, may now be tried on further charges.

The former inspector is quoted as having said to the district attorney: "Let me alone until I'm through with my police troubles. It is certain that I'll be broke. Waldo can't do anything else, but if I'm put on the stand I'll tell a story that will cause Waldo to resign his job instantly. Yes, and it will go further and cause a sensation in the mayor's office. I want to be free from any handicap that the grand jury may put on me.

"Give me this extra time, and the John Doe investigation will get a whole lot more help than it would were I indicted at once and so tied up in my fight with the commissioner."

Commissioner Waldo says that he has nothing to fear from Hayes, and added that the former inspector would have ample opportunity to talk all he wants to at his trial, which will be held at police headquarters to-day.

FREE TRADE IS DEAD HE SAYS

New York, Sept. 6—Governor Woodrow Wilson, speaking at the workingmen's dinner here last night, boldly declared that free trade sentiment is dead in the United States. He said:

"We ought periodically all of us to go outside and then come in again and realise what is happening. So that when people talk to you about the danger of free trade and the folly of the free trader, do not be afraid that you will meet a free trader in the dark anywhere, because there is not any free trader who can get abroad in America at present. All that we are considering, therefore, in considering the policy of protection, is relative freedom in trade."

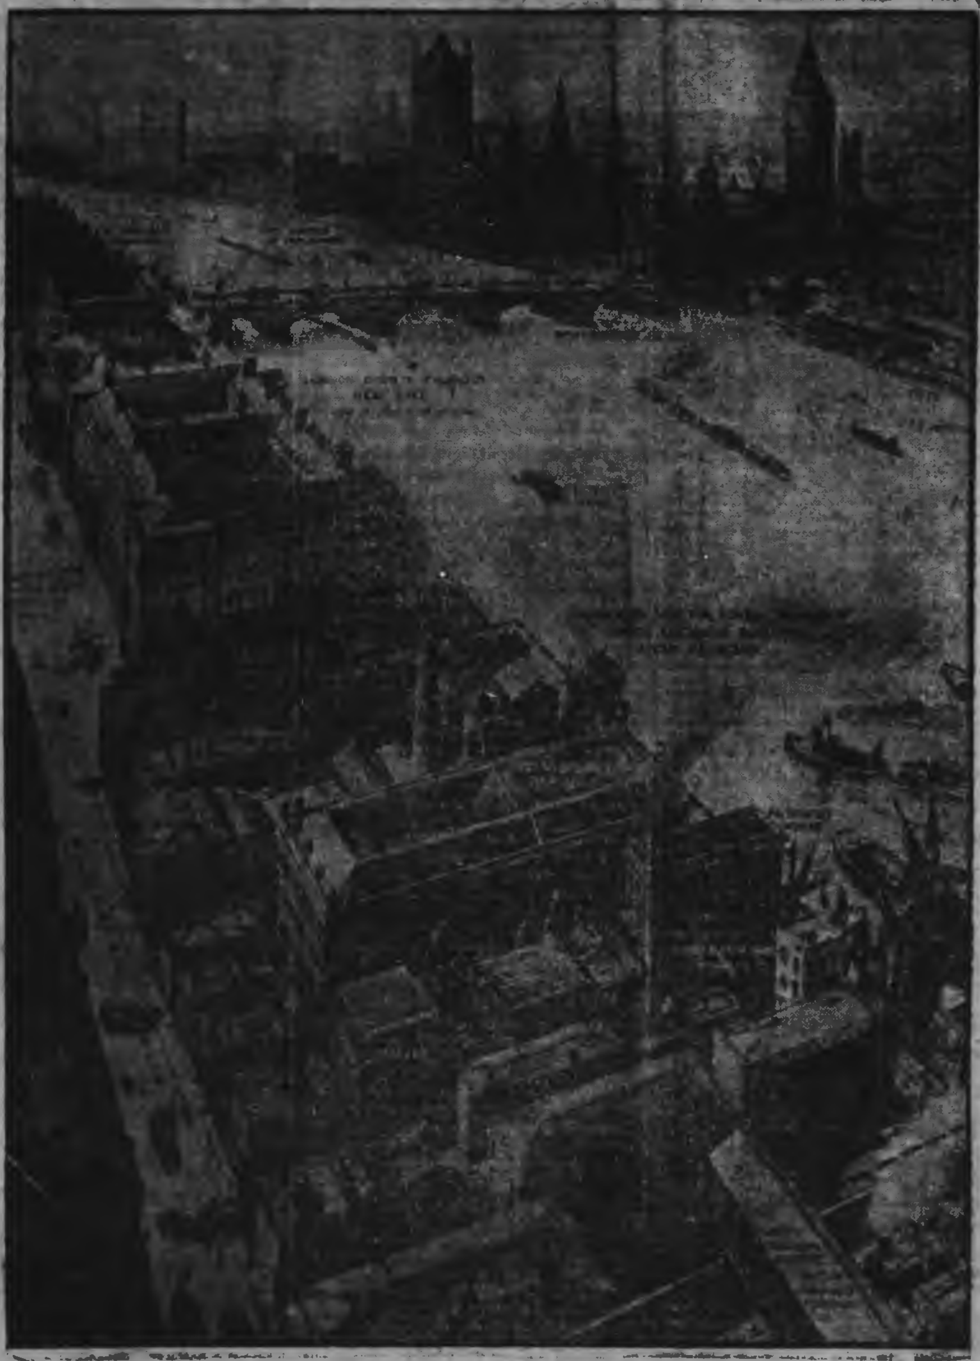
The governor reiterated his opposition to a federal commission to regulate monopolies. He said there was no body of men who knew enough to tell the country what the process of industry should be.

Canadian Team Wins.

Toronto, Sept. 6.—After a hard battle the Canadian cadets succeeded in winning the much-coveted King's trophy in the team shooting match at Long Branch rifle ranges yesterday. After falling down in some of the other contests the team from Nova Scotia made a fine finish. What undoubtedly is a world's record was made by E. Remnant of England, who fired 21 shots in 90 seconds and had 20 hits. There has never been another score like this made. The range was 200 yards at a shoulder and head target. Knight of England had 19 hits out of 21 shots fired in 90 seconds. The range officers expressed admiration at the wonderful shooting of the two boys.

Next to Nova Scotia with 147 points ranked England with 136. The others were: British Columbia, 135; New Zealand, 131; Manitoba, 106; Woodstock, 95; Australia, 93; Alberta, 79.

A SUGGESTED SITE FOR LONDON UNIVERSITY



HOW ANOTHER FINE PUBLIC BUILDING MIGHT BE PLACED NEXT TO THE NEW LONDON COUNTY COUNCIL HALL.

It has been suggested that King's College and London University should occupy sites alongside the London Council's new hall, which is slowly rising from its foundations. The scheme is warmly supported by many, and there can be no doubt that the site would serve a double purpose in providing an effective position well in the public eye for these two important institutions, and in improving the frontage of the vast South London area, which needs so much careful improvement at the present time.—'The Sphere.'

Grain Dealers' Figures.

Winnipeg, Sept. 6.—The Northwest Grain Dealers' Association issued yesterday the following estimate of the 1912 crop for the three prairie provinces, as follows:

Wheat—10,584,000 acres, at 17 bushels per acre, 179,828,000 bushels.

Oats—5,245,000 acres, at 42 bushels per acre, 220,290,000 bushels.

Barley—1,500,000 acres, at 32 bushels per acre, 48,000,000 bushels.

Flax—1,110,000 acres, at 11 bushels per acre, 12,210,000 bushels.

The final estimate of the wheat crop of 1911 gives 117,109,000 bushels, which shows half a million bushels still in the farmers' hands.

G.T.R. SPECIAL CRASHES INTO ENGINE AT MIMICO

Two Trainmen Are Injured, Possibly With Fatal Results, When the Exhibition Train Overtakes an Engine While Leaving Toronto Crowded With Passengers on Their Way to Their Homes.

Toronto, Sept. 6.—Two of the crew of the Exhibition special which left the Union Station shortly before 11 o'clock last night were seriously injured, perhaps fatally, when the special crashed into light engine 206, about 200 yards west of the Mimico yards of the G.T.R. at 11.05. The special had just left the yards when it overtook the light engine and crashed into it. The train, which carried eight coaches, was full of Exhibition visitors leaving Toronto for their home cities and towns.

No satisfactory explanation as to what a light engine was doing on the main tracks of the Grand Trunk when a special was known to have just left was forthcoming when the question was asked.

The fireman of the C.P.R. Exhibition special going west was fatally injured and the engineer also was badly hurt when the special crashed into a light G.T.R. engine, No. 206, just 200 yards west of the G.T.R. Mimico yards at 11.05 last night. Luckily none of the passengers in the eight crowded cars the special was carrying were hurt, although all were badly shaken up and frightened. The fireman in all probability will die. His injuries are very severe. He was badly crushed between the tender and the engine, and was terribly cut. The engineer was badly bruised, but was able to take the crippled engine back to the Junction yards.

The special had just left the Mimico yards and had not attained an excessive speed at the time of the accident. She was making about 20 miles an hour, and was rapidly gaining speed when the crash came. Without the least warning the light engine loomed up on the tracks. The engineer applied the air brake and reversed the throttle, but he was too close to the other engine to stop. Neither he nor the fireman had time to jump. They were caught like rats in a trap.

The night was clear, and the track is straight at the place where the two engines came together. No tail lights were showing on the engine ahead. That is why the engineer on the special did not get a chance to slow up before the impact came.

LEG IS WASHED UP AT NIAGARA

Niagara Falls, N.Y., Sept. 6.—The left leg of a man was found washed up on the American shore of the Niagara river, just above the Whirlpool, Wednesday afternoon by Harry Scott of Lewiston, a Gorge Route employe. The only clothing found on the leg was a brown cotton sock and a Hamilton brown shoe, size 6. According to Coroner Walter A. Scott, the leg was that of a young man. It was well formed and had been in the water less than four days.

FORESTRY CONVENTION OPENS IN VICTORIA, B.C.

Interprovincial Gathering of Experts and Officials Interested In Conservation of Timber Resources Is Welcomed by Premier McBride—Deputy Minister Aubrey White Discusses Ontario Work.

Victoria, B.C., Sept. 6.—The Canadian Forstry Association convention partakes of the nature of an interprovincial conference. Ontario alone of the larger provinces is not represented by Ministerial attendance, but the Deputy Minister of Lands, Forests and Mines, Mr. Aubrey White, Prof. Zavitz of the Agricultural College, and Dean Fernow of the University of Toronto are taking a prominent part in the conferences. The representative character of the gathering is, it is understood, being taken advantage of by the Provincial Ministers to reach understandings on several matters of policy, with a view to obtaining uniformity of action as far as possible. Hon. W. R. Ross, British Columbia; Hon. Jules Allard, Quebec, and Premier Fleming of New Brunswick, all Ministers of Lands and Forests in their respective provinces, were in lengthy conference yesterday in connection with the mooted and somewhat involved reform of further removing the administration of forest resources from political influence, while Attorney-General Bowser, British Columbia, and Attorney-General Campbell, Manitoba, thrashed out ideas on law reform.

Among the British Columbia representatives at the convention there is disappointment that none of the members of the Dominion Government are present.

Two important results are anticipated from the convention; the creation of a better understanding and co-operation between the trained scientific forester and the practical lumbermen, and the securing of a foremost place for forestry enterprise in the next interprovincial conference with a view to uniformity in progressive legislation.

British Columbia has taken the plunge with radically advanced enactments, but both Premier McBride and Mr. Ross naively admitted that it had still to be tested in the light of political pressure of certain lumbering interests.

In a very practical and detailed manner, the position of the various provinces were analyzed, particularly those of Ontario and Quebec. Ontaroi's problem is regarded as a two-fold one, that of conservation from North Bay to the Manitoba boundary, and reforestation in southern Ontario. The fire-protection system was explained and discussed by Deputy Minister Aubrey White. In the course of the conference one of the visiting Ministers stated he understood that Hon. Frank Cochrane when Provincial Minister, was inaugurating a policy to place the entire control and management of Ontario forest protection in the hands of one head under a new department and that the announcement of this policy was pending.

SUFFRAGETTES ARE ACTIVE

Aberdeen, Scotland, Sept. 6.—Suffragettes yesterday again waylaid Winston Spencer Churchill, First Lord of the Admiralty, when he landed from the Admiralty yacht here. He was met by a crowd of women, one of whom shrieked "Why don't you stop forcibly feeding our women?" She was seized by the police.

In the meantime another woman made a rush at Mr. Churchill and tried to clutch him, but was prevented by a policeman and several further attempts to molest the First Lord of the Admiralty were frustrated by the vigilance of the police.

Suffragettes Heckle Lloyd-George.

Wrexham, Wales, Sept. 6.—A wild suffragette outbreak was brought about yesterday by the appearance at the National Eisteddfod of David Lloyd-George, Chancellor of the Exchequer.

The pavilion in which he was to deliver an address was crowded, and as soon as he began to speak a woman jumped up and shouted, "Why don't you give women their rights?" She was at once thrown out, but several other women followed her example and were all ejected by the police.

Some of the women were roughly handled by the crowd in the surrounding park, and one of them was seriously injured.

Safebreakers at Wyebridge.

Wyebridge, Ont., Sept. 6.—The general store of Nelson McRae at Wyebridge was broken into through the night. The safe in the office was broken open and the contents scattered about. The tools used in procuring an entrance were left behind, and the police are working on a clue.

JOHN BATEMAN'S WIFE IS DEAD; HIS HOUSE BURNED

Aged Tailor Refuses to Throw Light on Suspicious Tragedy Which Occurs Early In the Morning In His Home — Woman's Head Bears Marks of Blows—Pair Married Recently and Had Quarrelled.

Oshawa, Sept. 6.—Persistently refusing to throw light on the death of his wife, aged 78, who was found dead on the floor of her bedroom at Cedardale, a suburb, yesterday morning, John Baleman, an aged tailor, formerly of Toronto, is held by the police here pending a full investigation. Crown Attorney Farewell of Whitby was here last evening and will be present at an inquest to be opened on Monday night next.

Noticing smoke issuing from the Baleman house about 7 a.m., a boy employed in a grocery store across the street, gave an alarm, to which both the police and fire department responded. The fire was speedily put out, and Constable Stevins discovered the body of Mrs. Baleman stretched out on the bedroom floor, her head lying bathed in blood. A search for Baleman was begun, and later the man was found calmly seated in the police station.

Baleman, who is 77 years old, makes no attempt to explain the wounds on his wife's head, the injuries being apparently the result of blows with a heavy weapon. He freely admits that his married life was very unhappy and marked by frequent violent quarrels. He says the blaze was caused by the overturning of a lamp, over which his wife was curling her hair.

Baleman has hitherto been regarded as of excellent character, and is strictly abstemious in habits.

Before coming to Oshawa nine years ago, Baleman lived for about forty years in Toronto, for the last fifteen years being on Sullivan street. The murdered woman was his second wife, married shortly before they came here. By his first wife Baleman has had two sons and two daughters. One son, Frank, lives at 8 Leonard avenue, Toronto.

Left Two Millions.

New York, Sept. 6.—According to the report of the appraisal of his New York estate, Thomas Clarke, a financier of Liverpool, England, and head of Clarke's (Liverpool) Limited, who died in January, 1911, left a fortune of $2,141,154.

REFORMERS TO MEET SOON

Dr. Shearer Announces Moral Reform Council Session

Toronto, Sept. 6.—Rev. Dr. Shearer, secretary of the Dominion Board of Moral and Social Reform, is issuing the call for the annual meeting of this important national council. The meeting has been fixed for Wednesday and Thursday, Sept. 25 and 26.

The board includes representative clergy and laymen from all the evangelical churches. Bishop Farthing of Montreal is one of its most active Anglican members.

Under Dr. Shearer's aggressive field secretaryship the board conducted a Dominion campaign for the prohibition of book-making at race meetings, the agitation resulting in the enactment of the Miller bill under which a limitation of eight days is placed on race meetings with legalized bookmaking or the pari mutuels.

The chief feature of the annual meeting on Sept. 25 and 26, will be the adoption of plans for a year's educational campaign.

The Presbyterian and Methodist moral reform departments are practically the active branches of the Dominion board. Rev. Dr. Shearer is secretary of the Presbyterian, and Rev. Dr. Moore of the Methodist moral reform departments.

In view of the change of Government at Ottawa, and of the assurances of sympathy with the fight against the white slave traffic, a number of changes in the personnel of the general committee are prepared with a view to rendering it more influential at Ottawa than at present constituted.

ELECTRIC STORM BROUGHT LOSSES TO THE FARMERS

Peterboro Did Not Suffer, But Storm Caused Much Damage In Other Localities—Rainfall Resembled Cloudburst Near Port Hope.

The city missed the worst part of the storm of last evening and benefitted greatly as a result of the cool breeze which followed the heavy rainfalls recorded elsewhere.

Those who enjoy watching the freaks of the lightning must have been pleased with the display last night, as not for some time has a similar spectacle appeared from the clouds.

BAD AT PORT HOPE.

A despatch from Port Hope tells of a bad storm, in which the barn of Moses Heard, near Dale, was struck by lightning and totally destroyed, only two horses being saved. The water came down as in a cloudburst and many culverts were washed away. A barn near Bowmanville was also struck by lightning and destroyed.

Mr. J. Moloney, who came down from Toronto via the G.T.R. last evening informed the Review that he noticed two building aburning and the illumination from another fire.

FARMERS LOSE HEAVILY.

Agincourt, Sept. 5.—The worst electrical storm of the season, accompanied by a downpour of rain, passed over the southern part of York County to-night, causing great loss to Scarboro and Markham farmers. The storm was of short duration, but the blinding flashes of lightning and almost continuous thunder gave cause for great anxiety. Half a dozen barns were reported burning in different parts of Markham and Scarboro townships.

On the old Secor property, near Woburn, a frame barn was fired and burned to the ground, together with the contents. Near Markham Village the bank barn of John Hood was destroyed, together with all this season's crop of grain and hay. Mr. Hood's loss will fall very little short of $2,500, though the amount of insurance, if any, is unknown. On the 8th Concession of Markham, a barn belonging to Mr. Reesor, near the Dutch Church, is reported burned, and at Dollar Village the blaze of another burning barn and outbuildings was seen. Telephone and telegraph poles by the score in different parts of the county were splintered and the lines temporarily put out of business. Other losses are reported in different sections of the county, though the force of the storm was chiefly in the southern parts. Reports from Newmarket state that the rainfall was heavy, but no loss through fire is known.

PLUCKY MISS WOULD FLY

Brockville, Sept. 6.—Miss Erma Turkington, daughter of Mark Turkington, with her father's consent, applied to Mr. Hemstrought for a trip in the biplane in one of his flights yesterday, but the aviator was forced to refuse, inasmuch as the machine is built exclusively for display purposes and not for passenger travel.

Miss Turkington was the plucky young lady who saved Miss Pennock from drowning a few weeks ago in the river.

DR. CHOWEN'S APPOINTMENT

Vancouver, B.C., Sept. 6.—Rev. Dr. Chown has been formally named as the head of the Ryerson College, as the proposed Methodist College will be called. He is at present one of the Methodist general superintendents.

H. L. Drayton at Ottawa.

Ottawa, Sept. 6.—H. L. Drayton, K.C., successor of the late Judge Mabee as chairman of the Dominion Railway Commission, has arrived in Ottawa and taken up his new duties at the offices of the commission. He will preside for the first time at a sitting of the board to be held on Sept. 17.

NO REFERENCE TO FINANCIAL SIDE OF THE CANAL TROUBLE

Secretary Shaw's Comments are Misunderstood for Letter of Sir Edward Grey — The Interpretation Taken at Washington.

Special to The Review.

Washington, D.C., Sept. 6—The interpretation here of the letter of Sir Edward Grey to the Gateshead Chamber of Commerce, re the Panama canal trouble, is that it indicates that negotiations between the two countries are to have a financial basis, his contention being that English shipping is to be unduly burdened with charges for the maintenance of the canal, through the complete exemption of American coastwise ships from tolls. The actual amount of increase to ships of other nations would be about ten per cent. of the up-keep.

London, Sept. 6—Sir Edward Grey did not make any reference to the financial side of the Panama Canal question and the statements relating to the burden on British shipping attributed to him, were comments on his letter by Secretary, Herbert Shaw, of the Gateshead Chamber of Commerce.

THE NAVAL POLICY

It is rather significant of the collapse of the Liberal plan of campaign against Premier Borden's handling of the naval question, that the Toronto Star and other Liberal organs are now daily trumpeting their desire not to criticise until the policy is explained in Parliament. The happy manner in which Mr. Borden represented Canada while in England, the firm and tactful way in which he intimated that while Canada was enthusiastic in the cause of Imperial union and Imperial progress, he would take time to formulate a permanent scheme of co-operation in defense matters, stopped their vain efforts to make capital out of the issue. The discussion over the matter of taking the navy question out of politics, while not important in itself, served to show that the Canadian people, irrespective of party, were pretty much a unit in favor of something much larger and more effective in the way of assistance to the British navy than the Laurier tin-pot compromise.

Premier Borden has repeatedly said that not until he receives the full detailed information of the British naval position, and has consulted the cabinet, will he formulate his policy. Owing to the business heaped on the British ministers because of the parliamentary session, Mr. Borden was not able to get, while in England, the detail for the completion of his case. But from the tenor of his remarks in public, it is confidently expected that his policy will make the Laurier make-shift look like a rather shabby bit of Imperial ware. It seems to be quite assured that there will be an emergency contribution of Dreadnoughts, Canada to have the right to recall them to her own service if desired. It is unlikely that the Laurier idea, though in itself so utterly insufficient as a real help to the Empire in its time of need, will be totally discarded. More probably, the local navy will be retained in size sufficient to serve Canadian needs, which are small, and the big work of helping the Mother Land at the heart of the Empire carried on as the main factor of the policy.

THE ONTARIO FARMER'S TURN.

The weather reports from the prairie provinces indicate that while rain has fallen generally for some days, the work of harvesting is again in full swing. The importance of the crop to Canada is fully appreciated. The 252,000,000 bushels of wheat, and all the other grains and field crops will bring much business to the Eastern manufacturer and workingmen. But the weather conditions in Ontario have been anything but ideal for harvesting. Oats are reported to be almost a total loss in many places, while fodder and hay are short. The Ontario farmer is yet the foremost agriculturalist of Canada, but who has had much time to spend some sympathy on him? Everyone has been so busy watching the progress of the western crop that they have neglected to be concerned for affairs at home.

The reaction from this solicitude by Ontario for the welfare of the western provinces first became noticeable when the harvester excursions were announced. Many Ontario newspapers demanded to know where Ontario came in if 25,000 or 50,000 of its farm hands were to be transplanted to the west. Ontario certainly does not lack in sympathy with the west, with its trials and troubles, but there is such a thing as being so thoughtful for your relatives as to neglect yourself. A few days ago, a prominent English agriculturist, who had toured the west, said that to his mind Ontario offered much the best field for real farming. Because in this province the farmers have adopted mixed farming, have protected themselves against complete loss from a year's operations, it does not follow that we ought to dismiss them from mind as being, like the poor, always with us. The general prospects for Ontario crops seem to be good, which is information that may break in upon a few blank minds as something not thought of before.

EDITORIAL NOTES

In order to combat the evil of dance halls that are open without regulation, Cleveland has instituted municipal dance halls. The opening was a tremendous success. Twelve thousand three-cent tickets were sold the first day. While men differ as to just how far a municipality should go in providing amusements and recreation for the community, this experiment of dance halls is an interesting one.

Sir George Askwith, the famous expert of the old land on labor matters and noted settler of strikes, is in Montreal to gain information for the British Government. In a recent interview he says:

"What do you consider to be the cause of the recent serious labor troubles in the Old Land?" he was asked.

'Economic conditions, chiefly,' he replied, 'and there is also the growing desire for greater equality in living conditions, and the effect of education. There are really many causes. Each man is moved by some special cause that appeals to him the most.

'But, with the lower class of labor especially, there is no question about the economic conditions causing unrest. As the country becomes populous rents go up higher. Then, too, in the last few years the cost of food has increased by 15 or 20 percent. With these two important items taking a constantly larger share of the workingman's wages he has less money left for clothing and other necessaries for himself and family, and he finds that he simply has to cut off one thing after another.'

'Aren't the British working men, as a matter of fact, better off than those of the continent?' Mr. Askwith was asked.

'Well, that is a disputed question. Some say that the German workingman is better off than the British, while others say he is not.'"

by local application, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circular, free.

THE MARKET

Latest Quotations in Grain Dairy Products, Live Stock Etc

Liverpool Wheat Futures Close Higher, Chicago Lower—Live Stock —Latest Quotations.

CHICAGO, Sept. 5.—Wheat to-day closed heavy after touching the lowest price of the season, 91c a bushel. An estimate that this year's crop in the United States would be 107,000,000 bushels larger than the yield twelve months back was mainly responsible. Final sales ranged from 1c to 1⅛c under last night. Corn finished at a net decline of 1⅛c to 1½c, oats off ⅛c to ¼c, and provisions down 5c to 32½c.

The Liverpool market closed to-day ⅛c higher than yesterday on wheat, and ⅛c to ¼c higher on corn. Antwerp closed ⅜c lower, Buda-Pest, ⅛c lower.

Montreal Grain and Produce.

MONTREAL, Sept. 5.—Some foreign bids for wheat came [illegible] higher and others were unchanged from yesterday, but even on the decline in Winnipeg very little business was worked, owing to the fact that prices in Winnipeg are held so much above American wheat values that exporters of the latter have [illegible] and are still selling large quantities for export. The ocean freight room from here and United States ports is now well booked up to the end of December and what little is left is at very high rates. As far as tramp steamers are concerned, they are difficult to obtain at any price. The situation therefore is that the prospects for moving any large quantity of this year's harvest wheat crop before the close of navigation are poor. The foreign demand for oats is good and sales for quick shipment were made at advanced prices.

There was some demand for new crop spring wheat flour and sales of several thousand sacks were made at [illegible] for November shipment. Demand for millfeed is good and prices have advanced [illegible] per ton. The tone of the butter market is strong. Cheese fairly active. [illegible] firm.

Peruna Secrets You Should Know

Golden
Seal
Root.

Golden Seal, the root of the above plant, is a very useful medicine. Many people gather it in our rich woodlands during the summer. Few people know how valuable it is in dyspepsia, catarrh, and as a general tonic.

Many thousand pounds of this root are used each year in the famous catarrh remedy, Peruna. This fact explains why everybody uses Peruna for catarrh.

A Kansas Cyclone

And How a Man Gained an Advantage by Its Coming.

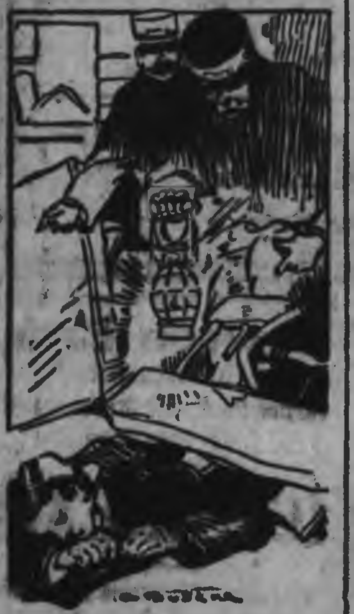
By EVAN RATHBONE

It was in the state of Kansas that the great bank robbery occurred in 18—, and three men, Tom Gallagher, Mike Farragh and a man commonly known as Colorado Jim, were convicted.

The day after the crime was committed Donald Redfield was walking on a street in Topeka when he was taken in hand by a sheriff on a charge of being one of the bank robbers. At first he smiled at the mistake that was being made, but it was not long before he became thoroughly frightened.

Several persons who from windows opposite the bank had got a good view of the robbers swore that he was the leader of the gang, and later he was identified as Tom Gallagher, a desperado who had for some time stricken terror into the people of Kansas.

Redfield had but recently moved to the state with his wife and two little children and found it difficult to prove to a jury representing an enraged people that he was not Gallagher, whom he very much resembled. The consequence was that he was convicted of the crime and hurried away to the state penitentiary. His parting with his wife and children was so affecting that some doubted if after all he was a guilty man.



"HERE'S A CORPSE!" CALLED A VOICE THAT HE RECOGNIZED.

There was certain work to be done outside the prison inclosure, and Redfield, who had been an inmate of the institution for several years, with an excellent record for good behavior, was chosen as one of the gang of laborers. Nevertheless, though they were all men picked for their tractable dispositions, prison officials stood over them with loaded firearms ready to shoot any man who might attempt to escape.

Donald Redfield, working with a pick, ceasing his efforts for a moment's rest, straightened up and saw a strange conformation of clouds in the west. His fellow convicts were all bent over their work, the guards did not dare take their eyes from the prisoners for a moment. The consequence was that he was the only person present who saw coming one of those cyclones that have occasionally visited the state of Kansas. The sound it made did not travel so much faster than the wind as to give a warning, but Redfield had time to look about him for means of protection. A few yards from him was a sudden drop in the ground forming a perpendicular bank some two feet high. He resolved to throw himself under this projection.

The other prisoners and the guards were taken completely unawares and were scattered, for they were caught in the direct line of the cyclone. Redfield by hugging the bank managed to maintain his position. The hurricane was of short duration, and when it had passed he saw several of the prisoners, who had been blown against some obstacle or were running in different directions. Not one of the guards was visible. All was confusion, and he realized that for a brief time he would be free to make his way as far as he could from the prison.

Since confusion was likely to be his greatest aid he darted off in the wake of the storm. There was no mistaking the path, for it had leveled every standing object in a swath about 300 feet wide. There was not much hope for the fugitive on account of his stripes. But seeing a man in a nightshirt standing near the wreck of a house—an invalid who had been in bed when the storm came—he divested himself of his prison garb and ran on with it under his arm, preferring to get rid of it as soon as he should come to a good hiding place, for a man in his underclothing and divested of stripes would be very suggestive of an escaped prisoner.

Thick clouds were swirling above in the path of the storm, and it was growing dark. Stumbling on, Redfield, crossing a heap of timbers that a short while before had been a house, trampled upon something softer than wood. Glancing at it, he saw the body of a man whose face had been so disfigured as to be unrecognizable. It flashed upon Redfield that if he could change clothes with this corpse his chances of escape would be greatly improved. Looking about him, he could distinguish only a few people, and they were absorbed in their own efforts. He managed to get coat, waistcoat and trousers off the corpse and, without stopping to put them on, set about drawing his striped garments on to the dead man. Some time was needed to effect the exchange, since the body was partly covered with heavy timbers, which were removed with difficulty.

However, when the fugitive had finished the work he ran on with the clothes he had obtained on his arm till he reached a clump of trees, which he entered and put them on. When he emerged it had grown quite dark, and he took heart, feeling that he had some chance of making his escape. But he well knew that a force from the prison would scour the neighborhood till every one of the laboring gang outside the walls at the time of the storm had been brought in either alive or dead or was known to have put a long distance between him and the penitentiary; therefore it behooved him to go on.

He did not overestimate the energy of the prison officials, for he had not gone a quarter of a mile when, hearing distant shouts, he turned and saw a clump of lights flashing in his eyes. It was too soon after the storm for a rescue party to have collected; such rapidity could only have come from the prison. Satisfied that it would be better to employ stratagem rather than attempt to outrun these persons, he looked about for a place of concealment. He was near a house that had been spun around, its front door facing a yard that had been in its rear. It had been partly wrecked, and the fugitive crawled in under some lower timbers, drawing a post over him to indicate that it had fallen on him.

Having thus prepared to play dead man, he waited in his uncomfortable position under the timber which he would make others believe had killed him. The voices came near, and the party at last tackled the house in which Redfield was lying with a view to saving any person in it who might still be alive. They were, as he had supposed, the prison officials looking for escaping prisoners, but they had been joined by several persons who were bent on rescue work. Redfield had taken the precaution to lie on his face so that he must be turned over for it to be exposed.

"Here's a corpse!" called a voice that he recognized as that of the warden of the prison. "You fellows look into it. We must move on."

The warden's footsteps died away, and Redfield knew that another light was turned upon him. Then the timber was lifted off him, and he felt a hand laid over his heart.

"Bring some liquor," cried a voice. "This man isn't dead. We may save him."

His jaws were pulled open, a flask put to his lips and whisky poured down his throat. He needed it, but not for what the rescuers supposed. It was required to give him strength and courage to play his part. Having stimulated him, his rescuers carried him out and laid him on a board, it being evident from what they said that he was to await an examination from a surgeon whenever one could attend to him. But there were calls in so many directions that one by one his attendants left him for more pressing duties.

There were by this time so many persons about that Redfield concluded that it would be safer for him to temporarily join a rescue party than to pursue his flight. Arising from his hard bed, he went to the nearest wrecked house, where some men with lanterns were working, and assisted in the removal of several wounded persons. While doing so he heard a man say to another:

"The party we laid on a board to wait for a surgeon has disappeared."

"Impossible," said the other.

"Sure as you live. I found a doctor for him, and when we found the place where we had left him the board was there, but the man was gone. I wonder if a rescue party came along and, thinking him dead, buried him."

It was midnight before all the wrecked houses had been examined and the persons engaged in the work dispersed and stillness reigned. Then Redfield began a tramp that did not end till he had reached the Mississippi river, where under the name of Jacob Thompson he shipped as deck hand on a steamboat bound for New Orleans.

Meanwhile Mrs. Redfield learned that her husband had escaped from imprisonment during the cyclone and his body found under a wrecked building, though no one could account for his having been there when the house was demolished. It was two months after this that she received a letter from her husband, dated at Rio de Janeiro, informing her that he was alive and well and requesting her to join him with the children.

Keeping the information to herself and hiding her joy so far as she could, she made her preparations to depart and when completed sailed for South America, though she made her movement with great secrecy, so that her object should not be suspected.

In the interior of South America is living a man who calls himself Oldfield, a prosperous coffee planter, who could tell a story that would bring requisition papers from the United States to take him back to Kansas to serve out a term of imprisonment. But he has grown older and so changed in appearance that even were he returned it would be a hard matter to identify him. So he has long ago ceased to fear being disturbed.

Two hundred members of the Newark Grocers' and Merchants' Association are traveling in a special train from that city to Buffalo, Niagara Falls, Peterboro and Toronto over the Grand Trunk Lines, Sept. 8th-11th.

At Her Word.

"Why do you not come to me for advice any more?" said the medium to her former regular customer.

"Well," said he, "the last time I was there you told me that if I wished to save enough to get married on I must stop spending money foolishly, and I took you at your word."

Realistic.

Mrs. Brush—Did you see my husband's painting, "The Country Road," at the exhibition?

Mrs. Painter—No, I did not. Was it good?

"Why, it was so natural they had to oil the road every day to keep the dust from going on everything."

POLICE COURT AND STATION IS NEARING COMPLETION

Improvements Will Add to the General Welfare of Both the Police Staff and the Prisoners — Many Changes Will be Noticed When Building Becomes Occupied

The enlarged and improved police station on Water street will probably be ready for occupation within a month. The new building will be a vast improvements over the previous dingy and forbidding quarters. The biggest part of the work is over and after the carpenters and electricians put on the finishing touches it will be ready for the painters and decorators.

The interior of the station has been designed with a view to convenience and easy access to and from all portions of the station. Chief Thompson submitted a sketch to the builders of how he wished the various rooms laid out, and his plan was adhered to by the contractors.

The main entrance is off Water street as before. One steps right off the street, into a roomy sergeant's office. where the police sergeant may be found. A passageway at the left leads into the guard room where the officers when off duty are privileged to stay and chat or smoke. This room will be equipped with lockers for the police force, in which to store their spare clothes. On the same floor is a large, well-lighted and ventilated room at the end of a corridor, where the prisoners will be lodged. The room will contain the three steel cells placed against the south wall. Adjacent to them in the same room is a lavatory for the use of the inmates solely.

Two rooms open off the corridor referred to, one being a toiled room, containing bath fixtures for the use of the police staff. The other leads into a cell in which will be confined female offenders of the law and juveniles. The little room is amply sufficient to accommodate two or three persons. It may be stated that the Chief does not anticipate much demand for this room. The stairways leading to the second floor are wider than those formerly built, and there is no danger of stumbling while descending.

The Chief's office is on this floor, just to the left of the landing, at the head of the stairway. It is commodious with plenty of light. Communication will be established between his office and the sergeant's room by means of a speaking tube. Each office will have a telephone, of course. Leading out of the Chief's domain is the big court room. This room will be a surprise to many. It has been enlarged considerably and will be ample for any ordinary court hearing. The old room has been extended back quite a distance and four new windows give access to big additions of air and illumination. It is not expected that the old nauseous smells and bad air will ever again be complained of.

The Magisterial chair will be against the north wall, facing south. The railing separating the court from the spectators aims to conserve plenty of space for moving around without being crowded. A long and wide table will stand directly in front of the Magistrate's throne. The latter will be for the exclusive use of the legal fraternity and representatives of the press.

There are other various conveniences which will be appreciated alike by police and "visitor." The station will be in every respect an immense improvement over the old.

The heating in the winter will be supplied by a brand new furnace with pipes leading to all departments In fact the cells will not be the hitherto cold and unhealthy lodging place, so often referred to in the old station.

SHIPPED RUGS TO CALGARY

Brinton Carpet Company Manufactured Three For the Oddfellows.

Aggregating five hundred yards in all, three immense rugs were shipped to-day to Calgary by the Brinton Carpet Company. The shipment was an unusually large one, the largest rug alone measuring 25 by 57 feet, and costing $600. They were all manufactured with the finest materials and are specially designed with the insignia of the Oddfellows, for whose lodge rooms they are intended in Calgary.

The aggregate cost of the three would amount to over $1000.

Mr. L. Mendel photographed the three rugs.

ONLY PART OF ONE WALL LEFT

Fire at Chemong Park Was of Very Destructive Nature.

The loss sustained by Mr. R. E. Davis, proprietor of the Chemong Hotel, through the destruction by fire of the hotel yesterday, will be very severe.

The conflagration originated in the third floor, though in what manner has not been ascertained. It was at first reported to have started through a defective chimney, but this is now denied as the fire is said to have been out, or nearly out at the time.

The outbreak was first noticed by the villagers. Mr. Davis was at dinner at the time with a guest named Mr. Chiles of Montreal. When apprised of the fire, the latter showed considerable nerve by finishing his desert before commencing to fight the flames. He remarked that he could work better after a good dinner. By means of a gasoline engine, efforts were made to pump water up from the lake, but the up grade was against the fire fighters.

The fire burned steadily from the time it broke out until after four-thirty. Only part of one wall is left standing and what a few minutes before was a handsome structure, is now blackened, charred mass. The wall facing the lake fell out on the road and the other walls toppled inwards.

A regular army of workers from the village and even from Ennismore assisted in bringing out the contents of the buildings. A large portion of the hotel furniture was saved, but much of Mr. Davis' own furniture was destroyed.

Mr. Davis greatly appreciates the kindness of the villagers who showed their sympathy by such valiant efforts to save the hotel contents.

LIVING MODELS AT TURNBULL'S

The Unique Demonstrations Have Created Much Interest.

To mark the events of the Fall Ready-to-Wear opening the Turnbull Company have engaged two New York ladies as living models, to display their suits, coats, dresses, opera cloaks, evening wear and ready-to-wear hats. They have been displaying on the second floor of Turnbull Company's store, between two and four o'clock of yesterday and this afternoon.

This feature, outside of Eaton's of Toronto, and Watkin Co's, of Hamilton is practically new to any other such establishments in Canada; while all the big stores of New York and other large cities of the United States, have made use of the scheme for some time.

A long green carpetted path, with a fence of green cord around it, is used for the modelers to walk up and down. While one is displaying one costume, the other is changing into another.

Quite a large crowd have gathered, yesterday and to-day, to witness the demonstrations.

REFRIGERATOR CAR OFF THE TRACK

A refrigerator car jumped the track on an east bound G.T.R. freight train, near Birdsall yesterday. It was hauled down in the ditch, in order to let other trains pass, which will make the work more difficult for the Lindsay Auxiliary which went down this morning.

George Owen Carroll, a Methodist preacher, was fined 7s 6d for insulting behavior and causing obstruction of the footpath in Hyde Park.

New Fall Suit or Coat

By far the most comprehensive assortment of the new Suits and Coats for fall and winter. which we will show this season is now on exhibition in our Ready-to-wear Dept.

Never, we think, have the styles been so altogether attractive—so sensible or so serviceable as Fashion has offered for this season.

The Coats are somewhat longer than formerly, and show a variety of distinctive style touches, namely the Norfolk, Military and Cutaway effects.

The Skirts, too, are slightly wider, and while retaining the straight, narrow effect, they permit of more freedom of movement.

The materials selected are especially suited to the season, being rough-finished Tweeds, Homespuns, Serges and Whipcords. The favorite colors are browns, greys and navy blue. The values this season are more notable than ever—prices ranging from $10.00 to $45.00. Worthy of very special mention is our

SERGE SUIT at $12.75

By special arrangement with the manufacturer we secured this garment as a dept. leader, believing it to be the very best value at the price our dept. has ever offered. It is fashioned from rough-finished Serge in smart tailored style—has all the appearance of an expensive garment. The 32 inch Coat has the new military cut—3-button style, silk-lined throughout. The Skirt is made plain tailored with insert pleats at bottom. Obtainable in navy blue or black. All sizes marked for a dept. leader, at only $12.75

We strongly advise an early selection of these new Fall Suits and Coats. Owing to the recent garment workers' strike, the manufacturers have experienced considerable difficulty in making deliveries, and as a result you will not find again this season such a complete assortment as we now offer. The garments shown in our Ready-to-wear Dept. are confined in Peterboro to this store, thereby insuring exclusiveness of design, distinctiveness of cut and richness of finish.

Choose now, while assortments are complete.

ERNIE MARKS COMPANY

The Ernie Marks Company is at the Grand again, and in the initial performance last night a large audience witnessed the presentation of For Love and Honor, a comedy drama in four acts.

Ernie Marks and his company are always a favorite here, and why they continue as such was evidenced by the high class bill given last night. "Did you hear about the man being drowned in his bed at the Snowden House?" asked the funny man. "How could a man be drowned in his bed?" answers his accomplice. "Why there was a hole in the mattress and he fell into the spring," explains the burnt cork artist.

All the specialties are clean and refined and up to the Marks Bros. high standard.

The play to-night is "A Hero of the Hills"; Saturday night, "Magnolia Land," with matinee in the afternoon.

CANNED SALMON TO SOAR TO THIRTY CENTS

(Raisins Going Higher)

Canned salmon is soon to jump in price, and before long, it is prophesied, householders will be paying 30 cents for all brands of what is called Sockeye salmon. The better brands such as Horseshoe and Clover Leaf will retail at the above price, while the lower grade will sell at 25 cents, that price being now paid for the very best quality. It was not more than one year ago, when the most superior brand could be purchased any where, for 15 cents, the price now having just doubled itself. In all lines of canned commodities there will be an increase this season if anything. The reason given by wholesalers for the salmon increase, is that the salmon waters on the Pacific Coast are being depleted by the state government of Washington, U.S., through unfair treatment. The Washington state government allow fishing during the closed season, thus having an advantage over the Canadian fisheries who are prohibited from so-doing by the Government at Ottawa. All attempts to have the America fisheries refrain, have been of no avail, they refusing to even compromise. The immense spawn shoals coming up the rivers are also diverged from the river mouths with nets spread by the American fishermen.

RAISINS TOO!

Valentia raisins which, last year, retailed at three pounds for 25 cents will sell soon at two for a quarter.

The tomato prospects are not very rosy, and they will be both scarce and high-priced this year, unless the weather materially changes. They are greatly in need of sunshine.

In Which Mr. C. R. Banks Displays Enterprise.

Mr. C. R. Banks has installed, at the curb in front of his store, a Bowser Filtered Gasoline station, which will prove a great boon to motorists and motor-cyclists. While being of great convenience, it insures safety from a clogged carbureter, as the gasoline taken from the tank is filtered and absolutely free from grit.

Mr. Banks while being the first in this city to install one, the idea is by no means the first experiment as nearly all the large cities of Canada and the United States have them.

OBITUARY

Mr. Wm. Graham

Mr. William Graham, a well known resident of the township of Dummer, and who for many years lived on the 8th line, a few miles north-west of Norwood, died very suddenly last week. Mr. Graham, who was looking after cattle for Mr. Robt. Tedford, was living alone on a ranch of Mr. Tedford's, known as the old Newnham place. He had not been very well of late, although able to be about and attend to the stock.

Last Saturday morning, when a neighbor named Joseph Carew called to see him, he found him dead. He had apparently died shortly after supper the night before, as the lamp was still burning, and the condition of things about the place appeared to warrant this conclusion.

Deceased was sixty-one years of age and leaves one son and one daughter, his wife having pre-deceased him by several years. The daughter is Mrs. Robert Tedford. The son, William, resides in Toronto. The late Mr. Graham was a brother of Messrs. Robt. Graham of Asphodel, and John Graham of Otonabee. Mr. and Mrs. Fred. Robertson of this village, attended the funeral which took place to Warsaw cemetery last Sunday afternoon.—Norwood Register.

WEDDING BELLS

WOOD—DICKSON.

The marriage of Miss Jessie Olivia Dickson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Dickson, to Mr. James Russell Wood, C.E., son of Mrs. James Wood, of Peterborough, was celebrated at the home of the bride's parents, Kinkora avenue, last evening. The ceremony was conducted at eight o'clock by Rev. Bruce Taylor. Quantities of purple and white asters with palms and ferns were artistically arranged in the house. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a white satin gown trimmed with real lace and pearl garniture, a tulle veil surmounted with a bandeau of pearls and carried a bouquet of lilies-of-the-valley. The bridegroom's gift, a chain wrist watch, was also worn. She was attended by one bridesmaid, Miss Inez McLuchlan, who wore mauve crepe de chine over satin, a silver mesh Juliet cap, and carried purple asters. From the bridegroom she received a platinum pendant. The bride's niece, Miss Evelyn Barker, was the little flower girl, who was in a dainty lingerie frock, and carried a basket of white asters. Mrs. Dickson, the bride's mother, was in a robe of black lace and sequins over satin. Mrs. Wood, mother of the bridegroom, was also in black. Mr. and Mrs. Wood left after the service for a wedding trip to Toronto and the west, the bride travelling in a navy blue suit with hat to match.—Montreal Gazette.

SAVIGNY—HUTCHISON.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at Cedar Valley Farm, the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Hutchison, when their only daughter was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. G. Gordon Savigny, of Otonabee, the Rev. Mr. Mackenzie being the officiating minister. The bride was charmingly attired in a gown of ivory satin with veil and orange blossoms, and carried a sheaf of bridal roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Savigny left on the 4.38 train for Buffalo, and on their return will reside at Maple Villa Farm, Otonabee.

Mr. Burnham Home

Mr J. H. Burnham returned from the west last night, and goes to Montreal to-night to be present at the reception of Premier Borden. Mr. Burnham will also visit Halifax.

Even the watch a man keeps on his tongue will run down occasionally.

Jules Motor Company

At a recent meeting of the Guelph City Council, Ald. Brydon, in dealing with the report of the Finance Committee, stated that he could not understand why the city was compelled to sue the bond company who had backed up the Jules Motor Co., in order to get their money.

Ald. Carter stated that this was the only way the money could be obtained when the company refused to pay. The city would be to no expense whatever.

A Light Ale With A Brisk Flavor

In cafés, in hotels, in clubs, in homes, people are talking about Kuntz's Fine Sparkling Ale. This latest achievement of the House of Kuntz is certainly creating a sensation.

Kuntz's FINE SPARKLING ALE

Very Invigorating

Kuntz's Fine Sparkling Ale is a light ale with a brisk flavor. Those who have tried it like it immensely. They say that it puts a keen edge on the appetite and invigorates the whole system as no ordinary ale has ever been able to do.

That's because it is brewed from the finest ingredients, including the sparkling, clear-as-crystal water from the famous Kuntz Springs. The analysis of this remarkable spring water shows that it is equal, if not superior, to the water used in brewing famous English Ales. It requires an exceptional water for a high-class ale. Ordinary water only makes ordinary ale. That's why so many ales disappoint you.

But if you want a glass brimful of enjoyment fill it from a bottle of Kuntz's Fine Sparkling Ale. Try a bottle at your favorite café or hotel for lunch, or order a case sent home so that you can have a glass or two for dinner.

Kuntz's ORIGINAL LAGER

A Great Reputation

Kuntz's Original Lager enjoys a great reputation all over the Dominion. It has been brewed for sixty years by three generations of the House of Kuntz at Waterloo, Ontario. Millions of bottles of this celebrated beverage are filled annually at the brewery for the enjoyment of the Canadian public.

Order a Case or Two of Kuntz's Original Lager, and one or two of Kuntz's Fine Sparkling Ale delivered to your home. Liquor dealers most everywhere in Canada sell Kuntz's Products. All the leading hotels, cafés, and clubs serve them. Kuntz's Beverages are popular wherever good beer is enjoyed.

JAKE JACOBSON MADE PRETTY HIT

But St. Thomas Pitcher Had to Pay Fine of $2.

St. Thomas, Sept. 5.—A rather interesting case was heard at police court when Albert Jacobson, of the St. Thomas ball team's pitching staff, was charged with blackening the eye of Charles O. Stanley, the club's president. It appears that Jacobson had received an offer to go to his home in Decatur, Ill., and finish the season pitching for that team in the Three I. league, which has yet another month to run. As it meant $200 to to him, Jake naturally was anxious to accept and the management was not averse to his going, but stipulated that as Decatur was taking him before the local directors were through with him, Decatur should assume the cost, about $20, of Jacobson's transportation from this city. Jacobson had an agreement that his transportation home should be borne by the club here. For a time President Stanley and the pitcher couldn't see eye to eye in the matter, and when they met on Monday evening there were warm words and the blow.

When Pitcher Jacobson appeared in police court on complaint of President Stanley, he pleaded not guilty and told Magistrate Glenn that he had struck the blow in self-defence. The president, he said, had made a pass at him, but did not strike, and had called him a name he didn't like.

President Stanley exhibited the eye as a souvenir of the occasion and as evidence that "Jake" had landed.

Magistrate Glenn assessed "Jake" $2 and after it was paid the parties settled up their financial differences and Jacobson left to join the Decatur team.

BREEZES FROM THE DIAMOND

The record of the Peterborough club since August 9 was 16 games won and 9 lost. This was rather remarkable for a tail end aggregation that was so utterly disorganized before Davie Rowan took charge of it.—Ottawa Citizen.

Ed. Renfer also shook the dust of Ottawa from his sandals yesterday. He goes to Providence of the International League. Renfer played with Toronto two years ago under the name of Wilson.—Ottawa Citizen.

Guelph is said to be after Louis Cook as manager for next season.

Napoleon Lajoie, Cleveland's star middle sacker, was 37 years old yesterday. Seven years ago Rube Waddell, then of the Athletics, fanned 17 Bostons in 13 innings, held them to three hits, but lost the game [illegible].

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY ITEMS

Tenders are being called for piping systems pipe tunnels, pipe covering, and wiring ducts for the car shop plant of the Winnipeg railway shops by the National Transcontinental Commission.

One of the engineers employed in surveying a route for the Southern New England railway, in the state of New Hampshire, when interviewed the other day, made the following candid statement with regard to the policy of the road:—"Grades," he remarked, "are of much more importance than small towns and villages and it has been said by those in authority that they do not care if the railway does not have a station in New Hampshire, if it can only get through the State. The development of New Hampshire, or its local business is the last thing which the company has in mind. Under the terms by which the Grand Trunk is subsidized it is compelled to deliver its export freight to Canadian ports when they are open, but the imports of Boston will furnish some rich pickings for westbound traffic, and this they have an eye on."

Passenger officials are in receipt of a report from Western Saskatchewan which states that harvesting is now becoming general there, and that some of the heaviest yields of oats and flax in the history of the district are being reaped. "Many oat crops," it reads, "will average around and over 100 bushels to the acre. Early sown flax will easily average 22 bushels, but late sown flax may lower the average yield of this grain to 16 bushels to the acre. Early sown and summer fallow crops of wheat will also be excellent, in fact there are practically no crops which will be below 22 bushels. Late grown is ripening rapidly. The labor problem is causing anxiety. Those harvesters who have arrived have been quickly snapped up, and government and railroad assistance is being requested to rush in a big supply of men.

Preparations are being made at Battleford, Sask., for a monster celebration in honor of the Grand Trunk Pacific's entry into that town early in September, that will also include the formal opening of a new town hall, costing $50,000. The presence of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Hon. Walter Scott, and other members of the Provincial Cabinet is hoped for, and the railway is being asked to run a special excursion train for the occasion from Winnipeg.

The plans of the G.T.P. provide for a three stall round house and freight sheds as well as an industrial spur track. Fifty miles of grading on the Cut Knife branch from Battleford is well under way, and it is anticipated that steel will be laid this fall in time to take care of the crops from the Prongua and Cut Knife districts.

Notwithstanding the fact that Melville has the largest yards in the prairie section of the Grand Trunk Pacific, west of Winnipeg, it has now been found necessary to increase their capacity, while six stalls are to be added to the round house at that point.

There arrived recently at Prince Rupert the largest shipment of creosoted piles ever sent so far north. These are to be used for bracing the piles of the new government dry dock in the course of construction, and made up a total shipment of nearly 500,000 feet of lumber.

DEATH OF MR. R. A. SAUNDERSON

The death took place recently at Cass Lake, Minn., of Robert Alexander Saunderson, who left Peterboro over a year ago, to reside in Grand Forks, Dakota. He had been a Grand Trunk engineer. In January last, he underwent a serious operation and after this only partially regained his former health. He removed to the pine country in northern Minnesota, but passed away on Sunday, August 18.

A wife and three children survive.

INDEPENDENT FORESTERS MAKE FINE SHOWING

Notes From Society Row at the Toronto Exhibition.

Judging from the great interest taken in the coming meeting of the Sovereign Grand Lodge of the Independent Order of Oddfellows at Winnipeg this month, the gathering should prove to be one of more than usual importance, and will illustrate fully the popularity of this world-wide fraternal and beneficial institution, which is admitted to be the greatest of its kind in history. From all over America came the members of the Society to attend the exhibition and then to travel to the western City for the annual meeting. At the tent of the Order on the Exhibition grounds, were registered some of America's most prominent citizens, while every hour the tent was crowded with the many patrons of the fraternity. As in other years, the Independent Order of Oddfellows provided a very comfortable place for their guests to rest during the day, and all were looked after with the greatest of care, and the visitors were loud in their praise of the officers in charge of the bureau. The Independent Order of Oddfellows is now one of the strongest fraternal and beneficial orders in the world. Every year sees it expanding and embracing many new members and lodges. The amount of work accomplished by its members and assistance rendered to the needy cannot be estimated. Each lodge is practically a charitable institution in itself, and works in a quiet, unassuming manner that never throws the limelight of publicity on the workers. In fact, so great are the expenditures of the Order, that the actual payments for benefits and relief alone this year will equal fully $6,000,000. By this enormous expenditure it will readily be seen that the Order is one that should commend itself to every man, and especially to those who have a family dependent upon them for support. When a man becomes a member of one of the most prominent organizations in the history of the world, but he is also conferring upon himself and his family, benefits that, in the case of illness or accident will not leave them to face the future in want. The ideals of the Order will commend themselves to the community at large, and the well-known insignia of the brotherhood is the three links, symbolical of friendship, love and truth, which might be aptly termed the "Three Graces" of modern society. Some idea of the appreciation that this Order has received from the world at large is evidenced in the great interest that the men of the world have taken in the organization and the extraordinary large number of candidates who are monthly being initiated into its mysteries and secrets. In no case are any canvassed by a member to join the society, but each must come of his own free will, absolutely unsolicited.

The Independent Order of Foresters seemed to be the centre of attraction in Society Row yesterday afternoon, it being the day that their Supreme Secretary-Treasurer, Mr. R. Mathison, held an informal reception, when many members and their friends availed themselves of the opportunity of greeting the Supreme Secretary-Treasurer.

It was most gratifying to note how familiar he was with the many members by being able to call them by their names. He also expressed to the members who called his hearty appreciation of the loyalty and co-operation tendered the Supreme Chief Ranger and the executive in assisting them to make their proud record for 1911, and he might well call it a proud record for the year, they having paid during the year 1911 to beneficiaries $2,316,740.74; in disability benefits, to members who were pronounced permanently and totally disabled, $114,971.31; to their old members who had reached their seventieth birthday, $244,209.06, and in sick and funeral benefits to members who were laid aside with various illnesses, not less then $277,504.54, and after paying all these benefits to the members and the families of deceased members, they were able to lay aside $1,897,827.09, which makes their reserve fund now over nineteen millions of dollars—a marvelous record, and a record that should inspire every individual member of such an institution to go out and work with more determination than ever, and if possible try and make a still better record for the present year.

Many souvenir flags were disposed of, and any of the members and friends who have not yet received one, all they have to do is call at the tent, where they will receive a royal welcome and one of these souvenir flags, which will remind them of the visit they made to the I.O.F. tent during the Fair of 1912.

RECEPTION FOR THE CONGREGATION

On Thursday afternoon and evening, the parsonage of Charlotte st. Methodist church was informally thrown open by Rev. and Mrs. Mansell, who were at home to all the members of the congregation. The reception was the first convenient opportunity for many of the congregation to meet the recently arrived pastor and his wife.

Mr. and Mrs. Mansell welcomed the visitors, in simple but cordial style.

Mrs. Mansell was assisted in the receiving and at supper by former Brantford friends.

This afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. Mansell will again be at home to the congregation.

Don't attempt to light your path through life by burning the candle at both ends.

ST. LUKE'S CHURCH NOTES

Harvest Festival to be Held on Thursday September 19.

St. Luke's harvest festival is arranged to take place on Thursday evening, September 19th, when the special preacher will be the Rev. James E. Broughall, rector of Grace church, Toronto.

At St. Luke's church on Sunday morning a brass tablet is to be dedicated in memory of the late Robert Hamilton. Rev. Dr. Langfeldt will be the preacher at the service.

BROTHER OF LOCAL BARBER IS DEAD

Mr. Wm. Haskill Arrived Home Before End Came.

Mr. Wm. Haskill, a barber at Bruce Patterson's shop on Charlotte street, received news by telegram this week of the serious illness of his brother in Chatham Ont. An operation for appendicitis was performed upon the young man, from which he failed to rally and his death occurred this morning in Chatham. Mr. Haskill on receiving the news here of his illness immediately left for home and was there when his brother died.

The late Mr. Haskill was the youngest of a family of fourteen and his death makes the first break in the family circle.

Bandit May Die.

New Orleans, La., Sept. 6.—Suffering, from a severe scalp wound, the bandit, who, single handed, robbed the New York Limited train on the Louisville & Nashville Railroad, 22 miles east of New Orleans, Wednesday night, later to be felled by the locomotive driver, was brought to New Orleans yesterday morning and placed in the Charity Hospital.

The bandit said that his name was Howard E. Edwards, and that his family lived in Jupiter, Fla. He gave the police information that is expected to lead to the early capture of three other members of a gang which is believed to have been responsible for a series of sensational train robberies in this section.

Edwards is in a precarious condition and attendants at the hospital declared it doubtful whether he would recover from his injuries.

Rowell Congratulated.

Toronto, Sept. 5.—"We congratulate Mr. Rowell and the Liberal party of Ontario on the adoption of the temperance policy of the abolition of the bar and the effective control of the residue of the traffic which harmonizes so closely with the policy of our own church; and we assure any party adopting such a policy of our enthusiastic support."

This resolution was moved by Rev. G. A. Woodside of Brampton, and unanimously adopted by the Board of Social Service and Evangelism of the Presbyterian Church at yesterday's closing session of the board's annual meeting.

HAPPY THOUGHT

PERFECT BISCUIT BAKING NEED NOT BE DIFFICULT

It all depends on the heat your oven gives.

Ranges with slow ovens are all right for some kinds of biscuits. But an oven that is chronically slow simply ruins others, and it is useless for many purposes.

Other stoves bake beautifully on one side and not on the other. So you can never depend on them.

"Happy Thought" Ranges are perfect bakers.

If you want a slow oven, a slow fire will produce the desired result. If you want a very hot, quick oven, just build up the fire and keep it going strong for a little while.

This feature saves you money in two ways:

It saves fuel by making it unnecessary to use too much, and by giving you the full heat value of every ounce of fuel.

It saves the food material by ensuring just the right result, no matter what part of the oven you use.

More than a Quarter Million Canadian women use the "Happy Thought" every day.

POULTRYMEN HEARD REPORT OF THEIR DELEGATE

Youngster Night the First Thursday in October.

The Peterborough Poultry Association held its regular monthly meeting last night. The attendance was fair, considering the threatening state of the weather. Mr. Joe Kelly, as delegate to the annual meeting of the Confederation of Poultry Associations, held in Toronto last week, gave a very satisfactory report of the proceedings. Several of the members present last night told of their experiences and success at the Toronto Exhibition, and not a few of the Peterborough birds carried off prizes, which all goes to show that since the organization of the Association in this city there are many varieties of birds which have been brought to a higher standard of breeding, and the Peterborough birds are second to none.

At the next meeting, which will be held the first Thursday in October, there will be a large number of chickens on exhibition at the hall. This is what is called "Youngster Night," when the boys bring this year's chicks and have them judged and compare notes, as it were, and learn of the success or failure, as the case may be, of their endeavors to breed and rear a better class of fowl. It is to be hoped that the members will take advantage of the benefits to be derived from attending the October meeting. All varieties of chicks will be admitted, so take a pair of your youngsters, and be there on time. 8 p.m.

AUTO TRUCK FRIGHTENED COLTS

Sulky Plow Upset on Farmer When Animals Bolted.

Mr. Samuel Blakely, of Ida, met with an accident recently when he was riding on his sulky plow.

An auto truck, owned by local people, came along the road at a lively clip and frightened the team of colts, with the result that they bolted to the side of the road.

Mr. Blakely was thrown from the seat; the plow overturned on him and he was dragged along the ground for some distance. Mr. Blakely feels that he is warranted in prosecuting.

ANCIENT CAPITAL BIDS WELCOME TO BORDEN

City Fathers and Cheering Crowds Lay Aside Politics In Their Effort to Honor the Canadian Prime Minister—Messrs. Borden and Pelletier Reply to Address But Absolutely Refuse to Discuss Naval Question.

Quebec, Sept. 7.—Quebec gave a remarkable reception yesterday afternoon to Hon. R. L. Borden, Premier of Canada, on his arrival from the old country. Quebec was the first to greet him, and Quebec certainly did so in splendid style, the hospitality of the ancient capital being exhibited in its most brilliant manner. Last night Mr. Borden sped on his way to Three Rivers on the steamer Lady Grey, where another reception awaited him.

The demonstration on behalf of Mr. Borden was devoid of politics. It was purely a civic one, and many Liberals as well as Conservatives did honor to the man who is now at the helm of Canadian politics. Accompanying Mr. Borden was Hon. L. P. Pelletier, and most of the Cabinet Ministers were present here to receive the returning Ministers.

Disembarking from the steamer Victorian, the Premier was landed by the Government steamer Lady Grey on the King's Wharf, where he was met by the mayor and aldermen and many leading citizens and escorted to the city hall. The parade of carriages and automobiles was a most imposing one, and as the Premier passed through the gaily decorated streets he was repeatedly cheered by the crowds which had assembled.

The council chamber of the city hall had been transformed into a veritable fairy palace. The drapings and decorations, which had been used on the occasion of the visit of the present King when he came to Quebec for the tercentenary, were again brought into use, and amidst a myriad of electric lights, palms, ferns and flowers the Premier was acclaimed by a crowd which thronged the large chamber. It was a brilliant scene when the Premier, accompanied by Mrs. Borden and Mr. Pelletier and Mrs. Pelletier, entered. The Premier and party were received with a roar of cheers, and the band of the Royal Canadian Garrison Artillery rendered "O Canada." From the end of the hall flashed out the motto, in colored lights, "Hommage de Quebec au Hon. R. L. Borden."

Mayor Drouin read the address and Mr. Borden replied. When he started his remarks in French he was loudly cheered. In replying, Mr. Borden expressed the sincere appreciation of himself and his colleagues for the cordial and gracious reception which the City of Quebec was extending them. Mr. Borden referred to the great opportunity which Quebec offered for development.

Hon. Mr. Pelletier referred to the entente which now existed between England and France, and which had been brought about by Canada. To-day England and France, formerly enemies, were walking together hand in hand, and his experience in France in connection with the settlement of the cable rates question had been greatly facilitated by the good feeling which now existed.

Mr. Borden and party embarked on the Lady Grey shortly before six o'clock and started on his trip up the river.

The Premier would not discuss public questions. He had, he said, a remarkably pleasant trip, but upon the German war scare or any other matters he had only his usual pleasant way of saying that he had nothing to say. Last night many buildings were illuminated in honor of the day's proceedings.

In regard to the naval policy, Premier Borden said the people must continue to speculate as to when it would be announced to the country. It would be decided when the full facts and details of the British situation could be laid before the Cabinet.

KID McCOY SAVES GIRL

Refuses Reward Offered by Grateful Father.

Special to The Review.

New York, Sept. 8. — When the father of Eva Nevill tried to reward a young man for saving her life at Brighton Beach last night, the rescuer smiled and said, "Put up your check book. It wasn't anything any how," and sifted into the crowd. Before he got away, however, a policeman recognized him as "Kid" McCoy, former puglist.

Navy Program In Fortnight.

Quebec, Sept. 7.—How soon the Canadian Government's naval policy will be announced depends on the receipt of the final budget of information promised by Winston Churchill but it will in all likelihood be within a fortnight.

Can't Keep Progressive Off Ticket.

Topeka, Kas., Sept. 7.—Federal Judge Sanborn of Denver has denied the application for an injunction to keep the Kansas Roosevelt electors off the Republican ticket. The decision reached here yesterday afternoon.

Another Barn Detroyed.

Kingston, Sept. 7.—Lightning was severe in the vicinity of Fredericksburg station, a barn belonging to Mr. Grimshaw being struck. The barn was filled with hay and the contents were totally destroyed. Buildings nearby were saved.

Prominent Canner Dead.

St. Catharines, Sept. 7.—The death occurred yesterday of Harry N. Sheppard, aged 81 years, a prominent canner, he having been in that business until two years ago. He spent several years in the New York State militia. Mrs. E. C. Kidder of this city is a daughter.

Kingston Banifaces' New Policy.

Kingston, Sept. 7.—Three hotels, deprived of licenses in the recent reduction, are open as temperance houses, selling two per cent. beer, doing a good business and escaping the license fee of $500.

PANAMA TOLLS TO BE LOW

Washington, Sept. 7.—Prof. Emery R. Johnson, special commissioner on Panama traffic and tolls, discloses in a report a factor that doubtless will be urged by the American negotiators.

After pointing out the many advantages of the Suez in the way of coaling facilities, low insurance rates for the superior opportunities for picking up cargoes between terminals, and the like, Prof. Johnson declares that the only possibility of the Panama Canal getting a fair share of the world's business is to place the tolls at a figure actually lower than by the Suez route.

These are now $1.25 per ton, so that the rate on the American canal must be sensibly lower than this, and the professor has even mentioned a flat dollar rate for the first few years of the canal's operation at least.

SUICIDE WAS MONTREAL MAN

Brampton, Sept. 7.—The identity of the man who committed suicide on the G.T.R. train near Brampton last Thursday has been established. A photograph of the dead man was sent to Montreal, and the superintendent of police in that city sent word to the Brampton authorities that he was Paul Cluzel, who disappeared from that city on August 28.

Concrete Pipe Faulty.

Ottawa, Sept. 7.—At the judicial enquiry yesterday into the break in the waterworks pipe, Cavehon & Haycock, consulting engineers, who examnied the intake pipe and aqueduct, gave evidance touching the cause of the typhoid epidemic.

Summarized, they alleged faulty construction in the concrete section of the pipe, say there are many leaks, condemn that in some joints recaulking or strand were used on it, assert there were no specifications prepared for the work, and say that pipe for conveying water for a city supply should be one of steel, and not of concrete.

Relative to bacteriological tests, Drs. Drunm and Higgins, Government officials, and C. Laidlaw, a prominent physician here, say they have made many tests of Ottawa water during the past month or more and find it in great many places to be polluted.

BOY WHO WILL BE MIKADO SOME DAY

THE JAPANESE EMPEROR'S HEIR APPARENT

Prince Hirohito Michinomiya—or Prince Michi, as he is generally called—the heir apparent to the throne of Japan, is the eldest of the three sons of the new Emperor and was born on April 29, 1901. He is to be sent to England, where he will spend four years at school and college. He will afterward go to Paris and complete his education on the Continent.

TRYING TO PICK A PRESIDENT IN CUBA:

PROPOSED LIBERAL CANDIDATES FOR PRESIDENT OF CUBA.
DR. A. SANCHEZ DE BUSTAMANTE
MARCELINO DIAZ DE VILLEGAS
GENERAL ERNESTO ASBERT.
MANUEL SANGUILY.

The coming election in Cuba is exciting considerable interest throughout the country. The Liberals are trying hard to pick a Presidential candidate, and thus far the names of at least four prominent men are mentioned in this connection. They are Manuel Sanguily, Secretary of State; Senor Dias de Villegas, Senator Sanchez de Bustamante and General Ernest Asbert. Gomes's friends say Zayas cannot be elected, and may renominate the President.

MORAL REFORMERS CREATE BODY TO FIGHT WHITE SLAVERY

National Committee Will Begin a Vigorous Campaign Against Traffic In Young Women and Will Co-operate With Organizations Abroad—Council Laments Failure of Miller Bill to Stop Gambling.

Toronto, Sept. 7.—At the annual meeting of the Moral and Social Reform Council of Canada yesterday members were present from all parts of Canada, the organizations represented including the Church of England, the Methodist, Presbyterian, Baptist and Congregational Churches, the Trade and Labor Congress of Canada, the Dominion Grange and Farmers' Association, the Salvation Army, the Canadian Purity-education Association and the Evangelical Association of North America. Dr. Carman, general superintendent of the Methodist Church, occupied the chair, and Dr. J. G. Shearer and Dr. T. Albert Moore acted as associate secretaries.

A committee to be known as the National Committee for the suppression of the white slave traffic was appointed to carry on a vigorous campaign against the traffic in Canada and to co-operate with similar committees in other countries.

Gratification was also expressed at the action of the mayor and police commissioners of Vancouver in issuing instructions to enforce the law against the system of recognizing segregated vice districts.

A resolution was adopted lamenting that, notwithstanding the great labor and expense in providing recent amendments to the statutes to prevent race-track gambling, the ingenuity of those engaged in this demoralizing practice has more than nullified the instituted reforms, and by new devices they practice more than ever the evils sought to be remedied. The council, however, added a rider expressive of their finding a ray of hope in the course pursued by the Minister of Justice in his amendment at the last session of Parliament calculated to prohibit the ganting of licenses for race-track gambling without the sanction of the local representative in Parliament.

Other resolutions adopted expressed regret at the death of General Booth and appreciation of his services to mankind and the Kingdom of God; instructed the executive to seek legislation prohibiting the practice of polygamy in Canada, and set forth the need of requiring registration of contagious diseases and of a certificate of physical fitness to all candidates for marriage licenses.

Coincident with next year's annual meeting a moral and social reform congress will be held in Toronto.

GIRL WALKED 1500 MILES

Philadelphia, Sept. 7.—Miss Dora Rodriques, a 19-year-old girl from Amsterdam, is here to-day after completing a walk of 15,000 miles. She has tramped through every country in North America and Europe.

She is the daughter of a diamond dealer in Amsterdam and lived with an aunt in Scotland until three and a half years ago, when she decided to see the world afoot.

Sixty-five unions will be represented in the Labor Day parade at Winnipeg.

Bryce In Washington.

Honolulu, Sept. 7.—James Bryce, British ambassador to the United States, arrived here yesterday on his return to Washington from Australia, where he spent the summer. He was officially welcomed to the islands outside the harbor by a launch loaded with dignitaries.

Secretary Walter Fisher of the Department of the Interior, also arrived yesterday by the steamer Chiyo and was met by Governor Frear, charges against whom the secretary will investigate. The charges, made by Delegate Kalanianaole are in connection with Governor Frear's administration of the homestead laws.

GOT OUT OF HIS CAGE

Toronto, Sept. 7.—The escape of a gorilla from a sideshow and its flight caused a panic in the women's building at the Exhibition yesterday afternoon. One old lady fainted while a younger woman became hysterical.

The animal got loose from its cage at the Don Carlos Monkey Hotel. It is a wonder that several persons were not injured by the man-killing beast. Already one trainer had been fatally torn by this monkey, and the owner of the show, Don Carlos himself, has been terribly mauled in several encounters.

Shortly after one o'clock "Shorty," as the gorilla is called, got out of his cage.

The animal dashed down the lawn behind the press bureau. Crossing to the west he climbed the steps of the women's building and scampered in.

Instantly all was confusion. Women shrieked, chairs were overturned, many ladies climbed on top of convenient furniture.

Don Carlos chanced to be in front of the show when he heard the cries and shouts. Calling in several attendants, he armed himself with a twitch fastened on to the end of a pole and hastened to the building.

In the meantime the gorilla had entered one of the rooms. A man approached the door cautiously and with a bang closed it.

There was a sigh of relief and the women in the building glanced their thanks to the gentleman.

All was not over, however. There were several shrieks from behind the closed door which the man was holding. The ladies mounted the chairs once more. Finally the door was thrown open and three elderly ladies tottered out. One of them immediately collapsed.

After a few minutes' work the gorilla was cornered with the twitch. He was then taken back to his cage.

Sir Charles Healy, K.C.B., Coming.

Quebec, Sept. 7.—Sir Charles Chadwick Healy, K.C.B., the leading spirit in the naval reserve organization of England, was a passenger on the Victorian, and is on his way to visit his son in Toronto. There was a full complement of Ontario passengers aboard.

Diphtheria Victim Buried.

Kingston, Sept. 7.—The remains of the late Patrick D. Fowler, who died from diphtheria in St. Michael's Hospital, Toronto, Feb. 21, were brought to Kingston under special Government supervision and placed in St. Mary's vault.

METHODIST CHURCH FAILS TO GET PASTORS IN BRITAIN

Crisis In the Affairs of the Ministry Is Precipitated by a Cablegram From Rev. Dr. Woodworth to the Effect That He Has Only Persuaded About Twenty to Come Across—Emergency Meeting.

Toronto, Sept. 7.—Rev. Dr. Carman and the other Methodist general conference officers have had a crisis precipitating upon them by a cablegram from England from Rev. Dr. Woodworth. The supply of preachers to fill up the shortage in Canada has vanished.

Two months ago Dr. Woodworth was sent to England to recruit from the theological colleges because the western provinces were in urgent need of a hundred preachers, in addition to the Canadian supply, which was completely exhausted. He sailed for the land of John Wesley with a full assurance of readily filling up his list, and, as a few years ago, he expected to use keen discrimination in making his selections. He found that a new situation had developed during the past half decade. Theological students were no longer to be had for the asking. After several weeks' hard hunting Dr. Woodworth has scarcely been able to secure a score. He is now on the ocean with his little band, the members of which will have "circuits" of vast circumference in consequence.

The critical condition of affairs in the west is similar with the Presbyterians. This is one of the most potent factors in causing the federation movement of the Methodist and Presbytery general committees, the Presbyterians having failed to vote unitedly enough to warrant immediate organic church union.

An emergency meeting of the Methodist Home Mission executive will be held as soon as possible after Dr. Woodworth's arrival to deal with the unexpected condition of affairs revealed by the failure of his mission.

Too Inexperienced, That's All.

St. Catharines, Sept. 7.—In the police court yesterday morning Chief Thunderwater, an Indian from the Tuscarora Reserve, near Buffalo, explained to Magistrate Campbell the reason the Indian cannot control his senses on taking intoxicating drink. He argued that the white man has been drinking firewater for several thousand years and has become seasoned, whereas the poor Indian has been drinking but 400 years, and his system is not yet able to stand the effects. He asked the magistrate to punish all white people who supply liquor to Indians, and stated the redskins have formed a society, the aim of which is to prosecute bootleggers supplying Indians with drink. He asked that a fine be not imposed on these men, but a term in jail be given, as the white bosses will pay the fines.

BIG TRADE INCREASE SHOWN

Special to The Review.

London, Sept. 7.—The August statement of the Board of Trade shows an increase of forty-five and a half million dollars in imports and thirty-eight and a half million in exports.

Sought To Lock Her Up.

Oshawa, Sept. 7.—It was disclosed yesterday that John Bateman, whose wife was found dead in her bedroom Thursday, had made several attempts to have her committed to an insane asylum.

About a year ago he obtained separation papers, and made another attempt to have her sent to an asylum, but without success.

Popular opinion has it that Mrs. Bateman was perfectly sane, but that Bateman has an uncontrollable temper and is subject to fits of fury.

Pending action by the crown, the accused is being held on a charge of assault, occasioning bodily harm.

The marriage of the Batemans was the result of an advertisement for a wife inserted in the Toronto papers about ten years ago.

The doctors think Mrs. Bateman was killed by a blow from a hatchet which cut through the skull.

Two British Officers Killed.

Stevenage, Eng., Sept. 7.—Two more British army officers lost their lives while flying yesterday.

Capt. Patrick Hamilton had taken Lieut. Stewart with him as a passenger in his biplane. The two officers had flown for a considerable time when a strong wind suddenly sprang up and in endeavoring to make headway against it one of the wings of the aeroplane collapsed.

The machine fell to the ground from an altitude of 250 feet.

Hagersville Takes Hydro.

Hagersville, Sept. 7.—The village of Hagersville carried the bylaw for the Hydro-Electric yesterday by a majority of 132. Only four votes were cast against, as only freeholders could vote on this bylaw. The votes polled was not large.

Natural gas has been cheap and plentiful in this locality, and now both natural gas and electricity are expected at a low price.

Scientists Honor Sir Wm. White.

Dundee, Scotland, Sept. 7.—Sir William Henry White, the well-known naval expert, yesterday was elected president of the British Association for the Advancement of Science, which has been in session here for several days' past. The next meeting of the association will be held in Birmingham.

Bright Lights Caused Wreck.

Montreal, Sept. 7.—Word has been received here from the Minister of Marine and Fisheries at Ottawa, ordering an investigation into the action of the pilot, Louis C. Bouille, in command of the Lake Champlain, when it ran aground. The commissioners appointed Commander H. St. George Lindsay, Capt. Nash and Pilot Perron.

At the enquiry, which commenced yesterday, Capt. Kendall, master of the Lake Champlain, testified that for half an hour before the boat ran aground, the guiding lights were obscured because of the dense smoke from the dedges and a passing coal barge with its tug. Also, he claimed, that the light at Dominion Park was so dazzling that it was impossible to see the buoy lights: "These are a real menace to navigation and were the cause of the accident," said Captain Kendall.

It is thought that the proprietors of the grounds will be forced to place a wall between the lights and the river.

SOME MORE SUNSHINE IN THE WEST

Winnipeg, Sept. 7. — An optimistic note was sounded all over the west to-day as the result of bright sunshine and high winds. So favorable are the conditions to-day, in spite of Thursday night's general storm, that "longs" on the local grain exchange were anxious to sell yesterday. Obviously there was a fear that prices would drop and prices of grain cannot drop unless conditions for a big crop continue favorable.

On the Brandon and Portage Plains the high wind and warm sunshine placed the fields in condition for the binders before noon and harvesting operations were general throughout the province. At points in Saskatchewan, especially the Saskatoon district, the situation has much improved and harvesting conditions are far in advance of other years.

Brandon reports 85 per cent. of the grain in that district harvested with threshing to commence on Monday. At many points through the prairie provinces there was no rain Thursday night, but the wind yesterday was general and that is what is required. The temperature, too, is quite satisfactory for farming operations, as it is necessary to dry out the land. From every direction comes a cheery note as a result of these conditions following the storm.

Fear Wheat May Sprout.

Saskatoon, Sept. 7.—Farmers are rejoicing at the much brighter outlook and wonderful improvement in the weather. Old-timers Thursday night were predicting that the high southwest wind, if it continued, would soon blow off the rain, and their prophecy proved true for after a stormy night the weather yesterday was bright and cool with good drying wind.

If it does not get too warm little damage is expected from the rains of the past few days, but should the sun gain power there is grave danger that much of the wheat in stock will sprout —a few cases of which are already reported. Oats in this district will be a heavy crop.

DROWNED IN FIVE FOOT TANK

Alvinston, Ont., Sept. .—Hugh R. Carruthers, aged 40, manager of the Brook municipal telephone system, was drowned in a five foot tank of water yesterday afternoon when fixing a valve in the power house. He was knocked backwards into a tank and held there by the overhead pipes.

To Expand Present Policy?

London, Sept. 7.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—It is definitely stated in naval service quarters, says The Manchester Guardian, that the permanent naval policy, as decided upon by Mr. Borden and his colleagues, while in London, will consist in the main of the Laurier policy, with a representation for Canada in the Imperial Parliament. The Niobe and Rainbow will be better manned.

The naval college at Halifax is to continue, while better provision will be made for training men.

The Niobe and Rainbow are shortly due in England, when the engagement of the original crews will expire. The new crews will be specially adapted to the naval developments which are about to take place.

Cabinet Ministers Enjoyed Trip.

Father Point, Que., Sept. 7.—The Canadian Ministers and their fellow passengers enjoyed a pleasant trip on the Victorian. The last day aboard was spent in games and a concert in the second cabin and a dance on the promenade deck, which was closed in as a spacious ballroom filled in the evening. Mrs. Borden presented the prizes won at the games.

Chinese Troops In Revolt.

Simla, British India, Sept. 7.—It is reported that the Chinese troops in the southwestern part of the Province of Yunnan, which borders on Northern India, have revolted.

Dr. Allan Cameron Dead.

Owen Sound, Sept. 7.—In the death of Dr. Allan Cameron last evening, the town lost one of its oldest and most highly respected residents.

Sickness is usually caused by the accumulation of waste matter and impurities within the body.

THE C.P.R. FINANCING

The question as to whether the Government ought to grant the C.P.R. application for authority to increase its capital stock $60,000,000 on terms that mean a large "melon" for the shareholders is still being debated in the newspapers. Much of the discussion following the type favored by the Toronto World, evades some of the real merits of the matter. Stock market tactics and railroad rates are bundled up in one package, as if in the financing of a great corporation they are necessarily one. Some of the features of the situation which will, we think, be accepted by everyone as correctly stating fundamentals are:

That the price at which C.P.R. is now selling in the stock market about 270, does not represent merely the intrinsic value of the stock as a dividend yielder. At a price based upon the dividend yield alone, the stock would be worth only about $175. It is the hidden assets, the prospective melons, that warrant the market price of $270.

That it would be impossible to place the new issue of $60,000,000 upon the market at any price approaching the present market price, since it is the expected rights which have inflated that price.

That the issue of stock to shareholders is preferable to the issue of bonds other things being at all equal for the reason that bonds mean fixed charges, while stock may receive nothing in bad times.

That it is by all means desirable that the C.P.R. should get as much capital for extensions as the need of the country may indicate. That the splendid position of the Canadian Pacific has lent strength to the Canadian financial position generally, and for the sale of collateral benefits, we ought to be slow to begin a campaign of baiting.

That the annual charge upon the earnings of the railway to pay the regular dividend upon $60,000,000 of stock would be only $1,000,000 or no more than upon a bond issue yielding a similar amount—$105,000,000—to the treasury. That for the sake of this one million it would not pay to force the company to pile up fixed charges amounting to $105,000,000 for this one issue.

This is aside from the question of lowering freight rates. The rates ought to be lowered, because the C.P.R. has been becoming inordinately rich, and its western rates are higher than they are in the east. The trouble is that its charter provides that there shall be no public regulation of the rates until the earnings amount to 10 per cent., which gives the company an unusually large freedom from public action to cut rates. The day is coming when the C.P.R. will be forced, along with the other railways, to remove the discrimination in rates against the west through action by the Railway Commission. On the whole, there is not much to be gained in the rate reduction business from the prevention of such melon-cutting as the one proposed.

PUBLIC OWNERSHIP

One lesson learned by Principal Gordon of Queen's University, while in Europe was that public ownership hampers private enterprise. No doubt the same service cannot be operated both by the state or municipality and by a private person or company, and the one takes the place of the other. But it is not so certain that this is an evil, at any rate in services that are natural, monopolies or readily manipulated into monopolies. A municipal waterworks system, for instance is a natural monopoly, and an advocate of private ownership of this service can scarcely be found. The furnishing of electricity for light and power purposes may not be so obviously a natural monopoly, but where it is privately controlled there is either a monopoly or the objectionable feature of numerous poles on the streets—or both, as is the case in Peterborough, and the tendency is to obliterate competition. At one time there were three power companies here, and by two of the companies there was for a time very active competition. It was said, and perhaps truthfully, that the result of the competition and consequent rate war and campaigns for business was that both companies lost money until they got together on the question of rates. Now there is no competition as to either rates or service, as they are all under one control. If private ownership means either disastrous competition or virtual monopoly, as the experience here would indicate it is not plain how it is better than public ownership. When such services are publicly owned they are managed in the interests of the owners, the people. The incentive of competition is competition for the approval of the public in the management. There is nothing in public ownership to hamper inventive genius in making new devices or improvements, for the rewards would be the same.

Public ownership may not be a perfect condition, but in a choice between private monopoly and public ownership most people will prefer the latter under fair conditions.

NOTE AND COMMENT

The consumption of food products is steadily exceeding the supply, so far as that supply is the product of Canadian farms. The report of the Cold Storage Commissioner to March, 1912, deals with the shortage of butter. Last twelve months we imported from New Zealand over two million pounds. Whence the shortage. A light on this is cast by the remark made by one of the attendants at one of the great ice cream producing plants of the Toronto Fair, who said that the tremendous demand for ice cream lessened the supply of cream available for butter manufacture. He had not figures at hand, but was sure that the fact would account very materially for the shortage of butter. Again New Zealand butter can be laid down for consumption for about the cost of butter plus the expenses of cold storage. Freight and duty amount to three cents per pound. In so far this New Zealand supply will help to regulate the butter trust, if there is one.

by local application, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circular, free.

ENJOYING THE BEST OF HEALTH

"Fruit-a-tives" Cured His Rheumatism

PROF. J. F. DAVIS

563 CHURCH ST., TORONTO.

I want to say to the people of Toronto and elsewhere that "Fruit-a-tives" is my only medicine and has been for the last four years. Previous to that, I had been very much troubled with Rheumatism and Kidney Disease, and had taken many remedies as well as employing hot applications of salt bags etc., without getting satisfactory results.

Noticing the advertisement of "Fruit-a-tives", I adopted this treatment altogether and, as everybody knows, since taking "Fruit-a-tives", I have been enjoying the very best health and find it a pleasure to follow my vocation of Dancing and Deportment Instruction".

PROF. J. F. DAVIS.

Prof. Davis, the celebrated teacher of dancing and deportment in Toronto, is quite frank in stating that "Fruit-a-tives" alone cured him of distressing Rheumatism and Kidney Trouble.

THE SAVIOR'S TEACHINGS
BROOKLYN TABERNACLE
INTERNATIONAL BIBLE STUDIES

PREACHING THE KINGDOM.

—Matt. 9:35 to 10:15.—September 8.

Text:. "He that receiveth you receiveth Me, and he that receiveth Me receiveth Him that sent Me."—Matt. 10.40.

MORE about the Kingdom is contained in to-day's study. Not only did Jesus preach the Kingdom, but He sent forth His twelve Apostles two and two, saying, "As you go, preach The Kingdom of Heaven is at hand."

As the Saviour cast out devils and healed the sick, to allow the people to hear the Message which He preached, and to illustrate the restoring work which His Kingdom will do in its appointed time, He gave the same power to His Apostles.

He told them that the Harvest was plenteous and the laborers few, and intimated that it was their privilege to be all the more energetic because of the great "field" and the few to reap it; but to "pray the Lord of the Harvest to send forth more laborers." That is to say, He wished them to feel a measure of responsibility in the work, even though He Himself was the Lord of the Harvest. So the Master would have us feel a deep interest in the Harvest work now in progress, in the end of this Age, and in the proclamation, "Thy Kingdom of Heaven is at hand."

Harvest plenteous and the laborers few.

These messengers were not to go to the Gentiles, but to "the lost sheep of the House of Israel." Why? Was the Lord Jesus prejudiced so that He cared only for His own nationality? No. God's Covenant promised the blessed privilege of the Messiahship to Abraham's Seed.

Jesus was the Seed of Abraham, but God had another feature in mind in connection with that Messiahship, namely, that He would have associated with Messiah in the Kingdom others who would share His glory, honor and immortality. This blessed privilege, which Abraham could not have fully understood, God nevertheless fulfilled to Abraham's children, as fully as though He had particularly stipulated it in the promise. No favor could go to the Gentiles until after natural Israel had received the opportunity.

Harvesting Then and Now.

Another reason why the blessing should not have been given to the Gentiles was that it was to be a harvesting work, and not plowing, harrowing, nor sowing. It was appropriate, therefore, that the Harvest, which belonged to the Jews, should be confined to them. What was done for the Gentiles was the seed-sowing as represented in the parable of the Wheat and Tares.

In the Harvest of the Gospel Age the reaping is to be done amongst those who have received the seed-sowing. This, therefore, is an intimation to us that the Lord would now have the harvesting done chiefly amongst those who profess to be His people.

Jesus specially instructed the reapers of that Harvest that they should go forth trusting to Divine providence. They were not commissioned to beg nor to take up collections. They assumed therefore that they were merely to accept what might be voluntarily tendered. If they were not hospitably received they were to consider it the Lord's will that they go elsewhere. They were sent to search out the worthy ones; they should keep this in mind. In going from house to house, a prayer should be in their hearts, if not upon their lips, that if there were worthy ones there, the peace of God and their peace might be there. If not, they were to take their blessing with them to bestow it upon those more worthy. "Whoever will not receive you and hear your words, when you depart out of that city, shake off the dust from your feet."

"More tolerable for Sodom."

Jesus declared that in the Day of Judgment it will be more tolerable for Sodom and Gomorrah than for the city refusing to receive His representatives. This implies that the treatment will be tolerable; but why more tolerable for Sodom and Gomorrah and others in the Day of Judgment?

It was Jesus' declaration that, aside from a saintly few who receive His Message gladly, the remainder of the people of that time were more hardened and more blameworthy in God's sight than were the people of Sodom and Gomorrah. The sins of Sodom were certainly grievous in the sight of God, but the sin of carelessness in respect to the glorious Message of the Kingdom is in God's sight an indication of one for whom there is less hope of an eventual salvation.

The Sodomites mentioned by Jesus were not so illuminated as those living in His day, yet He declares, "Fire rained down from heaven and destroyed them all." (Luke 17:29.) He declares that their judgment is still future; and, "In the Day of Judgment, it will be more tolerable" for them than for the people of Bethsaida and Chorazin.

Hydro Demonstration Near Berlin.

Galt, Sept. 6.—Much disappointment is felt by farmers of this district at the failure of the Hydro demonstration at Blair on Wednesday, when only part of the equipment was brought into operation. Hon. Adam Beck, who, with Mr. Clare, M.P., and Mr. Pattinson, M.P.P., shared in the regret at the delay.

Yesterday the whole outfit proceeded to the farm of John Stauffer, one mile west of Berlin, where preliminary preparations were made for a full demonstration which is to be given to-day.

Held By Pirates.

Hong Kong, China, Sept. 6.—A powerful band of Chinese pirates yesterday carried off the master and chief engineer of a river tug and are holding them for ransom. They demand $20,000.

The pirates first fired a volley on a lighter loaded with oil proceeding up the West River near the town of Kong-moon. Then they boarded the tug towing her and seized the entire crew, but afterards released all except the captain and first engineer.

Heavy Odds on Wilson.

New York, Sept. 6.—A cable to The Tribune from London says: Since the result of the Vermont election has been announced, the odds on Woodrow Wilson at Lloyds have increased considerably. So great an amount of insurance has been placed on the probable election of Wilson that the rate has gone to 75 per cent. With the market so full, little further business can be done. The rate on Taft is now 40 per cent. and on Roosevelt 25 per cent.

Oppose Compulsory Arbitration.

Newport, Eng., Sept. 6.—Compulsory arbitration of trade disputes is strongly opposed by British trade unionists, who yesterday at the Trades Union Congress, cast an overwhelming vote against the adoption of the principle.

Nearly two million members of trades unions are represented by the 500 delegates attending the congress, which began its sessions Sept. 2.

Interesting Experience of Two Women—Their Statements Worth Reading.

White Oak, Ont.—"At Change of Life when doctors could do no more and I was given up by my friends, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound came to the front and did wonders for me. I had been having female troubles for years, my head troubled me severely at times, I had bearing down pains and backache and I was very anaemic from excessive flowing. I recommend your Compound highly and do all I can to advertise it as a genuine woman's medicine." — Mrs. SYLVESTER MANNING, White Oak, Ontario.

The Case of Mrs. Kirlin.

Circleville, Ohio.—"I can truthfully say that I never had anything do me so much good during Change of Life as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"Before I had taken one half a bottle of it I began to feel better, and I have continued taking it. My health is better than it has been for several years. If all women would take it they would escape untold pain and misery at this time of life."—Mrs. ALICE KIRLIN, 358 W. Mill St., Circleville, Ohio.

The Change of Life is one of the most critical periods of a woman's existence. At such times women may rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Will Fight It Out.

Montreal, Sept. 6.—The sensational developments regarding the Banque Internationale, with the dispute between the Parisian shareholders and Sir Rodolphe Forget, will now be fought out in the courts, according to a judgment yesterday rendered by Mr. Justice Beaudin. This was secured by the Parisian shareholders when their application for a writ of "quo warranto" was granted by the Superior Court. This is the result of the decision of the recent annual meeting of the bank, when the proxies of the Parisian people, representing 55 per cent. of the stock, were ruled out.

New Self-Measuring Gasolene Tank installed at Banks'

We have completed the installation of our Curb Gasolene Pump, and Peterboro Autoists are now able to secure Filtered Gasolene by the latest improved method. Following is a description of

THE BOWSER SELF-MEASURING GASOLENE PUMP

The Bowser Self-Measuring Gasolene Pump is of the Long Distance type especially designed for outdoor installation and provides for filling automobile tanks or receptacles on the street. It consists of a combination suction and force pump encased in a heavy iron cabinet entirely enclosing it. Buried at a reasonable distance from the pump and connected to it by means of a galvanized iron pipe-line, is a Bowser Cylindrical, Type "C" metal tank.

Pump. The pump is so arranged, that at the option of the operator, an accurate gallon, half-gallon, quart or pint can be discharged at a stroke. The different measurements are regulated by means of a stop lever working upon a quantity dial, which is in plain view and easily accessible. When the pump is not in use, the iron doors which entirely enclose it, are securely locked. This feature makes it particularly desirable for inside installation, as well as for street use, as it provides security and protection from fire and meddling.

The pump is built entirely of metal. The measuring cylinder, plunger rod, valves, etc., are made of selected brass. The iron cabinet is provided with carefully fitted, double swing, iron doors, and when closed are automatically locked. Only first-class, skilled workmen are employed, so that the material and workmanship are of the highest order.

ROSEDALE

My Western avenue subdivision being nearly all sold, I now want to sell Rosedale en bloc and I am prepared to give a bargain, price and terms that cannot fail to make an active poor man rich or a rich man very much richer. I will give Peterboro Real Estate Brokers and Speculators until 17th inst to decide before offering to outsiders. A wise man will act at once, because nature made Rosedale's destiny for a High Class Residential District superior to all others. Call for particulars, then see what I am offering and you will be very glad to buy.

SUSPICIOUS ACTIONS OF MAN SUSPECTED AS PEEPING-TOM

He Stood in Front of a Window for Half an Hour—Budget of Drunks Fined.

When a charge of being disorderly was registered against Wm. Porters, this morning, it looked as if he would be convicted of being the man who has been causing consternation by window peeping.

Robert Morrison, a foreman of the Canadian General Electric Company, claimed that Porters stood for half an hour outside of the parlor window of his residence at the corner of Bolivar street and the boundary road, about 11.20 last night. Mr. Morrison's children had retired and they happened to see the man standing outside, just before they went to bed. They informed their father, who watched the man for about ten minutes and then phoned the police. When the officers hove in sight, the man walked towards them.

Chief Thompson remarked that numerous complaints had been received from that district, regarding a man, who had been doing considerable window peeping. He said that Porters' appearance tallied closely with the description of the would-be Jack-the-Peeper

The defendant was discharged by Magistrate Dumble, with a warning that the police would keep their eye upon him.

He is a pay clerk in the Canadian General Office, and is a rather respectable appearing man.

He explained that he did considerable studying, and might have halted at Mr. Morrison's house during a period of mental abstraction.

DISCHARGED

David Bowler was also discharged with some advice, after pleading guilty to a charge of being drunk.

HIS WIFE SENT HIM.

Edward Park vehemently asserted that his wife in England sent him to this country. He was in court a couple of days ago for being drunk and paid a $2 fine. He was remanded a week.

"What do you mean by it said His Worship to James Keegan, charged with being drunk.

"I don't know," was his reply.

He has a wife in Belleville to support, where he recently worked for the Cement Company.

His Worship thought that a remand till Monday would give him a chance to sober up, and instructed him to ponder deeply on the folly of chasing the booze.

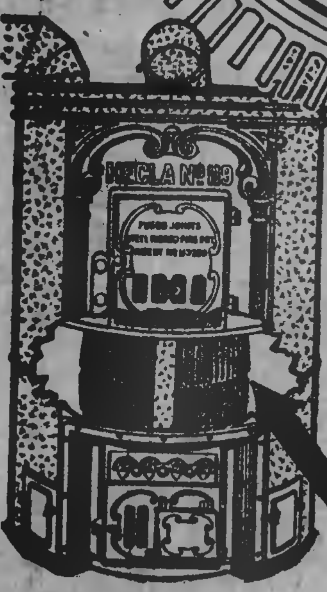
Saves one ton in seven

Figure up your annual coal bill, divide it by seven, and you have the amount the Hecla Furnace will save you every year. ¶ The steel-ribbed fire-pot does it. Adding steel ribs to the fire-pot increases its radiating surface three times more than is possible by any other method. The steel-ribbed fire-pot heats the air quicker. It sends the heat through the registers instead of up the chimney. ¶ Examine the Hecla. Compare it with other Furnaces. ¶ You will find every feature that makes for convenience and ease of operation. But the Hecla is the only one that has the Steel-ribbed Fire-pot—the fire-pot which saves thousands of users one ton of coal in seven.

Section of fire-pot showing ribs of steel plate which save 1 ton in 7.

HECLA FURNACE

No Gas or Dust



Burns wood as well as coal.

And this furnace cannot possibly leak gas or dust. The joints, usually bolted or cemented, are fused in the Hecla in a perfectly tight joint. Time and service cannot loosen the Fused Joint. The fusing welds the Hecla Radiator into one piece.

Our Booklet "Comfort & Health" should be in the hands of everyone who has a heating problem to solve. It will be sent free of charge.

BROTHER OF PETERBOROUGH LADY DIED UNDER SAD CIRCUMSTANCES

A St. Catharines dispatch says — Dr. Sheahan was driving out to the Consumptive Sanitarium this morning; when near the institution he found a man lying by the roadside, apparently dying. The doctor took the poor fellow to the Sanitarium, where he died shortly afterwards.

He proved to be Peter McCullen, a coremaker at McKinnons. McCullen had been suffering from consumption and was treated at the Sanitarium. Feeling improved in health, he decided to leave about a week ago and return to work. He became ill again, however, and it appears started back for the Sanitarium this morning, but was overcome by weakness and succumbed on the way.

It is said that the deceased's wife lives in Toronto, and he has a brother, Thomas, there as well. His sister Mrs. Mary Brooks, lives in Peterboro.

TREAT FOR THE YOUNG PEOPLE

Interesting Meeting in Knox Church on Monday Night.

Many have heard of the famous young people's conference that is held every year in Whitby College. There every summer at the beginning of July several hundred young people from the various churches and from every part of the province assemble to train for future service in the churchs. A number of the young people from Peterborough have attended the conference each year and they have decided to give a good opportunity to all the young people of the city to see for themselves what the Whitby Conference is like. They will do this by the use of slides, addresses and representations of the various meetings and classes conducted at Whitby. The meeting is to be held in Knox church on Monday evening, commencing at eight o'clock. Invitations have been sent to the various Young People's organizations in the city, so that all may enjoy the evening and get help for their own Young People's work. Delegates from the various churches in the city and Springville, who have been at Whitby, will conduct the meeting. A most interesting program has been prepared and a large attendance is expected. There is no charge of admission, but a missionary offering will be received.

RINGING IN FIRE ALARMS

Fire, Water and Light Committee Will Not Go to Extra Expense.

The City's Fire, Water and Light Committee met last night, with Ald. Gillespie presiding. There were also present his worship Mayor W. H. Bradburn and Aldermen Gordon and Buller.

The committee will recommend that the Finance Committee pay Chief Howard's membership fee to the International Association of Fire Engineers—$5.

No action was taken in regard to J. J. Turner & Sons' suggestion that a legible notice of instructions as to how to ring in an alarm, be placed above each fire alarm box at a cost of 60 cents each. It was thought the money could be spent to better advantage in other ways and that notices of how to send in alarms from the fire boxes could be advertised in the press if necessary. Committee, however, thought that the general public knows how to send in an alarm.

The matter of sending a delegation to attend the Fourth Annual Convention of the Provincial Association of Fire Chiefs, to be held in Woodstock on September 12th and 13th, was left in the chairman's hands with power to act. The importance of Chief Howard being present was admitted, and he will in all probability be asked to attend.

THE FLIRTING PRINCESS

Merry Musical Comedy Comes to The Grand Monday Night.

The Flirting Princess made a big hit when it opened the autumn season in the Russell Theatre, at Ottawa this week.

The comments on the work of the company are very flattering as will be seen by the following:

The Flirting Princess, as its name implies, is a merry musical comedy, whose object is the entertainment of the "third business man," whose theatrical attendance plays such a part in the inauguration of light opera on the American side of the line. That is, there are in it no problems involving any one of the ten commandments, there are no parts in the play that demand deep thinking. All is true, clear, clean fun, of the kind that a child could enjoy equally with the grown up.

In the two acts of the Flirting Princess are some twenty-four songs and choruses in all. Much of it is the catchy whistling kind, that can be remembered after a couple of repetitions. "Go Back to the Town Where You Were Born," and "What us Poor Girls go Through," as sung by Bulger were especial hits. "Cairo," by Helen Darling," and "Never Judge a Girl by Her Photograph," by Dale Fuller also caught the ear most pleasantly. "The Joys and Glooms" by Eileen Sherridan also obtained an encore of great heartiness.

The dances, too, were novel and caught the audience, and especially the feminine portion of it, as only a new dance can. The "Oogle" and the "Egyptian Turkey Trot," both adaptations of dances that the Orient has sent the west—for almost all new dances come from "somewhere east of Suez"—were hugely enjoyed and applauded. They were most prettily put on by dancers who knew their business to the very last "know."

The Russell management is to be congratulated upon starting up the season with a show as clean, as clever, and as entertaining as The Flirting Princess.

The Flirting Princess will be seen at the Grand Opera House Monday night.

ATHLETIC CHAMPIONSHIPS TO BE HELD SEPTEMBER 14

Annual Competitions for City Athletes to Take Place at Riverside Park.

The City Athletic Championships are to be held at Riverside Park on Saturday, Sept. 14th, for the magnificent trophies presented for annual competition, for boys and young men of the city, by the following gentlemen, "The Howden Cup" presented by Mr. J. J. Howden, for the senior Allround City Athletic Championship.

The "Eastwood Cup" presented by Mr. Vincent Eastwood for competition among the boys of the city who are not over 16 years of age on the day of the competition.

The "Huycke Cup" presented by His Honor Judge Huycke for competition among boys of the city who are not over 15 years of age on the day of the competition.

The "Peck Cup" presented by Mr. E. A. Peck for competition among boys not over 14 years of age.

The trophies are among the best that are up for competition in this part of the country. The winners are presented with a medal and are allowed to hold the trophie they succeed in winning, for a year.

The events in the "Howden Cup" contest are; 100 yards dash, running high jump, 12 lb shot put, running broad jump, 120 yards hurdles, 1-2 mile walk, 1 mile run.

The events for the "Eastwood Cup" are the same as the "Howden Cup" except that the 8 lb. shot is used in place of the 12 lb, and the 1-2 mile walk is eliminated.

The "Huycke Cup" events are; 100 yards dash, running high jump, 8 lb. shot put, 100 yards low hurdles, 1-2 mile run.

The "Peck Cup" events are; 100 yards dash, running high jump, running broad jump, 100 yards low hurdles, 220 yards run.

The scoring for all the above events is done by the point system, every boy gets credit for what he does in each event, and the competitor who secures the greatest number of points is declared the winner. Any further information regarding the events can be secured from Physical Director Thompson at the Y.M.C.A., to whom all entries should be made. Entries will close Thursday night, September 12th.

The "Howden Cup" has been won the past two seasons by S. W. Cannif, the "Eastwood Cup" was won last year by J. B. Mann, the "Huycke Cup" was held by O. Cavanah, and the "Peck Cup" was taken care of by German Phillips.

KITTY HAS NO FUNDS

Arrival of Kitty Company Stranded at Hamilton

Hamilton, September 6.—Hamilton theatre-goers who had secured seats for the Grand Opera House for the production of the Arrival of Kitty, which was on the boards for last night were doomed to disappointment. The company arrived in good time for the performance, but the house remained dark. The reason was that a member of the company, Ed. Woodley, was unable to collect some money which he claimed was owing him from the management, and as a union man called the whole company out, with the result as stated.

Fred R. Wren, a member of the Arrival of Kitty company, and a theatrical man of many years' standing, told the story of the trouble. He said that M. H. Wilkes, the manager, owed him and his wife $160, and together with his partners, Bert Gibson, of Toronto, and William Benedict, of Buffalo, owed them an additional $118, making in all $278. He asked for $25 on account, and Mr. Wilkes at first refused to give him the money, but later came back and said he would do so. Then it was said that Mr. Woodley demanded $20 which he alleged Wilkes owed him, but which the manager declined to pay, with the result that Wilkes closed the opera house for the night, by refusing to play.

Mr. Wren said that, although Wilkes was indebted to him to the extent of $278, he was willing to dress and go on with the performance rather than close the house, and would have done so, had not Woodley taken the stand he did. The company would have closed at St. Catharines tonight, but the trouble last evening concluded the engagement, and the Arrival of Kitty company, as it was constituted, is no more.

Mr. Wren is a theatrical man of fifty-seven years' standing, and will be remembered by the older generation of Hamilton theatre-goers as having played here over thirty years ago, when he was producing Uncle Tom's Cabin then in its hay-day, and other plays.

TO RELIEVE OTTAWA CLUB OF MORE FUNDS

Brantford Expositor: It is pretty nearly certain that at the next meeting of the Canadian League directors the Ottawa club will be asked to explain why players were used during the season which were not owned outright and the property of the Ottawa club. The rules of the league were amended last winter to prevent the use of far-famed players in the Canadian circuit, and the violation by Ottawa was deliberate and defiant. The players used were McManus and Kubat. McManus was recently recalled from Fort Wayne by Cincinnatio, and never even belonged to Fort Wayne, by which club he was sent to Ottawa.

The ordinary course of action in the case of a violation like the present one, is to throw out all the games in which these players or any others in their class participated. That would mean that there would be no flag raised in Ottawa next summer, an it would be a just penalty for a dishonest pennant winner. The Brantford club, however, will oppose action as suggested, but will insist with other clubs in the league who have endeavored to be honest, that Ottawa pay some additional money in the league exchequer as a penalty for winning the pennant with players which did not belong to that club.

PUBLIC INVITATION TO A DINNER SERVICE PARTY

An invitation is cordially extended to the citizens of Peterborough and neighboring places to attend our large showing of Dinner and Tea Sets, to be held during the first two weeks in September. We are confident that the showing will recompence you for the trouble of looking, especially if you anticipate needing dinner ware.

The assortment embraces all the latest shapes and newest designs of decoration. The majority of the sets are of English make, although we are showing many sets made in France and Germany.

The price of each set will be marked in plain figures during this sale, which will enable you to decide which one you table with.

Sale is from two to four o'clock each day.

Dr. Hamilton's Pills Cured

"I think it should be the duty of the schools to teach children how to keep well," writes Miss Nannie E. Naydon, a well-known and highly esteemed resident of Bristol. "Ignorance of the laws of health and the use of improper remedies destroyed my vigor, and led me to the verge of invalidism. I was as a girl ruddy and strong. Nothing seemed to affect me until I was about thirty. Then gas began to form in the stomach. I suffered with bloating and a general failure in strength set in. If I went upstairs my breath hurt. My system was very irregular, and until I grew pretty bad I didn't pay much heed to my condition. Then I got blue, worried all the time, wakened in the night, and couldn't get to sleep again. None of the medicine I took helped me. One day I was reading of a very interesting case like mine cured by Dr. Hamilton's Pills. I took the same treatment. It was just right—didn't physic me to death, but took hold of the weak, sick parts of my system, and set things right. It seems as if Dr. Hamilton's Pills have made me young again, and all my color, spirits, vigor, and health of former days have returned to stay."

Every girl and woman should use Dr. Hamilton's Pills regularly. They help a woman in many ways. Beware of the dealer who asks you to take an inferior pill on which his profit is larger than on Dr. Hamilton's. Sold in yellow boxes, 25c per box, all dealers, or The Catarrhozone, Co., Kingston, Ont.

A GERMAN POSTER

The Minister of Education in Germany has approved a bulletin which is to be used by public boards of health. It is an approved statement of some of the dangers of alcoholic indulgence, and is in the following concise form—

"GIVE YOUR CHILDREN NOT A DROP OF WINE! NOT A
DROP OF BEER! NOT A DROP OF BRANDY
WHY?

Because alcohol of any kind, even in the smallest quantity, brings only harm to the children.

1. Alcohol checks the bodily and mental development of children.
2. Alcohol leads quickly to exhaustion, and makes for heaviness inattention in the school.
3. Alcohol causes disobedience to parents.
4. Alcohol develops sleeplessness and early nervousness.
5. Alcohol endangers the mortality of the children.
6. Alcohol weakens the resisting power of the body, and thereby leads to the development of all kinds of diseases.
7. Alcohol prolongs the duration of every illness.
8. Alcohol continually awakens renewed thirst and on that account leads easily to habits of drinking.

When the last whiskey bottle comes off the medicine shelf; when the last "blind pig" has died a natural death, when the last bar room is closed; when the last church member has signed a dram-shop petition; when the last boy had quit drinking beer or hard cider; when the last doctor has stopped writing whiskey prescriptions—then the temperance people can afford to fold their arms and sit down the rest. Until then, they had better be up and doing—Union Signal.

BOOZE AND BUSINESS

The liquor traffic wins victories by the financial appeal.

Their advocates talk of industries—business—taxes and revenue,

They only alarm the mercenary by the cry; "Increased taxes"—"business killed."

The financial fears aroused are never realized, but they make votes.

The financial advantage is all in favor of closing the saloons.

We challenge the liquor men to truthfully name a Californian town that has been "dry" two years that has not benefitted financially.

Men should be willing to pay more taxes in money and less taxes in boys and girls.

How much additional annual taxes would you have to pay, if your saloons were closed? If you, for that reason, vote for saloons, that amount is the price for which you sell your vote.

A town of a thousand population that licenses saloons for one thousand dollars total annual revenue, and turns over its people to be debauched by liquor, values folks at one dollar per head.

Would you be willing to sell a man the privilege of debauching your boys for one thousand dollars? No Then why sell him the privilege of debauching your neighbor's boy?

If you could make or save one hundred dollars and lose your boy by voting for license, or would lose one hundred dollars and save your boy by voting against license, how would you vote.

Are not men and women, boys and girls worth more than dollars?

Men support the saloon to make money and to protect money; we oppose the saloon to make men and protect men.

The greatest political issue to-day is between the protection of property interests and the protection of personal interests.

Will you sell your vote, that should be cast for the moral welfare of your community, for a few paltry dollars?

Vote No Saloon License and Conserve Moral Character.
—California Searchlight.

BEAUTIFUL EYES

are made beautiful by long, silky lashes and well defined, lustrous brows. Eyes, like diamonds, depend on their setting. The beauties of the face are lost is the eye brows are thin and scanty, and the lashes are thing and scanty. Parisian Lash Lustre grows beautiful, soft, silky lashes. It has done so for society women throughout Europe, and it comes here well recommended to do the same for you. Parisian Lash Lustre is not a dye or colorater, but a scientific preparation for beautifying the eye lashes and brows. Our guarantee goes with every box of Parisian Lash Lustre. A two weeks' treatment will bring beauty to your eyes that you have never before possessed. By mail, prepaid, in opal boxes on receipt of price, fifty cents. B. V. PASSING OF REV. W. S. JAMIESON

The Guelph Herald gives further particulars of the death at Palmerston of Rev. W. S. Jamieson, whose sudden passing was noted by the Review:—

Rev. Walter S. Jamieson, of Palmerston, chairman of Palmerston District of the Methodist church, died quite unexpectedly Wednesday morning at the parsonage. He consulted Toronto specialists a few weeks ago as to kidney trouble, and was advised to rest quietly at home. His local physician held out good hopes for recovery, but heart failure set in suddenly with fatal results. He was a man of excellent attainments and was counted among the brightest orators in the church. Mr. Jamieson was born at Peterborough and received his education at Goderich High School and McGill University, Montreal. He taught school for five years before going into ministerial work and spent most of his probationary term in Huron District. He has since been stationed at Queenston, Stamford, Niagara-on-the-Lake, Brantford, Hamilton, Tara, Welland, Hespler, Chesley, Durham and Palmerston.

NO MORE DANDRUFF, FALLING HAIR, SCALP ITCH

Men and women—do you want a splendid head of luxuriant hair free from scalp itch and dandruff?

Do you want hair so bewitchingly radiant that it compels the admiration of all who see it?

Do you want a scalp as immaculately clean and bright as a newly-minted coin?

Do you want to use a hair dressing that will surely prevent baldness, that always refreshes and invigorates and makes your entire head feel fine?

Then spend 50 cents this very day and get a bottle of PARISIAN Sage at any drug store or toilet goods counter. Use it as directed and you will never care to use ordinary tonics again.

No poisonous sugar of lead, no sulphur, no injurious ingredients in PARISIAN Sage. Ask for PARISIAN Sage.

Wm. Mahill, guarantees it.

SUCCEEDS REV. MR. GLASSFORD

Mr. Preston G. Orwig is the New Superintendent.

As a successor to Rev. R. J. M. Glassford, the Ontario Sunday School Association has appointed Mr. Preston G. Orwig, as superintendent of the Secondary Division.

Rev. Mr. Glassford, though resigning the Field Secretaryship, still retains the Honorary Superintendency of the Adult Department. While Mr Orwig's special attention will be devoted to the Secondary Division, he will fill all the requirements of a general field worker.

Mr. Orwig is the son of a minister, has a business education, a business experience, and though still under thirty years of age, has had five years' experience as a worker in Sunday school, also in the Boy Scout movement, and in the Boys' Department of the Y.M.C.A.

Mr. Orwig will spend the last half of September in a Training Convention Tour with Mr John L. Alexander, Superintendent of the Secondary Division of the International Sunday School Association, and will report for duty October 1st. He will identify himself with the membership of one of the Toronto Presbyterian churches.

HARRY BARRY COMING THIS WAY

Who is Harry Barry the itenerant umbrella mender? He hails from Vancouver and claims Peterboro' as the town of his nativity, having drawn his first afflatus and caught his many inspirators around the electric town about 50 years ago. Harry has been away seeing the world on a short holiday trip as he expressed it, and is now returning to meet and greet his dear old mother, whom he has neither seen or heard from in 40 years. He said he just stepped off in Lindsay to make a few shillings to have to spend with the boys when he got to his home town and purchase a collar and tie to look clean as it were before going home. He complained of losing his tools while in town, and said he was compelled to close up his departmental store until the articles were returned. He said the means of his livlihood were taken in a spirit of friendly feeling, and would be returned. He was considered more than any ordinary traveller and the result of this visit may be more important than the mending of rain sticks.—Lindsay Warder.

Settle the Range Question NOW —Settle It Definitely

Reason out the whole proposition. State in black and white what you require in a range—what you must have.

1st. The range you are going to buy must be a perfect cooking apparatus.

That demands scientifically proportioned Oven and Fire-box—also heating flues that do not deviate one iota from correct principles in range building.

2nd. The range you are going to buy must be handsome in appearance, yet easily kept clean.

This demands a rich, not lavish, nickel adornment with bold, strong carving, none of that delicate, impossible-to-keep-clean tracery.

3rd. The range you are going to buy must be economical on fuel and a time-saver.

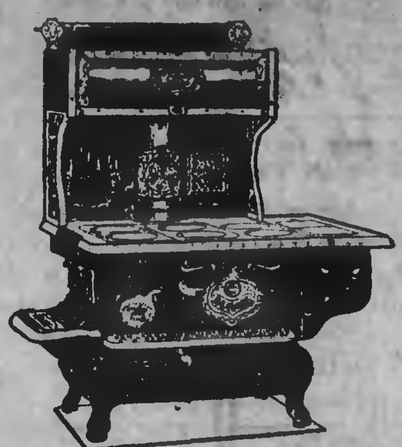
So, you must be sure that the firebox radiates the maximum of heat quickly,—you must know that every cubit inch of warm air is utilized—you must see that the Oven attends strictly to business, with the least possible attention on your part.

4th. The range you are going to buy must be a range of many conveniences.

That demands years of experiment—unusual care—inventive genius and liberal expenditure on the part of the manufacturer before you can get the range of many conveniences.

5th. The range you are going to buy must be a permanent investment.

Therefore, you must know that the material of each part is specially manufactured to serve its special purpose—that every part is tested, then, assembled by stove experts who joy in their work.



"Pandora" Range

6th. The range you are going to buy must be guaranteed by manufacturers with a reputation to sustain.

Investigate, and you'll find that the manufacturers with the best reputation are precisely those who must turn out the best ranges.

The "PANDORA" is the BEST Answer to the Range Question

The Reasons Why

The "Pandora" is a perfect baker and cooker, because—

—Oven, Fire-box and Heating Flues are scientifically proportioned — the temperature always under cook's control.

The "Pandora" is a handsome range, yet easily kept clean, because——The carving is bold—our "Duplex" nickel makes for beauty and durability, while the burnished surfaces remain as smooth as plate glass.

The "Pandora" range is economical on fuel and a time-saver, because—

—Every cubit inch of fresh warm air flows around the oven twice before passing into smoke pipe. Thermometer shows in plain figures exact degree of heat for baking pies, cakes, etc.

The "Pandora" is a range of many conveniences, because——It is furnished with every feature which makes for range perfection, some of them exclusive McClary features. The one piece enamelled reservoir is easily kept clean,—the towel rod supplied is one-third emery—a first-class and handy knife sharpener.

The "Pandora" range is a permanent investment, because——Every inch of material is selected for its special purpose, then, tested before range is assembled.

The "Pandora" range is amply guaranteed by the McClary name. Every McClary agent is authorized to guarantee the "Pandora" Range to give utter satisfaction.

Now, read the column of reasons to the right of this advertisement—don't hurry—read carefully, then, you will be convinced that the Pandora is the range you want to buy because the "Pandora" is the one perfect range—the range that gives utter satisfaction in the kitchen, and—The "PANDORA" SAVES MONEY. Your husband will agree with you. But—you just take him to the nearest McClary agent and he'll buy the range you want—The "Pandora" Range.

INCESSANT RAINS HAVE SPOILED THE POTATO CROP

Buyers at the market to-day were greeted with a large offering of plums and green gages.

One farmer in conversation with a Review reporter this morning, stated that while his crop of potatoes had given evidence of a splendid yield, the heavy rains had damaged them, with the result that they were rotting. This state of affairs, he claimed, was general. He did not think the price would drop any lower.

The prices were:—

Plums, large, 8 qts. for 25c.
Plums, small, 4 qts. for 25c.
Butter, 28c and 30c.
Eggs, 25c.

WEDDING BELLS

BEST—BETTS.

The Winnipeg Free Press gives the announcement of the marriage of Mr. E. M. Best, formerly of this city:

A quiet wedding was solemnised at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Betts, 442 Furby street, Tuesday afternoon, Sept. 3, at 4 o'clock, when their eldest daughter, Ruby Maud, was married to Mr. Ernest M. Best, of New York, the eldest son of Inspector and Mrs. E. E. Best, of Winnipeg. The ceremony was performed by Rev. R. L. McTavish, pastor of Young Methodist church. The bride was the recipient of many valuable gifts and leaves our city with the warmest wishes of a host of friends. Mr. and Mrs. Best left by the evening train for Port Arthur, where they connect with the S. S. Hamonic for Sarnia. After visiting several points in Ontario, they will go to Springfield, Mass., thence to New York where they will reside.

ANNOUNCEMENT

The Ontario Coal Co. Limited wish to announce that they have removed their office to 181 Charlotte St., Greene Music Bldg, where orders will be taken for coal or wood, which will be given the same prompt and careful attention as heretofore. G. K. Rackham, Manager. Both Phones 116. 3d

The death has occurred at Rhyl, of Alderman W. H. William, Governor of Liverpool University and University College of N. Wales, Bangor.

The Vicar of Wakefield

Said that he chose his wife on the same principle that she chose her wedding dress—for its lasting qualities rather than for show.

BUT

The vicar did not take unfair advantage of the fact that her lasting qualities were good by inflicting unnecessary kitchen drudgery upon her.

He provided her with the most up-to-date culinary appliances to be had at that time.

If only she had been able to last about one hundred and fifty years longer, she would have found full scope for her ability as a cook in the use of a

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO DIABETICS

Kamsack, Sask., Aug. 5, 1912.
Messrs The Sanol Manufacturing Co.,
Winnipeg, Man.

Gentlemen,—To-day I write you and am as healthy as a healthy man could be. I was told by several doctors that I was troubled with "Diabetes," and that the only thing for me was to keep a strict diet to prolong my life. But a few days after I heard of Sanol's cure for diabetes, and began to take their cure, as this is the only cure for diabetes, and am proud to say that not only it has done me good, but has completely cured me. I am obliged by the doctors to eat anything and everything and am healthy and live like any healthy man. My cure finished completely on July 29, 1912.

I can recommend any one suffering with diabetes to apply to Sanol Mfg. Co., and they are sure to be cured. I thank you, and I fail in words to express my thanks to you. Anyone wishing to get any information how I was cured and everything about it, may write to me.—Yours truly,

JOE KNAZAN, Kamsack, Sask

P.S.—A word more to the Sanol Mfg. Co.: I feel now just like going out in Main Street, Winnipeg, and "yell out": I was cured of Diabetes by the Sanol Mfg. Co., who have the only cure for Diabetes.

Sanol's Anti Diabetes is the new German CURE. Manufactured in Winnipeg by The Sanol Manufacturing Company of Canada Ltd., 977 Main Street.

SIX ARE KILLED

Motorist Plunged Into a Crowd of Spectators

Newark, N.J., Sept. 9.—Motorcycle Champion Hasha of Fort Worth, Texas, and five others lost their lives as a result of a peculiar accident last night. Hasha and Johnny Albright, a Denver motor cyclist, who was riding third n the race. The other four dead were boys and young men among the spectators.

Five thousand spectators were witnessing the finish of a four-mile free-for-all race, when the daring Texas rider, doing 92 miles an hour, took his fateful plunge.

Tactics Begin in England.

London, Sept. 9.—The most interesting army manoeuvres ever held in England, which it was feared the inundation of the country by rains might prevent, begin to-day and continue until Sept. 20. The repulse of a German invasion as conjectured will furnish the general scheme for the operations, since the manoeuvres area adjoins the eastern coast line. Inspired articles in the newspapers, however, deprecate such a theory.

The area covered will be Norfolk, Suffolk, Essex, Hertford, Huntington, Bedford and Cambridge, although the first week's operations will be confined to Newport and Cambridge.

IS BENNETT BEING HARBORED

Police Hear He is Being Protected by His Friends.

Brantford, Sept. 9.—That Jack Bennett, wanted on the charge of murder at Middleport, is on the Six Nation reserve, and is being protected by friends was the information received by a posse of police from this city who made a special effort to capture the Indian Sunday morning. A dozen suspected houses were searched but no trace of Bennett was found. It is believed his capture will be effected this week, however, the offers of a provincial reward having given a further impetus to the chase. [illegible] has seen by reserve residents on several occasions recently but disappeared when officers penetrated the reserve.

NORTH BAY HOTEL HAD TO PAY OVER $2.000

Inspectors Looked up Receipts at The Bar.

Special to The Review.

North Bay, Ont., Sept. 9.—As the result of checking by the two government inspectors, one North Bay hotel has been obliged to contribute another two thousand dollars to the provincial treasury under the five per cent clause of the Liquor License Act, and the proprietor has been told to brush up on his mathematics and avoid mistakes of a like nature in future.

THE STARS AND STRIPES WITH THE UNION JACK

To-day the Stars and Stripes are draped side by side with the Union Jack over the doors of the Oriental, the house that houses our visitors. That is the way the two flags should ever fly, side by side. The stars and bars is a pretty flag, distinctive and decorative and it stands for a lot of mighty good things, and is the emblem of a thoroughly good people, on the whole, democratic, useful, decent living, progressive, and in all but international politics, pretty square, socially and friendly a good people to meet, generous hosts, who give a hearty welcome. We want them to come again and to put out their flag, for were they bashful in showing it, that country might be misunderstood. They are proud of it, and deserve to be. Showing one's native flag is not meant to be a symbol of arrogance and assumption, but rather a mighty decent label of the land they own, love and respect.

POPE'S BODY, TO BE MOVED

Will be Placed in Tomb in Lateran Basilica

Rome, Sept. 9.—The Pope has determined that the body of Pope Leo XIII., which is still provisionally buried in St. Peter's, shall be removed within the year to a tomb in Lateran basilica, where the principal functions for the forthcoming Constentine celebrations are to be held. Hence secret negotiations have been begun by the Pope's major domo with the Italian police for the necessary arrangements for the removal of the body.

The removal will take place quietly and possibly unexpectedly in the early morning.

Found Body Above Falls.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Sept. 9.—The body of an unidentified man was found floating in the river above the falls yesterday. It had been in the water one week and was that of a man of about thirty years of age, dressed as a workman in blue trousers, blue shirt, black tie, jumper coat and shoes size nine. There was nothing to identify the body

FRUIT GROWERS ARE PLEASED

Warm Weather Greatly Assists the Fruit Crop.

St. Catharines, Sept. 9.—Warm maturing weather the past week has worked wonders to the fruit crop through the Niagara district. Fruit, which before had been at a standstill as regards ripening, has now ripened so rapidly that growers have had to work from dawn till evening. Extra hands have been taken on in nearly all large peach orchards in order that ripe fruit may not spoil.

The fine weather has been general throughout the peninsula all week, this section escaping storms which struck Toronto Thursday and Friday evening. Continuous rain prior to this week has had a beneficial effect on the peaches, which are much larger than last year. Although slightly watery they have a better flavor. Frank Gallinger picked, packed and shipped 1,000 baskets in one day last week. Similar work has been done on many other large farms throughout the fruit belt.

TRIUMPHAL PROGRESS OF THE CANADIAN PREMIER

Thousands in Montreal Turn Out to Witness the Civic Welcome.

Montreal, Sept. 9.—Few more enthusiastic welcomes have been accorded to any Canadian Prime Minister than those which have marked the progress of the Right Hon. Robert Laird Borden since he landed at Quebec on Friday last, until his reception in Montreal Saturday night.

No more ideal conditions could have prevailed than those of Saturday night—the threatening weather of the day clearing at sundown. From start to finish the event was a success.

The spirit of the thousands who lined the wharf and the long route seemed one of sincerity and the tribute paid was appreciated by Premier Borden, who, in his brief addresses at the landing stage and at the reception in the Windsor Hotel, expressed his pleasure at being home again. The keynote of both his utterances in reply to addresses from the mayor, was a continuance of the entent cordiale which exists between the two nations and between the two great races of this country.

HON. R. L. BORDEN

So large was the crowd at the informal reception in the hotel that the original intention of having the Premier speak from one of the windows to the dense crowd which thronged Dominion Square was abandoned as the time in which he and Mrs. Borden had to catch the train for Ottawa was run close.

After the mayor's address of welcome at the pier, Premier Borden took the position vacated by His Worship Mayor Lavallee and read a brief reply in French.

Speaking in reply to the welcome in English, Premier Borden said:

"Mr. Mayor and Gentlemen: I cannot tell you how deeply I am moved by the splendid welcome home to this grand old city of Montreal. On behalf of my colleagues, my wife and myself I sincerely thank you from the bottom of my heart.

"Mr. Mayor, you have spoken in gracious and eloquent terms of my deliberations with statesmen in other lands and I appreciate most warmly what you have said respecting the splendid reception I received, not only in the British Isles, but also in the beautiful land of France. There could have been no warmer welcome in either France or the country which was the home of my ancestors. Long may that entente cordiale continue. It was the co-operation of the two great races of pioneers that made this nation great, so will that co-operation continue in a greater measure and heartiness in all the glorious years to come and ensure the peace among the nations of the world.

"This country is a great heritage handed down to us by our forefathers—the pioneers of a hundred years ago. It is our duty to develop it and transmit it unimpaired to our children. The right of self-government we are sure will never be impaired. But with our great heritage we have, too, our great responsibilities. We must be assured that those responsibilities will be taken by the people of the country so that our place among the nations of the world—take its position in the eyes of the world, which its natural resources entitle it to. The memory of your welcome to me will never be forgotten."

Ottawa Is Ready.

Ottawa, Sept. 9.—The Right Hon. R. L. Borden, Prime Minister of Canada, arrived in Ottawa yesterday morning, having come through from Montreal immediately after the demonstration in his honor on Saturday night. The Premier's coming was known to few and at an hour that prevented many persons from meeting him. That honor will be atoned for to-day when the official civic welcome will afford the citizens of this city an opportunity of greeting the Premier.

BLOCKADE IS PREDICTED

Worst Tie-up in Years Says Grand Trunk President

Toronto, Sept. 9.—E. J. Chamberlin of Montreal, president of the Grand Trunk Railway, and a party of G.T.R. officials, which included Alfred W. Smithers, president of the Grand Trunk Board in London, England, and the assistant secretary of the board, H. Deer, arrived in Toronto shortly after 5 o'clock yesterday.

Mr. Chamberlin is returning to Montreal after a month of traveling in Western Canada. Interviewed upon his arrival at the King Edward he predicted a more serious grain blockade this year than has ever occurred before, but pointed out that it is the facilities for removing the grain from the terminals and not the railways that are at fault.

"I do not hesitate to says," Mr. Chamberlin observed, "that the three railways are in a position, as far as rolling stock is concerned, to move all the grain they will be asked to handle, but it cannot be removed from the terminal points. There is now at Montreal, as is well known, a considerable quantity of last year's grain awaiting removal, and our company has a great many loaded cars standing idle. The labor troubles in England have contributed towards the probable blockade by delaying steamship sailings, but in any case there are not enough steamships to take the grain away with proper despatch.

"As far as elevator accommodation is concerned, as far as it is not required for storage but only for transferring grain from the cars to the ships, everything will be all right. There is no doubt though that better facilities for getting grain out of the country or additional storage facilities are absolutely essential. Railroad cars are not intended for storage purposes but they are obliged to be used for that purpose now."

Mr. Chamberlin was impressed with the harvest prospects throughout the west. "All the country needs is a little clear, dry weather to allow harvest operations to proceed, giving the largest crop in the history of the country.

"At Fort William the Grand Trunk has largely increased its yard accommodation for handling grain and there is now trackage at Fort William for 9,000 cars. We expect the 2,500,000 bushel addition to the elevator to be ready to store grain this fall."

FATHER TURGEON PASSES AWAY

Was Superior of the Jesuit Order at Quebec.

Quebec, Sept. 9.—News was received here Saturday of the death of the Rev. Father A. D. Turgeon, a well-known member of the Jesuit Order, and, up to last year, superior of the society in Quebec. The deceased had held many important positions, including the rectorship of St. Mary's, Montreal.

He was born 66 years ago and had been a member of the order for 48 years. Father Turgeon had been in failing health for some time, his death taking place in Charlottetown, P.E.I., Saturday morning at 11 o'clock. His funeral will take place in Quebec on Tuesday.

Died of Injuries.

Toronto, Sept. 9.—John Merrick, aged 55, of Uxbridge, died in the Westen Hospital at 5.30 yesterday afternoon, as a result of injuries received when he fell off a C.P.R. train at Gravenhurst on August 28.

Merrick was bound for the west to live with his son. As the train was passing through Gravenhurst, he fell off the rear end and sustained a fracture of the head, along with other injuries.

RECIPROCITY STILL ON THE LIBERAL PLATFORM

Special to The Review.

Potton Springs, Que., Sept. 9.—That the Liberal party still has has Reciprocity and Canadian Navy colors nailed to the masthead was indicated at a banquet to Hon. Sydney Fisher here Saturday, at which the chief speakers were the ex-Minister of Agriculture and the Hon. George P. Graham. Those in attendance were largely English-speaking farmers. Messrs. Fisher and Graham declared that Reciprocity was still the leading plank in the platform, and that in future it would become more and more necessary in some guise. Mr. Graham intimated that a general election might come sooner than most people thought, necessitated, as it would be, by redistribution, and it would give the government an opportunity to submit its naval proposals to the people in some form.

LINDSAY BOY TAKES HIS LIFE

Body of William Morrison Found in Scugog River.

Lindsay, Sept. 9.—Yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock the body of William Morrison, aged 20, of this town, was found in the River Scugog, near the G. T. R. iron bridge. Morrison was a clerk in A. L. Campbell's grocery store, and had been granted a two weeks' vacation, and should have returned to duty some days ago. When found his hands were tied, which gave rise to suspicions of foul play, but otherwise indications pointed to suicide.

Dr. Blanchard, coroner, after careful enquiry, considered an inquest unnecessary.

Morrison is survived by two sisters and a widowed mother.

Burned by Sulphuric Acid.

Toronto, Sept. 9.—While helping to clean up the dispensary at the drug store of R. H. Thompson, 264 Yonge street, Roy Anderson, aged 11, of 22 Summerhill avenue, let slip from his hands a bottle of sulphuric acid. It exploded, splashing over his face and neck and into his eyes. The lad was taken to Grace Hospital at 3.45 p.m. Saturday and the doctors there said he had a good chance of recovery and of not losing his eyesight.

CHARGES WILL BE ANSWERED

Suspicion Has Been Directed Against Christian Brother.

Montreal, Sept. 9.—Brother Theodore of the Christian Brothers, Quebec, is in Montreal to-day to answer certain charges alleged to have been made against him by members of the French section of the order at the Mont La Salle, Mother House at Maisonneuve.

Some time ago the story was circulated that grave accusations were likely to be made against a Christian Brother on a charge of having instituted an attempt to set fire to the Mother House of the order in Montreal. Rev. Brother Theodore's name was mentioned in connection with the scandal, and it is to thresh the matter out that he is now in the city.

SIR WILFRED LAURIER OPENS TOUR AT MARIEVILLE

Hopes His Tongue Will Wither Before He Stirs Up Race Prejudice.

Montreal, Sept. 9.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier opened his Quebec campaign at Marieville Saturday afternoon, speaking to an audience of several thousand people from many parts of the County of Rouville.

The veteran Liberal chief touched on the marriage issue, the navy and other matters that divide the people, but his chief weapon was sarcasm, holding up his Nationalist-Conservative opponents to ridicule.

He was ready to spit on his hands and start over, and was prouder of his defeat than his adversaries had cause to be over their victory. The eyes of the people had been opened since they had seen the idols set up on September 21 last so rudely shattered. "Laurier is out of power, and you have Monk and Nantel," said Sir Wilfrid, while the crowd roared. "They said they'd restore the separate schools or smash everything the moment they came to speak, but all they could smash was their own province. Monk announced that he was riveted to his job and that the school question was settled by Laurier."

Would the result have been the same if Monk had talked that way before the election? asked Sir Wilfrid, who then took up the Lancaster marriage bill. He was not anxious to stir up a delicate question. Sir Allan Aylesworth had given the opinon that the question was for the provinces to deal with, and the Privy Council had agreed with him.

Regarding the navy, the Liberal chief said if he had listened to the voice of security he would not have touched it, but he would not have done his duty. Quebec did not see that a navy was necessary, but this country did not consist of Quebec alone. Did anyone say that the sea coasts of Canada were not to be protected? The navy question would remain with us, and he was too old to begin playing the demagogue now.

Continuing, Sir Wilfrid said:

"In a few years the naval question will agitate us no more than the question of who built the pyramids. We have been obliged to embark on a naval policy forced by our national development and by an obligation as a British nation. It is easy to talk of disemboweled babies and to sow terror among the people, but I disdain such methods. Let us talk with calm and with dignity. Nationalists declared that we must have no navy, Imperialists that we must have a purely Imperial one. Between the two we steered our course, a genuine Canadian and British one. We were beaten and the responsibility lies on other shoulders. We were defeated, but the question remains. Whatever is the policy of Mr. Borden I shall never raise my voice to start the war of prejudice, the hatred of the race. May my tongue wither in my mouth before I inaugurate the war of races in this country so blessed of heaven. No faltering, no exaggeration, no defiance, if we are true to our doctrine of old the country will prosper and our party triumph."

In terms of the utmost delicacy, the speaker referred to the reception being held in honor of the return of the Premier, and declared that, if he were connected with the municipal administration of Montreal or Quebec he would consider it a privilege to associate himself with those thus honoring the Right Hon. R. L. Borden. Though at the proper time and place he would fight the leader of the Government, he considered it his duty to give the latter all the respect which his position as Premier and the duly-elected representative of a constitutional authority demanded.

SIR WILFRID LAURIER

The Liberals, said he, were never so united—in fact, they considered it an honor to have fallen in defence of the principles of which they had been the advocates prior to the setback of last September.

The death has occurred at Rhyl, of Alderman W. H. William, Governor of Liverpool University and University College of N. Wales, Bangor,

SOUR RISINGS FROM STOMACH

Those Who Experience Fullness and Pain After Meals, Stomach Disorders, and Indigestion, Should Read Below.

"When I was working around the farm last winter I had an attack of inflammation," writes Mr. E. P. Dawkins, of Port Richmond. "I was weak for a long time, but well enough to work until spring. But something went wrong with my bowels, for I had to use salts or physic all the time. My stomach kept sour, and always after eating there was pain and fulness, and all the symptoms of intestinal indigestion. Nothing helped me until I used Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Instead of hurting, like other pills, they acted very mildly, and seemed to heal the bowels. I did not require large doses to get results with Dr. Hamilton's Pills, and feel so glad that I have found a mild yet certain remedy. Today I am well—no pain, no sour stomach, a good appetite, able to digest anything. This is a whole lot of good for one medicine to do, and I can say Dr. Hamilton's Pills are the best pills, and my letter, I am sure, proves it."

GREEN DISTANT HILLS

An erroneous impression is frequently obtained of what is being done in other municipalities, and to hear some people talk one would think that every city was doing better than their own. For persons of this impression in Peterborough, if there are such, an extract from a letter in the Welland Tribune will be of interest. The writer asks how many factories have located in that town during the past two years, and adds:—"I do not mean how many think they will locate here, but only those who have made definite plans, commenced building, or in some way indicated that they are in earnest in their much advertised intentions." He further says:—"With the exception of the Automatic Transportation Co., and the Ice Cream factory, these agreements have failed to materialise." Whether the writer's opinions as to what should be done in Welland are right or not, we have nothing to do, but to many people it may be news that only these two factories have been started in Welland in two years. We are too prone to exaggerate what is being accomplished elsewhere and to overlook what is being done at home. It has been pointed out more than once that Peterborough's growth in population in the ten years of the Dominion census decade was twice as great as that of any of the western Ontario cities, but the fact is soon forgotten. One of the best means of advancing the city is for its people to be familiar with its advantages and progress and to make them known, and one of the greatest detriments is the "grouch" to whom only distant hills look green.

THE VERMONT ELECTIONS

As might have been expected, the result of the Vermont elections has produced rumors that both Roosevelt and Taft will retire, and the Republican choice fixed upon a third man agreeable to both the regulars and Progressives. We do not think that there is any such good luck in store for the Republican party. Neither Taft or Roosevelt would withdraw from the race considering the peculiar conditions in which they entered it. It is quite true that if the United States goes as Vermont goes, as the rule has been, Wilson will be elected president. The Democrats in Vermont polled about their usual strength, but the Progressives took a large slice away from the regular Republican candidate for governor.

The political situation in the United States is not without some humorous features. The way in which Woodrow Wilson, the high-minded altruist, the man of the lofty ideals, has been shut up on tariff matters by the managers of the party, lest he put his foot into it, is a forcible reminder that after all, the dictates of party interest can swamp the best resolutions a man ever harbored. Roosevelt is having a rather warm time trying to convince the public that Penrose, of Pennsylvania, and Archbold, of the Standard Oil, are such colossal liars that their equals never stood in shoes, while William Randolph Hearst is threatening to throw a few broadsides at him in the publication of some stolen letters. The prospects are that the three chief characters of the melodrama will figure in the voting next November, without fail, and that their order of finish will be Wilson, Roosevelt, and Taft. The sorry figure the president has cut in the Panama Canal affair has weakened him with the saving remnant who believed that there was some merit after all in his "judicial mind."

SELECTION OF PORT NELSON

The selection of Port Nelson as the terminus of the Hudson Bay railroad was almost a foregone conclusion. What few advantages Fort Churchill had were overshadowed by the greater accessibility of Port Nelson, by the fact that when Ontario was given the strip of land five miles wide in the division of Keewatin with Manitoba, it was with the idea that Ontario should share equally with the "postage-stamp" province in the benefits of the Hudson Bay railway terminus. Whether the selection of Port Nelson will actually do Ontario much good may well be doubted. It is true that the Ontario Government is making a big ado about locating the five mile strip and its part of the Port Nelson harbor, but will the Timiskaming & Northern Ontario Railway be extended that far. It does not seem at all probable. The Timiskaming & Northern Ontario is not yet paying the full amount of the interest on its cost, yet the province will soon have to face an extension of the line to Hudson Bay. The advantages of Moose Factory, some 400 miles nearer Cochrane than Port Nelson, have been so apparent that Chairman Englehart, of the T. and N. O. railway, is known to openly favor it as the terminus. What would be gained by the extension of the T. and N. O. 400 miles farther, when an equally good terminus can be found at Moose Factory?

It will be of considerable importance to Ontario commerce, however, to have the government railway extended to James Bay. The Dominion Parliament has authorized a subsidy to a Quebec railway syndicate which proposes to construct a road from Montreal to Nottaway River. This will be the Quebec counterpart of the T. and N. O., and is being aided liberally by the Gouin administration. With the construction of the Dominion government railway from Le Pas to Port Nelson, giving the wheat fields of western Manitoba and Saskatchewan district access to tide-water on a short haul, it will be necessary for Ontario to be first in reaching out to connect with the Port Nelson services by water. If the Dominion subsidy to the Ontario Government railway that was thrown out by the Laurier Senators last session, goes through, there will be a neat egg of $2,300,000 for the extensions.

NOTE AND COMMENT

During the year ending on March 31st last 2,139,844 pounds of butter were imported into Canada from New Zealand, and 929,318 pounds from the United States. It would seem that what the Dominion needs is not wider markets for its butter, but more butter for its market. Ald. Gillespie might enlarge his creamery.

New rules issued by the British Board of Trade require ocean going vessels to furnish lifeboat accommodation for all on board, and to have the equipment for the boats in them throughout the voyage. It seems absurd that it required the loss of hundreds of lives in one disaster to show the necessity for such a rule.

THE MARKET

Latest Quotations in Grain Dairy Products, Live Stock Etc

Liverpool and Chicago Wheat Futures Close Lower—Live Stock—Latest Quotations.

LIVERPOOL, Sept. 7.—The market opened at ⅛d to ¼d decline, being influenced by the weakness in Winnipeg, and forecast of larger world's shipments. Following the opening, there was further pressure, with an additional decline of ⅛d on the cool weather in the United Kingdom and weakness in Buenos Ayres. Toward the close the market recovered part of the decline, with some covering, and an improved demand for American parcels and a better spot trade. At the close the market was steady, ⅛d to ¼d lower than yesterday. Corn opened unchanged and held steady during the session. The pressure of Plate offers, small enquiry for forward shipment, was offset here by the strong Argentine freight situation and the decreasing local stocks here.

CHICAGO, Sept. 7.—Wheat today barely escaped going into the 80's. December delivery sold as low as 90c to 90⅛c, the third day in succession that the low price record for the season has been broken. The market gave way beneath the shadow of the on-coming crop, and closed weak ⅛c to ⅜c under last night. Corn finished ⅛c to ⅜c up, oats unchanged to ⅛c higher and provisions varying from 12½c decline to 7½c advance.

Montreal Grain and Produce.

MONTREAL, Sept. 7.—There was an increased demand from foreign buyers for new crop Manitoba spring wheat, but as cables were weaker at a further decline of ½d to 3d per quarter, the prices bid in most cases were out of line and little business was done. The demand for oats is still good and as the prices bid show exporters good profits considerable business is doing. The stock of oats in store shows an increase of 150,000 bushels, as compared with last week, but this is accounted for by the fact that a lot of American oats are coming forward here for export account. The local market is strong with a good demand for carlots. Flour is steady, with a fair demand for small lots. Millfeed active and firm.

The demand for butter is good and the tone strong. Receipts for week were 15,651 packages, as against 16,610 a year ago. Cheese is quieter, but firm. Receipts for the week were 74,438 boxes, against 63,668 a year ago. Eggs active. Receipts for the week 4762 cases, against 4470 a year ago.

A Broken Scent Bottle

And Its Concealed Romance.

By CLARISSA MACKIE

"Now, Arthur," said Miss Emeline Gray to her nephew, "it is your turn to recite some adventure."

Arthur Clayton lifted a protesting hand. "But I entered into your story of the crystal ball, Aunt Em."

"That doesn't matter. You must have had some adventure of your very own. What became of you that last day in Cadiz?"

"It really isn't a story—that is, there was the beginning of one, but I'm afraid there won't be any end to it."

"Let us judge of that!" cried Mrs. Hanford. "Now, Mr. Clayton, you cannot escape this time. Each one of us has related a tale of adventure that has befallen us during this Mediterranean tour on the Neptune, and it remains for you to tell the last story while we are homeward bound."

"Fire ahead, Clayton," urged Alexander Felton.

"Please do," added Felton's betrothed, lovely Madeline Trayle, who, with her father, Professor Trayle, belonged to the little party.

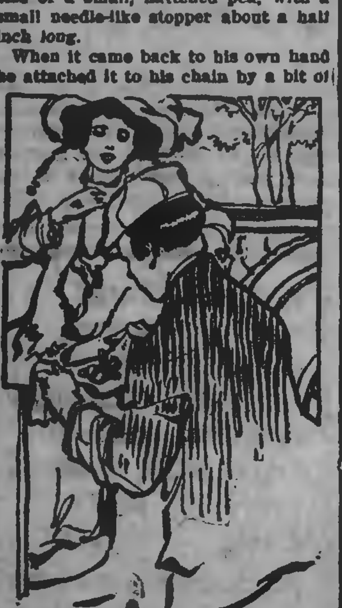
"Perhaps the story has something to do with the little glass stopper that dangles from Clayton's watch chain," grinned Mr. Fenton.

There was a general laugh at young Clayton's expense when he snatched hastily at the telltale stopper and hid it in his palm. Then he suddenly detached it from the chain and passed it from hand to hand.

"Murder will out," he admitted coolly. "Exhibit 1!"

It was a very tiny bit of Bohemian glass, rich red in color, perhaps the size of a small, flattened pea, with a small needle-like stopper about a half inch long.

When it came back to his own hand he attached it to his chain by a bit of twisted gold wire and leaned back in his chair.



TO MY AMAZEMENT, SHE BEGAN TO LAUGH.

"It is the stopper to a scent bottle," he began, "and I did find it on that last day in Cadiz, the very day the steamer sailed, so I had no time to follow up any clews. If you remember, we separated after luncheon, each of us taking a different route and mine led me along the Alameda and then up one of those pretty terraces, where the balconies are overhung with flowers and er—er"—

"And where romance fairly shrieks from every jasmine draped pillar and rose arbor," interrupted his aunt grimly, and Clayton joined in the hearty laugh that followed.

"It was mighty pretty, just the same," he went on, "and I had forgotten that my time was limited and that the Neptune would sail at 8 o'clock that evening. I was just thinking that it would complete the charm of the place if a fair senorita should thrust a mantilla draped head from some balcony and drop a rose in my path when all of a sudden something did drop directly in front of me and shattered to bits on the stone sidewalk.

"I looked up quickly just in time to see the very face I had dreamed about leaning from a balcony. I had just time to note that she was a glorious dark eyed beauty with the coloring of a jack rose, when she vanished.

"Then I looked down at the sidewalk and discovered the object that had fallen at my feet. It had been a scent bottle of Bohemian glass of long and slender shape, but now it was scattered into fragments. This stopper was the only part unbroken.

"I gathered up the pieces in my handkerchief and discovered them to be rich with the precious fragrance of attar of roses. I thrust the handkerchief in my pocket and walked on. It was not until I reached the corner of an intersecting street that it occurred to me that perhaps the senorita might wish the fragments of the scent bottle. Possibly it was a memento of an admirer.

"When I retraced my steps I found to my dismay that these little Cadiz houses were so much alike that I could not identify the one from which the senorita had leaned for the instant after dropping her scent bottle.

"At last I ventured to mount the white marble steps of the prettiest one, only to be driven away as a suspicious character by a wrinkled old maidservant. I daresay she took me for a peddler or something of that sort, for she was quite civil at first, although she did not seem to understand my attempts at Spanish. When I displayed the handkerchief containing the broken bits of the scent bottle she grew quite angry and closed the door in my face. I believe she thought I wanted to sell them to her.

"I tucked away the pieces, resolving that this incident must satisfy my desire for an adventure of some sort, romantic or otherwise, if you please, Aunt Emeline! I was making my way back along the Alameda when a carriage passed me driving rapidly toward the city. I glanced curiously at it, only to glimpse the beautiful face of the girl who had dropped the scent bottle.

"Of course I haunted the shops the rest of the afternoon hoping for a glimpse of the Jack rose beauty. My patience was rewarded at length, for as I lingered in a silk shop the door opened and in she came. She was positively the most beautiful girl I ever saw of that dark type."

A significant smile ran around the friendly little group, but Clayton, whose eyes were fixed on the sunlit water over the ship's rail, did not see it. It was several moments before he resumed his narrative, and then he pulled himself together as if withdrawing his thoughts reluctantly from some pleasant recollection.

"I was standing near the door when the senorita entered the shop, and when she saw me I was gratified to notice that she recognised me at once. She hesitated, smiled and then addressed me rather haltingly in her own tongue.

"My guide book Spanish vanished from my mind as snow before the sun, but I clung desperately to one phrase that I was positive meant 'Permit me to apologize,' and I repeated it as I held out the handkerchief full of broken glass.

"To my amazement she began to laugh deliciously and could scarcely articulate a few sentences in reply. Of course I could not make head or tail of what she meant to say, so I only nodded and grinned and held out the handkerchief while she continued to laugh."

"Do tell us what you were saying all the time, Mr. Clayton," broke in Mrs. Hanford curiously. "Did you find out what the sentence really meant?"

"Why, yes," returned Arthur Clayton, with visible chagrin mingled with amusement at his own expense; "I looked it up after I returned to the ship. And what do you suppose I was saying to her all the time?"

"We cannot imagine."

"'Bring me a cup of coffee.' No wonder she laughed. As I held out the broken scent bottle so persistently she brought forth her silver meshed purse and opened it wide. Moved by impulse, I picked out the glass stopper and tucked it away in my vest pocket and emptied the remainder of the broken glass into her purse.

"She thanked me prettily in Spanish that I could understand, and as I went out of the door I heard her remark to the mystified shopkeeper in perfect English:

"'Poor fellow. He is quite demented.'

"Mortified and quite angry at my own idiocy in not inquiring whether the senorita could speak English or not, I hastened back to the ship and hunted out my Spanish dictionary only to discover that I had been pleading with her to 'bring me some coffee.'"

"Well, do go on with your story, Arthur!" cried his aunt.

"That is all, Aunt Emeline. My story is ended."

"It is too tame an ending. Perhaps there may be a sequel," suggested Mrs. Hanford.

"I am afraid it must wait until I return to Spain," sighed Arthur Clayton. "But she certainly was the loveliest girl I ever saw."

"Where is Madeline?" asked Professor Trayle, looking around for his daughter.

"She went below to speak to Miss Drake. What a pity Miss Drake has been ill ever since we sailed from Cadiz," remarked Mrs. Hanford.

"Emily Drake's a beauty if you want to see one, Mr. Clayton," said Professor Trayle, with enthusiasm—"pure American and perfectly bewitching. She's been abroad for several months and ran across Madeline by the merest chance in Cadiz. She made arrangements to return with us on the Neptune, took leave of her friends and came aboard, only to suffer from seasickness for a day or so. Now she is quite recovered, and I am hoping she will come on deck with Madeline and make your acquaintance. Ah, there they come now!"

He arose and went to meet his daughter, who was accompanied by a tall, graceful girl with an exquisitely beautiful face, lighted by glorious dark eyes.

Arthur Clayton uttered a startled exclamation and stumbled to his feet, and as his eyes met those of Emily Drake they exchanged glances of delighted surprise.

Emily Drake, the American girl, was none other than the beautiful senorita who had accidentally droped her scent bottle at his feet.

When the voyage was over and the tourists caught the first glimpse of the statue of Liberty in New York bay Mrs. Hanford nodded her head toward Emily Drake and Arthur Clayton, standing together at the rail.

"Mr. Clayton said his story was finished," she said, with a smile, "but I am quite sure there will be an interesting sequel to that romance."

"And it was all brought about by a broken scent bottle," declared Miss Emeline Gray.

DENOUNCE SYNDICALISM.

British Laborites Overwhelmingly Defeat New Scheme.

Newport, Eng., Sept. 7.—Syndicalism was crushingly defeated at the Trades Union Congress here yesterday by the adoption by an overwhelming majority of a resolution which the syndicalists strenuously opposed, pledging the support of the independent working classes of Great Britain to political action in the industrial fight for a more equitable share of the wealth of the country.

Syndicalism is the most discussed feature of present day socialism. It is a movement for the placing of means of production, such as factories, mines and railways, under the control of the workmen themselves.

Delegates, representing 1,967,109 workers, are in attendance upon the congress. In spite of the stormy year which labor has experienced in England, the number of members of the affiliated unions represented in the present congress is 304,976 more than the total of last year. Although it is said that the treasuries of the unions are almost empty by reason of the strikes during the past year, the figures given above are considered to indicate that the vitality of English trades unionism is unimpaired.

Method In His Madness.

An Englishman traveling in Germany kept constantly putting his head out of the window of the railway carriage until at length a gust of wind blew away his hat. He immediately took down his hatbox and hurled it out of the window. His German fellow-travelers roared with laughter.

"You don't expect your hatbox to bring your hat back, do you?" one of them asked.

"I do," said the Englishman. "No name on the hat—full name and address on the box. They'll be found together, and I shall get both."

The Most Accurate Frontier.

As an instance of the jealousy existing in the relations between Norway and Sweden it may be noted that the boundary line between the two countries is the most minutely exact in Europe. In every parish touched by the line there is deposited an elaborate plan which is renewed every ten years, the whole of the work of surveying, etc., being carefully repeated each time.

Frail Human Nature.

The judge was in a rage. "I hear," he thundered, "that bets have been made on the result of this case. I won't have such a state of things. All gambling must be stopped within the jurisdiction of this court."

"Bet you a fiver it can't be done!" said the counsel for the defence.

"Put up your money," said the judge, reaching for his purse.

One Family of 20,000,000.

The rapidity with which rats multiply is the main reason why man appears to make so little headway in their destruction. It is calculated that a single pair of rats and their progeny, breeding without interruption and suffering no losses, would in three years increase to more than 20,000,000.

To Keep From Growing Old.

A swindling firm once advertised that it would send for the sum of 60 cents a recipe which, if followed to the letter, would keep folks from growing old. Some credulous persons answered the advertisement, remitting the required fee, and received the following reply:

"We would advise all such idiots as you to commit suicide at about the age of twenty-five."

More Than She Asked.

She—If we are going to be married you must give up smoking.

He—Yes.

She—And drinking, and your clubs.

He—Yes.

She—Now, doesn't anything else suggest itself to you that you will give up of your own accord?

He—Yes.

She—What?

He—All idea of marrying you.

JANITORS IN VIENNA.

These Autocrats Are Paul Prys, Tax Collectors and Jailers.

The Viennese who does not wish to be out of pocket must keep early hours. After ten o'clock at night he is taxed on entering his own house or apartment. The "sperregeld" or door opening tax is not peculiar to Vienna, but is also found in other capitals of Europe.

The 2,000,000 residents of the Austrian capital are practically imprisoned in their own homes from ten o'clock in the evening until six the next morning. They may go in or out only by paying the equivalent of four cents to the janitor or, as the Austrians call him, the house master.

Now, Vienna is built on the flat or apartment house plan. Rich men and working people alike live in quarters of this kind. The houses are large, having five or six floors, usually with four flats on a floor, so that not infrequently there will be upward of 100 persons living under one roof. There is a common entrance from the street, and after ten o'clock at night this door is bolted and barred.

This tax must be met every time one passes through the doorway. There is no exception to this rule. A man who has dine with a friend must, if he stays late, pay four cents to get out of his friend's house and four cents more to get into his own. A telegram in the night calls for the payment of the tax before the messenger can enter.

It is the function of the house master to keep duplicate copies of forms, on which every individual in the house must report to the police his age, birthplace and religion, his exact occupation and other personal details that the Austrian authorities insist on knowing. Nor does the power of the Viennese janitor end here. From the little lookout that he occupies at the foot of the stairs he sees every one that goes in or out. He ascertains with astonishing accuracy the amount of each tenant's income, the events of his private life and the character of his visitors.

In some apartment houses the house master is more powerful than in others. There is a case on record in which an Anglo-Saxon resident was obliged to move from an apartment that he particularly like for the simple reason that he could not venture to speak with any degree of sharpness to the man at his door, even when the janitor was remiss in his duties.

The flat was owned by a railway belonging to the state. This made the house master a state official, to insult whom is a very serious offence in Austria. A reprimand for delaying letters would be construed into an insult, and the foreigner deemed it best to move to other quarters.

Thackeray's Thanks.

Thackeray's playful habit of wrapping rhyme up in prose is happily illustrated in the letter below, which was written to his friend Dean Hole:

"Did I ever write and comply with your desire to have a page of autograph? You're welcome to a quire. Tell your friend the lady I have no pleasure higher than in writing pretty poetry and striking of the lyre, in compliment to a gentleman whom benevolence did inspire to send me partridges and pheasants killed with shot or wire (but whatever the way of killing them I equally admire), and who of such practices, I trust, will never tire. May you bring your bi[illegible] down every time you fire, this, [illegible] noble sportsman, is the fond desire [illegible] William Makepeace Thackeray, Edi[illegible] and Esquire."

Obliging.

A young man who had never testified before was called before the court as a witness in a certain case. He was somewhat flustered over the attention that was being paid him and mumbled his words so that the young woman stenographer could not hear them distinctly. He was told to speak plainly and to turn toward the stenographer.

"Speak to the stenographer," said the prosecutor.

At that the young man arose and with a deep bow to the lady said, "How do you do?"

YOUTHS TOOK AUTOMOBILE WITHOUT PERMISSION

Mr. G. C. Wainwright Found His Damaged Machine in Hogan's Hotel Yard — Lads Who Made Trouble Outside the Roller Rink Were Fined.

Charged with taking Mr. G. C. Wainwright's automobile from a private garage, without the owner's knowledge or consent, two young men, well known in the city, were this morning arraigned before Police Magistrate Dumble. A third man alleged to have been implicated, has left for parts unknown.

Two witnesses for the plaintiff were not present, and Geo. Hatton, who appeared for him was forced to ask an enlargement for one week, Mr. G. N. Gordon, who will conduct the defence, agreed.

Mr. Wainwright said that on Saturday morning, Aug. 17th, he visited the garage with the intention of taking out his car. He could not find the machine, and inquiry elicited the information that the auto was in Hogan's Hotel yard, East City, where it had been since the previous Thursday afternoon. A spring connected with the car was broken and one tire damaged to such an extent that it will require to be replaced by a new covering. A new battery will also be needed. It has cost the owner $4.95 for a new spring, and $11.00 in all for a new battery and spring. The new tire will cost $28.00.

BLACKLISTED.

Michael Murphy was quite willing to be placed on the prohibited list. Detective Newhall submitted the information relative to Murphy's liquor habits.

Murphy appears to really strive to resist the temptation for intoxicants, and remains sober for long stretches.

The charge against him of being intoxicated on Sept. 3rd, was dismissed.

Pleading guilty of being intoxicated, a Lakefield man forfeited $5 which he handed over forthwith.

BOYS MADE DISTURBANCE.

Two young lads were assessed $2 each for creating a disturbance in front of the Roller Rink.

P. C. Sills submitted the evidence which justified the Magistrate's conviction.

Chief Thompson said that the two boys were of a party who cause disturbances around the roller rink, about which so many complaints are received. The two juveniles were scrambling for coppers and indulged in considerable unseemly language during the tustle.

NEWARK GROCERS AND MERCHANTS VISIT CITY

Arrived From Buffalo This Morning and Will go to Kawartha Lakes To-morrow — Their Fifteenth Annual Outing.

The Newark Grocers and Merchants Excursion, comprising about 200 people, arrived at the Grand Trunk depot this morning, and they will stay in town, till to-morrow, when they will leave for a trip over the Kawartha Lakes.

They are now touring Ontario in six Pullman cars, stopping at Niagara Falls, Toronto and other points Peterborough and the Kawartha Lakes included. While in Peterboro they are stopping at the Oriental Hotel, which has been decorated for the occasion.

Mayor Bradburn and Mr. S. R. Armstrong, met the visitors on their arrival at the Oriental this morning and informally welcomed them to the city.

The visitors left Newark yesterday at noon, and spent the remainder of the day in Scranton and Binghampton, arriving at Buffalo at midnight and coming here this morning. They will go to the Lakes to-morrow morning, and are due to leave Peterboro for Toronto at 7.30 p.m.

The trip will conclude on Friday of this week.

The different points of interest about the city, are being visited today, and this evening the majority of the visitors will attend the performance of the "Flirting Princess" the members of the committee taking one of the boxes.

Chas. K. Rath, D. P. A. of the Lackawana Railroad and Geo. M. Ryan, passenger agent of the Grand Trunk Railway, are included in the party.

Shot by Masked Men.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Sept. 9.—Held up and shot through the neck by a masked man as he walked through the park on the American side late Saturday night with Jenny McLaughlin, a waitress in a local hotel, Harold Wallace, aged [illegible], is in the hospital to-day. The police on both sides are searching for the assailants.

When the young couple passed a clump of bushes, two men with handkerchiefs over their faces as masks, ordered them to hold up their hands. Young Wallace struck one masked man square in the face in spite of two revolvers pointed at him. The second hold-up man fired and Wallace dropped to the ground with a bullet in his neck. Both assailants escaped.

Two Dead In Railway Wreck.

Bennington, Vt., Sept. 8.—Two persons were killed, another probably fatally injured and nearly a score lesser seriously hurt last night when a Troy, N.Y., bound passenger train on the Rutland Railroad collided head on with a heavy milk train a mile outside the Bennington Station.

Conferring on Trade.

Ottawa, Sept. 9.—The first conference between Sir George Reid, the Australian trade commissioner, and Hon. George E. Foster, Minister of Trade and Commerce, relative to better trade relations between the Dominion and the Commonwealth, is being held here to-day.

The conference will be continued throughout the week, and while it is not considered as likely that anything definite will be reached, it is thought that some basis of agreement will be decided upon, the details of which will be worked out later.

Fair Attendance 926,000.

Toronto, Sept. 9.—An advance of ten thousand in the attendance over that of last year at the Canadian National Exhibition, which closed its gates to the public Saturday night, brought the figures for this year up to 926,000. The million mark, which looked so easy of accomplishment at the outset, was not reached.

DURING THIS WEEK

The Public are cordially invited to visit our Enlarged Factory, which will be open for inspection between the hours of 9 a.m. and 5 p.m.

LABOR CONGRESS ON AT GUELPH

Kier Hardie, Characterizes War as a Manufacturers Scare.

Guelph, Ont., Sept. 9—Acknowledging an ovation he received on arriving at the City Hall, Kier Hardie, the British Labor Leader took issue with H. C. Schofield, the local M.P.P. who attributed the high cost of living to cold storage, and he declared the increase was due to others taking too much of the earnings of labor and not to cold storage. He also urged his hearers to keep out of militarism, he characterizing war as a manufacturers' scare.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The Review does not hold itself responsible for opinions expressed by its correspondents

WHAT IS THE ANSWER?

To the Editor of the Review,

Some time ago, a very largely signed petition was handed to the Council, containing names of people in nearly every sphere of employment and business in the city. The petition referred to, was to enable an unfortunate cripple the privilege of building a small temporary building where he could sit and carry on his little business in disagreeable weather as well as nice weather, as at present he is sitting in an alley in the rear of Le Brun & Co's clothing shop and the weather is very disagreeable at times.

The Council do not seem to act in respect to individual promises outside of their chamber, that of a hasty reply to their petition.

He is a man that does not ask a grant of money, just a privilege that is given to poor unfortunates in other cities.

Did the merchants, carpenters, agents, ministers, and others that signed this petition, sign it as a joke? No! They were sincere and if they were approached with such an accusation, they would defend their sincerity.

Instead of containing hundreds it could have had thousands of signatures.

Then what is the matter? This is the question many are asking. Will the proper authority kindly reply?

YOUNG MAN ELECTROCUTED

Robert Desmond's Head Came in Contact With Live Wire.

Lindsay Warder—Robert Desmond, a young Englishman, was electrocuted last night, by touching a live wire while coming down the embankment from the C.P.R. tracks to the G.T.R., a short distance north of Lindsay. The unfortunate young man had been employed with the Toronto Construction Company and had only returned with his brother from the Old Country about two weeks ago. Last night he and his brother were coming to Lindsay to purchase some clothing and walked from Cambray on the C. P. R. road as far as the intersection of the G.T.R. and C.P.R. tracks. In coming down the grade to the G. T. R. line his head came in contact with one of the live wires of the Seymour Power Co., which was close to the ground, with the result that he was knocked to the ground. His brother picked him up and laid him on the bank and immediately phoned for Dr. White, who arrived in about 20 minutes, but found life extinct.

Coroner Dr. Blanchard ordered an inquest, which was held to-day at 10.30.

PERSONAL

Mr. R. J. Matchett, of Lindsay, is in town to-day.

Rev. Mr. Ireland, of Bridgenorth, is in the city to-day.

Mr. W. L. Allen, of Detroit, is registered at the National.

Mr. J. B. Boyce, of Hamilton, is staying in the city for a short time.

Messrs. J. H. Mahood and T. A. Northey, of Lakefield, are in the city to-day.

Miss Mildred Micks has returned after spending a few days visiting friends in Toronto.

Mr. A. C. Campbell, of Orillia, spent a few hours in the city today on his way to Keene.

Miss Bertha Curtis, has returned from a three months visit in Winnipeg, Medicine Hat and Banff.

Mrs. James Telford of Concession street, has returned after spending a month with friends in Toronto.

Mr. Orville Moore, has been transferred from the local branch of the Dominion Bank to the head office at Toronto.

Miss Bertha Telford, nurse in training in New York, is home for her vacation with her mother at 558 Concession street, East City.

Mr. and Mrs Fred Pabst and family, and Miss Labanthe, of Galveston, Texas, and Miss Shirley, of Gore's Landing, are spending a few days in the city.

Miss Margaret Darcey, nurse in training at New York, is spending her vacation with her friend, Miss B. Telford, at 558 Concession street, East City.

A motor party consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon, Miss Gordon and Professor Gordon of New York, and Miss Ethel Thornton, of Winnipeg, are registered at the Oriental.

The engagement is announced of Miss Jennie Nicoll, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Hope, of Perth, Ont., to Mr. Warren Weller Dean, of Peterborough. The marriage will take place at Perth, early in October. Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Dean will reside in this city.

Mr. Chas. Stanley, who, ten years ago was identified with the Stanley Piano Company here, was in the city Saturday. He holds an important position with the Ferrand Cecilian Player Piano Company, and is prosperous and comfortable looking.

Miss Jennie Barkwell returned to Port Hope this week after a pleasant six weeks visit with friends and relatives in Peterboro. She reports having an enjoyable round of visits in the six Methodist and other churches there. She speaks in glowing terms of Peterboro's beautiful parks, and she says that Port Hope is greatly behind the times in that particular. The many friends of this most estimable lady, are delighted to have her again in our midst. They trust and hope that she may be long spared in her sphere of usefulness and wish she is scattering seeds of kindness all the time— Port Hope Times.

"THE BACHELOR'S BABY COMING"

Francis Wilson's great play, "The Bachelor's Baby," presented by the Colonial Theatre Company, Ltd., was the offering at the Grand on Labor day, matinee and night, and it delighted two large audiences. Etienne Girardot, the original in "Charley's Aunt," the man who made this ever popular play famous, has the leading role, that of "Tom" Beach, who has a terrible dislike for children, and he is surrounded by an exceptionally strong company. The play is brimful of good, clean comedy, and at the same time tells a very interesting story—that of a man who looks upon children as a great nuisance, but who is eventually won over, is a great friend of the little folk through love.

It is a nice play, that strikes the heart of everyone in the audience. It is the kind that appeals to every theatre-goer and goes to show the truth of the old saying that "love will find a way," and it did find a way for "Tom" Beach, when he was made guardian of his brother's child. The story is capitally told in three acts.

Although the Kingston engagement was the opening one of the season for the company, the play was given with a polished finish. Special mention is due the stage settings. The play is beautifully staged, in fine taste, the furniture and all the equipment being carried by the company, not one piece of it being supplied by the local house.. The entire outfit is new, and with such a popular play, and a strong cast, the manager, F. H. Stevenson, should be assured of great success during the season.

Outlook Better Now.

Winnipeg, Sept. 9.—The prospects for harvesting this week seem to be excellent. There have been local storms, one of which hit Manitoba on Saturday night but on Sunday the weather proved to be of a fine drying character and helped along the optimism.

Flax will be a late feature in the harvest in Manitoba but given dry weather, the grain crop will be good.

Saskatchewan also reports quick drying after the rains and the binders ready for business and harvest hands are ready and crops heavy.

Motor Car Skidded.

Gloversville, N.Y., Sept. 9.—While driving a car a mile east of Fonde Saturday morning, and in attempting to make a reverse curve at high speed, W. W. Gale of New Haven, Conn., was instantly killed and his wife perhaps fatally injured, when the car struck a fence.

Struck by Motor.

Toronto, Sept. 9.—Failing to notice the approach of the motor car, Henry Thomas was knocked down near the corner of King and Sherbourne streets yesterday afternoon and seriously injured. The car was driven by Mamie Bachreck, 337 Sherbourne street.

WE SHOULD GIVE OUR SYMPATHY TO THE LIVING

Taking the story of the woman who annointed the head of Jesus by using the alabaster box of ointment, as the subject of his discourse, Rev. R. B. Grobb appealed to his large congregation last night to dissemenate sympathy to the living, and not wait to express it over the grave.

The Sunday School Rally Day was observed by a very large turnout of children, who heard a most interesting address by Mr. A. A. Bainsworth, General Secretary of the Y. M. C. A.

TRAVERS AS AN ORDERLY IN THE KINGSTON PEN.

Kingston, Sept. 9.—W. R. Travers, ex-manager of the defunct Farmers' Bank, serving a six year term in the Portsmouth penitentiary, is still engaged as an orderly in the dome part of the main building. His work consists chiefly of sweeping. There are at present no vacant clerkships in the offices, but when there are Travers will no doubt, be given a desk position. He has no complaint to make, whatever.

PRESENTATION OF WATCH FOBS TO SOCCER PLAYERS

All Saints' Club Members Say Farewell to Two of Their Players.

At a gathering of the members of All Saints' football club on Saturday night, in Coleman's, the boys said good-bye to Messrs. Vickers and Simmonite, who are leaving the city for their homes in England.

While Mr. T. B. Moffatt, the president of the club, was addressing the parting members, Mr. George Armer. presented each with a handsome watch fob on behalf of the members of the club. Mr. Moffatt expressed the regret of the club at Messrs. Vickers' and Simmonites' departure, thanked them for the work they had done and the keen interest they had taken in the club, and in the football game in general. He assured them of the good wishes and sincere regard of the whole club, the members of which were genuinely sorry to have to say good-bye, but their regret was tempered by the knowledge that they were leaving the city to visit their many friends in England, who were near and dear to them.

Mr Fred Howarth then made a few kindly remarks about the departing members, and then Messrs. Vickers and Simmonite briefly responded. They thanked the club for the presents, their congratulations and good wishes, and said they never would forget the good times they had had with the club under the leadership of Mr. Moffatt.

Then followed an hour of enjoyment, in which songs were rendered by the departing members, and Messrs Gamble Edwards, Kuran, Hotston and Davie.

Mr. Charles Sisson gave an outline of what the English boys had to undergo in coming to Canada, and that it was pretty hard to get into the Canadian ways, but said that the departing boys had got on well in Peterborough, and he hoped they would return at an early date, and find their friends who were here to see them depart and would be on hand to see them return.

Ald. Lang Syne was sung and farewells were said.

Messrs. Vickers and Simmonite were members of All Saints' church and attended the Bible class of that church. They also were playing members of the champion C.G.E. football team.

SCHEDULE OF FALL GAMES

Church League Enthusiasts Want More Football.

All those who are interested in the football game are asked to be present at a meeting in the Y.M.C.A. to-morrow night at 7.30, when an endeavor will be made to reorganize the church football league, so that a schedule of games can be played this fall. Representatives from All Saints', St. James', St. John's, Knox, Park street and Coldsprings clubs should be on hand at this meeting.

Tommy Moffatt and others are picking an All Star team to play the champion C.G.E. eleven at the Peterborough Exhibition for the R. R. Hall Cup. The electric boys have won the trophy twice in succession, and a win this year means that the cup is their permanent possession.

HOCKEY

Will the Kingston hockey players who recently went to Hamilton to join the new O.H.A. team, which is being organized, remain there? asks the Kingston Whig.

This is a hard question, but it is believed by some, who are in close connection with the "doings" in the Ambitious City, that when the time comes for hockey in Kingston, the local "speed boys" will be back in Kingston. It is known for a fact that some of the departed hockey stars would far rather play the game in their own town, in spite of tempting offers from any outside place, and they may yet give the mountain city the slip and "come back."

Hockey fans here will certainly do their utmost to get them back and there is no reason why they should not play at home.

SHAUGHNESSY SPEAKS.

C. P. R. President Discusses the Stock Issue.

Winnipeg, Sept. 9.—Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, arrived in the city by special train last night on his annual inspection tour of the system. He is accompanied by three directors of the company—R. B. Angus, Sir Edmund Osler, and W. D. Matthews, and by Ferdinand F. Begg, a London financier, now of Montreal, but formerly well-known in Winnipeg, and R. Osler of Osler & Nanton.

Interviewed later, Sir Thomas made a statement of the Canadian Pacific policy with regard to the new stock issue, the issue of stock below the market quotations, freight rates jurisdiction and other matters of much interest concerning the C.P.R.

Of the proposed new stock issue he intimated that it was made necessary by the increasing scope of the company's undertakings, and was in no way affected by the fact that large dividends have been paid. These, he said, were in a great extent, revenues from land sales, quite apart from the earnings of the railway.

The "ten per cent. clause," he described as a dead letter, saying that for years the company had earned more than ten per cent. on its capital investment.

PROPHETESS OF PARIS.

Woman Who Has Fascinated the Gay City by Predictions.

One of the most extraordinary persons in Paris to-day is Mme. de Thebes—prophetess. Alexander Dumas' fils knew of her extraordinary powers of clarovoyance and saw many proofs of it. From then till now her fame, instead of decreasing and disappearing as is generally the case with the modern prophetess, has increased in a most remarkable manner.

The young Dumas was Mme. de Thebes godfather, and when she was endeavoring to decide what profession to adopt, after bad health prevented her from going on the stage, she was drawn into a study of the magic and mysteries of the East, by a novel which Dumas fils was then engaged upon—"La Route de Thebes." The title of the book—never finished, by the way—suggested to the young lady an appropriate name for herself as prophetess.

She made a special study of the lines of the hand, benefitting by the instruction of the best "masters." She was very beautiful, and even to-day, when her hair is white, her face preserves its freshness, charm, and regularity of line. Soon all Paris was flocking to her rooms, so that she might lift for them a corner of the curtain which veils the future.

Her success in prediction has been striking and uncanny. Before 1912 dawned, she said it would be "a black year." And Mme. de Thebes is a prophet of disaster. Many of the great and tragic happenings of recent times have been foretold by her, and she had warned two prominent personages who went down in the Titanic of the fate in store for them.

Mr. Stead was an old friend of hers. One day she "read his hand," and told him that "the water was his enemy." The famous journalist replied, says madame, that "sees esprits familiers" would avert any danger he ran of death by drowning.

A little while after his marriage Col. Astor consulted Mme. de Thebes. "Beware of the sea!" she said to him.

"That is serious," Col. Astor replied, "for I am so often on it."

The terrible Paris Charity Bazaar fire in which 130 women and three men lost their lives, was predicted by madame. She told the Empress Elizabeth of Austria to guard herself against assassins, though one would have thought that that royal lady would have been one of the last to draw upon herself the anger of the anarchists.

"That," responded the Empress, "will be a beautiful death for a woman like me!"

Mme. de Thebes, is gloomy about the future. "The history of the world will grow darker," she says.

In her rooms she keeps 62 models of elephants—the best fetich, she says, ivory, she will tell you, like the opal, brings misfortune, because to obtain it the most intelligent and malicious animal must be killed. Whenever she comes into possession of anything in ivory, she buries it.

The hands she calls "The Book of Life." A record of our acts, maladies, dangers, successes, failures, is written there.—Chronicle.

Keeping Ponds Clean.

Copper sulphate is often used for destroying the scum-like weeds in ponds. But precautions must be taken, for unless the right proportion of sulphate is used any fish which may be in the pond will be injured. The proportion of copper sulphate used in the ponds at Kew Gardens, London, England, is one part to from 750,000 to 1,000,000 parts of water. Sulphate of copper in a pulverized state is placed in a porous bag and dragged through the water until dissolved. The water in St. James' Park, London, it might be mentioned, has for two summers been kept free from scum by this method.

Landlord and Tenants.

Visitor (at poorhouse)—Where did that fine-looking pauper come from?

Superintendent—The city. He owns the St. Fashion flats.

"My goodness! Why is he here?"

"He charges such high rents that they have been empty since the second year."

"Hum! He seems to be on familiar footing with a good many of the other paupers."

"Yes; they are the people who were his tenants the first year."

I do not care where fishes bite.
I'm satisfied to let them be
So long as they do not bite me.
I may bite them when on the dish,
But some one first must catch the fish.
So I repeat, to make it plain,
That fishing is to me inane.

Some people like their hook to bait
And in the water stand and wait
For fish to come and make a meal
Of their half hidden hook of steel.
There in the water, mud and slime
They claim they have a lovely time,
As any boy or man could wish,
If they can catch a two cent fish.

And should they land a finny prize
It elevates them to the skies,
Gives them a feeling that they are
Superior to those, by far,
Who do not try with line to score,
But buy their fishes at the store.
If only little ones they land
They fabricate to beat the band.

I know it is a crime, in short,
Not to enthuse about the sport,
To quite emphatically decline
To monkey with the hook and line,
Not to be tempted to the stream
Where fishermen of catches dream,
But so I feel, as I have said.
If it be treason shoot me dead.

Deafness Cannot be Cured,

by local application, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circular, free

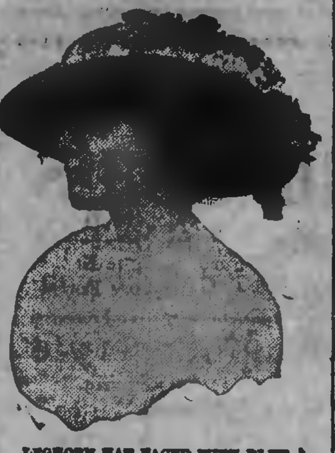
MILLINERY MATTERS.

The Shepherdess Hat in Style Again.



LEGHORN HAT FACED WITH BLUE.

The hat bent down at the front and back and flaring at the sides is an old favorite revived this summer. This shepherdess hat is of leghorn faced with nattier blue and has a trimming of white and blue hyacinths.

Smartness of White.

The woman of limited income should not be tempted by colored linen frocks. They are not a wise investment when gowns must necessarily be few in number. They are almost sure to fade, and even while they possess all their original glory they cannot be touched up and varied by colored cravat and belt as the white outfit can. Such is the imperishable beauty of white that even the inexpensive material known as sailcloth, which can be bought for about 30 cents a yard, can be made to look smarter than the average colored linen. Those venturing upon costumes of sailcloth should, however, to make assurance doubly sure, see that the material has been well shrunk before it is made up.

A Great Pair.

Mr. A. J. Balfour tells a story against himself. He was playing golf at North Berwick, and on approaching a hole he asked for his mashie.

"Ye'd better tak' yer brassy," said the caddie.

The ex-Leader of the Opposition acquiesced, and on finding his ball well on the green, he remarked:

"You are a clever boy. You were right."

"Aye," replied the boy; "if you had my brains an' I had your height, we'd mak' a grand pair in a fowersome!"

South African Lunches.

A novel idea for encouraging the use of South African manufactures of an edible character is the institution of what are called "South African lunches." These are now advertised at most of the principal hotels and restaurants in Johannesburg, and have met with gratifying success. The menu is exclusively confined to South African products.

An Extravagant Comparison.

"There doesn't seem to be any hustle at all about that boy of Dascomb's."

"Hustle! Say, if there was any chance to fix up a race between Steve Dascomb and a glacier I'd back the glacier."

Not Inquisitive.

Uncle George—What! Hate all your lessons? Come, now, you don't mean to say you hate history?

Niece—Yes, I do. To tell you the truth, uncle, I don't care a bit what anybody ever did.—London Punch.

The Harder Part.

"This getting married," said a girl who was busy with her trousseau, "is certainly a trial."

"A trial — yes," agreed a cynical bachelor, "but it isn't half as bad as working out the sentence!"

YOU CAN BE ABSOLUTELY SURE OF VALUES

If you carefully read the store advertisements and follow them in your buying.

Merchants advertise certain lines because they know these lines will advertise their stores. Because there is something about certain goods, they are put in conspicuous places and the people are told about them. It may be the exclusiveness of newness of design, it may be an unusual quality, it may be an attractive price.

But there is at least one definite, sure reason why a merchant advertises an article and is willing to stake the reputation of his store upon it.

Therefore, when you see an article advertised in THE REVIEW, depend upon it, that article is good value, as good value as can be obtained in that particular store.

THE NEED OF BIG MEN IN OUR PUBLIC AFFAIRS

They Should Have a Combination of Justice, Intregrity and Humanity—It is Not Enough to be Particular About Honesty Says Rev. James Rollins, in Dealing With Public Life Obligations.

There are many unpleasant things to be endured when a man enters public life, said Rev. James Rollins on Sunday morning during a sermon dealing with a man's obligations in public life. The pastor contended that much of a man's duty to public life was ordained of God, and was thoroughly in harmony with the Divine will.

"A man in public life," he remarked, is often ranged on certain questions against one with whom he would fain be on friendlier relationship. No matter how careful you are of your policy or attack, much of it will always seem unfair to your opponent.

Often one fights in battalions, and in every battalion there is the extremist, for whose opinion one must bear the brunt of public criticism, although not agreeing with such radical opinion.

"In view of this there is need for big men in our public affairs. We should be more or less of a religious mystic. It is a great thing to be a religious mystic, and also a sensible man of affairs. They are needed in our public life, and we ought to encourage that type of man to jump into public life.

"God requires of the men of Peterborough a combination of Justice, Integrity and Humanity. It is not enough for us to be particular about honesty in our personal transactions We have got to see to it, for example that the man who comes to us representing the White Slave traffic is lodged in police court within ten hours. When the question of the moral atmosphere of a public place is raised, we can't afford to ignore it and allow it to settle itself. If you do you are not just or a man of humanity, even if you pay 100 cents on the dollar. It is impossible for the true Christian to be indifferent to the public questions of this time. The true Christian must be exposed to the rough facts of life.

WHAT SOME OTHER CIVIC LEGISLATORS ARE DOING

AT PORT HOPE.

The local milk vendors have no reason whatever to object to the by-law recently passed by the Council. We learn by a letter from Mr. H. G. Murray, Medical Health Officer of Owen Sound, that the by-law there fixes the standard at 12 per cent. solids and 3 1-2 per cent. butter fat. All milk must be delivered in bottles, and the price is 8c. per quart.

Here we pay 7c. per quart for bulk milk and 8c. for the bottles. Why all this difference?

RING THE CURFEW.

Berlin, Ont., Sept. 6.—The Police Commission will be requested to rigidly enforce the curfew bell by-law as desired by Rev. F. S. Oberlander.

POWER FOR CAMPBELLFORD.

Mayor Owen informs us that he is calling a public meeting to be held in the music hall on Friday evening, Sept. 13th, to discuss the power question. All ratepayers are invited to be present. An effort will be made to have Hon. Adam Beck address the meeting.

$200 FOR BALL CLUB.

Ald. Brydon introduced a motion granting $200 to the Maple Leaf Baseball Club on account of the publicity given to Guelph by remaining in the Canadian League during the past season. Ald. Brydon spoke strongly in favor of the motion. He stated that that if this grant was given it would have much to do with having the team remain here next year.

Ald. Carter agreed with Ald. Brydon in many respects, and was pleased that he had introduced such a motion if it was to come out of the funds of the Railway and Manufacturers Committee.

Ald. Lawson opposed the motion, as did Ald. Penfold, who asked for the yeas and nays, but on the objection of Ald. Lawson, Occomore and Penfold, the letter was referred to the Railway and Manufacturers' Committee with instructions to report at the next meeting.

The session of the Council was a business-like one, a great deal of time being taken up with the reading of a number of by-laws. John T. Lambert was appointed building and scaffold inspector at a salary of $700 per year, his duties to commence to-day, and a new by-law governing the erection of scaffolds and buildings was passed.

AT STRATFORD.

By-law 1925 was next introduced. This by-law was to amend By-law 1855, which empowers the police to shoot dogs running at large by adding a clause to the effect that owners or harborers of canines may also be fined for allowing the animals to run loose.

Ald. Keller and Ireland moved the first reading.

Ald. Alles thought the amendment should be struck out, and the dogs allowed their freedom now that the hot summer is about over.

Ald. Roberts felt that the proposed amendment allowing for fines imposes a hardship on owners, where dogs were let out by mischievous persons tearing off boards of orchard fences etc.

Ald. Keller did not think the danger from mad dogs was past. The people seem to be getting careless The speaker considered that a dog had no more right than a horse or a cow to run at large.

Ald. Wright felt that the day for dogs running at large in Stratford is past.

Ald. Alles expressed the opinion that the "fellows with no pull" would be fined. Personally he thought the dogs should be given a chance during the cold weather.

Ald. Stevenson instanced the terrible death of a Detroit man the other day from hydrophobia as a sample of the danger of mad dogs. For years a dog owner, he had decided that the city is no place for such a pet.

Ald. Gray pointed out that mad dog scares are not confined to the hot weather at all.

Ald. Johnston felt that the present dog by-law was one of the best ever made in the city, and it would be a mistake to touch it.

As the aldermen were not unanimous the amending by-law could not be carried, and was deferred.

IS RESTING IN COUNTY JAIL

An elderly woman named Agnes Gibson, who was lodged in a police cell on Friday, while badly intoxicated, is at present lodged in the county jail. She arrived in Peterborough on a ticket from Ottawa although knowing no one in this city with whom to stay.

The wild utterances which she made before being taken to jail, lacking other accommodation, were induced by her too liberal application to intoxicants.

Chief Thompson is in a dilemma over what disposition to make of her case. The woman has expressed a desire to be forwarded to Guelph.

The police first heard of the woman, when she was taken ill, at the grocery store of Bert Heard on George street.

Arrested at Toronto

Toronto, Sept. 9.—C. W. Rowe, for the theft of a bicycle in Omemee, Ont., over a month ago, was arrested by Detectives Taylor and McLarty. He has been driving a wagon in the city for the last month. The arrest was made on information from the chief of police of Omemee.

HAVELOCK CITIZENS HONOR MR. AND MRS. JOSEPH KNOX

Special Correspondence

Havelock, Sept. 9—A banquet was given for Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Knox on the eve of their departure for the city of Peterboro to fill an appointed office to which he had been appointed by the Federal Government. The tables were spread by the ladies, which held about three hundred guests and had to be relaid the second time to seat all that were present.

Dr. Kindred ably filled the position of chairman and toastmaster and after partaking of the sumptuous repast, the following toasts were proposed and responded to: "Our King and country" responded to by W. H. Curtis, and J. A. Sexsmith, M.P.; "Our Village," responded to by Messrs. C. H. Brewster, Firn, Haig, and Geo. Phillips. The next toast was "Our Guests of Honor," responded to by the Rev. Mr. Holdsworth and Mr. Elias Williams.

The following address was read by Mr. J. W. Bryans, clerk of the village and Mr. W. T. Curtis presented Mr. Knox with a beautiful club bag, and Mrs. Knox with a chair—

To Joseph Knox, Esq., ex-Reeve of Havelock,

Honored Sir—We have gathered tonight, as representatives of the citizens of Havelock, to do honor to you and your family, on the eve of your departure from among us. As one of the oldest and most respected citizens of our town, from its first historic civic days to its present time of beauty and aggressiveness, we should render to you our tribute of thanks for the very great interest you have always shown in education, municipal and religious affairs, with untiring zeal and equal ability, you have occupied civic positions at great sacrifice to your own personal interests, and have always given the questions of public interest a broad minded and unprejudiced consideration.

To work for the public good is the greatest work on earth. It elevates everything that pertains to it, every duty, interest or measure with great importance, for the simple reason it affects all, and so very materially influences the moral well being of every individual.

It is one of the greatest blessings to live under wise laws, administered by an upright civic government, and obeyed and carried out by good and staunch citizens.

It is with feelings of deepest regret that we learn of your early removal to Peterboro, and with those of approval of the wisdom of the Federal Government in recognising a man capable of filling satisfactorily an important office.

In order to emphasize the sincerity of our good wishes for future success and prosperity and the deep sense of loss that we, as citizens, feel at your removal from us, and lest you should forget your friends and associates, we ask you to accept this club-bag so that it may remind you when contemplating a short holiday to hie to the hustling railway burg in the east.

We ask your esteemed wife to accept this chair, so that in quiet moments, as she reposes therein, she may think of the many friends left behind in Havelock.

We again wish you and your family, God Speed, with the hope of many future visits, and the assurance of a hearty welcome.

Signed on behalf of the Citizens,
H. C. KINDRED,
W. T. CURTIS,
J. W. BRYANS.

Mr. and Mrs. Knox replied, and thanked the people for their kind remembrances.

THE APPLE CROP

The apple crop this year promises to be very good indeed. One large firm of orchardists, who have leased apple orchards all through Ontario report that they expect one hundred thousand barrels of apples, against thirty-three thousand last year. Part of this, however, is due to improved methods of caring for the orchards. The early fruit are only a fair crop, Astrachan and Yellow Transparent being light, and Duchess turning out a medium crop. Spies are light and Greenings a good average. Baldwins and Ben Davis are a heavy crop. It is expected that the price of fruit will be much lower this year than last.

SPLENDID OVATION TO BORDEN AT THE CAPITAL

Five Thousand Present for Demonstration at Chateau Laurier.

He Pays Tribute to the Liberals and the French Canadian People.

Ottawa, Sept. 10.—Hon. R. L. Borden was accorded an enthusiastic demonstration at a banquet at the Chateau Laurier here last night. Although given by the Conservative Association, the gathering could scarcely be termed a party one, many prominent Liberals being present. These included Senator W. C. Edwards, a lifelong Liberal. The great dining hall of the Chateau Laurier was packed, upwards of five thousand present.

Mr. Borden delivered a speech of great eloquence and power, and one that will rank with his greatest efforts in the past. While he did not touch directly on what the naval policy of the Government might be, he declared in ringing tones that he believed that Canadians were alive to their responsibilities and that the Dominion would do her duty as one of the great sisterhood of nations beneath the British flag.

He paid tribute to the Liberals of Canada. "It is a foolish man indeed," he said, "who labors under the delusion that the Liberal party is not loyal to the best of the British Empire, and in the way they deem wisest and best are working for its uplift and advancement." The Premier then told of his reception in England and France. As to the naval policy he had nothing further to say than was given out in an official statement given out by him before leaving England:

Passing on to speak of the naval and defence situation, the Premier said: "We should be in a position to defend ourselves. The British race, whether in the distant islands across the seas or here in the Dominions, are prepared to do their duty and defend their trust." Mr. Borden spoke of the Canadians of French extraction, "whose forefathers had first brought Christianity and civilization to our shore." The "entent cordiale" was a fitting forerunner of that great entente cordiale, which exists here between the two great and historic people here in Canada—"That great feeling of good-will which I pray God shall ever exist."

Hon. George E. Foster, Hon. L. P. Pelletier and Hon. Dr. Roche delivered speeches, and the gathering broke up at midnight with the singing of the National Anthem.

The civic reception to the Premier was another noteworthy demonstration.

The City Council having proceeded in carriages to the Premier's residence on Wurtemberg street, accompanied him to the City Hall through streets gaily decorated.

At the City Hall, which even before the arrival of the Premier, was packed to overflowing, Mayor Hopewell read the address of welcome and Mrs. Borden was presented with a magnificent bouquet.

The civic address expressed confidence that Mr. Borden would steadfastly pursue a "Canada for Canadians" policy and continue as far as possible the policy of making that trade flow east and west.

In his reply, the Premier said:

"I would like to say to any Canadians who think the people of Great Bitain less virile and enterprising or less capable of defending the heritage handed down to them, that I found no evidence of such spirit or disposition wherever I went. I came back persuaded more than ever before that there are opportunities more abundant than any place else in the world."

Premier Borden's first day "at home" was a notable one in every respect. Following the reception at the City Hall at noon, he drove to the Exhibition grounds, and formally declared the Dominion Fair open. Afterwards he made a short address at the directors' luncheon, at which Sir Wilfrid Laurier was also in attendance, and then adjourning to the lawn in front of the directors' building, had his photograph taken in company with Sir Wilfrid, the two statesmen standing on either side of President Bates of the Exhibition Association, and in the centre of a group of Cabinet Ministers, members of Parliament and prominent citizens.

"I avail myself with very great pleasure of the opportunity given me," said Sir Wilfrid on being asked to respond to a toast, "because it gives me an opportunity to tender the welcome of His Majesty's loyal opposition to the Prime Minister on his return from England. The Prime Minister and myself do not always see eye to eye, but I trust that the differences in the future will not be so great as in the past. I am glad the Prime Minister is back in such good condition, as he seems to be in, and so ably fit for battle. He seems to have survived the dangers of London hospitality and the lesser dangers of the suffragists' encroachments."

Laurier in Northern Ontario.

Cobalt, Sept. 10.—The dates for Sir Wilfrid Laurier's visit to North Ontario have been fixed.

On Wednesday, Sept. 18, he speaks in Cobalt, while the following afternoon he will address a meeting in Ville Marie, Que., across the lake from Haileybury. On Friday night he speaks in Cochrane.

Hon. G. P. Graham and Hon. Chas. Murphy will come north with Sir Wilfrid.

Murder and Suicide.

Ottawa, Sept. 10.—After refusing for the second time inside of twelve hours to tell Arthur Dupuis that she liked him, Mary Rose Fontaine was murdered by her rejected lover shortly after eight o'clock yesterday morning.

The tragedy occurred a short distance from the village of St. Joseph d'Orleans, eight miles from this city, in the County of Russell, and the murderer after committing his crime turned the double-barrelled Winchester rifle upon himself and committed suicide.

PECULIAR DEATH OF WORKMAN

Tiny Steel Flake Struck Him in the Neck.

Toronto, Sept. 10.—William Crandall, a rivet holder, while at work on a new building which is in the process of construction at 188 West King street, had a tiny steel flake from the rivet he was holding fly into his neck. He died in less than two minutes from strangulation. When the splinter lodged in his neck he was seen to throw up his hands and exclaim that something had hit him. All the time he was fighting for breath. The body was removed to the morgue and an inquest will be opened. Crandall was [illegible] years of age and boarded on John street.

LABOR MEN SEE PRISON FARM

Are Amazed at the Manner in Which Prisoners Are Treated

Guelph, Sept. 10.—There was no session of the Dominion Trades Congress yesterday afternoon, but instead the delegates accepted the hospitality of the reception committee of the local Trades and Labor Council and paid a visit to the provincial prison farm. Officials of the C.P.R. supplied a special train free of charge for the purpose, and nearly every delegate took advantage of the trip.

They left the depot in the city at 2.15 and were let off at the crossing on the prison grounds. They were met by Mr. Armstrong, who conducted the party to the various points of interest around the farm.

The majority of the visitors had heard about the place, and were very anxious to learn all they could about it, how it was conducted and under what conditions the men worked. They were amazed at the manner in which the prisoners were treated, and it was the general opinion that no better means of treatment could be devised.

The afternoon was very hot and it was an interesting spectacle to see the delegates walking around the farm with their coats on their arms.

Hon. T. W. Crothers, Minister of Labor, and Keir Hardie, British M.P., accompanied the party and were delighted at what they saw. After a trip around among the buildings and the various works under way, the train returned to the city at 4 o'clock.

HEAVY DAMAGE TO VESSELS AND COAST VILLAGES

Special to The Review.

St. John's, Nfld., Sept. 10—Wireless messages from Labrador give a brief intimation of great havoc wrought by a hurricane which swept over that coast last week. Extensive damage was done to fishing vessels and villages along the coast, the details of which are not yet procurable. It is known that one schooner was driven on the rocks at Cut Throat and four of the crew were drowned. Tragic news is looked for.

WAS KILLED BY HATCHET

Mrs. Bateman's Death Indicated by the Autopsy.

Oshawa, Sept. 10.—The inquest into the death of old Mrs. John Bateman, which was to have been resumed yesterday, has been postponed until Thursday evening, when the top portion of the skull of the unfortunate woman may be exhibited to the jury.

The autopsy indicated that death was probably due to blows from a hatchet or axe, the whole back of the head being crushed in.

Fell 18 Inches and Died.

Orangeville, Sept. 10.—That James Dale, Caledon farmer, found dead in the barn of the Alexandra Hotel, was killed by a fall from a chair on Tuesday night, Sept. 3, was the verdict returned by Coroner Hendry's jury last night. Although he fell only about 18 inches, the manner in which he pitched forward caused his neck to be broken.

HYDRO SHOW FOR SOUTH PERTH

St. Mary's, Sept. 10.—The South Perth Agricultural Society has arranged for a Hydro power demonstration here in connection with their fall fair, Sept. 24-25. The threshing machine, churn and other agricultural implements, in addition to the milking of cows, will be called into play.

Great interest is being aroused throughout the town and country in connection with the demonstration, which will be in for the two days. Hon. Adam Beck, it is expected, will be in attendance.

UNDERGROUND DESPATCH FOR MAILS

SECTIONAL VIEW OF PROPOSED MAIL DESPATCH TUBES

The congestion of the London streets frequently results in delays to His Majesty's mails. The Post Office naturally is very desirous to save the waste of time and expense incurred by the department owing to this congestion. A commissioner appointed by the Postmaster-General has been considering the whole question of the conveyance of mails in London. Mr Samuels in his speech to the House of Commons in May described a system which it is proposed to adopt. By this scheme the bulk of the mail and parcel traffic in London will be carried below ground instead of through the crowded streets. The proposal is to construct underground tubes much like the existing passenger tubes only on a much smaller scale. The scheme outlined is an advance on any existing system for dealing with the mails in a large town. A first tube may possibly be constructed from the Eastern District Post Office in Whitechapel to Paddington, passing on its route Liverpool street Station, the General Post Office, and the district offices in New Oxford Street and Wimpole Street. The cost is estimated at about £500,000, but no tender for the new tube has at present been accepted. The illustration which is from the 'Sphere' shows a section of a tunnel such as is proposed, with the tubes for pneumatic despatch and conduits for electric cables, telegraph and telephone. The cars will probably be about 3 ft. high and about the same width and 6 ft. long, so that they will carry the largest parcels or mail bags. The motive-power is electric and each car is automatically controlled. The tunnel is 9 ft. in diameter and has a passage way down the centre between the two tracks.

THE BY-LAW TO REGULATE TRAFFIC ON CITY STREETS

Rules to be Observed by Vehicles—Must Not Remain on Any Street Longer Than Is Necessasy For Person Using the Same to Conduct His Business---Ten Miles an Hour for Automobiles

Look out for the police; the traffic bylaw is now in force.

The city fathers, at the meeting last night, wrestled with the various cluses, as drafted by a special committee and then decided to float the bylaw as read, for a trial trip.

There were arguments galore, for and against some of the clauses, until at last it was agreed that the bylaw should be given a trial.

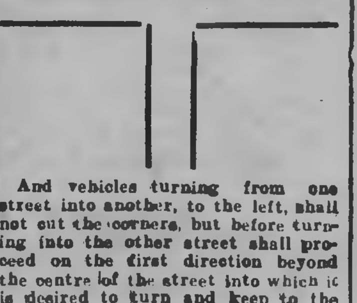
THE BY-LAW.

1. Vehicles, except when passing vehicles ahead, shall keep as near the right hand curb or side of the street as possible.

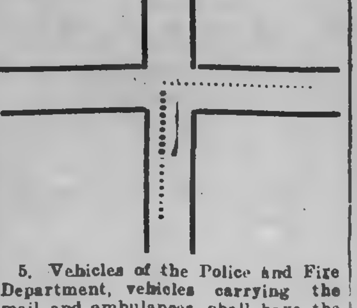
2. Vehicles meeting shall pass on the right.

3. Vehicles overtaking others shall pass the overtaken vehicle to the left and not pull over to the right until entirely clear of the overtaken vehicle.

4. Vehicles turning from one street to another, to the right, shall turn the corner as near the right hand curb or side of the street as possible. Thus:—



And vehicles turning from one street into another, to the left, shall not cut the corners, but before turning into the other street shall proceed on the first direction beyond the centre of the street into which it is desired to turn and keep to the right of the street into which it turns. Thus:



5. Vehicles of the Police and Fire Department, vehicles carrying the mail and ambulances, shall have the right of way over all other vehicles.

6. On the approach of any apparatus of the Fire Department proceeding to a fire, vehicles on the street on which the same is approaching shall be stopped as near the right hand curb or side of the street as possible.

7. Vehicles going in a northerly or southerly direction shall have the right of way over vehicles going in an easterly or westerly direction.

8. Vehicles stopped whenever required by any member of the Police Force, either by word or by signal of the hand, owners shall obey his orders and comply with his directions as to the regulation of traffic on the street.

9. The person in charge of any vehicle passing through any street shall remain upon the same or walk beside the horse or horses drawing the same in such a position as to control the horse or horses.

10. The person in charge of a vehicle passing through any street who desires to, shall draw in close to a curb or side of the street and shall face the vehicle in a proper way for the side of the street on which it is.

11. Vehicles shall not be permitted to stand or remain on any street longer than is necessary for the person using the same to transact his business with the person opposite whose premises the same shall stand and unless such vehicle is parallel with and not more than eight inches from the curb.

12. No horse shall be allowed to stand on a street unattended by the person in charge unless it is properly secured to prevent its running away, and no horse shall be tied with the lines across the sidewalk in such a way to obstruct traffic.

13. Slowly moving vehicles shall be kept as close as possible to the right hand curb or side of the street.

14. No person driving a vehicle or riding a horse or riding or operating a bicycle, motor cycle, automobile, or other vehicle on a street, shall proceed at an immoderate rate of speed and shall slacken speed when approaching and passing over any crossing for foot passengers upon which any person is crossing any street, and shall not turn any corners at a greater rate of speed than six miles an hour, and no person shall, in crossing out of any lane leading into any street on which there is a sidewalk, proceed at a greater rate of speed than four miles an hour.

15. No person driving a vehicle or riding a horse or riding or operating a bicycle, tricycle, motor cycle, automobile or other vehicle on George street between McDonnel and King streets, on Water street between Brock and Charlotte streets, or Charlotte street, Simcoe street and Hunter street between Water and Aylmer streets and on Aylmer street between Hunter and King streets, at a higher rate of speed than ten miles an hour.

16. Any person convicted of a breach of any of the provisions of this by-law shall forfeit and pay, at the discretion of the convicting Magistrate a penalty not exceeding (exclusive of the costs) the sum of fifty dollars for each offence; and in default of payment of the said penalty and cost forthwith, the said penalty and costs, or costs only, may be levied by distress and sale of the goods and chattels of the offender; and in case of there being no distress found out of which such penalty can be levied, the convicting Magistrate may commit the offender to the common jail of the county of Peterborough, with or without hard labor, for any period not exceeding six calendar months, unless the said penalty and costs (if any), including the costs of the said distress and of the committal and conveyance of the offender to the said jail, are sooner paid.

WILSON ON THE TARIFF

Prosperity of United States Being Prevented, He Says

New York, Sept. 10.—Governor Wilson made two tariff speeches yesterday afternoon, one at the tariff exhibit, and the other at an open air meeting in Union Square. At the tariff exhibit, Governor Wilson said:

"We are preventing the prosperity of the United States, for you will observe that articles of American manufacture are sold much cheaper in other countries than we can buy them, which shows that America already is able to compete with foreign markets, at the same time taxing ourselves."

To his auditors in Union Square, Governor Wilson said:

"I would hesitate to advocate radical reductions in our tariff schedules if I thought it would interfere with the prosperity of the average American, but I believe it will double and treble our prosperity."

Governor Wilson declared that in the main protected industries paid less wages than unprotected industries.

He pointed to an advance of from 30 to 40 per cent. in the price of meat within the past ten years, while during the same period the price of meat in London had stood absolutely still.

TWO MORE BIRDMEN DIE

Engine Stopped and Machine Fell 500 Feet With Aviators.

(Special To The Review.)

Oxford, Eng., Sept. 10 — Another double aviation fatality occurred this morning, when Lieuts. C. A. Bettington and E. Hotchkiss were hurled to the ground from a height of five hundred feet. They had flown over Oxford and were just outside Wolvercote when the engine stopped and the machine dropped like a stone.

U. S. Rifle Team Off to Ottawa.

Rifle Ranges, Sea Girt, N.J., Sept. 10.—The United States rifle team to compete at Ottawa next Saturday for the Palma international trophy, was selected yesterday afternoon and left late yesterday for Ottawa. Lieut.-Col. S. W. Brookhart, Iowa, is captain of the team, and Capt. M. C. Mumms, U.S.A., is team adjutant. The other members of the team are marksmen from all sections of the United States.

EQUAL TO LAST YEAR; CROP NOT A RECORD BREAKER

Wheat Nearly All Cut.

Winnipeg, Sept. 10.—With the weather settled down to what promises to be a fine spell, harvesting is now progressing rapidly. General reports indicate better harvesting conditions than have existed so far, and with a moon last night prospects for a settled spell of fair weather are good. Apparently finding its level after variations of the last few days, the barometer remained steady Sunday and yesterday.

Reports received from all over the three prairie provinces indicate that harvesting is general, except in a few isolated cases on low-lying lands, where it will be a couple of days before a resumption will be made. There is no doubt that farmers have made far better progress than appeared possible under trying circumstances. Many districts report wheat all cut and quite half the oat crop is safe. Short straw has contributed much to speedy harvesting and has also reduced to a minimum the labor shortage which still exists. Threshing from the stook is badly handicapped by the soft ground after repeated rains.

HE PRAISES PELLETIER

Sir J. Henniker Heaton Commends the Cable Policy.

London, Sept. 10.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—Sir J. Henniker Heaton spoke in the highest terms of praise of Hon. Mr. Pelletier for the determination with which he fought here for a state-owned cable in order to break up the cable rings. Hon. Mr. Pelletier, he said, has the active support of the Australian and New Zealand Governments in his efforts, but the British Government for some reason or other doesn't see its way to adopt the proposal, but instead joined in making overtures to the companies, in consequence of which a three-penny deferred telegram rate was agreed upon.

Hon. Mr. Pelletier pressed for more than that. He wanted threepence a word for ordinary messages and a shilling rate for urgent and code telegrams, "and," added Sir Henniker, "he'll gain his point, too, very soon and show the absurdity of the so-called deferred messages."

Sir Henniker pointed out the carrying capacity of cables to America was 325,000,000 words per annum, and only 35,000,000 were sent. It was true there was a great rush of messages during a few hours every day, but one. Sixteen lines to the United States and Canada should be placed at the disposal of non-code or non-urgent senders. The delay should never exceed a few hours. If all cables of the world were destroyed to-morrow they could be reconstructed at a third of the cost. We were now paying for abandoned cables, superfluous cables, watered stock and all the plundering and blundering of the past.

He believed that a fair settlement with the cable companies would be come to the establishing of a penny a word telegram with a minimum of twelve words for a shilling, throughout the world with the active support of the British Empire League his dream would be realized in less than ten years.

Big Claim Made Upon Hydro-Electric Commission

Suing Hydro Commission.

Oshawa, Sept. 10.—Claim upon the Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission for three million dollars is made by Hon. Wm. Harty of Kingston and O. O'Connor, K.C., of Ottawa, for damages for the expropriations by the commission of the Chats Falls, on the Ottawa River.

Part of the property, which consists of a number of islands, was secured in 1883 from the Ontario (Liberal) Government by Mr. Harty. The balance was granted Mr. O'Connor last fall by the Laurier Government. No development work has been done.

The owners paid under $2,000 for what they now seek three millions. They claim that 50,000 horse-power can be developed.

The expropriation was decided upon by the commission last spring after a conference at Ottawa.

THE IMPERIAL FEDERATION

Hon. Herbert Samuel, the British Postmater-General, has written a paper on Imperial Federation, presenting a few of the questions that would have to be solved before an Imperial Parliament could hope to be an effective body. He says:

"If the Federal Parliament to have powers of levying taxation in the United Kingdom and in the dominions? If so, how are such to be enforced? What is to happen if one part of the Empire should dissent from legislation passed by the Federal Parliament?

"Responsible to the Federal Parliament would be the Federal executive dealing with foreign affairs, naval and military defence and questions of trade. Could statesmen, drawn from the dominions as members of such an executive, be able to share in the conduct of its current business and also to keep in sufficiently close touch with the countries from which they came? To remain authoritative exponents of their views, what steps could be contemplated if the representatives of one or two of the dominions in the Federal Cabinet were to dissent from the policy of the rest and, with the approval of their constituents, were to resign their posts?

"It may be that the future will bring about a similar system to that obtaining in the States of Switzerland or Germany, but it is a mistake to suppose that federalism transfers a man's allegiance. It cannot be said that the allegiance of the Canadian transferred from the British Crown when a Parliament was set up in Canada?"

We confess that we do not sympathise with the movement to coagulate the various parts of the Empire into a legislative whole. With the wide distances separating the Dominions, the varied nature and character of their peoples, the distinctive characteristics of their development, we think it scarcely possible to evolve any great central body that can materially improve upon the present system of local self-government. The true way to unite and solidify the Empire is to keep to decentralisation, where each Dominion, in advancing its own interests, is not subjected to the overruling authority of some imperial body. What would be the material benefits to be gained by Canada from an imperial parliament? Would the workers be better off, would the country develop faster, would Canada be more prosperous? We think not.

It is true that the self-governing Dominions have little in common now save their loyalty to the Empire, and it is true that their might be a much closer trade relation between them. But from a legislative standpoint, even from that of imperial defence, the slowness and cumbrousness of an imperial body would be a great hindrance. The Dominions will not sacrifice their autonomy, in any event, and the usefulness of any sort of federation such as Mr. Samuel refers to, is quite problematical.

A PARCEL POST

The United States will have a parcel post system at the beginning of next year. This will be modeled upon the British and German systems, and will extend even to the carriage of live fowl, as well as garden produce, dairy products, and other commodities directly affecting the cost of living in the larger cities. The weight limit for parcels will be 11 pounds, which is the British limit, though in Germany parcels as heavy as 110 pounds may be posted. The United States rate will be 35 cents for an 11-pound parcel for 50 miles, 46 cents for 150 miles, and across the continent for $1.50. The introduction of the parcels post system to this continent will greatly stimulate the movement for a parcels post in Canada, but while it is not to be doubted that in many ways it would benefit the consumers, only in two or three large cities would a Canadian system be of real utility in lowering the cost of farm products by enabling the consumer to deal directly with the producer.

The chief benefit of the parcels post in Canada would probably be to the mail order houses and to the big departmental stores that are trying to drive local merchants out of business. Whether they are able to sell goods more cheaply or not, many people fancy that goods bought away from their home city must be cheaper. The fact that they come from outside is held to be indubitable evidence that they are cheaper. This myth has been exploded often, and even if a parcel post were introduced in Canada to give special privileges to the big departmental stores, the facilitation of their business might sooner bring the awakening by the out-of-town customers. The country has got on fairly well without a parcels post, though there is no doubt whatever that in many respects it would be a great convenience to the people.

BANK REVISION

One of the chief subjects to be dealt with at the coming session of Parliament will be the revision of the Bank Act. The revision was to have taken place last session, but owing to the reciprocity fight being precipitated, was postponed for a year, the old act being continued by special legislation. It is said that one of the proposals advanced by Hon. Mr. White will be that of external inspection of the banks giving the banks the opportunity or privilege of selecting any one of the number of chartered accountants who may be specially authorized by the government to act as bank examiners. If this is the method proposed for external inspection of the banks, we think there will be little satisfaction from such a change. The system will lie open to the objection that the chartered accountants who may be hired by the bank even though they are specially authorized by the government for such general duty, will be in practice, if not in theory, the hired men of the bank. If their method of work is not pleasing to the officials of the head office, if they do not conduct their investigation to suit the high officials, their engagement will be examiners only when they are the they will hold their jobs as bank examiners only when they are the subservient tools of the head office.

We are convinced that any such method of external inspection would be no more independent in practice than the present system of making the bank association responsible. As a matter of fact, it would be very difficult indeed for even inspectors appointed by the government to get at the true inwardness of many, of the big transactions put through the head offices. Only by a most rigid system of making the examiners absolutely independent of the banks is every way could there be any hope that a real probe would be applied. There ought, we think, to be some external inspection, even though it were no more elaborate than would entail a moral responsibility to the public. The big losses that affect the financial position of a bank occur at the head offices. The local managers are held down very tightly as a rule, as to the character and size of the loans they may make. The present system has worked very well on the whole, though the Ontario Bank, the Sovereign Bank and the Farmers' Bank smashes might not have been so serious had there been really efficient external inspection. Mr. White was selected for his position of finance minister because of his great ability in financial matters, and it certainly is to be hoped that he will be able to evolve some well grounded scheme of inspection that will penetrate through the opposition and aversion of the bank managers. The protection of the public must be the first consideration.

FORT WILLIAM'S EXAMPLE

The Provincial Health Department has published special statistics in reference to the low rate of infant mortality in Fort William, that exceptionally low rate being due to the activity of the medical health officer Dr. Wodehouse. The story of what Dr. Wodehouse accomplished last year and the year previous makes very interesting reading. The increase in the population of Fort William in the decade from 1901 to 1911 was 354 per cent., one of the greatest in Canada. Fort William heads the cities of Ontario in its birth rate, that being 98 per 1,000 of population. In 1910 Dr. Wodehouse found that in July and August 63 infants under one year died. With a determination to stop such a state of affairs, he obtained the passing of a milk by-law, a compulsory sewer by-law, the appointment of a sanitary inspector, and the appointment of a district health visiting nurse. With these in operation, Dr. Wodehouse was able to carry Fort William through July and August of 1911, with only 21 infants under one year dying. That is, he cut down the mortality rate 66 per cent. The record for July and August of 1912 was only six deaths. That is surely a remarkable tribute to the effectiveness of a directly instituted campaign against infant mortality. There is no reason why, in Peterborough, there should not be a much greater attention paid to this subject, but until the Board of Health and the Medical Health officer take up their responsibilities with a due sense of their seriousness, not much is likely to be accomplished.

Liverpool and Chicago Wheat Futures Close Lower—Live Stock—Latest Quotations.

CHICAGO, Sept. 9.—Government estimates regarding wheat corresponded almost exactly with figures computed in advance here today by private crop experts. The showing was a bearish one, and resulted in a fresh breaking of the low price record for the season. Prices at the close, tho steady, were ⅛c to ⅜c net lower. Latest trading left corn unchanged to ⅛c down, oats up a shade to ¼c to ⅜c, and provisions varying from Saturday's level to 12½c decline.

The Liverpool market closed today ⅛d lower than Saturday on wheat and ⅛d higher on corn. Berlin wheat closed ½c higher, Budapest ⅜c higher, and Antwerp ⅝c lower.
